COMMISSIONERS TAKE TOUR OF COUNTY LIBRARY — The Garrett County commissioners last week were escorted on a tour of the Ruth Enlow Library in Oakland. Martha Makosky, the director of the local library system, invited the men to visit the facility to better educate them on the proposed upgrades and renovations there. Makosky explained at a recent county staff meeting that the local library system is the last one in Maryland to have an automated system for the cataloging and exchange of items, and therefore she and her staff are working hard in the direction of complete automation in the near future. She also explained the need for a study of the local library employees' salaries, in comparison with other county workers. The commissioners, all three new to their positions, have been visiting several county agencies and offices to acquaint themselves with the county's systems and employees. This week, the men visited the county roads department and met with leaders there. They will be visiting the department's various garages this week as well. Often, just when you think everything is great, everything isn't. That's why Linsly prepares students like Eddie and Matt to handle life's disappointments as well as victories. By encouraging participation in varsity sports, intramurals and other extracurricular activities, Linsly students learn that perseverance, teamwork and sportsmanship are all at least as important as winning.

Tax-Aide Program Continuing At MB Senior Center

The free-of-charge tax-aide program at the Mary Browning Senior Center is continuing every week and organizers wish to remind the public of this service.

"This isn't just for senior citizens," noted a spokesperson at the center. "It's free to all ages — anyone who would like help with his or her tax return."

The program is being administered by the AARP (American Association of Retired Persons), in cooperation with the Internal Revenue Service, and is being sponsored by Garrett County Community Action, Area Agency on Aging.

In addition to offering the program every week at the senior center, the assistance will also be available in Grantsville on Thursday, Feb. 25, 10 a.m.-2 p.m., at the Grantsville Senior Center.

The hours of the program at the Mary Browning Senior Center are as follows: Tuesdays and Thursdays, noon until 4 p.m., and Wednesdays, 5-7 p.m. This program will continue through April 15.

Forever Is Too Far To See

Forever is too far to see from where we stand today.
But loved ones who have reached a higher view,
Have found a perfect home where every sorrow goes away.
And there they wait to welcome me and you...
And though they go ahead of us to that eternal land,
We can be sure they've found a happy place,
And someday in the future at our own life's journey's end,
We'll greet each other gladly face to face.
You may be gone from our sight but never from our hearts.

MIDDLE STATES EVALUATION UPDATE

The Southern High School Accreditation For Growth (AFG) Planning Team is working diligently to prepare for the Middle States Accreditation Evaluation in the spring of 2000. The Planning Team's work began with a core group of teachers and administrators who attended a one-half day workshop with a representative of the Middle States Association in August 1998 and has evolved to include 20 members representing the student body, the teaching and administrative staff, the Garrett County Board of Education, Garrett Community College, parents, and local businesses.

The Planning Team has met seven times since the beginning of the school year. The members have conducted a survey of students, school staff, and parents to determine some of the school's strengths and weaknesses in the areas of academic programs, health and guidance services, school facility, student activities, finances, and the effectiveness of the teaching and administrative staff. The Planning Team has also adopted the following Mission Statement and Belief Statements concerning the education offered at Southern Garrett High School:

"Southern Garrett High School, the largest secondary educational facility in predominantly rural Garrett County, Maryland, strives to provide students with a variety of educational programs to meet their individual needs. By providing successful school experiences, we prepare students to become life-long learners. We challenge students to strive for personal excellence and responsible citizenship as they develop intellectually, socially, emotionally, and physically.

"We at Southern Garrett High School believe that:

- our youth are our community's most valuable asset;
- the education of our youth is the shared responsibility of the school, the Garrett County Board of Education, the students, their families, the local government, and the community;
- all students have a right to learn in a safe and respectful environment;
- each student has inherent worth and is capable of reaching his or her individual potential;
- self-esteem is related to student success;
- student assimilation of common societal values and ethical conduct is a focus of the educational environment;
- a student's willingness to adapt is necessary for continuous improvement; and
- student understanding of and respect for diversity are critical in order to contribute positively in an everchanging global society."

The Planning Team is currently concluding its review of recent test data and evaluative reports in order to establish two to four specific and measurable goals for improving student achievement. It is the progress toward accomplishing those goals that the visiting Middle States AFG Evaluation Team will review and evaluate in the spring of 2000. Once those goals have been established, then the entire school staff will become involved in developing and carrying out "action plans" in order to accomplish them.

The team members encourage input into the planning and evaluation process from students, parents, and local community and business representatives. Please feel free to contact any of the following AFG Planning Team members if you have any questions, concerns or ideas: student representatives Gina Reeves, Gina Powell, Jamie Bosley, and Kane Wengerd; school staff reps Lynn Bell, Shirley Spiker, Beverly Sincell, Nan Gangler, Mary Ann Shipe, Athena Wilson, Vera Graham, Lowell Leitzel, Fred Pratt, and Chris Csonka; Board of Education rep Dr. Brenda McCartney; Garrett Comm. College rep Dr. Lillian Mitchell; parent representatives Tim Miller and Kevin Heselbach; and business representatives Wendy Friend and David Thomas.

TRIP TO GREASE

A school-sponsored trip is being planned for March 1 to Potomac State College, Keyser, W.Va., to see the production of Grease, which features SHS graduate Rita Powell. Two PR coupons are required for any student wanting to attend this trip, and tickets will be on sale during lunch. The cost of a ticket is $9, which will cover admittance and travel expenses. Lunch will be at a fast-food restaurant and will be in addition to the ticket price. If any additional information is needed, see Ms. Wilson in Room 1249 or Ms. Frazee in Room 2128.

Northern High Alumni Band Now Forming

Several band boosters at Northern High School recently decided to seek former band members from among graduates to form an "alumni band."

According to Bobbi Sisler, the alumni group would establish links between former and current NHS musicians. Assisting Sisler in her efforts to coordinate an alumni alliance with the NHS band are Sharon Rodeheaver and Betty Wiley. "The Northern High band has done such wonderful things. Kids who were in the band years ago may not realize what is happening now," Sisler noted.

The organizers of the alumni group suggested the possibilities of former band members donating used instruments or assisting with fund-raising projects. "They may just wish to make a tax-deductible donation to band activities," Sisler said.

Providing the band program entails expenses for which families and friends raise money. Mounting band performances for competitions can be extremely costly, Sisler explained. "One band that our kids compete against has a $50,000 budget for a show. We sell lots of pizzas. Sometimes I think I can't look at another pizza," she commented with a laugh.

Sisler said they are currently looking for ideas from interested graduates who would like to support music in the schools. "Maybe they will want to actually form a band again to play music. We don't know," Sisler said.

Anyone who is interested in the concept of an NHS alumni band is asked to contact Sisler at 301-746-8529, Rodeheaver at 301-746-6313, or Wiley at 301-895-5961.

Agency On Aging Recruiting Local Volunteer Team

With the hope of expanding support services for Garrett County's homebound elderly, Community Action's Area Agency on Aging is recruiting volunteers to deliver meals in various parts of the county.

Because of limited funding, hot meals are taken three time each week to these elderly residents. "The Agency supplements the hot meals with the provision of two shelf-stable meals, which the seniors can heat and eat on days when there is no delivery," explained Adina Brode, Agency on Aging director.

The home meal program extends to areas within five miles of the sites where the food is prepared in Oakland, Grantsville, Kitzmiller, Gorman, and Swanton. The cost per meal is $5, which includes packaging and delivery. Clients receiving meals pay an average of $.60 per meal and the AAA receives at $.56 USDA reimbursement, reducing the cost to $4 per meal.

"As the delivery cost is $1 per meal, the development of a volunteer corps could result in the availability of approximately 6,500 additional meals each, as well as the expansion of the delivery area," Brode explained.

The AAA seeks grants each year that will permit an increase in home meal service, even if only for a few months at a time. "Our program touches the lives of our elderly who are frail and infirm, due to illness and disabilities. We assist them to remain in their own homes, but we could do more with help," Brode said.

The AAA urged that anyone who can commit a few hours each week to call 301-334-9431 or toll free 1-888-877-8403. Those unable to volunteer time but who wish to contribute may mail a donation to the Area Agency on Aging, 104 E. Center Street, Oakland MD 21550.

Reynolds Company Contributing To Meals On Wheels

The national Meals On Wheels program will benefit from a project initiated recently by The Reynolds Kitchens (makers of Reynolds aluminum foil and other products).

The company is offering a free brochure of recipes and techniques to save time cooking and cleaning up following the meal. A spokesman for the corporation explained that the brochure can be used to provide extra time in the daily routine to allow a person to volunteer within his or her own community.

For each toll-free call that Reynolds receives requesting a brochure, a meal will be donated to the Meals On Wheels program. "Each nutritious meal goes to a deserving senior citizen. Without the help of these seniors would be forced into nursing homes," the spokesman stated.

Administrators of The Reynolds Kitchens encourage volunteering to deliver meals through this program, noting that more than 40% of the Meals On Wheels programs across American have waiting lists of home-bound seniors. "We created the time-saving recipes in our free brochure to free up your time and accommodate volunteering into your busy lifestyle," said Pat Sweitzer, senior home economist for The Reynolds Kitchens.

To receive a free recipe brochure and trigger a donation to Meals On Wheels, persons may call 1-888-MEAL-HELP. To volunteer to help with the local Meals On Wheels program, persons may call the Area Agency on Aging of Garrett County Community Action at 301-334-9431 or 1-888-877-8403.

Certification In Food Safety To Be Training Goal

Becoming certified in food safety is the goal of special classes being offered next month by the Garrett County office of the Maryland Cooperative Extension program. Tina Buckel, food sanitarian, and Irmgard Koscielniak, Extension educator, are both certified food safety instructors, and strongly recommend that personnel from every licensed food service establishment in the county take advantage of the training.

"Just in November of 1998, ½-million pounds of beef and 1½ million pounds of hot dogs and luncheon meats were recalled by the manufacturer as a precautionary measure, because they possibly contained E. coli bacteria," stated Buckel, "which certainly shows how serious the food industry is about food safety and the potential for food borne illness."

All classes will be held on Tuesdays and Thursdays from 4 to 6 p.m. according to the following schedule: March 2, Extension office, Mtn. Lake Park; March 4, Jennings Head Start center; March 9, Extension office; March 11, Jennings Head Start; March 16, Extension office; March 18, Friendsville Head Start center; March 23, Extension office; and March 25, Friendsville Head Start.

Persons may register by visiting the Extension office, 1916 Maryland Highway, Mtn. Lake Park, or telephoning the office at 301-334-6960. The deadline to register is this Friday, Feb. 19. Course books will cost $49 each. Checks should be made payable to the Garrett County E.A.C. and mailed to the Extension office immediately.

State Committing $3.5 Million To Healthy Families Initiative

Lt. Governor Kathleen Kennedy Townsend announced Tuesday that, in partnership with the Freddie Mac Foundation, the state of Maryland will commit $3.5 million to the nationally certified Healthy Families Maryland initiative, which offers in-home parenting skills instruction and additional service referrals to high-risk pregnant women and parents with children up to 5 years old.

Currently operating in Baltimore City and Garrett, Montgomery, Prince George's, Frederick, and Howard counties, the Healthy Families initiative offers weekly, bi-weekly, or monthly in-home visits for the first 3 to 5 years of life, tapering off as family stability improves. Besides parenting education, the home visitor is able to link parents to resources such as health care, food, clothing, and shelter, as well as other home visitation services.

The $3.5 million is derived from savings brought on by more effective residential service options for the state's most emotionally disturbed youth, as well as savings from the fact that some children no longer need to be sent out of state for this type of assistance.

"This is an extraordinary step forward in the way Maryland cares for its children. Healthy Families Maryland means parents can have the right tools to get their kids off to a good start," Lt. Governor Townsend said. "This effort is particularly exciting because the money will be drawn from savings we earned by bringing back to Maryland many emotionally disturbed children who were being treated out of state. We have been able to treat them better and less expensively here in Maryland, while ensuring these children are closer to their families and served by Maryland businesses."

Also on Tuesday, the Freddie Mac Foundation announced it is committing $300,000 to the Maryland Healthy Families program above and beyond the state commitment. The foundation, created with an endowment by the corporation chartered by Congress to create a continuous flow of funds to mortgage lenders, has supported Maryland programs with $5 million in grants over the past 10 years as part of their Healthy Families America program. The foundation is dedicated to brightening the lives of children, youth, and families at risk, investing more than $5 million nationwide in non-profit organizations serving them.

"The Freddie Mac Foundation's commitment to Healthy Families America is about creating the future. It is about changing the lives of children and parents by helping them fulfill their potential — to be the best parents and best children they can be," said Maxine B. Baker, executive director of the foundation. "The impressive results of the Healthy Families America program underscore its effectiveness and give us a great hope for the future of all families."

Healthy Families home visitation services begin in the maternity ward, local health department, or doctor's office with a screening of first-time parents. Those determined most in need of support are asked to voluntarily accept services, and the vast majority accept.

Rickman Demonstrates Excellence Both On And Off The Mats At JMU

by Bryan Frazitta
JMU Sports Media Relations

Rarely does a university have the opportunity to boast that it has an athlete who dominates in both the arena and the classroom. James Madison University and head wrestling coach Jeff "Peanut" Bowyer can lay stake to that claim every time Nathan Rickman takes to the mat. Rickman, a sophomore from Oakland, has been the Dukes' most successful wrestler this season.

Rickman made his name known on Saturday, Jan. 23, as he won the Virginia Intercollegiate State Championship for the 174-pound weight class. Rickman is the first JMU wrestler to win a state championship in three years and he helped lead the Dukes to their first state title since 1986. Put that accomplishment alongside his stellar 3.8 grade point average and it is not hard to determine why Rickman's future is looking brighter than ever. This is not too bad for an individual who came to JMU as a walk-on for Bowyer last year.

Rickman, who is the son of Jack and Norma Rickman, Oakland, was not highly recruited coming out of high school. He believes that many coaches may have underestimated his ability, because he wrestled for such a small high school (Southern). There also was not a lot of competition for Rickman, who faced his biggest tests at the state level.

Rickman initially had his eye on JMU because of its Integrated Science and Technology program. He contacted Bowyer to express his interest in not only being a student, but also a JMU wrestler. Bowyer took a look at Rickman on film at Southern Garrett High School and was impressed. He saw Rickman as a wrestler who had a great deal of raw talent and infinite potential. Rickman garnered consecutive runner-up finishes in the state of Maryland in his junior and senior seasons.

Last year as a freshman, Rickman racked up a 16-10 overall record and placed fifth on the squad in wins. Fifteen of those wins came in the 158-pound weight class, with the other coming in his one match at 167 pounds. Following last season, Rickman expressed his desire to lift weights and get stronger in order to wrestle in a higher weight class. This was a blessing for Bowyer, who claims that "it is often harder to recruit bigger guys." Thus, Rickman took his 62 percent winning mark up to the 174-pound weight class level, where the success has not stopped. Currently, Rickman holds an overall 20-8 record.

Rickman's 20 wins gives him a mid-February total that surpasses the 16 wins he finished with during the entire 1997-1998 campaign. His success can be attributed in most part to his extraordinary work ethic and determination to succeed. These characteristics have made Rickman "twice as good as he was last year," according to Bowyer.

Rickman and the rest of the Dukes will have important confrontations with Colonial Athletic Association foes George Mason and American. These matches are important for Rickman, because they essentially will determine his seeding for the CAA Championships on March 6 at the JMU Convocation Center. A title would mean an automatic berth in the NCAA Championships later in the month. Bowyer would like to see Rickman qualify for the NCAA and win a few matches. In Bowyer's words, this would allow Rickman "to see what he has to do to get to the next level and become an All-American." Bowyer believes that goals like these are not unattainable for Rickman.

Coincidentally, Rickman also sees himself as extremely capable of reaching these great heights. Winning the CAA and qualifying for the NCAA have been goals of his since he began training for the upcoming season. Beyond this year, Rickman would like to gain success at the NCAA level and possibly finish ranked high enough to achieve All-America status. However, he believes that these goals will only be attainable if he continues to strive for excellence in order to reach his maximum potential.

Rickman's success has the potential to put him into the limelight, thus creating space for him to take on a greater leadership role. This would be an important step for Bowyer's squad, which is predominantly made up of young wrestlers. Just as Bowyer is looking for a leader, Rickman is waiting for the opportunity to take on such a role. According to Rickman, the role of leadership is one that is earned rather than delegated. "You have to establish yourself first and then others will follow your lead," he said, a wise statement for an individual who is, after all, only a sophomore.

However, intellectual insight is nothing out of the ordinary for Rickman, who does as much damage in the classroom as he does on the mat. Not only does he carry a 3.8 GPA, but he also is majoring in one of JMU's toughest areas, Integrated Science and Technology. He has set his concentration within the field on telecommunications, where he hopes to pursue a corporate job. This is another area where his leadership potential could take shape. Rickman's leadership would be tested if he got the position he is looking to land. He says that he would like to hold a corporate job in the telecommunications field managing engineers.

Rickman may be gifted intellectually, but the effort he puts into his schoolwork on a daily basis is what is truly amazing. He puts two to three hours a night into finishing his schoolwork. However, that is just for his ISAT classes. Another hour-plus is set aside to tackle his general education subjects. ISAT also provides challenges that coincide with the workload, such as finding the time to get the work completed. Rickman freely admits, "ISAT classes have a lot of group work and projects that lead to many late nights."

To truly appreciate Rickman's dedication, one only has to examine a day in his life. After attending classes from the morning into the early afternoon, he then switches gears and attends a two-hour practice. His nights are consumed with work for his classes and possibly a quick run to help him stay in top shape. This leaves hardly any room for free time. However, Rickman tries to find time to engage in a quick game of football or ultimate Frisbee with his friends. If Rickman really has some time to burn, he enjoys taking advantage of the local landscape to participate in outdoor activities, such as mountain biking and almost any activity that has to do with the water.

Many individuals in Rickman's position might take time to gloat over their accomplishments. However, he expects more out of himself than the average person. Whether it is academically, athletically, or socially, he is in constant pursuit of perfection. In the classroom, he is attempting to accomplish his goal of finishing a semester with a 4.0 GPA. On the mat, be would like to improve on some of the more technical aspects of his game. In life, Rickman is intent on showing others that he is a good person who shows respect to everyone be meets.

"It is not difficult to conclude that Nathan Rickman is a special individual," stated a JMU spokesperson. Perhaps the true way to describe him is as a role model, for the youth of his hometown, his teammates, and any student who steps foot on the JMU campus. He has shown that he is a fabulous athlete, a tireless scholar, and an all-around good person.

"Far too often in the coverage of athletics, only the negative aspects of an athlete's life appears to draw attention. However, in Rickman, the JMU campus has an individual who defies the negative stereotypes and excels in life," the spokesperson added.

Nathan Rickman is living proof that hard work can pay off in the classroom, in the sports arena, and in life. He defines what it is to be a true student-athlete.

OUTSTANDING ON THE MAT as well as in the classroom at James Madison University is Nathan Rickman, a 1997 graduate of Southern High School and a son of Jack and Norma Rickman, Oakland. The sophomore, who holds the SHS record for career victories, recently won the Virginia collegiate championship in the 174-pound weight class, and also achieved a 3.8 grade point average in one of the university's most challenging majors. See feature article.

Youth Grapplers Participate In Several Events

Several members of the Southern Mat Club were in action last weekend at tournaments in Uniontown, Pa., Berkeley County, W.Va., and State College, Pa. The local grapplers each earned a trophy for third place or better.

In Uniontown, Jeremy Gregory (9/10, 90#) and Sean Sisler (7/8, Unl) were crowned champions. Tyler Gregory (5/6, 40#) and Sean Sisler (9/10, Unl) placed second, while Ryan Gregory (13/15, 135#) finished in third place. In State College, Pa., 6-year-old Lex Ozias competed in two different weight classes. He earned the championship trophy in the 40-# division, and at 45#, he placed second.

Five SMC wrestlers traveled to Berkeley County for tournament action on Sunday. Nine-year-old Justin Ratliff competed in both the 8/9 age group and the 10/11 age group. Ratliff dominated all six matches, pinning two opponents and out-scoring his other competitors a combined 24-2 on his way to earning two first place trophies. Also at Berkeley, Nathan Sines (10/11, 85#) and Scott Wildesen (10/11, 90#) placed second, while Daniel Carr (8/9, 70#) and Scott Wildesen (12/13, 90#) completed the day in third place.

The season continues this weekend with tournaments in Jefferson, Pa., and Hundred, W.Va. The season will continue through the end of March, concluding with the district, regional, and national tournaments. For more information on the SMC, persons may contact any wrestler, coach, or parent, or visit the website at www.gcnet.net/SMC.

Huskies Upset By Overlea In Dual Meet Semi-Finals

The undefeated streak of the Northern High School wrestling team ended at 16 victories on Saturday, as the Huskies were upset by Overlea, 31-26, in the Maryland Class 1A/2A Dual Meet State Semifinals, held at Damascus High School. Coach Scott Stough's team had gone into the event as the state favorite to win, but the Huskies dropped the three final bouts after building a sizable lead.

The only pins earned by Northern were by Blake Huber in the 103-pound class and undefeated Jesse Shimrock in the 140-pound class. Shimrock recorded his 100th mat victory the previous week when the Huskies won the West Region Dual Meet title.

Recording point victories for the Huskies were Matt McNees in the 119-pound division, Paul Beitzel in the 130-pound bout, Adam Brenneman in the 145-pound class, and Matt Kauffman in the 160-pound weight class.

Overlea also managed just two pins for the evening, with Jacob Laubach (125) and James Laubach (135) earning them. Overlea moved into the state dual meet finals to face Hammond, which topped Kent County, 35-13.

The Huskies will be the favorite to win the Bi-County Championships, which will be held this Saturday at Westmar.

Long Powers Huskies To Wins Over Turkeyfoot, BW

Two more excellent individual performances by Northern High School senior Dustin Long led the Huskies to two victories this past week, including an 83-81 overtime win over host Turkeyfoot last Friday and a 61-58 defeat of Bishop Walsh Tuesday night at the Cove, lifting the Huskies' season record to 13-7. The win over Bishop Walsh avenged a loss to the Spartans earlier this season in Cumberland.

Long finished with a game-high 39 points, including 22 in the fourth quarter and overtime period, against Turkeyfoot on Friday, as the Huskies rallied from deficits at the end of the first three quarters of play. He also pulled down 19 rebounds.

Northern trailed 19-16 after one period, was down 41-34 at intermission, and was behind by 11, 53-42, after three quarters. But it was in the fourth stanza that "Long and company" took charge and proceeded to out-score the home team by a 29-18 margin to knot the score at 71-71 at the end of regulation. It was only because Turkeyfoot's Wes Kline drained a 35-foot desperation shot at the buzzer, giving him his only three points of the game, that overtime period was necessary, as the Huskies were up by three until that moment.

Long finished the game with a 17-for-20 effort at the foul line, but a dozen of those shots were made in the fourth and overtime periods.

Teammate Rob Dozier also had an outstanding evening, as he scored 22 points and pulled down 14 rebounds. Tim Umbel was credited with five assists.

Leading Turkeyfoot in scoring was Rich Parnell, who pumped in 35 points, a dozen of which were recorded from three-point range. John Wass also reached double figures with 22 points, as did Andrew Wass with 13.

The Huskies took a total of 43 free throws, while Turkeyfoot had 23 opportunities. It was a physical contest, as 50 fouls were called, ultimately benching two Huskies and four Turkeyfoot players.

The Northern junior varsity team won the first game, 46-42, behind a 13-point scoring effort by Jeremy Carr. A.J. Thomas scored 10 for the Huskies, and the Turkeyfoot jayvees were led by Willie Kline and Eric Miller with 10 points apiece.

Tuesday's win over Bishop Walsh featured another impressive late-game comeback by the Huskies after they trailed 41-33 at halftime and 52-42 at the end of the third period. They out-scored the Spartans in the final stanza, however, by a 19-6 margin to record the win.

Long had another double-double night for the Huskies, as he finished with 26 points and 17 rebounds. Dozier followed suit with 17 points and 10 rebounds, and Brian Harvey chipped in with eight points.

BW received 20 points from Joe Rowan, 15 from Mike Serpone, and 11 points, five assists, and five steals from Jared Ronai.

The loss dropped the Spartans to 8-10.

The Northern jayvees were also victorious again in the preliminary contest, stopping the BW junior varsity, 58-55. Jensen Long and Tyler Durney led the Huskies in scoring with 15 and 14 points, respectively. Kevin Orendorf hit a game-high 21 points for the Spartans and Eric Perlozzo scored 14.

Coach Mike Friend's Huskies will play again this Friday when they host Beall. They will travel to Fort Hill next Wednesday to conclude their regular season.

NORTHERN CHEER TEAM TAKES FOURTH IN STATE - The Northern High School cheer team earned fourth-place honors in the Single-A school division of Maryland State Cheerleading Championships, held last month at Cole Field House on the College Park campus of the University of Maryland. Many weeks of extra-long practice sessions led to the recognition, said co-coaches Lisa Carr and Larah Friend. The team members "have made us very proud. They have worked like a team, practiced like a team, and performed like a team. All the hard work, bruises, aches and pains of the practices definitely paid off when we held the trophy in our hands," said Carr. "It is not every year that you can compete at the state level in cheerleading—you have to have the right cheerleaders," Friend commented. "After cheering hour after hour for other teams and receiving little gratitude, we decided to do something for ourselves—compete! As the year progressed, we watched our girls mature and we realized we were going for the gold." "Our whole routine was only 2 minutes, 40 seconds," added Carr, "but it seemed like an hour while they were performing." Team captain Dana Braskey concurred: "Once we got out on the floor it was amazing the adrenalin we had. All the nervousness left and we just did our best." NHS Girls Over .500 With Wins Over Aggies, Indians

A pair of victories by the Northern High School girls' varsity put the Huskies over the .500 mark (10-9) this past week, as the Huskies topped visiting Flintstone last Wednesday, 47-41, and then embarrassed Mount Savage on Saturday, 63-12, also at the Cove.

The Huskies jumped out to a 15-6 advantage over Flintstone by the end of the first quarter, led by four at halftime, 22-18, and outscored the Aggies in the third stanza by an 18-8 margin to lead 40-26 going into the final frame.

Heidi Frazee and Heather Nugent led the Huskies' offensive effort with 17 and 14 points, respectively. Cory Reed and Kristina Sipes each netted 12 to pace Flintstone and Lacey McCusker contributed 10.

The Northern junior varsity girls lost the preliminary game, 34-27, as Donna Gallion led the Flintstone jayvees with 14 points and Nikki Sisler netted eight for the Huskies.

Frazee was also the Huskies' top point producer in Saturday's easy win over winless Mount Savage. She finished with 24 points and Nugent netted 14. Katie Sweene scored four points to lead the Indians, who have lost all 17 of their games this season.

The Huskies kept the visitors scoreless in the first period, while scoring 23 of their own points. It was 37-4 at halftime and 48-10 after three periods.

The Northern jayvees crushed the Mt. Savage junior varsity in the first game, 54-4. Ashley Elliott and Emily Rawe led the Huskies in scoring with 15 and 10 points, respectively.

The Huskies are slated to play at Bishop Walsh this evening, host Hancock on Monday, and conclude their regular season next Wednesday at Westmar.

Little League Division To Be Instructional

By a unanimous vote of the board of directors of the Oakland Little League, the Minor Division of the league has been restructured for the 1999 season. The Minor League will serve the purpose intended by Little League Inc. and become an instructional league, according to a release from the board.

Through the first half of the season, coaches will pitch to their own team players, and in the second half, players will be introduced to pitching. There will be nine at-bats or three outs, and the entire roster will bat in order. There will be no score keeping. All players will play at least one-half of the game in the field. There will be no base stealing. There will be no playoffs in the division, but an all-star game will be played to conclude the season.

Persons desiring more information about this change in policy may telephone Ed Sines, vice president, Minor League, at 301-387-5250.

Rams Stop Lions, Sentinels; Win WMIL With 12-0 Mark

It was a great week on the basketball court for the Southern High boys' varsity and SHS fans, as the Rams recorded a pair of big road victories, completed a perfect league record in winning the Western Maryland Interscholastic League title, and are now geared up to avenge two of a total of only three losses this season.

Coach Tom Bosley and the Rams avenged an earlier loss to Tucker County on Saturday in Parsons, W.Va., when they defeated the once-beaten Tucker County Mountain Lions, 63-60, and then garnered a 44-41 WMIL victory in Cumberland over a talented Fort Hill team on Tuesday. The wins gave the Rams an overall record of 15-3, and they completed the WMIL season with a 12-0 mark to become only the 30th team to win the title with no league losses since the WMIL was founded 79 years ago.

The remaining two teams on the regular-season schedule are Keyser and Preston, the only other two teams that defeated the Rams this year. Both of those final games will be played on the Rams' floor.

Mike Paesani was the big gun for the Rams against Tucker County, as he finished with a game-high 22 points and also pulled down 13 rebounds, while teammates Mike Pamepinto and Nathan DiSimone hit some crucial foul shots in the final moments.

The Rams trailed the Lions by one at the end of the first quarter, 17-16, but then out-scored the home team in the second stanza by a 21-13 margin to take a 37-30 advantage by halftime. The Mountain Lions rallied in the third period to go up by two, 48-46.

The score was tied at 60-60 with about one minute to play, and the Rams set up to take the final shot. Pamepinto was finally fouled, and he hit one of two opportunities to give the Rams a 61-60 lead.

After a timeout, the Lions tried to set up a back-door play, but the Rams applied enough defensive pressure to cause the pass underneath to go out of bounds, giving possession to the Rams. Then DiSimone was fouled after the ball was inbounded, and he calmly hit both of his free throws at the 11-second mark to score what would be the final points of the night.

Tucker tried a three-point shot with a couple seconds left, but the shot bounced off the rim and the Rams grabbed the rebound to end the game.

Also playing one of his best games of the season was Nathaniel Panther, who scored a season-high 13 points, while Pamepinto also finished in double figures with 11 points. Jonathan Price had seven rebounds and John Andrews dished out five assists.

Wes Rumer and Jim Aliff each scored 13 points for the Mountain Lions, and Derek Simmons was right behind with 12. It was only the second loss in 20 games for the Lions.

The Southern junior varsity was also victorious in the first game, 65-51, as Keith Steyer and Mike Saturday led the Rams in scoring with 14 and 10 points, respectively. Scoring 10 for the Tucker County jayvees was Daniel Arnold.

The Rams led at the end of every quarter Tuesday night against Fort Hill, but nearly lost the game in the final minutes of the fourth period, as the Sentinels took a 41-38 lead with less than three minutes to play.

Southern was out in front 17-11, 27-22, and 35-32 at the quarters, although they did trail briefly, 28-27, early in the third. The Sentinels went on a 9-3 run early in the fourth to give them their three-point lead. Finally, Nathan DiSimone hit a jumper to cut Fort Hill's advantage to a single point, 41-40, with 2:40 remaining.

After the ball changed hands a few times, Jonathan Price was fouled with 29.5 seconds to play. Price made good on both of his attempts to give the Rams the lead for good at 42-41. Jeremy Snyder then attempted a three-point shot with three seconds left in the game, but Price went up high and blocked Snyder's attempt, sending the ball off the hands of a Fort Hill player and out of bounds to Southern.

After a timeout, the Rams inbounded the ball to Panther, who was fouled with just 1.8 seconds remaining. He, like Price, drained both of his free throws to conclude the scoring and seal the victory for the Rams.

A three-quarter court shot at the buzzer by Fort Hill's Jared Fradiska bounced off the backboard and was no good. The Sentinels went scoreless in the final 4:19.

Pacsani led the Rams in scoring with 15 points and in rebounding with 10, while Panther also reached double figures with 10 points.

Fort Hill was led by Jamie Kline, who finished with a game-high 23 points and 13 rebounds, and was the only Sentinel who completed the game with double figures. Eric Dudley and Jordon Hamilton each had seven rebounds. It was the seventh loss in 19 games for Fort Hill and the third loss in nine WMIL games.

"Defense won the game for us," stated Southern coach Tom Bosley, "which has been the key for us in our last several games. We have also really been focusing on trying to improve by playing together better.

"Staying focused will be extremely important in our last few regular-season games, especially against teams like Keyser and Preston, and more importantly when playoffs begin. But our goal is simply to win them one at a time," he said.

This Friday the Rams will host Keyser, the only team that soundly defeated them (67-31), a month ago in Keyser. They will conclude the regular season next Tuesday at home against Preston County, a squad that edged the Rams by a single point in a defensive contest in Kingwood back in December.

The Southern junior varsity stretched its winning season in the first game by defeating the Fort Hill jayvees, 52-39. Keith Steyer led the Rams with 18 points, while Josh Van Meter scored 10 to pace the Sentinels.

Southern Girls Fall To Lions, Falcons; Then Defeat Beall

The Southern High girls' varsity dropped a pair of games this past week, losing to the always-outstanding Tucker County Mountain Lions last Friday in Oakland, 60-45, and dropping a 43-37 decision to host Frankfort on Monday, but the Rams broke a four-game losing streak last night by defeating visiting Beall, 52-35, also at home. They will take their 8-12 record to Kingwood, W.Va., this Friday to meet Preston County in their final regular season game.

The Rams played well against heavily favored Tucker County, as they led 13-11 at the end of the first quarter and were on top by one, 27-26, at halftime. But the Lions seized the momentum in quarter number three and outscored the Rams by a 19-11 margin to take a 45-38 advantage into the final stanza.

Ashley Liller hit a game-high 19 points to lead the Rams in scoring, and also grabbed eight rebounds. Charlena Reeves pulled down 11 rebounds and scored eight points, while Jennifer Teagarden also finished with eight points.

Alicia McCune led a balanced attack for Tucker as she scored 15 points. Nikki Nelson recorded 12, Sarah Paul, 11, Rachel Campbell, nine, and Sonny Arnold, eight.

"Their quickness and conditioning really made the difference in the second half," stated Southern coach Don Stemple. "We couldn't keep them off the boards."

The Southern junior varsity was edged in the first game, 44-42, with Rachael Knotts scoring a game-high 14 points for the Tucker jayvees and Gina Reeves leading Southern with 13 points.

Four late free throws by Frankfort's Julie Inge sealed the Rams' fate on Monday, as the sophomore guard went 4-for-4 with less than a minute to play.

The game was close from the opening tip-off. The first quarter was mostly defense and ended in a 4-4 tie. Frankfort held a 16-15 advantage at halftime and was up by four, 29-25, after three periods.

Reanna Trenter scored 12 points and grabbed 11 rebounds to lead the Falcons, while Charlena Reeves scored 10 points for the Rams. It was the 10th win in 19 games for Frankfort.

The Rams had little trouble disposing of Beall last night, as they jumped out to a 20-7 lead by the end of the first quarter, led 30-19 at halftime, and were on top 38-26 after three periods.

Ashley Liller led the Ram offense by scoring 15 points, while Charlena Reeves added eight and Jessica Saturday, seven. All 12 of Southern's players saw action.

Li Johansen, Sarah Lashley, and Jackie Aylor each had eight points for the Mountaineers, who dropped to 3-14 overall and 2-9 in the WMIL.

The Southern junior varsity coasted to a 54-12 victory behind a 15-point performance by Ashley Spadey and an 11-point effort by Jennifer Bosley. Rachel Hall scored four to lead the Beall jayvees.

The Rams will play at Preston County this Friday and host Mt. Savage in a make-up game Monday to wrap up their regular season.

Garrett County Athletes To Ski In Special Olympics

When the Special Olympics of Maryland (SOMD) cauldron is lighted Sunday evening to open the winter games at Wisp Resort, Garrett County athletes will be among the participants for the first time in 10 years. County residents Keith Platter and Chad Stallman, under the coaching of Chad Brown and Jason Schriml, will take to the slopes to compete in alpine events.

The opening ceremonies beginning at 7:30 p.m. on Sunday will feature, in addition to igniting the Olympic flame, the parade of athletes and the law enforcement torch ski parade. The pageantry will conclude with a fireworks display by Zambelli Fireworks Internationale. These ceremonies and all subsequent events on the special winter games schedule are open to the public and free of charge.

Time trials and competitions are slated for Monday from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m., with participants competing in both crosscountry and alpine skiing events. The alpine challenge will include slalom, giant slalom, and glide and super-glide. The crosscountry contest will consist of 50-, 100-, and 500-meter as well as 1K, 3K, and 3 x 1K relay. Modified alpine athletes compete in downhill, giant slalom, slalom, and super-glide events.

Fields Leads Lakers To Win Over Charles; JUCO Is Next

Another outstanding performance by Michael Fields paved the way for a 77-69 victory in the final regular season game for the Garrett Community College Lakers Saturday night at Charles Community College, giving Coach Dennis Gibson and his squad momentum for this week's Maryland JUCO Tournament. Fields poured in 27 points for the Lakers, 21 in the first half, and dished out seven assists to lead Garrett to its 16th win of the campaign.

The big offensive push by Fields in the first half helped the Lakers build a 39-31 halftime lead, but Garrett ultimately had to rally from a four-point deficit in the final five minutes. After the Lakers went up by as many as 16, 51-35, at the 15:47 mark, Charles slowly seized the momentum, took advantage of a number of Garrett turnovers, and outscored the visitors by a 31-11 margin over the next 10-plus minutes. Charles held a 66-62 lead with 4:28 remaining.

A three-point bucket by Lionell Sewell, followed by two turnovers and consecutive baskets by Benitez Jackson, gave the Lakers the lead for good at 69-66.

The Lakers turned the ball over 25 times, while Charles gave it up 14 times.

Also reaching double figures for the Lakers besides Fields was Charles Somerville, who scored 12 points and grabbed eight rebounds. Dexter Levi had three blocked shots and two steals to go with nine points, and Sewell contributed eight points and two steals.

Pacing Charles was Marcel Countiss with 18 points and five rebounds. Mark Edwards added 10 points and Chris Rhone handed out six assists.

The Lakers also lost a game this week, 81-70, to host Montgomery-Takoma Park last Thursday. Full details of that contest were not received; however, the Lakers gave up a 15-point lead in the second half.

Fields again paced Garrett's scoring with 22 points, while Kwame Coleman netted 24 for Takoma Park, 22 of which were recorded in the second half.

The Lakers lost the game at the foul line, from which Takoma Park connected on 20 of 26 attempts, and the Lakers made good on three of three.

Laker Women Fall To Hawks In Finale; To Host JUCO Event

The women's basketball team of Garrett Community College concluded its regular season Saturday in Hagerstown, where the Lakers dropped a 77-64 Maryland JUCO decision to Hagerstown Community College. The defeat dropped the Lakers' season mark to 13-8, which they will take into this week's JUCO Tournament on their own floor at McHenry.

The Lakers held a 25-16 advantage against the Hawks with 12 minutes left in the first half, but the home team went on a 22-2 spurt to take a 38-27 advantage into the locker room at intermission. The Lakers turned the ball over too many times in the second half, allowing the Hawks to maintain an arm's length lead.

Elaine Scott scored a game-high 20 points and had four steals for Hagerstown. Lashay Bailey recorded 15 points and 15 rebounds, while Molly Schoenburg chipped in nine points.

Oakland Youth Named To State Fishing Team

Adam Sanders, an Oakland-area resident and a member of the Garrett 4-H Junior Bassers Club, has been named to the Maryland Bass Federation (MBF) 1999 Junior State Team after competing in the junior state qualifying tournament. The event was held in September on the Potomac River near White's Ferry.

Sanders' seventh-place finish from among a field of 32 competitors earned him a slot as an alternate on the state team. He will be among the honorees at the annual MBF state youth banquet, set for this weekend in Clear Springs, where he will be awarded a special jacket to add to the trophy and plaque he has already received denoting his accomplishment.

The 15-year-old Sanders was among the four members of the local junior Bassers club on hand for the tournament, along with Cliff Everett, 14, McHenry; Riff Browning, 14, Oakland, and Christopher Knox, 12, Accident.

Sanders' younger brother Travis also fished in the state tournament in order to fill out the boating vacancies. Travis, who recently turned 11, finished third in the State Fry Tournament for competitors 7-11 years of age.

At the state junior tournament "each competitor went out with a bass captain and fished from 7 a.m. to 3 p.m.," explained Donna Uppole, senior advisor for the Garrett 4-H Junior Bassers and western region youth director for the MBF. "The top five catches of each fisherman were weighed, and the top eight finishers made the state team, which will compete in the Bassmasters Junior Chapter Invitational. That tournament will be held in July on the Potomac River at Smallwood (near La Plata), one of the premier fisheries in the country.

"Adam has a natural talent and he loves fishing. He puts out a great effort to learn what works best, where, and when, by listening to experienced fishermen. He's also an excellent teacher for the younger kids," Uppole commented.

"Adam's been fishing since he was 4 years old," the boy's father, Glen Sanders, said. "When he turns 16 he'll join the Garrett Bassers, which I belong to also, and he hopes to become a professional fisherman someday."

"The whole family hunts and fishes," added Kathy Sanders, Adam's mother, an experienced outdoorsperson herself. "But what's funny is that as crazy as Adam is about fishing, he won't eat fish. He just doesn't like it."

Garrett County Outdoors

By Robert Yonke

This is the time of year that "cabin fever" sets in with some of the outdoor set. But, rather than succumb to mid-winter blahs, why not take advantage of the wealth of information and entertainment available at the outdoor "shows" taking place currently or in the next few weeks?

At this writing, the Eastern Sports and Outdoor Show is in full swing in Harrisburg, Pa. Recognized as the largest show of its kind in North America, the Eastern Sports and Outdoor Show features seven unique shows for the price of one. These include fishing, hunting, and archery pavilions; an RV and 4-wheel drive vehicle showcase; 75,000 square feet of boat displays; the North American Travel pavilion; plus clinics by major manufacturers and seminars by industry experts. The show opened on February 6 and will run through February 14 at the Harrisburg State Farm Show Complex.

Coming up next week at the Monroeville Expo Mart near Pittsburgh is the Allegheny Sport, Travel, and Outdoor Show. It opens on Wednesday, Feb. 17, and runs through Sunday, Feb. 21. For walleye enthusiasts, the show features appearances and seminars by Mike McClelland, leading money winner on the walleye tourney trail; Keith Kavejecz, 1998 North American Walleye Angler of the Year; Dave Csanda; and In-Fishermen's Doug Stange. Also, Chuck Adams, renowned bowhunter, has a stimulating presentation and candidly answers questions from the audience. One seminar that is definitely on my agenda is Stange's program on "Catfishing Today." This is scheduled for 7:45 p.m. on February 18 and 2 p.m. on February 19.

On March 13, the West Penn Chapter of Trout Unlimited will hold its one-day "Cabin Fever" event at Monza's Hotel complex in Monroeville. "Cabin Fever" has grown into a fine combination of presentations and exhibits focused on trout fishing. Proceeds go to support area TU activity. If you plan to go, take some extra cash just in case you see something you want to buy from exhibitors or at their flea market. Also there is a dinner Saturday evening, with additional raffles and speakers.

TROUTING

Allen Noland, local guide and partner in Spring Creek Outfitters, provides regular information for the DNR's fishing report available on the DNR website. His current report tells us that there is good trout fishing available right now on area rivers. Regarding the Casselman, Allen recommends wet flies fished in large pools, near spring heads and in the relatively warmer water close to the Penn Alps waste water treatment plant. On the North Branch, success is most likely on the upper catch and release section with midges, nymphs, and streamers in clear water and with chartreuse crystal buggers fished slow and deep in cloudy water. He also reports that spin fishermen have found trout striking panther martin spinners aggressively. He recommends restricting angling on the Savage and Yough to warm sunny days.

GET THAT BOAT TRAILER READY NOW

According to groundhogs all around, spring will arrive early this year. And, it only takes a weekend to make sure that your boat is ready to go when you're ready to fish. Simple maintenance is usually all that's required, and in line with that, here are some easy do-it-yourself tips.

(1) Inspect and lubricate trailer wheel bearings. If your trailer has bearing protectors which replace the hub's dustcover with a grease fitting and reservoir, just pump new marine lubricant into the bearing until the spring-loaded piston is approximately 1/8 inch from its seated position. Otherwise, the bearings must be removed, cleaned, and inspected for wear. Check the bearing races for wear, pack the bearings with marine grease, and reassemble.

(2) Inspect trailer tires for wear and sidewall damage. Inflate to proper level and check the spare.

(3) Look for rust and cracks in the frame. Rust can be removed and areas primed and painted. Cracks are more serious, and if detected consult with your dealer for proper repair. Also, check for broken springs. If you find any broken, a trip to the dealer is warranted.

(4) Replace worn carpet on bunks and align and lubricate rollers. Also lubricate the winch mechanism and inspect the strap for wear.

(5) Finally, hook up the trailer to your vehicle and make sure all the lights are working. Check lenses for cracks and replace if necessary. Spray the connections with contact spray to keep the connectors clean and corrosion free.

STATE PARK RESERVATIONS

Campers and others who use the state parks regularly will probably be happy to know that the state has a new toll-free telephone number for reserving camp sites, cabins, and picnic shelters. Effective February 8, users can call 1-888-432-CAMP (2267) 24 hours a day, seven days a week. According to a state press release, callers can talk to operators who will help them select the most appropriate rental. Also, beginning later this spring, campers will be able to make reservations via the Internet.

category will be announced in May.

Another Maryland resident with connections to Garrett County has also won an MSAC Individual Artist Award. Neal Corwell, Clear Spring, was awarded $1,000 in the category of music composition. Corwell has composed several works exclusively for the yearly Garrett Lakes Arts Festival's Symphony at Deep Creek. He is married to county native Kathryn Sincell-Corwell.

"Maryland has a wealth of talented artists and the Individual Artist Award program is one way we can recognize and honor their accomplishments," said Governor Parris N. Glendening. "By creating a supportive environment and encouraging and promoting artistic excellence throughout the state, we are enhancing the quality of life for all Maryland citizens."

Out-of-state juries representing each artistic discipline reviewed a total of 708 anonymous applications before awarding individual grants of $1,000, $3,000 and $6,000. The grants were determined solely on the basis of artistic merit.

"The mission of the Maryland State Arts Council is to identify, develop, and sustain artistic excellence wherever it exists in Maryland," said James Backas, MSAC executive director. "Our goal is to make art of high quality increasingly available to all citizens and to encourage active and supportive relationships between artists and the public."

Individual Artist Award categories alternate each year. Fiscal Year 2000 competition categories will include media, solo dance performance, solo instrumental performance, solo theatrical performance, solo vocal performance, and two visual arts categories.

For more information about the Individual Artist Program and other programs offered by the Maryland State Arts Council, the public may call 410-767-6551.

like this is now my primary goal as I run," the runner said. "I think about it every moment, every mile that I'm out there. At first I thought, 'Oh, cool, a marathon in Alaska,' but after meeting leukemia patients and their families and working with my teammates on this, I just want to help nail this disease. My own marathon is secondary.

"If each Garrett County family could give Team in Training $10 or $20 a year, and each business $100, it could make a huge impact," she stated. "I hope this will go much farther than my own project of Spring 1999. I would like to see Garrett County make a smashing debut into Team in Training and the Leukemia Society of America. I hope to exceed by far my $4,000 goal and maybe hand my banner over to another Garrett County athlete for next year, making this a regular community effort.

"I'm going to write every contributor's name on the Team shirt I'll be wearing in the race, and give it to my little hero guy when I finish, along with my finisher's medal," she said.

Supported entirely by public contributions, the Leukemia Society directs its funds toward medical research, individual patient services, public awareness, and professional education in its quest for a cure for leukemia and related cancers such as Hodgkin's disease. While leukemia's 96 percent fatality rate among children has been cut to 20 percent over the past four decades, the illness remains the top disease killer of children in this country, and it strikes 10 times more adults than children, with a greater fatality rate as well.

Persons wishing to make a contribution through Hamilton's run should make their checks out to the Leukemia Society of America and mail them to Ellie Hamilton, P.O. Box 554, Oakland, MD 21550. All gifts are tax-deductible, and receipts and further information are available to those who desire them.

Maryland Made With Pride

State Jobless Rate Decreases, County's Rises

The number of job seekers declined during December, helping to maximize seasonal employment growth and to bring the unemployment rate down to an all-time low for the month and the lowest level in nearly a decade. Maryland's unemployment rate dropped by nearly a full percentage point over the month from 4.2 percent in November to 3.5 percent in December.

Meanwhile, Garrett County's jobless rate increased from 9.4 percent in November to 10.2 percent in December. However, the December 1997 rate was 14.1 percent.

"The significant drop in Maryland's unemployment rate during December is good news," said Maryland Governor Parris N. Glendening. "Our economy continues to be strong, and job growth means more Marylanders have jobs to support their families."

The drop in unemployment is significant for Maryland because seasonal layoffs and holiday closings during December often pull down employment levels. The year 1998 ended with holiday hiring in several sectors including postal work, coupled by the fact that mild weather conditions helped to secure work in the construction industry and related jobs. Moderate hiring this year downplayed seasonal employment declines, helping the state's unemployment rate to fall well below the national unemployment rate of 4.0 percent.

Across the state, unemployment rates dropped in all but four jurisdictions during December, while 14 jurisdictions recorded unemployment rates below the statewide average. Locally, unemployment rates were as low as 1.7 percent in Montgomery County, 2.0 percent in Frederick and Howard counties, 2.1 percent in Carroll County, and 2.4 percent in Charles County.

During December, the number of employed Marylanders rose to 2,686,899, an increase of nearly 5,500. This increase carried employment to a record high for the month, and when coupled with a labor force decline, helped to lower the number of unemployed to just over 97,100 in December.

Following seasonal adjustment, employment gains also helped to moderate unemployment, bringing the unemployment rate down to 3.8 percent in December.

Maryland's employment gain was supported by encouraging reports from local employers. Seasonal layoffs in construction were fewer than normal, and in manufacturing employment rose slightly despite a number of reported holiday shutdowns. Holiday hiring buoyed employment in trade establishments and transportation. Federal employment also rose in response to temporary hiring by the post office.

AHEC Prepares Individuals For Health Careers

Many young people are not aware that deciding on a college major does not guarantee entrance into that program. Admission to health professions schools is offered to only a small number of students, and competition can be extreme, according to a spokesperson from the Western Maryland Area Health Education Center in Cumberland. "In order to complete a degree — even an undergraduate degree — in a health profession, a student must be academically prepared. Any additional preparation that demonstrates a student's commitment is an advantage. Programs offered at the Western Maryland AHEC can help a student gain that competitive edge," the spokesperson said, adding that applications to these summer programs are due March 15.

Area students interested in medicine, dentistry, pharmacy, or allied health careers may be eligible to attend a Health Careers Opportunity Program at either Frostburg State University or West Virginia University. These six-week summer residential programs prepare graduating high school students and current college students for the rigors of college study and health professions careers. Students participating in the HCOP programs will receive a daily stipend to offset food and housing costs. Funding for the Central Appalachian Health Careers Opportunity Network comes from the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services, Bureau of Health Professions, Division of Disadvantaged Assistance. For more information, persons may contact Beth Eubanks, 301-777-9150, ext. 141.

The emphasis of the WMAHEC's Eastern Alleghenies Nursing Education Opportunities Program (NEOP) is to provide academic enrichment and facilitate entry of the region's students into baccalaureate nursing programs and beyond. WMAHEC will offer a summer preliminary education program to better prepare college freshmen and sophomores for nursing education leading to a BSN degree. The University of Maryland School of Nursing's Clinical Simulation Laboratories in Baltimore will be the site for preclinical learning experiences. Students who complete the preliminary education program and proceed satisfactorily toward a BSN degree may be eligible for a stipend of $200 per month for 10 months. In addition, a one-week workshop for current high school juniors will help them decide if they are interested in nursing careers. Funds for NEOP are awarded to WMAHEC by the Bureau of Health Professions, Division of Nursing. For more information, persons may contact Amy Lynn Robison, 301-777-9150, ext. 106.

S.H.A.R.E., which stands for Student Health Action & Recruitment Education, will hold two 1-week summer health careers camps at the Frostburg State University (FSU) campus. Students in the 6th, 7th, and 8th grades may apply. The program is cosponsored by the AHEC and A Star! in Western Maryland, an AmeriCorps program, and is coordinated by AmeriCorps member Allison Zapf. Zapf may be contacted at 301-777-9150, ext. 103.

Digital Artist Exhibit To Be Hosted By FSU

Frostburg State University's Stephanie Ann Roper Gallery will present "Universe in Texture," an exhibit of digital fine art by Edward Ghannam. An opening reception will be held Friday, March 5, at 7:30 p.m., and the exhibit will run through Tuesday, March 30.

University gallery hours are Sunday through Wednesday, 1 to 4 p.m.

Ghannam, an associate professor of art at the University of Miami, Florida, is a pioneer computer artist whose work with computer graphics began in the early 1970s.

Inspired by the great impressionists, cubists, surrealists, and abstract expressionists, he creates from sketches using the Macintosh with Fractal Design Painter and Adobe Photoshop.

"Ghannam's work is a universe of vivid color, rich texture, and intense imaginings," Paula Harper, art historian and critic said. "Georgia O'Keefe meets Marvel Comics in these completely contemporary images, whose sumptuous surfaces combine with futuristic spatial illusions to evoke the forms of yet unknown worlds."

"Join me on a trip to Loom, Cave-5X, Dark Path, Baxtor County, and many places in the sky," Ghannam said. "Enjoy the 'Universe in Texture.'"

NOTICE
TO ALL PROPERTY TAXPAYERS OF GRANTSVILLE, MARYLAND

Senate Bill No. 93 of the Annotated Code of Maryland requires counties and municipal corporations to notify taxpayers of the availability of the semi-annual property tax payment option for owner-occupied residential property that is the principal residence of a homeowner.

If a taxpayer elects to make semi-annual property tax payments, ½ of the municipal taxes will be deferred until January 1. The second payment, due January 1, will incur a service charge reasonably equivalent to the anticipated lost interest income associated with the delay in the payment of the second installment and covering administrative expenses associated with the semi-annual payment not exceeding 25% of the charge of the lost interest.

To be eligible to make this election of semi-annual payment, all previous years' taxes must be paid in full by June 1. Taxpayers not making their first semi-annual payment by September 30 are automatically waived out of the semi-annual plan and must pay the full tax bill.

Selection of payment schedule for property taxes may be made upon receipt of tax bill. If taxpayer wishes to pay in full, he must choose the appropriate coupon and return it with the proper payment. If the taxpayer wishes to participate in the semi-annual payment option, the appropriate coupon should be returned with the payment before the September 30 deadline.

It is the responsibility of the taxpayers to notify their mortgage company of their wishes to pay on a semi-annual basis if they have an escrow account. The town is not responsible for any involvement in the semi-annual payment process.

Whatever payment plan the taxpayer selects shall remain in effect until the taxpayer decides to change it.

THE LEAGUE OF WOMEN VOTERS

LEAGUE OF WOMEN VOTERS OF MARYLAND LEGISLATIVE ACTION AGENDA FOR 1999

The League of Women Voters is a non-partisan organization which works to promote responsibility through informed and active participation of citizens in their government. Legislative action is based on positions reached through research, study, discussion, and consensus. Traditionally the Maryland League advocates for good government, but sets other priorities based largely on recommendations from local leagues. Those priorities for 1999 are:

Campaign Finance Reform/Ethics — The league supports fair campaign financing, full disclosure, limits on election day campaigning, and full enforcement of election laws. We have a long history of supporting ethics laws that promote accountability and which guard against improper influence in the conduct of the state's business. A high level of scrutiny and reporting of contributions increases public confidence in the objectivity of elected officials and in the fund-raising process. Goals of campaign finance laws should include ensuring the public's right to know, combating corruption and undue influence, and enabling candidates to compete more equitably for public office.

Children's Issues, Including Education — The league will work for making the needs of children a high priority of government and will advocate for a comprehensive range of child-centered services to ensure all children a chance to grow toward stable productive adulthood. Using positions based on league studies conducted throughout the state of Maryland and the United States, we will advocate for children's services, health care, gun control, juvenile justice, and education. It is a basic league principle that every child should have access to free public education that provides equal opportunity. The primary responsibility for funding public elementary and secondary education lies with the state. We support a foundation program based on a weighted per pupil formula (or including some other recognition of additional costs and effort involved in educating students with a variety of special needs), the basic foundation program supported from general state revenues at a level high enough to eliminate inequities. There should be local leeway to provide additional funding for education and continuation of local control of schools.

Environment — Environmental protection and pollution control are responsibilities shared by all levels of government. The league promotes an environment beneficial to life through protection and wise management and works to secure laws to promote clean air and water. We support legislation to protect the Chesapeake Bay, wetlands, and wildlands. In brief, we support preserving the physical, chemical, and biological integrity of the ecosystem with maximum protection of public health and the environment.

Health Care — The league promotes a health care system that provides universal access to a basic level of quality care for all residents at an affordable cost and which controls health care costs. Services of highest priority are: the prevention of disease, health promotion and education, primary care (including prenatal and reproductive health care), acute care, long-term care and mental health care. We support administration either by a combination of private and public sectors or by a combination of federal, state, and/or regional government agencies.

The league will monitor and take action as needed on reproductive choice legislation.

Land Use/Growth Management — The league supports land use planning that reflects conservation and wise management of resources. We support "Smart Growth," by establishing priority funding areas and focusing state spending in those areas in order to make the most efficient and effective use of taxpayer dollars and to preserve Maryland's existing neighborhoods, farms, fields, forests, and open spaces. We encourage the state to establish goals, guidelines, and standards for land use, with local implementation of policies. State government should have a larger role in managing critical areas, especially environmental protection and resource conservation and preservation.

the needs of our mass transit and highway systems.... More than $400 million in additional revenues are needed in the next several years just to maintain the existing transportation infrastructure. And we must also find a way to provide additional...infrastructure" (emphasis mine).

Taylor suggests creating a Blue Ribbon Task Force" (wow!) to analyze the state's transportation needs, and then raising the sales tax to fund them. Sounds like he has already "found a way" to provide more infrastructure.

Taylor has previously conceded that a 5-cent-a-gallon fuel tax would not raise sufficient infrastructure revenues, preferring a sales tax hike instead. Obviously, if he considers the gas tax insufficient, a sales tax jump will hammer us even harder.

I am sure Casper Taylor's personal wealth would comfortably insulate him from higher sales taxes. (You recall that this big spender remodeled his office with what — some $60,000 from Md. taxpayers?) But I have a simpler suggestion:

Let's forget about more taxes. Let's forget about more highways. For the sheer novel effect, let's try making do with what we have, crazy as that may sound, and finally halt this insane descent into an infrastructure inferno fired by ever-increasing taxes upon taxes!

Craig Speicher
Grantsville

P.S. A very special thank you to the dynamic duo leading the Chamber of Commerce, for doing their part to pump state taxes. If that doesn't improve the quality of our lives, I don't know what will.

To the Editor:

On Thursday, Jan. 28, 1999, I happened to see a public notice buried in the back of The Republican newspaper along with all of the other notices. When I read it, I almost fell out of my chair, because the enormous impact that this proposed change will have on our county is incalculable.

First, the notice which reads: "The proposed amendment would entail the reclassification of the land area around the community of Jennings from the land classification of Agricultural Resource to the land classification of suburban residential. At first blush this may not mean too much to the average person, but in fact it is the first step towards the creation of an entirely new town (city) in an area known for its prime farmland. This, at a time when our officials at every level of government in the state (including Gov. Glendening) are publicly lamenting the fact that farmland in Maryland is disappearing at an alarming rate. A report released on Feb. 1, 1999, showed that Maryland is losing its farmland at a rate that is 50% higher than the rest of the country. This proposal flies in the face of the 1997 Smart Growth legislation, which was the centerpiece of Gov. Glendening's legislative program that year.

So why should anyone care? Aside from the obvious effects that this will have on our way of life, what's the big deal? For starters, this will add to the population and cause even more competition for the few jobs to be found here. It will increase the traffic level, not only in Jennings, but throughout the county. Those people who, in the past, have expressed their concerns about traffic problems should be particularly incensed at this proposal. It will put pressure on adjacent areas for even more development.

There will be a "snowball effect" on the county which will result in a hue and cry from our leaders(?) to construct more roads in order to accommodate the influx of people. And the roads will bring more people — you get the idea. There will be an increased need for water and, lest anyone forgot, we (and Allegany County) had enough problems recently; we don't need anymore water problems, to say nothing of the potential pollution and contamination this development may cause to the ground water.

Property tax increases inevitably accompany new development (Note: There was another recently released report that showed that the elderly in many situations like this are taxed right out of their homes.) And of course the level of local services will have to be increased, causing our local leaders(?) to raise taxes or cut something out of the budget. Hunters and fisherman will be impacted because the suburbanites will not want them hunting and fishing near their suburban homes. And the list goes on and on.

There is also the precedent-setting aspect of this. Under the Smart Growth legislation, all counties and subdivisions were required to submit a comprehensive plan that would be incorporated into the legislative package and become part of the law effective Oct. 1, 1998. This amendment will allow that particular area (Jennings) to become eligible as a PFA (Priority Funding Area) under that legislation, which in turn will allow developers to take advantage of state subsidies. This is the very thing that Gov. Glendening publicly stated that he wanted to discourage because of the adverse effect that sprawl has on communities. If we, the people, allow this reclassification to go through and the state allows the amendment to go through, it will open the door to what I predict will be a flood of new inhabitants to the county. I am the last one to say close the door, I am a transplant myself; but I do believe that someone has his priorities confused.

Despite all of the promises made for "open government" during the past local election, there seems to be a continuation of the policies of the previous administration in that regard. There has not been a single community meeting to discuss this issue. And although one might say that this is more important to the people in the Jennings area, I submit that this is not true, because there are far-reaching consequences that will impact all of us in the county. It appears that the public hearing on Feb. 18, 1999, will be the only opportunity that people will have to express their views on this proposal.

I urge everyone to think about this proposal. I understand that because our leaders(?) have chosen not to have any public discussions on this, that most people are limited in what they might have to consider. However, there are some basic issues at stake here. Further, I urge everyone to make a special effort to attend the hearing and to express opinions.

In the meantime, you might want to consider calling (or writing) Governor Glendening, the commissioners, Sen. Hafer, and Del. Edwards. At the very least, you should request them to delay any action on this proposal until it is thoroughly aired in a public forum. And here, I am not talking about the required public hearing: I am talking about a full-fledged dialogue between the public and the public servants.

A final thought: This is your county; if you don't like the way some things have taken place in the past and are concerned for the future of your county, you should do everything possible to take part in this hearing and tell them (your public servants) how you feel. If you don't, you have no right to complain later. As I have said before, "If you don't express your opinion, you don't have one".

Public Meeting

lished at the meeting, and citizen-driven committees may be formed to establish timetables for completion of these guidelines.

Stone's presentation will also examine demonstrated effects of uncontrolled sprawl on areas similar to Oakland and its surrounding countryside, and other development issues. The control of sprawl is a major concern of Governor Parris Glendening's administration, as well as the state's Main Street Maryland program, which is affiliated with the National Trust For Historic Preservation with the mission to revitalize downtowns.

Contending that sprawl is not automatically synonymous with growth and development, the governor's administration and the Main Street program have both cautioned Maryland's communities that not all development produces a net increase in jobs or tax revenues.

New development appropriately sized for the community in which it locates, that makes good use of existing buildings and infrastructures, that minimizes harm to the natural environment, and that fits in sensitively with its neighbors makes economic sense, according a handbook on sprawl published by the National Trust for Historic Preservation. "Development that exceeds a community's capacity to absorb it, that triggers the abandonment of prior public and private investments, helps neither the local economy nor the local tax base in the long run," the handbook states.

"It is important to note that none of us are anti-development or anti-growth," said Stone. "What we're seeking are some answers from the public and their representatives about how that future growth can best be developed into something that maintains the physical and economic integrity of this unique region while still attracting new business and good new jobs."

The meeting will be hosted by the Oakland Main Street program, the Maryland Main Street program and the Greater Oakland Business Association (GOBA). For further information, interested persons may call Glenn Tolbert, Oakland Main Street program manager, at 301-533-4470, or Mikal McCartney, GOBA's president, at 301-334-9431.

Mrs. Murphy Marks 100th Birthday

It will be a very special occasion Saturday for Mary Frances (Rowan) Murphy of Oakland who will celebrate her 100th birthday. Born in Schell, W.Va., on February 20, 1899, she is the daughter of Alice (Moon) and John Rowan and the only living member of a family of eight siblings.

Mrs. Murphy and her late husband Harry, a veteran of World War I, raised three children Lester Joseph (deceased), Phyllis Simms, and Catherine Harvey, who both now reside in Oakland.

The Murphy family home was in Pleasant Valley for many years and was considered a "meeting house" for all the cousins, one niece explained. Relatives would visit on weekends and spend summer vacations with them. Another cousin referred to Mrs. Murphy as a "mother hen" to all the neighborhood children.

Saturdays were baking days at the Murphy house, with rolls, breads, and pies produced. Mrs. Murphy's cooking was always appreciated at family gatherings, a niece said. "Her chicken and dumplings went before anything else," the niece noted.

Spanning the decades from candles, to kerosene, to electricity, Mrs. Murphy has experienced many changes in home management. She used a hand pump in the kitchen and a treadle sewing machine to make her aprons. She milked her cows by hand, churned butter from the cream, and hooked her own rugs.

Mary Frances Murphy will mark her 100th birthday Saturday with the good wishes of her family and friends. "This wonderful lady is the glue that holds the family together," one niece said.

MY FAVORITE MARTIAN

Rated PG - Running time: 1:32

Of the many TV-sitcom-turned-feature-films populating theatres lately, Disney's My Favorite Martian is perhaps one of the better ones, not only capitalizing on the current nostalgia craze, but more importantly adding one more plus to the Disney scorecard, whose negative side has been overloaded. Though the company continues to turn out at least one fantastic cartoon every year, recycling has become a standard tactic in the non-cartoon department, with everything from updated versions of the company's older films (That Darn Cat, Flubber), to live-action remakes of cartoon features (101 Dalmations, The Jungle Book, Pinnochio) to retooled TV cartoon shows (Mr. Magoo, George Of The Jungle, and the upcoming Inspector Gadget).

Directed by Donald Petrie (Mystic Pizza, Grumpy Old Men), Martian is a quick-paced farce with cute effects and lots of funny bits. The off-the-wall Christopher Lloyd seems a perfect choice for the title role (although original Martian Ray Walston is also in the film), but his portrayal differs only slightly from the Doc Brown character he played in the Back To The Future movies. Alongside Lloyd is Jeff Daniels as Tim O'Hara, the confused Earthling who must deal with an unexpected visit from the eccentric alien. Daniels is equally adequate, since "confused Earthling" is a stock role for him.

Daniels is Tim O'Hara, a TV news producer who witnesses the crash of an alien ship. When he investigates, he meets its pilot (Lloyd) who assumes human shape with the help of special chewing gum. Dubbing himself "Martin," he explains to Tim that he's not staying, but he must find a way to repair his ship and be on his way before the ship's automatic detonation device explodes and takes everyone with it. Tim knows that this is the story of the century, though, and he tries to make clandestine video recordings of "Martin" and his very animated spacesuit, Zoot (voice of Wayne Knight).

But Tim soon grows fond of the quirky creature, and decides to help him make a quiet escape. Unfortunately, his dippy news colleague, Brace Channing (Elizabeth Hurley), has caught on to what's happening and plans to cash in. Also in the mix is maniacal scientist Dr. E. Colai (Wallace Shawn), who wants to dissect the creature; Tim's ultra-wholesome camera operator, Lizzie (Daryl Hannah); and the mysterious man from SETI (Walston).

Though rather formulaic, Petrie's Martian is engaging enough, especially for the under-12 crowd and devotees of the '60s TV show. Penned by Sherri Stoner and Deanna Oliver, the story contains all the familiar elements for Disney features: overblown physical comedy, bumbling villains, and a honey-sweet love affair. There are many cool special effects using not only computer-generated animation, but puppetry and animatronics as well. Quite fluffy, but still fun.★★★★

SHAKESPEARE IN LOVE

Rated R - Running time: 2:02

We are all familiar on some level with the man commonly regarded as the greatest playwright in history, William Shakespeare. There has been no end to speculation among scholars about what might have influenced him to write his famous works. But since he didn't write as much about his own daily life as about that of Hamlet, Macbeth, or Richard III, we really have little information to go on. That's why John Madden's Shakespeare In Love is such a delightful peek into the possible events and experiences that would lead the Bard to craft one of his greatest creations. It's a portrait of the artist, if you will—a fleshing out of the man behind so many memorable characters.

But the premise of Shakespeare In Love is not its only asset, not by a longshot. With an excellent cast, a screenplay sprinkled with equal parts humor and pathos, and energetic direction (not to mention beautiful sets and costumes), the film is thoroughly delightful in every respect. Madden, who directed last year's impeccable Mrs. Brown, has again turned out a period piece that will appeal to all, not just stuffy professors of literature and theatre history. Penned by Marc Norman and Tom Stoppard, and dipping deeply from Shakespeare's own well of dialogue, the plot is constructed much like one of the plays written by its main character. It is loaded with subtle references to his style and clever inferences about the origins of famous lines.

Joseph Fiennes plays young Will Shakespeare, who, in 1593 London, has not yet achieved the fame and respect he is now afforded. He is struggling with writer's block while the owner of the Rose theatre, Philip Henslowe (Geoffrey Rush), is putting pressure on him to write the new comedy he promised, "Romeo and Ethel." After listlessly scribbling out a few pages, Will holds tryouts, but is unimpressed by any of the town's potential actors. Then a new boy comes onto the stage and reads with such feeling that Will sits up and takes notice. As in many of the Bard's plays, it is actually a woman in boy's clothes who stands on the stage. It is Viola De Lesseps (Gwyneth Paltrow), a noblelady who has been a fan of Will's words for years, and who seems to capture them so eloquently, it's as if she wrote them herself. But since women were not allowed to appear in theatre in those days, she must masquerade as a man to be considered for a part.

Will soon discovers Viola's secret, but he is so enchanted he hires her to play Romeo anyway. As the two become romantically entangled, the play flows effortlessly from his pen; the love scenes acted out in her bedroom are reiterated on the stage the next day. This is a particularly ingenious sequence in the movie, with quick editing between the couples' love scenes and the rehearsal scenes, where Viola wears a short, boy's wig and facial hair. But as events proceed and real life steps in, the newly renamed Romeo And Juliet changes from comedy to tragedy.

Paltrow and Fiennes give lusciously romantic and powerful performances here; Paltrow's gender-switching is a difficult order and she pulls it off without a hitch. Rush is excellent as the affable theatre owner who still thinks he's getting a comedy until opening night. Also on board are Judi Dench as an icily regal Queen Elizabeth (she played Queen Victoria last year in Mrs. Brown), Ben Affleck as Will's actor friend who plays Mercutio in the play, and Colin Firth as the unamused Lord Wessex, who intends to make Viola his own.

Writers Norman and Stoppard have turned out a piece worthy of its subject, and director Madden has not failed in transferring their vision to the screen. Shakespeare In Love is funny, tragic, romantic . . . I love it; should I count the ways? ★★★★★

MESSAGE IN A BOTTLE

Rated PG-13 - Running time: 2:12

The premise of Message In A Bottle, Kevin Costner's latest drippy chick flick, is no doubt an emotionally powerful one. A quiet shipbuilder/sailor from North Carolina loses his beloved wife, and he can't find a way to get past it. So he writes her a very personal letter, puts in in a bottle, and throws it into the ocean where it will undoubtedly, inevitably return to shore many miles away and fall into the hands of a complete stranger. Hmmmm--interesting. Is this some kind of new technique in group therapy? "Hey, look at me, I'm good-looking, sensitive, and tragic. Any babes on the east coast want to cheer me up?"

This is typical Costner, but I can't blame him--he didn't write this one. The script was written by Gerald Di Pego, adapted from the novel by Nicholas Sparks. Surely, though, Costner's history with this kind of movie is what convinced director Luis Mandoki that he'd be perfect for the role of tragic hero Garret Blake. Oh, yeah--and the fact that his company, Tig Productions, financed the film. But, sappy or not, Message In A Bottle is a nice experience (not to mention beautifully filmed), mainly thanks to Robin Wright (The Princess Bride, Forrest Gump), who plays opposite Costner. Wright (credited as Robin Wright Penn, since her marriage to Sean) puts forth a compelling performance full of spontaneity and relaxed energy that really makes the couple's growing relationship a pleasure to watch. Costner is his usual monosyllabic, monotone self, but it is Wright who deserves credit for keeping the tear-jerker nausea factor to a minimum.

When Chicago newspaper researcher Theresa Osborne (Wright) is vacationing in New England, she discovers a bottle on the beach with a note inside. When she reads the badly typewritten page, it is the most tragic, beautiful love letter she has ever seen. A man whose wife has died declares that he is lost without her —that she was his "true north." Sailor talk, you know. She shows it to her co-worker (Illeana Douglas), they share an "oh, how romantic" session, and think that's the end of it. But when her boss (Robbie Coltrane) puts it in his editorial column, the paper gets tons of letters. One is from someone who found a similar missive, written on the same stationery. Intrigued, Theresa decides to try to track down the sender of the sea-borne valentines, and ends up on the doorstep of Garret Blake (Costner).

Living with Garret is his crotchety father Dodge (Paul Newman), a recovering alcoholic who's been through his own personal wringer. All adult romances have this character—at least one of the leads always needs a parent to say, "What's the matter with you? Don't let her slip away! Why, if I was 30 years younger, . . ." etc. After a brief period of uncomfortable silences, Garret and Theresa get busy tangling tongues and marshmallow fighting. But she learns that Garret has not properly dealt with Catherine's death, and there are other problems involving the entire community. So she must decide whether to get mixed up in his complicated life or just go back to Chicago after a few rolls in the sand.

What could have been another Costner feel-fest has been helped immeasurably by Robin Wright. Thanks to her easy style, this film is not just wet, but substantial and satisfying—like many other bottled goods. ★★★★

BLAST FROM THE PAST

Rated PG-13 - Running time: 1:46

Remember the early days of the cold war? Kennedy, Kruschev, the Cuban missile crisis . . . and fallout shelters. Many people constructed these underground living quarters spacious enough to accommodate their families for years, in the event of a nuclear attack. You know, when the Commies drop the nuke, you can't just go down there and camp until the fires go out. You've gotta wait decades—until the radiation danger passes. Blast From The Past, directed by Hugh Wilson (Police Academy, Guarding Tess), written by Bill Kelly and Hugh Wilson, and starring Brendan Fraser (George Of The Jungle) is the story of one such family, the Webbers, who actually moved into theirs—in 1962—and did not emerge until 35 years later.

Calvin Webber (Christopher Walken) and his wife Helen (Sissy Spacek) are the typical 1960s family. They live in a California ranch house brimming with formica and stainless steel. He's intensely paranoid about the Communist threat, she's 9 months pregnant, and then it happens: The president appears on TV and says there's trouble in Cuba. Just as Calvin and Helen climb down the ladder, a malfunctioning fighter jet crashes on their house. Calvin is certain the Commies have done it--he closes the hatch, sets the time lock for 35 years ("in case we try to get out"), and settles in for a couple decades of quality underground living while the mutants roam the surface.

Luckily, Calvin planned ahead well. They have everything they need (they'd better have), and when Adam is born, he begins his life in comfort rivaled only by Hitler's bunker. The first half of the film follows his 35-year development, being taught not only the three R's, but history, science, French, dancing and boxing lessons, and—above all—how to be a gentleman.

When the locks finally release, Calvin goes above and sees modern-day L.A. at its most decadent: bums, freaks, adult book stores. He returns downstairs but is injured before he can re-lock the doors. Helen, who has had cabin fever since about the third day of seclusion, sends Adam up for some supplies, in case they really do have to stick it out for another couple of years. And so, at 35 years of age, our hero (played as an adult by Brendan Fraser) finally gets his first breath of fresh air.

On the surface, he meets Eve Rustikov (Alicia Silverstone) and her gay friend Troy (Newsradio's Dave Foley), who at first think he's a complete psycho, but soon develop a fondness for his simple take on life and his excellent manners. He hires Eve to help him gather 10 years' worth of food and supplies, and "find a wife." Before long, she thinks he's a psycho again.

Brendan Fraser has expressed an affinity for playing "fish out of water" characters. In addition to George Of the Jungle, he played Encino Man, the ice-caked caveman who is thawed out and introduced into Southern Cal society. But Adam Webber is his best fish yet. Fraser is full of charm and good-natured innocence, and he and Silverstone spark well together. Her sense of melting barriers and emotional confusion is nice to watch, and their first kiss is profoundly satisfying. Wilson's Blast is sort of the opposite of last fall's Pleasantville; this time it is the early-'60s guy plopped down in the '90s, rather then the other way around. But it compares the two time periods in the same thoroughly enjoyable way, and its first half (starring Walken and Spacek) and second (starring Fraser and Silverstone) balance out nicely. ★★★★½

JUVENILES CHARGED

Three juveniles accused of six reported burglaries were arrested Saturday by the GBI and the Oakland City Police Department. The youths have implicated in the January burglary of the offices of Rodeheaver and Associates, where approximately $9,000 in computer equipment was stolen, according to the GBI report. The youths have also been connected to two separate thefts of computer equipment from the offices of Garrett County Community Action.

Additional charges are being placed against the trio for the October 1998 breaking and entering of the Mikal McCartney residence in Oakland, during which $1,700 worth of computer equipment was stolen. The teenagers have also been implicated in two separate thefts at Southern High School in which a total of $4,000 worth of equipment was taken, and one of the teenagers has been cited for allegedly receiving stolen computer equipment from West Virginia.

The three defendants were released into their parents' custody pending trial. Charges are reportedly pending against a fourth youth possibly involved in the crimes.

Approximately $10,000 worth of equipment has been recovered by the GBI and Oakland police from the youths' residences.

Safety Seat Checks Held For Child Passenger Safety Week

Last week parents in Allegany and Garrett counties were given a preview of what is happening across the nation this week, when 45 child safety seats were inspected at two local safety seat checks.

In recognition of National Child Passenger Safety Week, February 14-20, child safety advocates are spreading the word to "Buckle up your little Valentine — today and every day."

Installing child safety seats is a complicated process, which requires training to recognize different seat belt types, which child safety seat is best for the individual child's age, size, and special needs, and the techniques for tight installation in the variety of vehicle seat configuration, according to Diane Lee, Garrett County Highway Safety coordinator at Maryland Institute for Emergency Medical Services Systems (MIESS) Region I Office.

In two separate classes last week, a total of 31 public health and safety personnel learned how to properly install and use child safety seats. As a way to put their new skills into practice, the participating EMS, fire, police, and public health personnel conducted two child safety seat checks, one each in Grantsville and Frostburg. The classes and seat checks were sponsored by MIEMSS, in cooperation with local fire departments.

"Out of the 45 safety seats we checked, only one did not need some kind of correction to increase the child's safety," said Lee. The seats were checked for proper installation, age and size appropriateness, manufacturer recalls, and visible damage.

The seat checks were designed to assist parents in keeping their children safe, and to help class participants gain experience. After class participants inspected the seat, it was re-checked by a nationally certified child passenger safety technician before it was released.

"Most of the people who attended the classes have seen what can happen to children if they are not properly restrained," Lee said. "We all want to prevent those injuries and deaths from happening. Almost anyone will tell you that the hardest calls to deal with are always those involving kids."

The local numbers mirror the statistics from across the nation, showing that as many as 90% of seats are not installed correctly. Local problems included such common mistakes as having the seat belt and harnesses too loose; turning babies forward facing before they are 20 pounds and 1 year old; moving the child out of the child safety seat and into a booster before they are 40 pounds; not using a booster seat between 40 and 80 pounds; and using seats which are more than 10 years old.

"The class participants were amazed at the amount of information involved in learning about child safety seats," Lee said. "It is no wonder parents have such a hard time getting their child's seat installed correctly.

"Many of the people in the classes are very excited about working with parents, and will be joining those of us who have received our national certification in conducting more seat checks in Allegany and Garrett counties in the near future," she said.

For more information about the child safety seats, or about future classes, persons may call the Garrett County Highway Safety Office at 301-895-5934 or 301-746-8636, or the Allegany County Kids In Safety Seats (KISS) Program Office at 301-777-5668.

NATIONAL CHILD PASSENGER SAFETY WEEK is this week, and child safety seat checks were held this past week in Grantsville and Frostburg to help parents keep their children as safe as possible while riding in a vehicle. The seats pictured above are among those that were replaced at the Grantsville check with new, safer seats. A seat should be replaced when: it has been recalled because of a life-threatening problem; it is more than 10 years old; it was in a vehicle during a crash; it has obvious safety problems, such as worn-out harnesses or latches; it is a second-hand seat and the user does not know its history; and the model number and date of manufacture are missing so one could not check in the event of a recall. See story for more information.

SAFETY REWARDED - The residents and Maryland State Police troopers of Garrett County can take a bow for their excellent safety record. Two unannounced observational surveys conducted 30 days apart by personnel from the McHenry barrack concluded that more than 80% of drivers used safety belts. A certificate of award was presented to Barrack W recently in recognition of this accomplishment. In Annapolis to receive the plaque were Sgt. Wayne R. Paugh, left, and Cpl. Ray Beard.

Ten Tips For A Safer Trip

by Diane Lee
Garrett County Highway Safety Coordinator

Family car rides can be stressful. Keeping the kids entertained may be your top priority, but parents should never compromise safety. February 14-20 is National Child Passenger Safety Week, so here are some tips to make every ride a safe ride.

1. Be sure to set a good example. Parents, caregivers, and other adults should always use seat belts on every trip. Make it a family policy that everyone in the car buckles up before the car moves.

2. Be sure your child safety seat is properly installed. Give it a good tug; if it moves more than one inch, it is probably not installed correctly. Review both the manufacturer's instructions and your vehicle owner's manual. If you are still confused, call your local highway safety office* to find out when the next child safety seat check will be held, or ask if they can do a check for you at their office.

3. Never let children put the seat belt shoulder strap behind their back or under their arm. This makes the lap belt ride up and that can damage internal organs if you crash or even stop suddenly.

4. Accessories that are designed to make safety belts fit older children are not recommended by NHTSA because there are no federal safety standards for their manufacture or use.

5. For children over 40 pounds, booster seats help seat belts fit well. Kids are not only safer, but more comfortable too. They can see out the window better, and they may be able to fall asleep easier on long rides.

6. Air bags and kids don't mix. Children should always be in the back seat. Never put a rear-facing infant seat in the front seat of a vehicle that has a passenger air bag.

7. Talk to your teenagers and preteens about buckling up and about drunk driving. Make sure they know never to get in a car with anyone who has been drinking. Tell them that if they promise to call home instead, you will promise to always go get them, no matter what, and that you won't get mad.

8. When you pack for a long trip, take paperback books, soft toys, coloring books, and crayons. Don't bring hard toys or books that could become dangerous projectiles if you have to stop suddenly.

9. Use your vehicle's child safety locks on the back doors. These prevent children from opening the car doors from the inside. Use the parent lock to stay in control of the windows, too.

10. Never transport children in the cargo area of a truck, even if it has a cover.

On a Personal Note
by Lucretia Sines

I recently visited the Friendsville Elementary School as I do each week to gather the news article for the paper. I followed Ross Glotfelty back to his classroom at his urging and was introduced to his second graders. As I looked around the room, I saw many familiar faces smiling at me and even received a hug from my niece Hannah. It really brought back memories of when my daughter was in this school and how it thrilled her to have me volunteer my time.

Because this month's theme is "Friendship," they proudly recited the following poem to me: "A poet once this sentence penned. The man is rich who has a friend. I read it and I thought how true. He must have had a friend like you."

With such a display of enthusiasm that these children exhibited, I strongly urge you to consider taking time to volunteer in some way at the school. These kids really look forward to being able to show off what they are learning. My volunteer years spent at the school have given me memories that I will cherish always.

Notes from Bittinger

BIRTHDAY CELEBRATIONS

Bill, Tina, Derek, and Karla Buckel visited Ken and Harriett Buckel on Sunday afternoon with gifts and refreshments in celebration of Ken's 75th birthday, which was on February 15. They also celebrated Ken's and Harriett's 57th wedding anniversary, which will be on February 22.

Carol and Kevin Bass hosted a Saturday evening birthday dinner for her brother, Barry Glotfelty's 40th birthday. Courtney, Ruth DiPaolo, and Lisa Sheirer, Frostburg, also attended.

MD-NC BASKETBALL GAME

Saturday Rodney and Marci Glotfelty attended the Maryland-North Carolina Basketball game at College Park. It was a great game to attend as Maryland had a great game and came out the victor. What a great game to attend! The family also visited Lynn Farmer, Towson, over the weekend.

VISITORS

Weekend visitors of the Beachy, Stanton, and Poholsky families were Susan and Julia Scheffres and Alexandria Bolten of Rockwell.

Ann and Pat McLister and children of Rockville visited Margaret and Jim Wagner's home over the weekend holiday. Margaret's home was bustling with the scurry of the McLister kids and some of their friends from Bittinger. Claire and Caitlin Sussman and Emma Bass were their guests. It looks like we have quite a few aspiring actresses coming along in the future as they produced and staged plays complete with proper costumes, etc.

SUPPER SET

There will be a buckwheat and pancake supper this Friday, Feb. 19, from 4:30 to 8 p.m. at the Bittinger fire hall, sponsored by the Bittinger 4-H Club. Cost is $4.50 for adults, $2.50 for children 12 and under, and free for those under 5.

MY THOUGHTS THIS WEEK

Since the news from Bittinger is a little slow this week, I have been reflecting about my time in New York City.

I want to tell you all about an unforgettable time in the "Big Apple." Imagine there being a gigantic horse show in the downtown of Manhattan and in the Madison Square Garden.

At that time I was working for a fox-hunting family from New Jersey. I drove a huge van loaded with some unbelievably valuable horses in New York City traffic and through the Holland Tunnel under the river. (Now I am even afraid to drive to McHenry.) My friend and I pulled up to the Garden and, as we were unloading the horses and tons of equipment on 37th Street, we were approached by a tiny, skinny, black woman. She looked like she might be a "junkie" or a "street person."

She was thrilled to see in real life a horse for the first time ever. We invited her to come into the van to meet and touch Erin's nose. Erin was a beautiful peppered thoroughbred mare, who had won that year's Champion Lady Sidesaddle Championship title, along with the red roses. Erin was probably worth more money than that poor little woman will ever see in her whole life.

She also had to touch Betty and me, and she said "You are so strong! This your job?" This was a completely different world than she had ever seen before. She could see us in our scene as "the enemy" since our works in the hunt club circuit represented an ultimate in wealthy, privileged, and everything opposite from her world such as Harlem, poverty, and prejudice. She was not thinking about stealing from us, but only to be able to peek into another world.

Lots of time here in Bittinger, it is easy to forget another world is out there, but it is a wonderful and marvelous world — not something to fear. Even people who are far different from ourselves can show us some glimpse of something special. What causes this "New York state of mind" is my desire to try to make the "big-time" with my art in the big city. It is hard to make a decent career of art around our area, but possibly in New York, where people value art enough to pay good money for a painting. I know there is a lot of competition, but I think my art might find an audience in New York.

A former special friend in New York, a former would-be actor from Kentucky, and who also lived for a while on Dung Hill Road, did what seemed unlikely and did finally make a successful career as an actor in New York City, and being good enough to support a family. I recently talked with him about my art and that I want it as a new career for me. He told me, "You need not to listen to what everyone tells you, that you can't do it. Just believe in your dreams."

That counts a lot from someone who did beat the odds. Only one in 100 aspiring actors ever makes a decent living in acting.

So many people tell me around here that I can't visit New York because it is a terrible place and filled with terrible people. I know that is not true, from my past experiences there. In those few years living in New York, I shared a little piece of each day with an amazing assortment of people.

For example, one day on an elevator in my work building I shared a ride with a beautiful black woman. I knew that she was someone special. She was Judith Jamison, the star ballet dancer. I never saw anyone who had such an awesome physical presence as she had.

One night on my way home from work in the subway I road with Willie Smith, the famous fashion designer. Another awesome evening I attended a party with the biggest stars on Broadway: Hal Prince, Stephen Sondhiem the composer, and Angela Lansbury. It was an unforgettable night.

Besides the celebrities that I often met, I was equally delighted with an elderly Korean couple who ran a fresh fish market down from my apartment. They sang all day long.

My neighbors were all kinds of people: black, white, Hispanics, Indians, Orientals, Jewish, and even "punk rockers." As we passed each other, we exchanged smiles.

GOOD WILL SENT OUT BY NMS AFTER-SCHOOLERS — Ill children and patients at the Veterans Hospital in Baltimore were the recipients in the past few months of good-will messages sent by students participating in Northern Middle School's After-School Program. The students, under the supervision of AmeriCorps member Geni Sharps, have participated in service learning projects aimed at making people feel better over the holidays. For Christmas, the students made cards for a non-profit organization called "Cards for Kids," which then distributed the greeting cards to ill children. The students' Valentine's Day effort was "Valentines for Veterans." They made special cards that were then sent to the Baltimore Veterans Hospital. Some of the participating students are shown above. Facing the camera, left to right, are Brittany Georg, Erin Smith, Tinsa Wilt, Sallie Lapp, and adult volunteer Fran Homer. Those with their backs to the camera, same order, are Sharps, James Michaels, and Barbie Garde.

Disorderly Conduct Charge Stetted In District Court

A disorderly conduct charge faced by a Friendsville woman was placed onto the stet docket in last week's Garrett County District Court proceedings.

Sharon Denise Lowe, 27, had been arrested by the Garrett County Sheriff's Office in December. Deputies took her into custody outside an Overlook Drive residence at 1 a.m. for allegedly continuing to yell profanities after repeatedly being asked to stop. In handing down the stet ruling, District Court Judge Ralph Burnett stipulated that Lowe complete 30 hours of community service.

In a separate case, Burnett deemed that Lowe was not guilty of a number of charges stemming from her January arrest by sheriff's deputies. A complaint by a Water Street resident, Laura Hawkins, had resulted in Lowe being charged with second degree assault, destruction of property, trespassing, and endangering the safety of another person by her intoxication with alcohol.

In other district court news, drug charges faced by a Pasadena man were stetted.

Michael William Hodgeman, 53, had been arrested in October after a traffic stop by a Maryland State Police trooper for driving while intoxicated. Charges of possession of marijuana and marijuana paraphernalia resulted from a search of Hodgeman's vehicle following the DWI arrest. The search reportedly uncovered a marijuana cigarette and a wooden box used to store marijuana.

Nathan Joseph Bridges, 19, Frostburg, was granted a sentence revision in connection with a felony theft conviction. His sentence was revised to allow work release by Judge James Sherbin.

CORRECTION

The district court news report published on February 4 incorrectly stated that Charles Robert Thomas, 33, McHenry, received a jail sentence in connection with charges that stemmed from a December incident in Oakland. The correct facts follow.

Craig Lee Stephens, 32, Oakland, was sentenced to a month in jail after pleading guilty in a recent hearing to charges of second degree assault and disorderly conduct. He had been arrested by Oakland City Police officers in December for allegedly assaulting a guest at his residence. According to the charging statement, an intoxicated Stephens had returned home to find several guests visiting another resident there, and he commenced fighting with one of them.

After hearing the case against Stephens, District Court Judge Ralph Burnett handed him a 90-day sentence, suspending all but 30 days, placed him on two years of supervised probation, and ordered that he pay $309 in restitution to the victim. Additional charges of alcohol intoxication that endangered another person and malicious destruction of property were not prosecuted by the state's attorney's office.

DWI/DUI HEARINGS

Several driving while intoxicated (DWI) and driving while under the influence of alcohol and/or drugs cases were heard in district court recently.

William Gary Riggleman Jr., 27, Kitzmiller, pleaded guilty to DWI and was fined $155, handed a 90-day sentence with all but 30 days suspended, placed on one year of supervised probation, and ordered to complete 60 hours of community service.

Tonya Lynn Warnick, 26, Oakland, pleaded guilty to DWI and was fined $300, handed a 60-day sentence with all but 4 days suspended, placed on one year of supervised probation, and ordered to complete 40 hours of community service.

Rickey Brian Hardesty, 40, W.Va. hometown not available, was sentenced for DWI and fined $255, handed a 30-day sentence with all but 48 hours suspended, placed on one year of supervised probation, and ordered to complete 40 hours of community service.

Victor Frank Gardea Sr., 43, McHenry, pleaded guilty to DWI and was handed a 30-day sentence with all but 48 hours suspended, placed on one year of supervised probation, and ordered to complete 80 hours of community service.

Nowell Blair Simmons, 51, Oakland, pleaded guilty to DUI and received a probation before judgment (PBJ), was fined $200, handed a 30-day suspended sentence, placed on one year of supervised probation, and ordered to complete 40 hours of community service.

Alexander Michael Zaiser, 24, Accident, pleaded guilty to DUI and received a probation before judgment, was fined $100, handed a 30-day suspended sentence, and placed on six months of supervised probation.

Todd Allen Whitacre, 29, Kitzmiller, was found in violation of DWI probation, which was revoked as a 22-day sentence was reimposed.

The following DWI/DUI cases were not prosecuted in recent proceedings.

Mark Andrew Brunner, 35, Altoona, Pa.; David Allen Bryner, 41, Bruceton Mills, W.Va.; Frank J. Chytil, 38, Carnegie, Pa.; Richard Lee Dill, 46, East Lynn, W.Va.; Richard Franklin Evans, 55, Mtn. Lake Park.

Epsie Comes Home From Celebrated Museum Tour, "Brave Little Girls"

EPSIE

by Peggy Santamaria

There was a happy homecoming and reunion in Grantsville recently, when Epsie returned to the home of Carolyn Collen-DuBose from a three-year tour of museums across the country. Traveling with the exhibit "Brave Little Girls" Epsie, a rag doll, was the only three-dimensional participant in the displays.

Lovingly handcrafted by DuBose, Epsie is a product of bits and pieces of important people and times in the fabric of her own life. Clothed in a cotton dress, a slip with trim hand-tatted by Bertha Oester of Garrett County, a patchwork jacket, and a hat and shawl of wool spun by Spruce Forest artisan Meriam Brode, Epsie portrayed a character in The Rag Coat, one of the many books in the traveling exhibit.

The coordinator of the display was Krystyna Wasserman, director of the library and research center at the National Museum of Women in the Arts, Washington, D.C. Her purpose was to create an exhibit of books and illustrations that offered young girls brave or heroic female role models.

The exhibition, which started at the National Museum of Women in the Arts in October 1995, ran in Los Angeles and San Francisco, Calif., Denver, Col., and Chicago, Ill.

At the Chicago's Children's Museum, "Brave Little Girls" was on display from April to November 1998. Museum president Dianne L. Sautter commented that the exhibit encouraged children to consider that heroic acts occur in everyday life and that they, too, can be heroic.

In recent correspondence with Dubose, Wasserman expressed her appreciation for Epsie's participation in the exhibition, which had not been originally scheduled to tour. It wasn't until the show was scheduled at the Washington, D.C., museum, that word got out and interest was piqued.

People called Wasserman asking for the exhibit to travel. "They offered to cover all the expenses, including installation costs. The Sears, Roebuck and Company covered the cost of transporting the "Brave Little Girls" exhibition from one venue to another and we are all very grateful for their support," she wrote.

Wasserman also informed DuBose that everywhere the "Brave Little Girls" went, "they received excellent reviews." She commented on the role that the rag doll played in show. "Epsie has brought so much joy to so many people around the country," she concluded.

Like a proud parent, DuBose has compiled a scrap book of Epsie's travels and successes. It includes reviews from The Washington Post, The Northwest Leader, and Washington Parent.

Epsie herself has not mentioned a word about any travel plans in the near future. However, with the professionalism one would expect from a seasoned public figure, she would undoubtedly be ready to tour again, if needed.

Garden Club Donates Books

The Mountain Laurel Garden Club recently donated four books to the Ruth Enlow library as part of the club's 10-year anniversary. Each of the donations was made in the name of one of the club's former presidents.

The donated books are: Better Homes and Gardens New Complete Guide to Gardening, given in honor of Kathie Smith, president, 1988-91; Natural Garden, by Ken Druse, given in honor of Willie Rissell, president, 1991-93; Gardener's Guide to Growing Hostas, given in honor of Judy Finkel, president, 1993-95; and A Gardener's Encyclopedia of Wildflowers, by C. Colston Burrell, given in honor of Sheila Hetrick, president, 1995-97. Barbara Sanders is the current president.

The club has carried out a number of beautification and education projects throughout Garrett County, including planting and maintaining the gardens at the Oakland and Accident branches of the Ruth Enlow Library; decorating the library window in Oakland at Christmas and for National Garden Week in June; and donating the materials and labor for the renovation of the library window in Oakland. The club also provides guidance, support, and maintenance of the Dennett Road Arboretum.

The Mountain Laurel Garden Club is open to anyone interested in learning more about horticulture, conservation, flower arranging, and other gardening-related topics. The club meets the third Tuesday of the month for a program by a speaker or for a workshop. Interested persons may call Judy Finkel at 301-387-5488 for further information.

The 243rd Detachment has employment opportunities for heavy equipment operators, mechanics, cooks, and engineering specialists, and persons interested in further information may contact Sgt Tim Sanders at 301-334-9794.

Sanders Named New Recruiter For Nat'l Guard

Sergeant Tim Sanders, Oakland, was recently assigned as a full-time strength maintenance noncommissioned officer (NCO) for the Oakland/Cumberland National Guard Unit. This unit supplies Company B 121st Engineers and the 243rd CSE battalions in Oakland, and the 121st Company B and 129th Signal battalions in Cumberland. Sanders is available to talk with prospective recruits as well as prior service veterans of all military branches.

Persons age 17-36 interesting in joining the Maryland Army National Guard are encouraged to contact Sanders at 301-334-9794 in Oakland or 301-777-9395 in Cumberland. The sergeant reported that the National Guard offers men and women a supplement to their incomes (over $120 for two days' work, Sanders said), retirement benefits, and life insurance. In Maryland, the guard also offers free college programs with tuition assistance and/or waiver plans.

"It is important that the community knows we are here for them," Sanders said. "Along with the national mission that we follow, we are also here for state emergencies such as flooding, fire, and other public safety hazards. The National Guard is very important to the local economy in this time of financial uncertainty."

An alternative phone numbers for Sanders is 1-888-273-1921.

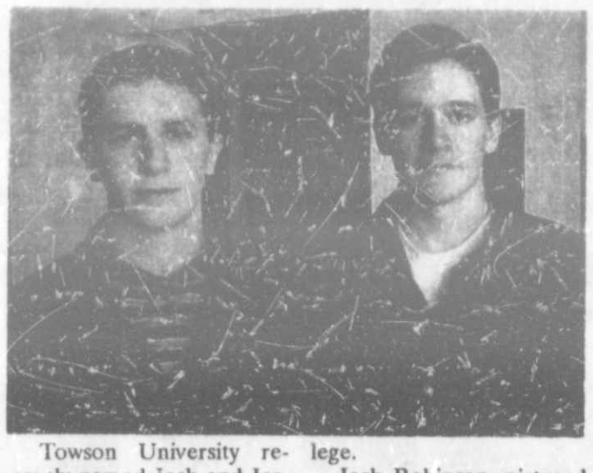
Local Brothers Each Earn 4.0



Towson University recently named Josh and Jeremy Robinson of Friendsville to the dean's list with high honors, as both brothers achieved a 4.0 grade average for the 1998 fall semester. The brothers are both majoring in physics/chemistry with a minor in mathematics.

Jeremy Robinson, pictured above right, is a June '98 graduate of Northern High School and is ranked as a second semester sophomore because of his participation in the ECAP program through Northern and Garrett Community College.

Josh Robinson, pictured left, a June '97 graduate of Northern High, is ranked as a second semester junior by the university because of his participation in the ECAP program. The Physics Department recently honored him by appointing him a voting member of the search committee that is hiring new faculty members for the Physics Department.

Both young men attribute their success to the "excellent preparation" they had in math and science at NHS and the opportunity to participate in the ECAP program through Garrett Community College.

Josh and Jeremy are the sons of Rita and Bill Robinson of Friendsville and grandsons of Alfreda Friend, Bear Creek Road, and William and Romaine Robinson of LaVale.

Dear Mr. Huebner:
Within the past week we closed on a vacation home at Deep Creek Lake. We began the search for a home over a year ago and we were assisted right throughout by Arlene Murray. Over the period of several months, she displayed a comforting ability to focus our attention on properties that met our specific needs. . . Her patience over the long process was greatly appreciated. Living in the Baltimore area it could have been difficult communicating and obtaining the necessary information to make the correct choices. Arlene was always available when we needed her even after we closed on the property. . . We are thankful that we chose Coldwell Banker and particularly that Arlene was the agent selected to work with us.
Sincerely,
D. Bradley Holland

POTENCY IS AN IMPORTANT QUALITY

No medicine can be really effective in curing an illness, if it has, by the time it reaches your home, lost its potency. Just as certain foods can deteriorate if not kept properly, so can medicines.

Some drugs must be refrigerated to retain their powers - such as insulin, certain eye drops and many types of vitamins. With other medicines exposure to light is the culprit and special containers must be used to keep light out. Every manufacturer of drugs supplies us with detailed instructions on how best to preserve the potency of their products, and we carefully follow their directions.

Saturday
Psalm 136

As February draws to a close, we begin to tire of winter...the cold weather, stalled cars, lingering patches of snow. We anticipate rebirth. We dream of tiny green buds, with their translucent skin, springing from bare limbs. We picture tulip bulbs planted in the fall magically pushing through the thawing earth to form a kaleidoscope of color. On rare unseasonably warm days in February, the sun teases us, glistening on ice which has yet to surrender. But spring is on the horizon. We can survive just a few more weeks of winter.

As we anticipate spring, consider God and the warmth of His love. Learn to know Him. Visit Him in His house of worship this week. You can anticipate spring in your life all year round.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

BY LAWRENCE W. ALTHOUSE

RECONCILED and RECONCILING
February 21, 1999

Background Scripture:
2 Corinthians 5:11-21
Devotional Reading:
1 Peter 2:18-25

I have been reading—"plowing my way through" would be a more apt description—a little 177-page paperback book by the Nobel Prize-winning physicist, Steven Weinberg. It is entitled The First Three Minutes: A Modern View of the Origin of the Universe. It is essentially a reconstruction of the first three minutes of the creation. For me, it is fascinating but very tough going; there's so much that I do not understand. I'm only up to the first 1.09 seconds after the 'Big Bang.'

This book is helping me to apprehend, if not comprehend, the sheer enormity and wonder of God's creation (that's me speaking, not Weinberg). Once again I have been made to realize that my God is too small—my concept of God, that is. This glimpse of God the Creator has staggered my imagination and the suggestion that all this is the product of mere chance and not design (and a Designer) is utterly unthinkable.

GOD IN A TREE

Yet, regardless of how much and how often I find the Creator revealed in his creation, I am frequently reminded that nature speaks only of the majestic power and design of God. Commenting upon this passage, the late Halford E. Luccock quotes Randall Stewart's observation that "The romantic poet is forever running the risk of mistaking God for a tree," and then adds, "In Paul there was no risk of 'mistaking God for a tree.' God was in Christ." Nature may have spoken to Paul of God, but Christ spoke to him more deeply and more fully.

The great mystery, the sublime reality is not only that God makes a tree, but that in Jesus of Nazareth he was "reconciling the world to himself." Magnificent as is the sheer creation of the cosmos, without the love made manifest in Christ the universe would be nothing but an inhospitable, impersonal, even hostile penitentiary for the human race. So, even more important than the God who creates this unimaginable universe is the God who loves his creatures so much that he becomes incarnate in the man Jesus to effect our reconciliation with him.

Somewhere I read that philosopher Henry Thoreau was once asked by his mother whether he had made his peace with God and he replied, "Made my peace? I didn't know we were at war!" It is an amusing answer but it glibly glosses over a persistent fact: all of us at times, maybe all the time, in some way or ways, whether we are aware or not, are "at war" with God. No matter how close we may feel in our relationship with God, we all violate or adulterate that relationship from time to time. Even the best of his children must disappoint the Father.

UNLESS, GOD.....

So reconciliation with God is our greatest need, but it's too big a job for us to be able to achieve it—unless God takes the initiative. And that is what Paul is saying: "God was in Christ reconciling the world to himself." There is no better nor briefer statement of the gospel in a nutshell than that.

Neither is there a more concise and yet comprehensive statement of the gospel's meaning for each of us personally: "So we are ambassadors for Christ, God making his appeal through us" (5.20). If we are to be reconciled with God we must in turn take up his ministry of reconciliation. We don't have to preach sermons, teach lessons or stand on street corners to make public witness. Actually, we don't have to say much of anything so long as we let God be in us reconciling others to himself and to each other.

Wherever we are or go in the world we can be ambassadors for Christ, working for reconciliation in a broken, divided world. We do not have to bring nations together or personally reconcile the races and ethnic groups. But we can help people to be reconciled through the love of God in Christ that shines through us.

Ag Scholarships Available For Fall Semester

Agriculture students from 28 states will be eligible for scholarships under a new program jointly sponsored by the American Farm Bureau Foundation for Agriculture and Monsanto Company. The first scholarship will be awarded this spring for use during the fall 1999 semester.

The AFB Foundation for Agriculture and Monsanto will award 50 Commitment to Agriculture Scholarships, each worth $2,500. The scholarships will be awarded to students from families actively engaged in farming. Applicants must be entering their first year of college in the fall of 1999 and plan to study agriculture.

Scholarships will be awarded through the AFB Foundation for Agriculture. Application materials are available now at state and county Farm Bureau offices as well as at agricultural chemical retailer locations in the 28 states involved. The application deadline is April 15, 1999.

"We appreciate this opportunity to team up with Monsanto in a way that benefits farm families and the profession of agriculture," said Marsha Purcell, managing director of the AFB Foundation for Agriculture. "The Commitment to Agriculture Scholarships will help students from farm families continue the agricultural legacy of their parents. We are proud to be a part of that effort."

Maryland and Pennsylvania are states included in the scholarship program. (Editor's Note: West Virginia is not listed. Students from West Virginia interested should contact their county or state Farm Bureau to find out why it is not included.)

Royalty payments received from Monsanto's enforcement program's patented seed technology will be used to fund the Commitment to Agriculture Scholarships. Monsanto's technology includes Roundup Ready for beans and cotton and Bollgard for corn.

Monsanto, a science and technology company based in St. Louis, Mo., is a global leader in the development and marketing of improved food and fiber crops.

WV Tree Farm Committee To Hold Meeting

The West Virginia Tree Farm Committee will sponsor the area Tree Farm Meeting for areas 1, 2, & 3. The meeting will be held on Feb. 24 at the Ponderosa near Exit 121 (Meadowbrook Mall) off I-79.

Attendees are asked to use the separate parking area and entrance in the back of the restaurant. The program will begin at 10 a.m. and consist of a review of 1998 tree farm activities, tree farm inspector awards, and a discussion of activities for 1999.

Ag Industry Still Growing In Maryland

Maryland Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Virts has announced that according to the just released 1997 Census of Agriculture, agricultural products sold in Maryland totaled $1.3 billion in 1997, an increase of 12% from 1992.

The U.S. Department of Agriculture produces a census of agriculture every five years. The 1997 census provides comprehensive, comparable statistics for every county in Maryland and the nation.

These facts and more for every county and state are now available from the 1997 Census of Agriculture Highlights Tables on the National Agricultural Statistics Service website at http://www.usda.gov/nass/.

Local Farm Bureau Marks Food Check-Out Day With Give-Away

Food in America is affordable. In fact, between Jan. 1 and Feb. 9 the average American will have earned enough income to pay for his or her family's entire 1999 food supply, according to Becky DeBerry and Debbie Barnard, co-chairmen of the Garrett County Farm Bureau Women's Committee.

As a result, Garrett County Farm Bureau celebrated Farm Bureau's Annual Check-Out Day last Saturday at Browning's Foodland in Oakland. The Women's Committee marked the event by giving away a shopping cart full of agricultural groceries. A contest was held in front of the supermarket, with interested individuals being asked: "How long did it take this year for most Americans to earn enough money to pay for their food supply for the entire year?" The answer was 40 days, and coming closest to the correct answer was Jeff Knox of White Church Steyer Road, Oakland. Knox, who plans to share the groceries with his sister and her family, who just experienced a family tragedy, said, "Now I'll only have to work 39 days instead of 40."

According to the latest statistics compiled by the Agriculture Department's (USDA's) Economic Research Service, American families and individuals currently spend, on average, just 10.7% of their disposable personal income for food. That percentage is down from the 10.9% figure from last year.

Applying the 10.7% statistic to the calendar year, it means the average household will have earned enough disposable income—that portion of income available for spending or saving—to pay for its annual food supply in just 40 days.

In comparison, it takes the average American 129 days to earn enough money to pay federal, state and local taxes for the year.

"Not only is America's food supply the world's safest, but it's also the most affordable," said Barnard. "It speaks well of our nation's increasing standard of living, which would certainly be reduced without the affordable, domestic food supply produced by America's farmers and ranchers."

"I find it amazing that people can pay for their yearly food supply more than three months earlier than it would take them to satisfy their tax burden," DeBerry said. "Rather than being an economic burden, food remains quite a bargain for shoppers. That's the way it should be."

Both Barnard and DeBerry hope Americans will come to understand that the high-quality, affordable food they enjoy is "a product of our successful food production and distribution system, as well as America's farmers retaining access to effective and affordable crop protection tools."

"This day should hold meaning for most Americans," they said. "As food producers, we are concerned that some Americans cannot afford to buy the food they need, but we are proud of the part Maryland's farmers play in making our food supply more affordable for all."

The percent of disposable personal income spent for food has declined over the last 25 years. In 1970, Food Check-Out Day would have been 11 days later—Feb. 20. Food is more affordable today due to a widening gap between growth in per-capita incomes and the amount of money spent for food, according to USDA.

FARM BUREAU CHECK-OUT DAY GROCERY WINNER - Jeff Knox was the winner of a shopping cart full of agricultural groceries awarded by Garrett County Farm Bureau to celebrate Farm Bureau's Annual Check-Out Day. Shoppers entering Browning's Foodland Saturday evening were asked to enter the contest by answering the question: "How long did it take this year for most Americans to earn enough money to pay for their food supply for the entire year?" The answer Knox submitted was the closest to the correct answer of 40 days. Knox is pictured above with Garrett County Farm Bureau Women's Committee Co-chairmen Debbie Barnard (left) and Becky DeBerry.

This overall decrease is made more notable by the fact that trends indicate Americans are buying more expensive convenience food items for preparation at home, as well as more food away from home.

The Agriculture Department's latest food spending statistic includes food and non-alcoholic beverages consumed at home and away from home. This includes food purchases from grocery stores and other retail outlets, including food purchases with food stamps and vouchers for the Women, Infants and Children's (WIC) program. The statistic also includes away-from-home meals and snacks purchased by families and individuals, as well as food furnished to employees.

"Food Check-Out Day tracks the amount of income needed by Americans to purchase food on an annual basis," DeBerry said. "It should be useful over time to measure fluctuations in the affordability of food."

Oakland Chapter Gives Reports On Natl. FFA Week

National FFA Week is scheduled for Feb. 21 through 27. The Oakland FFA Chapter is taking part in this national event by promoting FFA to people who believe that FFA only involves farming.

Most people think that FFA stands for Future Farmers of America, which is no longer the meaning of the organization. Students who do not even know anything about living on a farm or owning animals can be part of the FFA.

FFA makes a positive difference in the lives of students by developing their potential for premier leadership, personal growth and career success through agricultural education. This is the main goal of the National FFA Organization.

For 71 years, the FFA has complemented agricultural instruction by making classroom lessons come to life through realistic applications. Through the FFA, members have the opportunity to learn an occupation, increase communication skills, travel, and demonstrate responsibility.

Milk Production In Maryland Up From Year Ago

Maryland dairy operators produced 352 million pounds of milk during the October-December quarter, up 6% from the same quarter a year earlier. There were 86,000 head of milk cows in the state, unchanged from a year earlier. Yield per cow at 4,093 pounds increased 245 pounds from a year earlier.

The quarterly production of milk for the U.S. was 39.1 billion pounds, 2.4% above the October-December period last year. The average number of milk cows in the U.S. during the October-December quarter was 9.19 million head, 12,000 head less than the same period last year.

Sec. Virts Urges All Farmers To Obtain Crop Ins.

Maryland Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Virts urges all Maryland farmers to protect the investment in their operations with crop insurance. To ensure that all farmers have the opportunity to benefit from this one-time premium reduction this year, crop insurance companies will accept insurance on crops having sales closing dates that have already passed.

Farmers in Maryland growing crops with sales closing dates between July 31, 1998, and February 15, 1999, are eligible to increase their protection or obtain crop insurance by March 15, 1999.

Ag Resource Management Study To Start

When making decisions that affect local area farmers or ranchers, policy makers and analysts rely on objective, reliable, and up-to-date information provided by the Maryland Agricultural Statistics Service. Some local area farmers or ranchers will have input into those decisions by participating in the Agricultural Resource Management Study to be conducted in February, March, and April.

This study will collect information on agricultural income and expenses, assets and liabilities, cost of producing various commodities, and operation characteristics. Information collected from these producers will help show the financial health of agriculture, how the various types of enterprise within agriculture are performing, and whether some sectors are more financially vulnerable than others.

"The results of the Agricultural Resource Management Study will be used to assess changes in the structure of agriculture, the impact of changes in farm

Weather Set Market in '98 For Vegetables

The 1998 growing season was mostly characterized by temperatures and weather conditions that were at or near their normal levels. Soil moisture supplies were mostly good during the early spring months, but gradually became short to adequate as the year went along. Vegetable growers with irrigation equipment available were able to maintain good crops despite the dry weather conditions. Overall, total vegetable acreage in Maryland was close to the level it was last year.

The yield for snap beans, cabbage, kale, cauliflower and tomatoes was up significantly from last year, while the yield for sweet corn, pumpkins and turnips was only up slightly from last year. The yield for cantaloupes, spinach, and

A joint venture of Garrett County Memorial Hospital & RehabSolutions

Hannibal Joins Local Physical Therapy Staff

Theresa A. Hannibal, licensed physical therapist, McHenry, has joined the staff of Garrett Rehab Services (GRS), according to Audrey Kennedy, GRS clinic director. GRS is the joint venture which has combined the outpatient physical therapy services of Garrett County Memorial Hospital and RehabSolutions. GRS is temporarily housed in the former RehabSolutions building at 12811 Garrett Highway until the summer of this year, at which time the business will move into a new facility in the Thayer Center.

Ms. Hannibal is in her 17th year as a practicing therapist, having worked previously in the capacities of staff therapist and P.T. director at Garrett County Memorial Hospital, rehab director at Meyersdale Manor, and clinical director at Premier Physical Therapy.

A graduate of the University of Maryland, the therapist obtained bachelor of science degrees in both kinesiological sciences and physical therapy. She holds Maryland and Pennsylvania licenses.

Among various advanced programs for rehabilitation, Hannibal has completed the McKenzie Institute for Mechanical Diagnosis and Treatment of the Spine, which requires 98 hours of course work. This approach entails a thorough evaluation to reproduce symptoms and expose mechanical problems, correction by exercise, therapist intervention, and emphasis on patient education and prophylaxis.

Consistent with Hannibal's background in kinesiological sciences, she also specializes in biomechanical analysis of the lower extremity and can recommend orthotic correction, patellofemoral joint taping, and flexibility programs for musculoskeletal imbalance syndromes.

Other areas of expertise include work injury prevention, neural mobilization, geriatric rehab, and acute and post-operative orthopedic injuries with emphasis on functional recovery. She has taught the "Neck-Arm-Hand" school for preventing upper extremity repetitive injury problems. Additionally, she has also instructed individuals in body mechanics and lifting for back injury prevention, and hand therapy for the physical therapy assistant.

"I enjoy the stimulation of acute patient care as well as the variety of applications available through Garrett Rehab Services," stated Hannibal.

FIRST UNITED SUPPORTS LIGHTHOUSE — First United Bank & Trust recently donated funds to help support Garrett County Lighthouse Inc. The associates of the bank stated that they are proud to "give back to the community" and help a local organization. "Speaking for the whole First United family, we are happy to pledge our support to the communities we serve," stated Kathy Knotts, community office manager. Pictured left to right are Judi Pownall, customer service officer (CSO); Janet Alexander, CSO; William Bittinger, CSO; Debbie Jo Adams-Noroski, executive director of Lighthouse; Knotts; and Shannon Bittinger, CSO.

Vaccine Approved for Lyme Disease

Lyme disease was first reported in the US in 1976 in children who lived in Lyme, Connecticut. This disease, which has been reported more recently in more than 40 states, occurs as the result of an infection caused by an organism transmitted to humans by a tick. The tick bite causes an area of redness which is often followed by flu-like symptoms (e.g., chills, fever, lethargy). Complaints of headache and neck pain may indicate that the infection has reached the nervous system. A type of arthritis called "Lyme Arthritis" can occur. While the infection sometimes responds to antibiotics, prevention is preferred to treatment.

In December, 1998, the US Food and Drug Adn inistration approved the first vaccine in the US for the prevention of Lyme disease. Clinical trials showed that the new vaccine protects 75 to 100 percent of those who receive it. The vaccine is recommended for those who live, work, or vacation in wooded or grassy areas of the US where carrier ticks reside (e.g., Northeast, upper Midwest, and the Pacific Northwest). Because the vaccine is not fully protective, insect repellent and appropriate clothing (long pants and long-sleeved shirts) are also recommended.

Antiques

"What are they making today that I should save to sell at a profit later?"

Each week, reporters from around the country ask us that question. Some of them are working on stories about Beanie Babies and have noticed that the beanbag toys tend to rise in value when the manufacturer stops making them but then fall in value.

The "investment" aspects of collecting have not changed through the centuries. In the 18th century, there was "tulipmania." Tulip bulbs were bought and sold as an investment, not to be planted. Fortunes were made, then lost when the craze faded.

In more recent times, Avon bottles, Jim Beam bottles, silver ingots, corner blocks for stamps, U.S. Mint proof sets of coins, Christmas plates and other collectibles have soared and tumbled in price.

The best way to collect is to buy what you like and learn as much as possible about the items.

Many collectibles sold at rummage sales in the 1950s are now valuable. Buffalo pottery was made in Buffalo, N.Y., after 1902. The company made premiums for the Larkin soap company. Buy a case of soap and get some dishes.

Today some of the rare Buffalo pieces sell for thousands of dollars. A water pitcher bought in 1950 for $2 would sell for about $2,500 now.

One pattern of Buffalo Emerald Deldare ware was called "Dr. Syntax." It was based on an 1820s book illustrated by Thomas Rowlandson. The Deldare pieces were made only in 1910 and 1911.

Collect the furniture or toys or dishes or advertising signs of the past that you like, not what others might tell you are "the best buys."

Home Tips

CANDLE MAGIC – When you have a candle in a nice jar and the candle has burned down, fill the jar with water and zap in the microwave. The wax will float to the top as it melts and you can lift it off. Wash the jar and reuse. Barbara H., Castalian Springs, Tenn.

SCRAPER – It's that time of year – ice on your windshield. If you don't have a scraper on hand, do as I have done. Start your car, turn on the defroster and wipe off any loose snow. Use a credit card or even a driver's license. It works for me! K.D., Gaffney, S.C.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Be careful with that credit card. You could damage the magnetic strip!

AVOCADOS – I was very pleased with a tip recently sent in by one of your readers. That was how to save bananas by putting in a zipper-type plastic bag and then putting into another plastic bag. What a great tip! Thank you.

My tip: To ripen an avocado, put in a brown bag with a banana. It takes only a day or two. Another way is to bury the avocado in your flour bin. Pat M., Brentwood, Calif.

WEB REMOVER – To get rid of cobwebs, I taped a fuzzy duster to the end of a three-part, 12-foot cane fishing pole. A little twist of the duster and no more cobwebs. Break down the fishing pole when done and store it in the broom closet.

Our friends have a method that's more fun but is extremely hard on lamps and knickknacks. They toss old sofa pillows into those corners. The webs stick to the pillows. Lisa M., Plantation, Fla.

F. SCOTT FITZGERALD: SOARING EXCESSES AND SPECTACULAR CRASH

With his wife, Zelda, F. Scott Fitzgerald personified the best – and worst – of the Roaring Twenties, a phrase he coined. Profiled in March's Biography magazine, Fitzgerald was the son of a socially prominent, cash-poor father and a less prominent, well-off mother. Despite poor test results, Fitzgerald managed to talk his way into Princeton, where he excelled as a writer and won membership in one of the schools most elite eating clubs. He also began drinking. Junior year, he was placed on academic probation and left to join the Army.

Fitzgerald spent the war stateside, where he wrote his first (unpublished) novel, "The Romantic Egoist," and courted an outrageous Southern belle named Zelda Sayre. Zelda refused to marry unless he could support her so Fitzgerald dashed off "This Side of Paradise," championed by Scribner's legendary editor Maxwell Perkins. It made him a literary star.

The two were wed in a dazzling Manhattan ceremony, followed by endless partying, heavy drinking, riding atop cabs and splashing in public fountains. To fund their extravagant lifestyle, Fitzgerald wrote a steady stream of magazine short stories and another novel, "The Beautiful and the Damned," about a promising young couple destroyed by their dissipated lifestyle. Zelda gave birth to their only daughter, Scottie. Fitzgerald's next novel was his masterpiece, "The Great Gatsby." They joined a group of celebrity expatriates that were inspirations for "Tender is the Night."

As the Roaring Twenties crashed to a close, so did the couple who most personified them. Zelda began her descent into schizophrenia. Fitzgerald suffered from writer's block and advancing alcoholism. He managed to finish "Tender is the Night," while Zelda went in and out of institutions. With mounting debts, he headed for Hollywood, with little success. At age 44, Fitzgerald died from a heart attack, leaving "The Last Tycoon" unfinished.

COVER STORY

Lauren Bacall brings tragic heiress to life

By Justino Aguila
©TVData Features Syndicate

Lauren Bacall

She inherited a $100 million fortune at the age of 12, reportedly spied for the OSS during World War II, married several men (including a legendary Latin lover and a Hawaiian Olympic champion) and died in her mansion without friends and family, possibly at the hands of her butler.

What sounds like the dubious plot of a romance novel is, in fact, the true life story of tobacco heiress Doris Duke, who died under mysterious circumstances in 1993. Duke is brought to life again by actress Lauren Bacall – in Too Rich – The Secret Life of Doris Duke. The two-part TV movie airs Sunday and Tuesday, Feb. 21 and 23, on CBS.

Duke's life is retold via a deathbed flashback. We see self-made man Buck Duke (powerfully played by Joe Don Baker) instill in his daughter a distrust of others that will haunt her to her dying day. We also meet Doris' uninvolved mother, Nanaline (Kathleen Quinlan), whose neglect will lead to Duke's lifelong unrequited search for acceptance and love.

It was the irony of Duke's story, in part, that led Bacall to choose the role.

"She had a very isolated and sad life," Bacall explains. "She had all this money, and she still couldn't buy what she wanted. (With too much money,) suddenly you become much more demanding."

As the story unfolds, Duke repeatedly seeks comfort, love and approval from the men least likely to provide it, including notorious Latin lover Porfirio Rubirosa (Michael Nouri) and Hawaiian Olympian Duke Kahanamoku, with whom she had a daughter who died at birth.

"They were all interested in her money. And that obviously affected her," Bacall says. "Our backgrounds stay with us for the rest of our lives."

Duke's misfortunes make for scintillating viewing and a meaty role for the 73-year-old actress – a rarity in Hollywood these days, according to Bacall.

"It's not easy to find good material," she laments. "There are a hell of a lot of good actresses, and many of them have been looking for parts to play for many years. I find it extraordinary that they are not writing a lot of (good) parts for women."

The chance to work with a first-rate cast, including Emmy winner Richard Chamberlain, who plays butler Bernard Lafferty, and Brian Dennehy, who portrays Louis Bromfield, Duke's one true love, was another enticement, she adds.

While Bacall once may have crossed paths with Duke, who had numerous celebrity friends, it was something entirely different to assume Duke's persona for the length of the shoot.

"It's very strange to play someone for three months," Bacall says. "You begin to kind of take on the aura of that person. ... It's weird, but that person is very much there."

What would Bacall like viewers to take away after four hours with her heiress?

"I hope people have a sense of the life of Doris Duke," she says. "Money is what many of us want, but too much of it is destructive. I hope people understand what she went through."

Jennifer Grey

Q: What has Jennifer Grey done since Dirty Dancing? I haven't seen her lately. –Kate via e-mail.

A: Actually, you may have seen her and not realized it. Grey looks quite different since she had cosmetic surgery on her distinctive nose, as you'll see in her ABC midseason sitcom It's Like, You Know. In the past five years, Grey has done seven TV movies and features, plus a guest appearance on Friends.

Q: Who is the woman in the big black-rimmed glasses on those Old Navy commercials? –R. Ponce, Manhattan, Kan.

A: She's former New York fashion editor Carrie Donovan. By the way, she refuses to reveal where she found her distinctive eyewear.

Q: Please tell my family I am not crazy! I recall a sitcom called My Mother the Car, in which Jerry Van Dyke played a man whose mother was reincarnated as a 1928 Porter automobile. She spoke through the car's radio. –Paula Coon, Monroe, Mich.

A: Roasted by critics, My Mother the Car ran on NBC during the 1965-66 season. Actress Ann Sothern provided the voice of Van Dyke's mother, and comic Avery Schreiber played an antique-auto collector who coveted the car.

Q: I remember a series called Adventures in Paradise starring Gardner McKay. Whatever happened to him? –Patrick in Floral City, Fla.

A: McKay, who starred as Tiki skipper Adam Troy in this 1959-62 ABC series, found himself typecast after Paradise ended its voyage. One of the two movies he made later, I Sailed to Tahiti With an All-Girl Crew, actually cast him as a character named Gardner!

Now 66, McKay has enjoyed a successful career in the years since Paradise as a playwright and Hawaiian Public Radio personality.

His thriller Toyer was published in January by Little, Brown and Company.

Q: Will HBO be running any more new episodes of its series Sex and the City? –Peg in Rutland, Vt.

A: Yes, a second Sex-y season begins this summer.

Q: How old are Michael T. Weiss (The Pretender) and Jeremy Piven (Cupid)? Are they married?

Who played Ensign Guitry on the JAG episode about a rape in Japan? –Lynn McGowan via e-mail.

A: Both Weiss, 37, and Piven, 33, are single.

That was Sean Murray as Ensign Terry Guitry. Earlier he played Zane Grey Hart in TV's Harts of the West and Thackery Binx, the boy turned into a cat by witches Bette Midler, Kathy Najimy and Sarah Jessica Parker, in Hocus Pocus.

IN FOCUS

The political and social turmoils of the multitalented Paul Robeson are examined in Paul Robeson: Here I Stand, airing Wednesday, Feb. 24, on PBS (check local listings).

Robeson, an outspoken civil rights activist, was also a successful athlete, actor, singer, linguist, cultural scholar and author. The program uses interviews, private films, confidential political documents and his wife's diaries to show how Robeson fell into near-obscurity because of his political beliefs.

The February meeting was held at the Garrett County Extension office on the 8th at 7:30 p.m. The club members turned in their 4-H record books and also delivered speeches.

The topics of the members' speeches are as follows: Bridget Miller, how to raise a market steer; Scottie Bolyard, bowhunting as a sport or for competition; Ben Friend, the difference between indoor and outdoor soccer; Lisa Bernard, the popularity of the cocker spaniel; and Jeremy Bernard, activities to do when camping.

The Shepherds club also discussed the Achievement dinner. If members have any individuals they would like to nominate for an award, they need to do so.

For an activity in the near future the club intends to make rockets.

The club concluded the meeting by making a project which will later be entered in the fair.

The Shepherds club had two new members enroll: Terri Tasker and Lacy Giotfelty.

FARM-O-GRAM

is higher than in the previous years, farmers should examine income averaging. For income averaging to be useful, the increase must be enough that marginal rates without averaging would be higher than in at least one of the previous three years. The increase in income could be because of increases in farm income or non-farm income, or decreases in personal exemptions and deductions. Even if farm income is not the chief source of family income, carrying net operating losses back may allow them to collect tax refunds for previous years. Therefore, part-time farmers can also reduce tax liabilities with income averaging. Income averaging will not reduce taxes for farmers with low incomes in 1998 due to low crop prices and yields. When incomes improve in subsequent years, the low incomes in 1998 may provide an opportunity to income average in those years. For farms with a loss this year and limited non-farm income, carrying net operating losses back may allow them to collect tax refunds for previous years.

Dr. Wesley Musser, farm management specialist, University of Maryland, has written an information sheet that explains in more detail farm income averaging. If you would like to receive this information and future tax information, call my office and request to be on the mailing list (301-334-6960).

FOR THE THIRD STRAIGHT YEAR, two local dining establishments have been awarded the rating of Fine Family Dining by the national office of Menu Mate Inc., a regional restaurant research and public relations firm. McCilve's Restaurant, McHenry, and Denny's Restaurant, Oakland, were named recipients of the honor for "excellence in service, quality of product, and service to the community." Above, McCilve's Restaurant owner Doug McCilve, left, receives the award from John T. McClintock, account executive for Menu Mate. McClintock makes a similar presentation below to Steve Girard, owner of Denny's Restaurant. "This honor is bestowed on only the best of the restaurants serviced by Menu Mate Inc.," McClintock said.

Public Law 105-277 authorized $2.375 billion to assist farmers suffering from crop and economic loss; $400 million of these funds will be used to offer an incentive to purchase crop insurance or to increase coverage. This incentive is expected to pay approximately 30% of the producer-paid premium for 1999. Interested farmers should see their crop insurance agent for specifics on which crops are insurable in their county. A listing of crop insurance agents is available at local Farm Service Agency offices.

To ensure that all farmers have the opportunity to benefit from this one-time premium reduction for 1999 crops, farmers growing crops with sales closing dates between July 31, 1998, and February 15, 1999, are eligible to increase their protection or obtain crop insurance by the following application deadline dates:

- February 28, 1999—Arizona, Florida, Georgia, Hawaii, Louisiana, Mississippi, and South Carolina.
- March 15, 1999—All other states.

For example, an insured winter wheat farmer having a sales closing date of September 20, 1998, for crop year 1999 coverage now has until either February 28, or March 15, 1999, to evaluate the benefits of increased protection at a lower cost.

Farmers choosing not to insure last September will have the same opportunity to apply for coverage until February 28 or March 15, depending on the state. Currently, insured farmers with buy-up protection will automatically receive the premium discount.

Farmers may also obtain the catastrophic level of protection (CAT). Limited-resource farmers do not have to pay the $60 fee for CAT protection if they fill out a waiver that may be obtained from a crop insurance agent.

Farmers must purchase a crop insurance policy for the two next applicable crop years to receive assistance under the single- or multi-year provisions of the emergency relief law if they did not insure their insurable crops for 1998.

Farmers should contact a crop insurance agent to obtain more information about availability and discuss their options.

programs, and the affects of adverse weather in 1998 on producers' net income and cash flow," said Ray Garibay, Maryland state statistician. "I encourage all our farmers and ranchers selected for this important study to participate to 'let their voices be heard.' The only way for policy makers and analysts to make informed decisions is by using objective information collected directly from farmers."

Local area producers selected to participate in the study will be soon notified by letter, and interviewers will visit them personally, at the farm operator's convenience, to complete the report. USDA will publish the results of this study later this year in a series of reports on the farm financial situation. The study results will be used by government policy makers, commodity analysts, producer organizations, and others to benefit farmers and the rural community.

Panelcraft Building Systems

The time to be concerned about how to keep from using so much heating fuel is when you build. Use Panelcraft's Structural Insulated Panels (SIPs).

SIP structures are known for their structural integrity. Nature's storms, earthquakes, tornados, etc., just need a little greater force to do the same amount of damage to SIP structures versus conventional.

Faster - Stronger - Warmer

SIPs consist of Polystyrene laminated between two pieces of structure board, thus creating a very rigid, super insulating panel which is used for Walls, Roofs, Ceilings and Floors, virtually any aspect of your project!

PUBLIC NOTICE

The Maryland Mining Program will submit an application to the U. S. Department of the Interior, Office of Surface Mining, for the funding of abandoned coal mine reclamation projects. The funding will be in accordance with Title IV, Section 405 of Public Law 95-87, Surface Mining Control and Reclamation Act of 1977.

"Stand Up For Rural Maryland Day" Is Slated

House Speaker Casper R. Taylor Jr. has proclaimed Friday, March 5, as "Stand Up For Rural Maryland Day" in the state capital. Taylor is the honorary chairman of the event, which is being jointly sponsored by the FORVM For Rural Maryland (the state's rural development council) and the Rural Local Initiative Support Coalition (a national non-profit community development support organization).

Joining in the Stand Up Day activities will be a variety of public and private rural-focused organizations from across Maryland, including agricultural development organizations, local government officials, community action agencies, rural health advocates, and community-based housing and economic developers.

The Garrett County Community Action Committee Inc. will sponsor transportation to the festivities in Annapolis on March 5. Duane Yoder, GCCAC executive director, announced this week that bus transportation will be provided to and from Annapolis for persons wishing to participate. According to Yoder, a vehicle will leave Oakland and make stops in Accident, Grantsville, and Cumberland. Persons wanting to utilize the transportation service should contact Duane Yoder at Community Action (301-334-9431) or Mike Wagoner at the Tri-County Council (301-777-2158).

"On March 5th, we will recognize the many rural-based development organizations that are hard at work trying to improve the community and economic conditions in Maryland's rural regions," said Taylor. "Bringing rural leaders and ordinary citizens to Annapolis provides us with a great opportunity for state officials to see and hear from people who are facing great challenges in their daily

A GOLDEN PLATTER — Garrett County was represented in the best of ways at this week's Maryland Special Olympics, held at Wisp Resort, where 14-year-old Keith Platter of Grantsville grabbed the gold medal in the novice alpine skiing contest. Platter, number 109, is pictured above surrounded by some of his most staunch supporters, who greeted him after his run with pats on the back and exuberant congratulations. With his back to the camera at left is the Special Olympics district director, Jason Schirmi, and standing with his arm around the young athlete is Keith's coach, Chad Brown. Keith's sister (and Brown's fiance) is shown at right, and behind them all (partially hidden) is Keith's mom, Sharon Platter. The county can also be proud of another local athlete, Chad Stallman of Friendsville, who garnered an impressive fourth place in the alpine race. Stallman's mother Rose expressed her gratitude to the wild and crazy bunch who dunked themselves in Deep Creek Lake last Saturday to raise money for the Special Olympics. "If it weren't for them and all the other fund-raisers, we probably wouldn't have been able to do this," she said. Congratulations to Keith and Chad, two of Garrett's finest.

Local Physician Is Featured In People Magazine

A local physician is the focus of an article in this week's issue of People magazine. Dr. Margaret Kaiser, an Oakland internist, was interviewed and photographed for a piece on rural medicine written by Amanda Crawford.

The feature notes Dr. Kaiser's background as being one of four children of a single mother living on welfare in Portland, Ore., thus knowing from experience what poor persons must endure to receive medical treatment. It goes on to describe her practice, which specializes in geriatrics and includes house calls for those patients who are too ill to come into her Oakland office. She also as-

Public Reminded Of Feb. 27 Mid-Session Update

The public is reminded that Delegate George Edwards and Senator John Hafer will present their annual mid-session update on Saturday, Feb. 27, at 10 a.m. in Room 314 of Garrett Community College's Continuing Education Building.

The two area officials have made this gathering an annual event with the purpose of bringing the local public up to date with the activities of the Maryland General Assembly. In an interview with Edwards this week, he reported that the session thus far has been unhurried.

"Things have been a little slow this year," he said.

Vehicle Seized By State Police In Drug Arrest

A 1992 Chevrolet Blazer was seized by Maryland State Police during an arrest Friday afternoon for violation of drug laws. A trooper from the McHenry barrack reported that he stopped the Blazer at 4:45 p.m. on Route 40 at Keysers Ridge.

The driver, Alan C. Pullem, 29, Mechanicsburg, Pa., was charged with traveling 70 mph in a 50 mph zone and driving on a suspended out of state license. County Staff Leaders Offer Monthly Reports

The Board of Garrett County Commissioners met with the leaders of county offices Tuesday in the regular monthly staff meeting and heard several updates from those individuals.

Agencies and departments represented Tuesday included the Department of Social Services, Garrett Community College (GCC), Health Department, State's Attorney's Office, Community Action, Office of Planning and Zoning, Cooperative Extension Service, Core Services Agency, Department of Economic Development, General Services, Sanitary District, Finance Office, Chamber of Commerce, Office of Solid Waste and Recycling, Ruth Eulow Library, County Roads Department, Emergency Management, Treasurer's Office, and the Office for Children, Youth, and Families.

GCC

Dr. Stephen Herman, president of GCC, reported that new buildings are either completed or being built on the campus to further the college's exploration into alternative farming. A goat and rabbit facility has been completed to augment an ongoing cooperative effort with the Institute of Applied Agriculture at the University of Maryland, and the college's aquacenter is complete, now housing a variety of young fish. Herman said the college is working to earn a grant that would fund a project involving the farming of certain vegetables, using the fish nutrients as fertilizer.

"We are constantly exploring alternative farming ideas because of our short growing season here in Garrett County," Herman said. "We want to figure out what's profitable for local farmers so they can make a living all year around."

He also reported that the college is negotiating with a major university to become a general research center in the area of alternative farm-

Oil Furnace Blamed For Blaze That Guts Longstretch Building

A malfunctioning oil furnace was determined to be the cause of a blaze early Monday that destroyed the former Stonehenge Bar, located along U.S. Rt. 40 at Longstretch. A total of 10 volunteer fire departments from Garrett and Allegany counties, as well as Pennsylvania, were involved in the 2:42 a.m. alarm, which resulted in an estimated loss of $150,000.

The two-story stone and wood structure most recently housed Ridge View Sales & Service on the first floor and an apartment on the second floor. A passerby noticed the fire, stopped at a nearby business, and called 911. When the first units arrived on the scene, heavy smoke and flames were coming from the apartment.

The occupant of the apartment, Vikki Lynn Metz, was not at home at the time. Responding to the scene or sending units to stand by were personnel from the Eastern Garrett, Shaft, Grantsville, Salisbury, Frostburg, Bittinger, Midland, Clarysville, Corriganville, Meyersdale, Lonaconing, and Westernport fire departments. Some 80 fire fighters were on the scene.

According to Bruce Shafer and Robert Maddox, deputy fire marshals for the Office of the State Fire Marshal, heavy fire conditions precluded aggressive interior fire suppression activities because of safety concerns for the fire fighters. According to a member of the Grantsville VFD, access to the building was also complicated by various lawn and garden tractors blocking one of the doorways. The entire second floor apartment was gutted and the first floor, which housed the engine repair business, sustained major damage.

The oil furnace which caused the fire was a used furnace from a mobile home that had been installed in the apartment in October of last year.

Also responding to the scene was the Northern Rescue Squad. There were no injuries reported.

Fire fighters remained on the scene for several hours. The opening of the Route 40 Elementary School, located directly across from the fire scene, was delayed Monday for about two hours. The school was used by fire fighters as a rehab/rest location and staging of apparatus.

Pope Appointed GC's Deputy Health Officer

Dr. William W. Pope has been appointed as deputy health officer for the Garrett County Health Department, according to Rodney B. Glotfelty, health officer. In his part-time position, Pope will assist Glotfelty in implementing state and local policies provided by the department.

"Dr. Pope [has] dedicated his career to improving the public health infrastructure in Garrett County," Glotfelty said. "His wealth of knowledge in the field of public health will be invaluable to the department."

Pope came to the county from the Baltimore area, where he served as medical director of a neighborhood health center for Baltimore Provident Hospital. He served as health officer and clinical physician at the Garrett County Health Department from 1971 to 1989. For the past decade he has operated a private practice in the Oakland area, which he plans to continue.

Pope received his bachelor of arts and medical degrees from Stanford University and a master's degree in public health from the Johns Hopkins School of Hygiene and Public Health. His professional background includes an internship at Gorgas Hospital, the Canal Zone, and service as a public health officer in Brownsville, Texas, medical officer for the Federal Quarantine Service, and medical officer-in-charge of the Peace Corps medical post in Ampa, Brazil.

IN THEY WENT AND OUT THEY CAME, all within a few seconds. They were the "dunkers" in Saturday's Maryland Special Olympics unique fund-raiser, who were welcomed to Deep Creek Lake on one of the colder days of the year. Snow was flying around the 150+ participants as they stripped down to bathing suits (or togas or other interesting attire) and traipsed down to the shoreline at Uno's. They splashed into the 32-degree water, which was actually a good deal warmer than the 19-degree air, and speedily sprinted back out. Numerous dunkers truly dunked, going all the way under the frigid water, while a few others appeared to be rather stunned by the iciness and simply couldn't bring themselves to go in much farther than waist-deep. All in all, the risk-taking bunch raised over $34,000 for Maryland Special Olympics, having secured pledges from friends and family who dared them to do it. Two Garrett County athletes are taking part in the games this week. See related photos elsewhere in today's issue.

"I'D DO ANYTHING for you, dear; anything!" says young Oliver Twist to Bett, as he is instructed in the proper treatment of the ladies. The well-known musical Oliver! will open this evening at St. Peter's Catholic Church Parish Hall in Oakland, with members of the Ecumenical Youth Ministry as the performers and crew. There will be four performances — Thursday through Saturday at 8 p.m. and Sunday at 2 p.m. Tickets are $5 per seat and are available from cast members, at St. Matthew's Episcopal Church from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. this Friday, and at the door. In the photo above, from left, are Gina Powell as Bett, Emily Bowman as Oliver, Miriam Sincell as the Artful Dodger, Vaughn Walters as Fagan, and Kerry Strubin as Nancy. "Oliver! is a very special play about giving and receiving," stated EYM director Lynn Broderick. "It tells of the goodness each person carries within himself; the goodness that is often covered by greed and jealousy; the goodness that always resurfaces when least expected." Accompanying the cast is music director Michael Broderick (keyboard) and seven other local musicians. The EYM, open to all youth, is sponsored by St. Matthew's/St. John's Episcopal, St. Mark's Lutheran, and St. Peter's Catholic churches. Oliver! is being presented through special arrangements with Tams-Witmark Music Library Inc., New York.

RELAY FOR LIFE, an annual 24-hour event held at many locations throughout the country that raises money for the American Cancer Society, will be held for the first time this year in Garrett County. School and community tracks are utilized by walkers/runners, who are members of teams that continue completing laps on the track for a 24-hour period. One of the special laps is called the Survivors' Lap, which features survivors of cancer. Pictured above center, pushing the wheelchair, is Vicki Evans, Oakland, who is one of the coordinators of the local relay. The photo was taken at Frostburg State University, which has hosted the event in recent years. A special kick-off celebration for the relay, slated for June 11-12, is set for next Thursday, Mar. 4, 7 p.m., at the Garrett County Memorial Hospital Community Services Building. See story for details.

Cancer Society Relay For Life Kickoff Slated

Cancer survivors and the loved ones of individuals who have died because of the disease are encouraged to attend the first Garrett County Relay For Life Kickoff Celebration at the Community Services Building at Garrett Memorial Hospital on Thursday, March 4, at 7 p.m. The Relay For Life Kickoff will preview what is expected to be the largest cancer awareness event ever held in Garrett County.

The actual relay will be held June 11 and 12 at the Southern High School track.

Relay For Life is the national signature event for the American Cancer Society and is designed to honor and remember cancer patients. Participants, friends, family, and ACS members organize teams and take turns walking around an athletic track for 24 hours to raise funds for the fight against cancer.

Local resident and co-organizer Vickie Evans, herself a survivor of cancer, commented on her experience at Relay For Life held last year in Frostburg. "I've attended the Relay For Life for several years now and it is wonderful. It's a lot of fun and very rewarding. As a cancer survivor it helps you realize that you are not alone," she said.

"Relay For Life is more than just a walk, it is a Community Celebration of Life," Evans added, explaining that the opening ceremony and first lap of the relay is started by the survivors. Each survivor is honored with a red sash and honored for the years they have survived. "It feels fantastic to have your family and friends cheer you on and encourage you in your fight against cancer," Ms. Evans continued. On the second lap, the caregivers and loved ones join the cancer survivors. Following those first laps, family, friends and co-workers walk in honor or in memory of those special people in their lives.

An evening of free entertainment, fellowship, and food is being planned, according to Evans. "Team challenges, campsite design contests, Group Twister, and lots of games are sure to keep everyone involved and [illegible]," she said.

At dusk, the event pauses for a Luminaria Celebration. Candles are lit in honor of or in memory of cancer patients. Kevin Tephabock of the American Cancer Society said, "The luminaria celebration brings everyone together in reflection. You can't leave the luminaria celebration without feeling a powerful sense of love and togetherness. Each of us knows someone who is living with or has died because of cancer. The luminaria celebration is an opportunity for you to pay tribute and remember those people."

Doug Riley, co-chair of the event, encourages everyone to attend the Kickoff Celebration. "We encourage everyone who knows someone who has cancer or has lost someone to this disease to join us and bring a friend," he said.

For more information, persons may call Doug Riley at 301-334-5684, Alice Ann Rovder at 334-3828, Renee Savage at 334-9558, Sharon Potter at 387-4594, or Kevin Tephabock at 1-888-227-9479.

Oakland Notes Registration, Town Elections

The deadline for residents to register to vote in Oakland's town elections is tomorrow, Friday, Feb. 26, 4 p.m. Ballots will be cast on Monday, March 8, for three council seats.

Any resident of Oakland, age 18 or over, who wishes to vote in the municipal elections may register in the Oakland City Hall during regular office hours.

Oakland maintains a separate register of voters; however, persons registered at the Board of Election Supervisors after January 1, 1990, who are residents of Oakland are automatically qualified to vote in the municipal elections.

The deadline for obtaining absentee ballots is Monday, March 1, at 4 p.m.

The council members whose terms are about to expire are Harvey J. Moyer, Arthur Naylor, and Willard Ringer.

Mtn. Lake Park Man Sentenced To Year In Jail

A Mountain Lake Park man was sentenced last week by Judge James Sherbin to one year in jail for a drug conviction. Brian Keith Craver, 32, was found by a jury last December to be guilty of possession of marijuana with intent to distribute. For a second conviction of possession of drug paraphernalia, Sherbin fined Craver $500.

Charges against the defendant were placed by the Garrett County Narcotics Task Force in May of 1998 after a search and seizure warrant was executed at the Craver residence. At that time, officers reportedly located a large quantity of marijuana and drug paraphernalia.

Sandra Craver had previously pleaded guilty and was also sentenced to a year in jail, according to a report from the state's attorney's office.

In a separate case, an Oakland teenager entered a guilty plea last week to the charge of obstructing justice by threatening or intimidating a state's witness. Thomas Edward Gank, 19, was arrested by sheriff's deputies after a juvenile reported that the defendant had approached him at a football game and threatened him if he proceeded to be a witness in another case pending against Gank.

After accepting the defendant's guilty plea, Sherbin held sentencing pending the outcome of the other criminal case Gank faces.

Superintendent's Budget Proposed In Open Meeting

The funding of teachers' salary increases and capital school projects comprise the bulk of the budget proposed for the next fiscal year for Garrett County schools. School Superintendent Dr. Wendell Teets presented his requests at a public meeting Monday night at Garrett Community College.

The explanation of funding requests was a primary step in developing the budget that will go to the Garrett County commissioners for consideration in the near future. "Basically the thrust of the request is to fund the 3 percent increases and step increases in teacher salaries and to fund capital outlays including the HVAC system at Swan Meadow, wiring in schools, and of course the gymnasium projects at the high schools," Dr. Teets said.

The bottom line of the superintendent's budget exceeds last year's request by $1.1 million, which covers the salary increases and the carry-over. "There is no better instructional staff and personnel in the state and yet we're in last place in salaries. We need to keep trying to close that gap," Dr. Teets stated.

The board of education will meet in a work session Monday to develop and refine the budget to be sent to the commissioners.

P.O. Windows To Close Earlier In Oakland, MLP

The window hours of the United States post offices in Oakland and Mtn. Lake Park are being curtailed after several months of experimentation with extended hours of service.

"Effective Monday, March 1, we will close the window at 5:30 p.m. at the Oakland office Mondays through Fridays, and 1 p.m. on Saturdays," Oakland Postmaster Ken Perrin announced. "At Mountain Lake Park we are closing at noon on Saturdays beginning March 6.

"We have been open until 6 p.m. [at the Main Post Office] for some time now and we are not getting the customer traffic that we anticipated. We conducted a survey of the number of customers and the dollars spent for three weeks to see what impact our new hours were having. To provide better service we have increased our coverage at lunch time and in late afternoons on our busy days to help reduce the time a customer has to wait for service.

"In August we began opening our Mountain Lake Park branch on Saturday and we have been very successful. We are finding, however, that nearly all of our customers are coming into the office before noon.

"I hope our customers understand that as we try to accommodate their needs, we also have to be mindful of the expenses. I think these minor changes will affect very few individuals, and overall [they] represent the best for our business and our customers," Perrin concluded.

Truesdell Senior Assisted Living Home Is Closed

Truesdell Senior Home, Deer Park, closed its doors earlier this month after providing assisted living services to older citizens for over 12 years. Owned and operated by Garrett County Community Action Committee Inc., the services of Truesdell were coordinated by the Area Agency on Aging.

During its years of operation approximately 57 senior citizens resided in the home-like environment of Truesdell, where they received 24-hour supervision and support services.

"At Truesdell, the residents were able to enjoy a beautiful country setting, gardening, watching wildlife, and feeding the birds," said Alice Bell, who supervised services at the home.

To increase capacity in the home that accommodated six residents, additional land was needed to expand the septic system. It was not possible to lease or purchase contiguous acreage for this purpose, Bell explained.

When the decision was made to close the assisted living group home, the seniors were moved to other facilities. "Four of the residents relocated to Garrett County Community Action's Rose Terrace Senior Home in Oakland. Two of the other residents required a higher level of care, so they were moved to a nursing home," she said.

At Rose Terrace the Area Agency on Aging continues to offer senior citizens 24-hour supervised support in a home-like group living environment.

For more information on Rose Terrace or other services provided by the Area Agency on Aging, persons may call 301-334-9431 or 1-888-877-8403.

MINING THE PAST - Motorists traveling around Oakland over the past several weeks may have noticed these ghost-like figures digging away in several places. Shown here along the crest of the hill across from Glotfelty Enterprises. Contracted by the Maryland State Highway Administration, the party was conducting an archeological survey along three alternative routes for the proposed Oakland Bypass to ascertain if there were any pre-Columbian native American sites in the immediate area that would be impacted by road construction. In following standard archeological survey techniques, lead project archeologist Paul Raber and his crew from Huberling Associates of Huntingdon, Pa., dug small pits approximately 30 centimeters deep every 20 meters along each of the proposed bypass alignments from Garrett Highway to Ninth Street as they looked for shards of pottery, tools, or bones — any possible evidence of pre-historic human activity. The crew sifted each spadeful of soil through a screen, as Brenda Carr, left, and Carey Deeters are shown doing in the photo below. "We haven't found any archeological evidence in any of the corridors we've surveyed so far," Raber commented as the project was drawing to a close, although he added that "there are prehistoric sites [not subject to impacts from the bypass project] within a 3- to 4-mile radius of where we're working that have previously been identified as being up to 12,000 years old."

Eating Disorder Support Group To Meet At GCC

A new group is forming to offer support and information to friends and family members of people with eating disorders. The first meeting will take place on Wednesday, March 10, in the Continuing Education Building of Garrett Community College at 7 p.m.

The sessions, which are scheduled on the second and fourth Wednesdays of each month, will be facilitated by Suzanne E. Tomb, LCSW-C. A counselor with the Garrett County Mental Health Department and a private practice therapist, Tomb specializes in eating disorders and women's issues.

The effects of eating disorders reach beyond the person struggling with the problem, and those close to the individual will also experience a variety of emotional responses, Tomb explained. "They need to vent their feelings sometimes and get support," she said.

For more information persons may contact Tomb at 301-387-2996.

Mike Lange and the Boogie Express will close the spring co-curricular season with a concert in the GCC auditorium at 8 p.m. on Saturday, May 8.

The summer co-curricular activity will be the Chautauqua performances under the tent on the GCC lawn, set for Monday through Thursday, July 5-8.

Rural Legacy Grant Proposal Offered To GGBA

Members of the Greater Grantsville Business Association (GGBA) heard suggestions for a Grantsville area Rural Legacy grant proposal during the group's monthly breakfast meeting Tuesday morning. The Rural Legacy Program is a state funded conservation initiative to preserve rural land, heritage, and culture.

Maryland Mountain Trust program field director Mick Womersley presented to the business group background information on the rural legacy program and an outline of a possible proposal for such and area around the town.

Womersley spoke of "uneconomic" growth. "Growth can get out of hand. Businesses can get too big for an area," he stated. He noted that landscape and historic conservation were central to the continued economic health of Grantsville businesses. The town's industries dependent on these common interests include tourism, retail, farming, logging and wood products, and real estate, he explained.

Grantsville tourist attraction turning into a "Disneyland" could have a negative effect on the other surrounding businesses, Womersley cited as an example.

A Rural Legacy grant for Grantsville would provide funds for the purchase of historic buildings and easements on surrounding farmland for those wishing to participate in the program. "It offers an alternative model of development, relying on moderation, stewardship, and tradition," Womersley said, describing the Rural Legacy Program.

Recently, local governments and land trusts across the state submitted applications for $24.6 million available this year to preserve land and historic buildings from "sprawl development," Womersley explained. Garrett and Somerset counties were the only two that did not apply, he added.

Should the business association and the municipality agree to further investigate the Rural Legacy Program, an ad hoc committee would be formed for this purpose, he concluded.

The GGBA meets the last Tuesday of each month.

Two Injured In Rt. 40 Accident, Medevac Assists

An accident on Route 40 Friday evening resulted in serious injury to Stefan Jodlowski, 88, and his wife, Alini Jodlowski, 76, both of Grantsville. Trooper 5, the Maryland State Police medevac helicopter, responded to the scene for emergency transport.

State police at the McHenry barrack reported that Stefan Jodlowski was driving westbound around 8 p.m. when he failed to reduce speed to avoid a collision with a tractor tailer, driven by Wilbur E. Miller, 45, Fort Hill, Pa. Jodlowski's 1993 Buick LeSabre struck the rear of the rig, a 1998 Peterbilt, as it was turning left onto Smooth Valley Drive.

Northern Garrett Rescue Squad and Grantsville VFD responded. The driver was transported by ambulance and the passenger by Trooper 5 to Cumberland Memorial Hospital. Stefan Jodlowski has since been released. Alini Jodlowski was reported yesterday by a hospital spokeswoman to be in critical condition.

Jodlowski was charged in the incident.

Single-Vehicle Mishap

A single-vehicle accident on I-68 Friday resulted in minor injuries to the driver. Police reported that Tracie L. Grimes, 24, Cumberland, was eastbound on the interstate between the 17 and 18 miles markers, when she fell asleep and traveled onto the right shoulder of the road.

Grimes reportedly attempted to steer back onto the road but lost control of the vehicle, spun across two lanes, and struck the guardrail.

Northern Rescue transported Grimes to Cumberland Memorial Hospital for treatment of minor injuries.

Oakland Man Is Arrested For Child Abuse

A joint investigation conducted by the Department of Social Services and the Garrett Bureau of Investigation (GBI) has resulted in the arrest of an Oakland man accused of child abuse and assault.

Douglas Alan Knisely, 41, allegedly abused his live-in girlfriend's 4-year-old child. He has been charged with one count of child abuse and one count of second degree assault, according to the report.

Now is the Time...

With on-going talk/rumors of highway bypasses, mega-marketers planning to locate in or near Oakland, and speculation about continuing sprawl in the Grantsville area, discussions are under way in both the south and north sections of the county on how to best address and be prepared for such impending changes. The Greater Grantsville Business Association heard an expert this week say that growth can "get out of hand" without proper preparation. Persons attending a meeting last night in Oakland heard that the county's destiny is in the hands of local residents, who were also advised to put controls in place now in order to avoid being steam-rolled later.

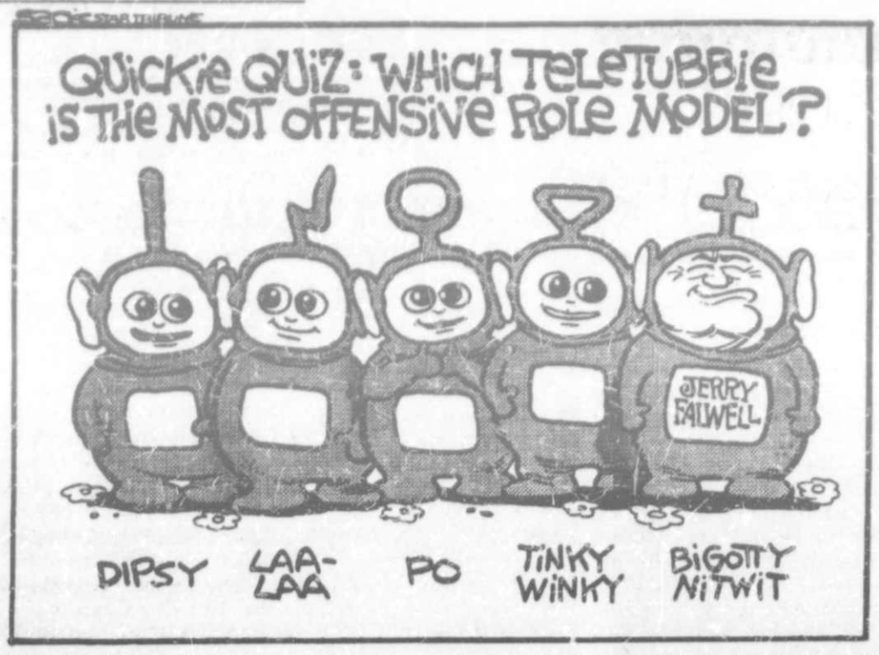
We agree totally with this advice. Too many communities in this country have been basically destroyed, or at least severely damaged, because of uncontrolled growth. Waiting to respond until one sees the whites of the bulldozer operator's eyes is far too late.

There are also communities in this country, most of which have a rich heritage just like Garrett County's, which have been highly successful in controlling growth, simply because they heeded the above advice and took steps today to prepare for tomorrow. In almost every case, zoning was the key component in maintaining some control.

It is past time for county-wide zoning, at least in moderate form, here on the Mountaintop. Right-wingers are adamantly opposed to zoning, claiming that it is just one more form of government sticking its nose into private homes and usurping the rights of individual citizens. "It's my property; I paid for it; I should be able to do whatever I want with it," is the logic. It's funny, though, the look one gets from one of these same folks when asked if he would be opposed to the construction of a tavern on the lot next to his own house. The "it's my property" reasoning is usually quickly replaced with the response of "Not in my backyard."

Zoning is a form of protection, not violation, of individual rights and desires, as long as it is not unreasonable. It does not have to be highly restrictive or complicated, but should simply provide reasonable guidelines for what kind of growth is acceptable in terms of building dimensions, traffic patterns, construction materials, lighting, etc. Zoning works quite well in the county's municipalities, and it works well at Deep Creek Lake. It would also work well for the county.

Now is the time. We must seize this opportunity today, because time is rapidly running out.



Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

With the demise of Paul Merrill, the Goodwill Mennonite Home has lost a great volunteer.

He believed that love is not love unless it's shared with others. Some of the many programs that he gave were on short notice. Yet he came ready to share scripture, poetry, and song. He believed a song not sung was not a song.

He brought joy to many hearts. Just as the ringing bell vibrates through the land, so the joy he brought thrilled those whose lives he touched.

Mr. Merrill came to us because he cared and he loved. Now he is gone to his eternal reward. We will miss him.

However, he left a challenge for all: to sing that song, ring that bell, and to share that precious love with others.

Sincerely,

To the Editor:

After my participation in the First Annual Deep Creek Dunk for MD Special Olympics, as a dunker, I was greatly disappointed to see that the key work "dunk" was being misinterpreted. DUNK — to dip or submerge oneself temporarily in water.

I find it hard to believe that those in charge would refer to this fund-raiser as a DUNK and not require dunkers to completely submerge themselves.

Most of my sponsors made the comment that if I didn't go completely under, they would request a full refund. I agreed to that and if I didn't, I would refund their money out of my own pocket.

This was a great fund-raiser and we raised a lot of money for a great cause, which is the most important thing. My point is, if we refer to this as a dunk then let's all dunk, or just refer to it as a walk in the water.

Roy Rinker
Oakland

Dear Mr. Rinker,

As one who also "went all the way," I agree with you.

Editor

To the Editor;

The folks of Grantsville seem to be complacent when it comes to asking them to contact the appropriate civic officials and let these officials know that Grantsville's proposed library needs to be 8,000 square feet and not 4,000 square feet.

Someone said recently that we don't need a library that big. Well, one thing is for sure — and I did not state this in my letters that were sent to Grantsville's mayor, Garrett commissioners, and the director of the Ruth Enlow Libraries, and others — Grantsville's Public Library doesn't even have public restroom facilities. If someone needs to use the restroom, the one at Hey Pizza or the Mobil Corner Market will just have to suffice, I guess.

Come on, Grantsville. Call and write some folks and tell them how you feel. Have you been to the library lately? Are you complaining to someone else besides a public official? It's our tax money that's involved here. Let's not sit back and play patty-cakes!

Sincerely,
William "Walt" Walters

I am hoping that you will be able to publish this, for the benefit of those who have any connection or relationship with the following names: Duckworth, Ross, Miller, Broadwater, and Van Meter.

I have a copy of a document (from the British Museum) that shows that the Duckworth surname came from the Rhine Valley, where they lived, and were invited by the ancient Britons of the 4th century into England. They were led by two brothers, General/Commanders Hengist and Horsa, who started Saxon settlements in Wales and Cornwall and Cumberland (England).

I have a collection of over 2,624 names, dates and court records of my ancestors (starting with John Duckworth, who was a yeoman), who came into New Jersey under a four-year indenture in 1644, and following these descendants through Pennsylvania, Maryland, Virginia, western Maryland, Ohio, and Illinois prior to the Civil War and up until 1900. I want anyone who is interested in being included in this genealogy and may have information or pictures of people to include to send copies of that information to me. I do not want originals because I cannot return them.

I need any information about births, marriages, names of children, and deaths, including the most important parts — the dates.

James Duckworth served as a corporal with George Rogers Clark in his 144-man Virginia Frontier Militia Army in 1778, which captured British forts In Illinois during the American Revolution.

I have Civil War records, deed records to 1900, and marriage records to 1900. I have boxes of records that I have accumulated over 31 years, and now am ready to get this put into a book to share with the public.

If anyone has information that they wish to include in this book (good or bad), it is an important part of family history. Please forward copies of that information to me at the following address:

Thank You,

To the Editor:

Here it is Sunday, after the final vote on whether or not to remove President Clinton from office. And once again some cowardly senator is on the radio yapping about how tired the "American people" are of this impeachment trial and how they just want to move on with the business of the country. He was saying this in hopes that Ken Starr would just let it go.

Well, actually, the only thing I got tired of (during this whole impeachment process) was being told by the media how tired we should be with the impeachment process. In fact, if only one listened to the radio (NPR) and TV news networks, one might think that they were all alone in their belief that Bill Clinton is guilty of perjury and obstruction of justice and that he should be removed from office.

In my conversations with many people (both Democrat and Republican) I have found that almost everyone believes that Clinton lied under oath, tried to cover it up, and that he should have been removed from office. The infamous "polls" would have us believe otherwise.

This is how I see what happened here. The House of Representatives brings an honest and credible case of impeachment against President Clinton. The main-stream media generates a fake picture of what the "American people" want, i.e., a quick end to the trial process and a desire to see Clinton remain in office. The Democrat senators, interested primarily in protecting their own selfish interests and preserving the political power of the Democrat Party, vote against removing Clinton from office, while at the same time cowardly trying to hide behind the smoke screen of the "public opinion polls," claiming that they were only doing what the "American people want. Example — Senator Byrd from W.Va. was quoted on NPR as saying he believed that Clinton was guilty of the charges, but he could not vote to remove him from office because that is not what the "American people" want, according to... (you guessed it) the polls.

What we have here is selective enforcement (or non-enforcement) of the law, when it is advantageous to the parties involved. For a long time, people with money, power, and influence have been able to beat the wrap of criminal prosecution and escape the consequences of their misdeeds. In this present case, 50% of the U.S. Senate is just publicly and legally approved selective enforcement of the law when dealing with members of the "elite class" in this country.

The flip side of this is, of course, the selective prosecution of innocent people who have not broken any laws but are a "political annoyance" to those in power. Example — Ken Starr is a man working on the side of truth in this case. Yet he is being attacked, degraded, and falsely accused by the media and the Clinton Administration, as though he were the offender and not Clinton. We will see more of this.

In spite of all these dishonest efforts by the media, the White House, and 50% of the senate, we still saw the other 50% of the senate vote to remove President Clinton from office. That is a strong statement in favor of truth and honesty. However, I am not sure it is strong enough.

Are we too intelligent, too adult, too clever to need truth today? We have no more capacity for intelligence than the people who did the cave paintings in Europe 10,000-20,000 years ago. Adulthood has become a state of stifled growth steeped in the desire for profit, privilege, and pleasure. Cleverness requires self-deception.

Are we fooling ourselves into thinking we have outgrown the need for truthfulness and honesty? Truth is not something we outgrow. Truth is infinite. The more honest we become with ourselves, the more we recognize our own dishonesty and our need for truth. It takes continual refinement. Truth is as necessary to life as the air we breath and the water we drink. Without these things, we die. The lack of truth is the basis for any crime against one's self, others, nature, God. Truth is essential to all relationships and interactions between human beings, all over the world. The need for truth is as universal as the smile.

To the Editor:

Like most Americans, I am relieved the investigation into the Clinton/Lewinsky mess and the resulting impeachment trial is behind us. Also, like the majority of Americans, I support the acquittal of the president. There is really no debate regarding the conduct of Mr. Clinton; it was an indefensible and reckless act that does cause one to at least question the judgment of the most powerful person on the planet.

However, it is clear from recent comments by Mr. Jeffrey Wilson that the "view from his window" is seen through panes of extreme bias in favor of the far right of the Republican Party, a view of the world fortunately not seen by the majority in this country. To begin a newspaper column by stating that "it seems that the scoundrel who presided over one of the most corrupt administrations rn American history..." is both an offensive comment about our president and clearly identifies Mr. Wilson as one of those who, like Ken Starr, would go to just about any length to remove him from office.

It is puzzling to many of us why this small, yet very vocal, minority has been so incensed by the election of Mr. Clinton in both 1992 and 1996. They have tried in every way possible to bring the president down, be it filegate, Chinagate, travelgate, and finally Monicagate. Unfortunately for the Republican Party, this obsession with Mr. Clinton's destruction has consumed them and deprived the American people of the benefits of a healthy two-party debate on matters of policy and true substance. The voting public rightly gave the Republicans a wakeup call at the voting booth last fall, but that message still hasn't sunk in to this rabid bunch of Clinton haters, which seems to include Mr. Wilson.

Mr. Wilson noted in his last column how proud he was of Henry Hyde, Asa Hutchinson, and other house managers in how they performed their duties. Surely Mr. Wilson is not so naive as to think that these individuals were primarily acting on conviction, as he states. No doubt, if a Republican president were under attack from Democrats on similar charges as Mr. Clinton faced, Henry Hyde and Company would be singing a completely different tune.

To be fair, many of the Democrats who voted to acquit the president would also likely turn 180 degrees and vote to convict a Republican president under the same circumstances. One need only go back a dozen years to the Reagan-Bush administration to see examples of this. Democrats who called for the impeachment of President Reagan have been far more willing to overlook Mr. Clinton's indiscretions. Some long-term Republican members of Congress who have been screaming for Mr. Clinton's removal were adamant defenders of President Reagan and Oliver North during the Iran-Contra scandal, arguably a far more serious one than has plagued the current White House. It's called politics, Mr. Wilson. The vast majority in this country knows that, and I suspect you do also.

Granted, my political leanings are somewhat left of center and as such, I tend to vote more often for Democrats. However, I lived in Maine for many years and while there frequently voted for both independents and Republicans. That small New England state has a long history of providing good rational, and moderate Republican leaders, from Margaret Chase Smith to our current Secretary of Defense, William Cohen. It was good to see both Republican senators from Maine, Olympia Snowe and Susan Collins, go against their party and the far-right ideologies that have taken it over and truly vote their conscience. Now there are two politicians we can all be proud of.

To the Editor:

A year ago, while attending Frostburg State University, I prepared a report about Wal-Mart and small town America for an undergraduate course I was taking. I recently shared that report with some acquaintances in Oakland who expressed an interest in the topic. I have just discovered that there is some confusion about that report due to the personal letter accompanying it. I would like to eliminate any misunderstanding about that report and letter at this time.

The personal letter accompanying the report was a computer created letter that I use for my personal correspondence with friends and family. I identify the university I am attending at the time, in this case the University of Maryland at College Park, and then proceed with the contents of the letter. In this particular case, it seems that the personal letter is circulating with the report to create the illusion that the report is an official document from the University of Maryland.

That is not the case. The personal letter should not be confused at all with official University of Maryland letterhead. It certainly is not, and I regret any confusion that may have arisen from my casual identification of the university where I am a student.

I want to be very clear that the report I prepared while an undergraduate student at Frostburg State University is not an officially sanctioned university study of any kind. It is my personal work for a class and has no sponsorship from an educational institution whatsoever.

The opinions expressed in that report are mine alone and should not be misrepresented as anything else. It is also important to understand that there is a vast array of literature and previous studies available concerning the issue of Wal-Mart and small town America. I would hope that my work is thought provoking and opens up new avenues of discussion, but it is by no means the definitive work on the topic. As with all things, it should be viewed critically and in a broad context. If you look hard enough, you can find a report to support just about any view. It is important, therefore, to look to many sources before reaching a conclusion. Others who have looked at this issue do not share my conclusions.

Thank you,
Dwayne Liller

To the Editor:

I am writing in regard to a very resentful situation that involved me on Feb. 2.

I'm an unemployed worker, like many others in this county. And since we have the highest unemployment rate in the state, jobs are hard to come by.

So I decided to try the unemployment office. As I searched through their computer files, I came across several jobs that I thought sounded pretty promising; at least I thought so.

I wrote down these job opportunities on the paper that they provided me and waited for a person to contact me. A lady soon called me into a small office and began to tell me about one of the jobs I had selected (pay rates, starting dates, etc.). All was well. I filled out an application.

She then looked over the other job that I selected, and this job was with the new company the county commissioners, state officials, and the newspapers have been talking about for some time now — Simon Pearce.

We then began talking to one another about the position and its requirements, one of which was having experience in blowing glass. She asked me if I had any experience. I said no, but I had worked at Bausch & Lomb in the past. To my surprise she said I need not apply; I wasn't qualified for this position. This company is looking for

GOOD LENTEN EATING

The Rule of St. Benedict, the guidebook of western monasticism, recommends simplifying one's diet and reading a special book during Lent. What could be better toward accomplishing both goals than the reading of a vegetarian cookbook by a monk? Br. Victor-Antoine d'Avila-Latourette has given us another excellent work perfect for this purpose.

Fresh From A Monastery Garden: An A-Z Treasury of Delectable Vegetable Recipes (Doubleday, $25) is a new kind of cookbook from a master of the genre. Br. Victor-Antoine's previous works have started with the seasons, both of the church and of nature, and has worked from them to wonderful recipes.

In this cookbook he starts with the vegetables, and works from them to the recipes. So, for example, if you happen to have a leftover bunch of celery in the crisper without any idea of what to do with it, then take Br. Victor-Antoine's book and turn to "Celery." There you find "stuffed celery stalks gratinnee" and "celery and carrots with honey and mustard." Both are delicious- sounding recipes.

Fresh From a Monastery Garden is also well-suited to browsing. One of the wonderful surprises in gardening and cooking are vegetables which are easy to grow, delicious to eat, and of which almost no one has heard. Sorrel is of those. Br. Victor-Antoine waxes lyrical about sorrel. It is an enthusiasm which I share.

Sorrel is a perennial salad green. It is fairly easy to establish, and once established it is almost impossible to kill. I would not want an entire salad made out of sorrel, but adding a little puts a lemony pizzazz into a salad that is otherwise flat.

Br. Victor-Antoine has a cold sorrel cream soup garnished with smoked salmon which would be exquisite on a hot summer evening. There is sorrel omelet (why didn't I think of that?) and sorrel sauce to accompany broiled white fish or hard-boiled eggs sliced onto a bed of rice.

Br. Victor-Antoine likes sorrel because, among many other reasons, it appears among the first greens of springtime when there is nothing else stirring in the garden, and one's palate longs for something truly fresh. I like it especially on those occasions when someone says (the cook to her- or himself or a member of the household speaking up), "Isn't there anything different to eat?"

While we are browsing and asking what there is different to eat, for chutney lovers there is an apple-sweet potato chutney recipe that sounds like the bee's knees. Besides the apples and sweet potatoes, the recipe calls for onion, two kinds of peppers, allspice, mustard seed, ginger, garlic, vinegar, and brown sugar. This is a chutney with a sliding hot-scale, depending upon the maker's preference.

If you (or those who eat the food you prepare) like vegetables plain and ordinary, and still want a route out of the realm of culinary monotony, Br. Victor-Antoine has recipes aplenty. Farm-style sweet peas is one of these. When peas and lettuce are both in their prime, this is the recipe because it calls for both as well as for carrots, onions, and parsley.

There are four recipes for squash, seven for tomatoes, eight for potatoes, including a southern French potato salad, and a dozen for beans of varying kinds. Br. Victor-Antoine covers 29 different vegetables or vegetable types. If you can't name more than six vegetables that you have eaten since Christmas (and wish there had been more), then this is the book for you.

Br. Victor-Antoine has given us another delightful cookbook, full of insights and ideas which the cook can take whole and entire and apply in the kitchen or receive as a source of further inspiration.

What's Happening Our Town Theatre

Play Under Milkwood To Be Read At OTT

Our Town Theatre will host a reading of Under Milkwood, a play for voices, on Sunday, Feb. 28, at 3 p.m. Members of the public are invited to come read parts or to listen.

The play was written by Welsh poet Dylan Thomas just before his death in 1953. According to a theatre spokesperson, it follows the poignant and amusing activities of a small Welsh coastal town throughout one spring day.

"It is lyrical, impassioned, and funny; an Our Town given universality," wrote a British critic following the debut of the reading in New York City.

"It would be hard for any work of art to communicate more directly and funnily and lovingly what it is like to be alive," wrote critic Randell Jarrell. A motion picture version of Under Milkwood was produced in 1971 and starred Richard Burton, Elizabeth Taylor, and Peter O'Toole.

For more information about the reading, persons may call Our Town Theatre at 301-334-5640.

OTT Announces Cast For Women's Monologue Play

Jane Avery, artistic director of Our Town Theatre, has announced the cast and directors for the play Talking With, which is a show composed of 10 different monologues by playwright Jane Martin, and one monologue penned by local resident Liz Rees Gilbert.

Talking With illustrates modern women from all walks of life, including a baton twirler, a rodeo rider, and an airplane pilot, among others. The cast for the production consists of Judy Bertsch, Patty Brenneman, Barbara Ann Reed, Liz Rees Gilbert, Gloria Salazar, Eileen Schlosnagle, Anna Snyder, Patty Wells, Evelyn White, and Lois White.

The production will be offered at the theatre on March 12 and 13 at 8 p.m. and on March 14 at 3 p.m. Reservations are strongly encouraged and may be made starting today by calling the theatre at 301-334-5640. The cost for admission will be $5 per person. Avery cautioned that the play contains some strong language.

According to Avery, Talking With is the major performance piece at the theatre for March, which is National Women's Month. The play will join several other activities relating to women and women's issues, including play readings, an open forum about eating disorders, a presentation of the theatre's period costumes, coffeehouses, and an art exhibit.

"Just because March is women's month doesn't mean that we are excluding men from these events and projects," noted Avery. "Because the cast consists entirely of women, we are giving three of our local men the chance to direct some of the monologues." Richard Hill, Fred Jacoby, and Steve Schlosnagle will each be directing individual pieces. Ben Sincell will provide the lighting and technical assistance for the production.

The play is being produced by special permission from Samuel French Incorporated. Information concerning the play, reservations, or scheduled activities for the month of March can be obtained by calling the theatre at the number noted above.

Diverse Events Slated At Our Town Theatre

February events at Our Town Theatre will conclude this weekend with three activities, including a Kid-stuff Creative Dramatics Workshop (on Saturday at 1 p.m.); a teen coffee house (on Saturday at 7 p.m.); and a play reading of Dylan Thomas's Under Milkwood (on Sunday at 3 p.m.).

Several more events are planned at the theatre in March, which is National Women's Month. These activities will focus on women and their commonalities.

Eating disorders will be the topic on March 5, when at 7:30 p.m. four actresses will read a play about this recurring personal and social problem. The play reading will be followed by an open forum concerning disorders.

"The play is very funny and very moving," noted Jane Avery, who is spearheading the project as well as reading one of the parts in the play. "We are hoping to share a lot of information, as well as manifest support for both males and females who have all types of eating problems. Al Carpenwitz, an authority on eating disorders, will moderate the post-play discussion, and we encourage all who are interested and concerned to attend."

Instead of charging an entrance fee, theatre organizers are asking that each member of the audience contribute some sort of personal hygiene product (such as soap, shampoo, deodorant, diapers, baby powder, etc.) for the House of Hope.

A coffee house for females will be held on Saturday, March 6, from 7 until 11 p.m. (An article in next week's issue will provide more details about this event. An ad appears in today's issue.)

A play reading of the hit musical Quilters will be featured on Sunday, March 7, at 3 p.m. Produced by the Garrett Lakes Arts Festival in 1993, Quilters was a critical and artistic success in the eyes of the local public.

"I'm really excited about getting several of the cast members together for the reading," said Avery, who directed the '93 production. "This wonderful jewel of a play celebrates the pioneer spirit of women and their lives through the act and art of quilting. It will be a joy to hear the script again."

Accompanying the projects for March will be an exhibit of the art of four women, organized by local artist Linda Reeves-Cook. Several other activities for women's month are in the works and will be detailed in later articles in The Republican.

"We are hoping to chase away the winter doldrums with a whole series of events that both women and men will find entertaining and enlightening," said Avery. "And, of course, we are always open to suggestions."

For more information about the activities scheduled for March, persons may call the theatre at 301-334-5640.

OCTOBER SKY

Rated PG - Running time: 1:48

The arrival of Sputnik, the first man-made satellite, launched by the Soviet Union in 1957, was clearly a major moment in history. Every movie about the American space program uses it as a starting point, and Joe Johnston's October Sky is no exception. Based on the true story written by NASA worker Homer H. Hickam Jr. about his own starting point in rural West Virginia (and adapted for the screen by Lewis Colick), it is the tale of a young man's dream to escape his coal mining town and shoot for the stars. Johnston, who made his name doing special effects for the Star Wars and Indiana Jones movies, has this time turned his attention toward a more interpersonal story. October Sky is full of rocketry, but it is more a character study than a pyrotechnic marvel.

Homer Hickam (Jake Gyllenhaal) lives in Coalwood, West Virginia. As its name implies, Coalwood is a mining town; in fact, just about every male who lives there either works in the mines or plans to work in the mines. All agree that it would be nice to "get out of" Coalwood, though, so when Homer's brother gets a football scholarship, the family is thrilled. But his dad, John (Chris Cooper), is not at all happy with Homer's rocket-making hobby, sparked by the new Soviet star crossing the sky every few hours. Expecting him to follow in his and his father's footsteps, John tells Homer, "you'd better start taking an interest in your town." Luckily, Homer's science teacher, Miss Riley (Laura Dern), encourages him, and some friends (Chris Owen, William Lee Scott, Chad Lindberg) share his interest.

Their early efforts are marred by the same kinds of explosions and failures as NASA's (albeit on a smaller scale), but the boys gradually refine their methods until they are able to make successful launches, which are attended by a growing audience of curious townsfolk. But when John is injured in a mine accident, Homer must go below to fill in while he recovers. It is the first time in his life that his father is proud of him, but Homer's first taste of coal dust only strengthens his resolve to rise back up to the surface and continue his rise into the heavens.

This film is based on a true story, and it is a nice story, but the screen adaptation is overly melodramatic. Hickam's book Rocket Boys may be more realistic, but writer Colick (who penned the excellent Ghosts Of Mississippi) asks us to swallow a lot of emotional pandering and trite characterizations to get the point across. The performances are good, however; especially that of Laura Dern and Chris Owen, and Gyllenhaal's relationship with Cooper reflects the frustrating kind of love between a father and son who operate on completely different wavelengths. Though shot in Tennessee, Johnston's October Sky successfully evokes the stifling atmosphere of a blackened 1950s town in the southern West Virginia mountains. ★★★★

OFFICE SPACE

Rated R - Running time: 1:29

From Mike Judge, creator of TV cartoon shows Beavis And Butt-Head and King Of The Hill, comes Office Space, a wry look at the mind-numbing existence of working for a large computer software company. Filled with funny caricatures and great lines, Office Space is Judge's first try at directing live-action, and is based on an animated short of the same name from 1991.

The main character of the film is Peter Gibbons, played by Ron Livingston (TV's That's Life). Peter, who is growing increasingly restless in his job at Initech, is beginning to think he's just not cut out for cubicle life. Between the incessant chirp of the receptionist in the next cube whose only answer is a perky "just a moment" to the fake friendship of his immediate superior, Bill Lumbergh (Gary Cole), who seems to have no other task besides good-naturedly hassling people, the job is seriously hampering Peter's comfort zone. He talks to his friends, Michael Bolton (David Herman), whose own job frustration is coupled with the fact that he must live with the name of a famous singer whose music he can't stand, and Samir (Ajay Naidu), whose last name is apparently unpronounceable to anyone born in this country. The guys commiserate about everything from Lumbergh asking them to work on weekends to the printer that never works properly, but Michael and Samir seem to think that job security is the one advantage to Initech. Of course, Peter wonders, what good is job security if you hate your job?

When rumors start to travel about downsizing, Peter gets even more stressed, so he sees a hypnotist who claims he can remove tension. Though the session proves unhealthy for the doctor, Peter gets a great deal of good out of it: He just stops caring. When he doesn't feel like going to work, he doesn't go. When he does go, he disregards anything said to him by Lumbergh, and even dismantles his own cubicle so he can see out the windows. But rather than getting him fired, this behavior seems to impress the consultants hired by Initech to do the company's housecleaning. While his friends' jobs are put on the chopping block, Peter gets a raise and a promotion. Also impressed by Peter's newfound calm is the waitress at the diner next door, Joanne (Jennifer Aniston). Inspired by him, she is finally able to tell her annoying boss where to go, and this leads her to make her own unexpected career move.

Though Office Space isn't exactly loaded with life lessons, its thin plot is bolstered a great deal by its varied cast of characters. Most are two-dimensional, like all of the "actors" in Judge's cartoon shows, but they also share another trait with that cel-bound crowd: They are funny. Beyond the four people who have most of the screen time, there are also numerous supporting players. There's ultra-geek Milton (NewsRadio's Stephen Root), who is not only cursed with acne and thick glasses, but treated like a doormat by everyone in the company. There's Lawrence (Diedrich Bader of The Drew Carey Show), Peter's friendly but eavesdropping neighbor, who is envied for his "real job" as a construction worker. And there is Lumbergh, the smooth-talking manager, always with coffee cup in hand, who starts all his gentle admonishments with "Yeah," and ends them with "mmm-kay?"

Writer/director/producer Judge, who started life in Ecuador, has a talent for capturing the quirks of the American way of life with his various series. Office Space is another example. Judge's plots may be a bit shallow, but his characters, and the things they say, are genuinely funny. ★★★★

REPUBLICAN

Thank you all, each and every one, who helped out with the 1998 Warm the Children project. Because of generous contributors and tireless volunteers, a total of 189 local children, from infants to high school seniors, received new winter clothing and warm footwear this year. Special thanks are extended to the Garrett County Department of Social Services (especially Dora Hanlin), the kind and helpful employees at Treasure Island and Ames, and the county's public school system, which helped us immensely in finding kids who needed a boost. We'll be doing it all over again next year, and we look forward to working with you all in nine months or so. See you then!

Rams Avenge Losses To Keyser, Preston County

Playing their best at the end of the season, and avenging a couple of earlier defeats in the process, is what every coach and every team wants, and that precisely what the Southern High School boys' varsity has been doing lately. The Rams wrapped up their regular season with two huge victories this week, both of which were against the few teams that had defeated them earlier.

After taking their worst defeat of the season from the Golden Tornado of Keyser last month (67-31), the Rams proved to the West Virginia team Friday night in Oakland that they were a much better team than that by handing Keyser a 52-40 defeat. Then on Tuesday night, the Rams avenged a one-point loss to Preston County by defeating the visiting Knights in overtime, 55-49, to end the regular season with a 17-3 record, a nine-game winning streak, a Western Maryland Interscholastic League title, and most likely the Area Championship.

The Rams will move into 1A West Region playoff action this Friday at home against Allegany (14-7).

Outstanding defensive play by Jonathan Price and Chris Ewing, plus a 20-point offensive effort by Mike Paesani, led the Rams over Keyser before a packed house on Friday.

The Rams got off to a slow start and trailed 9-6 at the end of the first quarter. They pulled ahead by two, 20-18, by halftime, and then out-scored the visitors in the third stanza by a 15-7 margin to take a 10-point advantage (35-25) into the fourth period.

Keyser was forced to foul in the final minutes of the game, and the Rams responded, with Nathan DiSimone hitting three free throws and Chris Ewing sinking four more.

Also reaching double figures for Southern was Mike Pamepinto, who finished with 14 points, 11 of which were recorded in the second half. He also grabbed six rebounds. John Andrews was well below his average in scoring, but he pulled down seven rebounds and dished out six assists. Paesani also had seven rebounds.

The Golden Tornado (15-5) was led in scoring by LaJavious Fagen and Nelson Guerin with 11 and 10 points, respectively. Les Jessie, one of Keyser's top offensive performers, was limited to just five points.

"The defensive effort against Jessie by Price and Ewing was a major key to this win," Coach Tom Bosley said. "Plus Mike (Paesani) played a great offensive game for us."

The Southern junior varsity was edged in the preliminary game, 36-32. David Miller netted 12 points for Keyser, while Keith Steyer and Bryan Panther each scored eight to pace the Southern jayvees.

The Southern gym was once again packed to capacity Tuesday night when the Rams took the floor and attempted to avenge another of its three losses, this time against Preston County.

The Knights won the first half of the game, holding leads of 11-8 and 24-16 at the end of the first and second quarters. They were on top by one, 30-29, after three periods, and with less than three minutes to play, it appeared that the Rams, down by eight (38-30), would not be able to pull off a win. They had lost the three previous meetings with the Knights, each time by a single point.

However, the Rams scored 12 of the next 16 points to knot the score at 42 and send the contest into overtime. Back-to-back three-point shots by John Andrews pulled the Rams within two, 38-36, and after trading a couple baskets, Preston led 42-40 with 15 seconds to play in regulation. Nathaniel Panther then drove to the hoop, hit a lay-up to tie the score, and was fouled in the process. He missed the free throw, giving Preston the opportunity for a final, winning shot. However, the Knights turned the ball over with three seconds left. A long shot attempted by Andrews for the Rams missed, sending the game into the overtime period.

The Rams took the lead right away in the overtime period and never gave it up. They out-scored the visitors in overtime by a 13-7 margin to secure the win.

Paesani was again the big offensive gun for the Rams, as he finished with a game-high 21 points and six rebounds. Andrews recorded 13 points and five assists, and Panther contributed 10 points.

The only Preston player to reach double figures was Jason Bolyard with 16 points. The loss dropped the Knights to 11-7.

"Poise and experience were keys to this win," stated Coach Bosley. "Preston is a very good, well coached team. We've been playing very well lately against good teams, which builds a lot of confidence.

"Our play off the bench was outstanding, too," he continued. "Chris Ewing was just super off the bench, and Mike Browning gave us some great minutes on the floor, too.

"Another factor, though, is the tremendous fan support," Bosley added. "We packed the house for six of our last eight home games. Our games have become more of an event for people rather than just another game."

The Southern junior varsity went into double overtime with the Preston jayvees and emerged a 55-45 winner. Keith Steyer and Mike Saturday each scored 13 points for the Rams, while Jamie Bosley hit a pair of free throws that tied the score and sent the game into overtime. Randall Pricket scored 19 to lead Preston.

The victory gave the Ram jayvees a 15-5 record for the season.

A BIG VICTORY was recorded Tuesday night by the Southern High School boys' varsity, which avenged an earlier season loss to Preston County by defeating the Knights in overtime, 55-49. The Rams concluded their regular season with a 17-3 record, a number-one area ranking, and the Western Maryland Interscholastic League championship, and will take the first step toward a state title this Friday when they host Allegany in a 1A West Region playoff game. Above left, Southern's Chris Ewing drives into the paint against a Preston defender. Also identifiable for the Rams are #20 John Andrews and #24 Mike Paesani. At right, Ram Mike Pamepinto lofts a ball toward the hoop, and below, Andrews gets plenty of air in another attempt. Also in the photo below is Southern's Nathaniel Panther (#11), who hit a key lay-up with just seconds remaining in regulation to tie the score and send the game into overtime. Photos by John McEwen.

Tom Woods, SHS athletic director, advises persons planning to attend the game to be at the gymnasium early. Admission will be $4 for all persons over age 7, and free for those 7 and under. MPSSA passes will be accepted for admission.

Woods said that tickets sales will stop when the gym is full; however, they will resume for the girls' playoff game, which will follow the boys' game, provided seats become available at the conclusion of the boys' game.

If the Rams are victorious, they will play at Williamsport on Monday, and if successful there, play again in the region semi-finals next Wednesday.

Huskies Edge Mountaineers Before Falling To Sentinels

The regular season concluded with a win and a loss for the Northern High School boys' varsity basketball team, as the Huskies edged visiting Beall in a Western Maryland Interscholastic League contest on Friday, 40-38, and then lost to Fort Hill in another WMIL match-up last night at the Cove, 70-62.

Coach Mike Friend's squad, whose overall record stands at 14-8 (6-6 WMIL) will enter the Maryland Class 1A West playoffs Friday evening at home against the region's top seeded team, South Hagerstown.

Senior center Dustin Long added 19 points to his 1,000-plus total for his career as a Husky against Beall on Friday in a contest that featured more defense than offense. The Huskies got off to a sluggish start against the Mountaineers and trailed by a point, 8-7, at the end of the first quarter. They out-scored the visitors in the second stanza by a 15-4 margin to take a 22-12 advantage into the locker room at halftime. Northern led by six, 32-26, by the end of the third period and then held off the Mountaineers down the stretch.

Joining Long in double figures for Northern was Rob Dozier, who finished with 10 points. Leading Beall (9-12, 3-8 WMIL) was Jeremy Smith, who scored 12 points.

The Northern junior varsity boys won the first game, 38-34, with Jeremy Frazee scoring 11 for the Huskies. Netting a game-high 21 points for the Beall jayvees was Brady Greig.

Long racked up 26 points last night against Fort Hill, but it was not enough to pull out what would have been a mild upset.

The Huskies did, however, rally from a large deficit, as they trailed by a 28-10 margin at the end of the first quarter. They were down by 13 at halftime, 43-30, and were behind by 10, 55-45, after three periods.

Also reaching double figures for the Huskies was Dozier with 10 points. Pacing the Sentinels (15-7, 9-3 WMIL) were Jamie Kline with 20 points, Jared Fradiska with 16, and Jeremy Snyder with 13.

The Northern jayvees were nipped in the preliminary game, 63-60, in overtime, with Trent Lewis and Joel Fradiska each netting 13 to pace the Fort Hill jayvees. Northern's Jeremy Carr led all scorers with his 18 points.

PLAYOFFS

The Huskies' playoff contest with South Hagerstown (17-3) will tip off Friday at 6 p.m., and be followed immediately by the girls' playoff between Northern and South Hagerstown. If the Huskies win Friday night, they will meet the winner of the Beall/Oldtown game on Monday.

PULLING THE TRIGGER for two of Southern's 82 points, Annie Neville (#33) slops behind a screen of teammate Joy Jackson (#25) and prepares to sink a basket in Monday night's 82-6 massacre over Mt. Savage. Below, Laura Friend (#45) cuts down the lane as Jodi Bowser (#31) effectively takes a pair of Indian defenders out of the play with a perfectly placed screen of her own. Eleven Rams connected for scores in the lopsided Senior night contest, as departing players Neville, Friend, Bowser, Katelyn McBee, and Jessica Saturday played their final regular season home game. The Rams are set to take on the Allegany Campers tomorrow night in their Class 1A West Region playoff opener, slated to begin in Oakland 20 minutes following the conclusion of the boys playoff game against Alco, which begins at 6 p.m.

Huskies Down Hancock, Fall To Westmar; Open Playoffs At Home

The girls' varsity basketball squad of Northern High School split a pair of contests this week, downing Hancock 54-39 before falling to Westmar by a 62-40 score. The up-and-down results symbolize the Huskies' entire season, as they finished by posting an 11-11 overall record and a 6-6 WMIL mark heading into tomorrow night's homecourt contest with South Hagerstown in opening-round play of the Class 1A West Region playoffs, slated to get under way 20 minutes after the boys' playoff game concludes.

A big second quarter put Northern out of Hancock's reach in Monday night's regular season home finale. After outscoring the visitors by a 17-3 margin in the second stanza to go up by a 31-14 margin, the Huskies never looked back, going up 47-25 after three quarters of play.

A trio of Huskies hit for double figures, with Heather Nugent's 16 points on 6 field goals, including a pair of three-pointers, and a 2-for-2 tally from the foul line leading the way. The junior guard also dished out 10 assists. Heidi Frazee added 14 points, including a three-point goal, and Bridget Frazee hit for 10 points and took down 10 rebounds. Alicia Bernard scored 17 points to lead Hancock.

Northern fell in the junior varsity contest by a score of 17-14. Nikki Sisler scored 5 points while Hancock's Kate Pittman led all scorers with 7 points.

Last night's match-up at Westmar was dominated by the Wildcats, who led Northern at each quarter's closing buzzer, 13-6, 27-14, and 45-22, on the way to a 22-point victory.

Heidi Frazee's 14 points led the Huskies, while Nugent added 12 points, half coming on a pair of three-pointers. Bridget Frazee pulled down 8 rebounds. Sarah Gattens led the Wildcats with 17 points and 9 rebounds, and three of her teammates also hit for double figures in the scoring column.

Northern won the junior varsity game 24-20 as Jolene Brenneman scored 8 points for the Huskies. Westmar's Carrie Goff led all scorers with 10 points.

Rams Roll Into Playoffs By Dropping Preston, Annhilating Mt. Savage

Southern High School's girls' varsity basketball team is riding a three-game winning streak going into tomorrow night's homecourt playoff battle with Allegany High. The Rams continued their momentum that began with last Wednesday's victory over Beall by downing Preston Friday by a score of 62-57, then crushing Mount Savage 82-9 on Monday to close their regular season with a 10-12 record. Their Class 1A West Region playoff match-up will get under way 20 minutes after tonight's boys' playoff match-up concludes.

Southern and Preston dueled evenly throughout their match-up until the Rams were able to pull away in the closing minutes as they hit 7 of 9 free throws. Game-long accuracy from the charity stripe played a major part in the Rams' victory, as they converted 17 of 23 free throw attempts on the night while the Knights hit only 8 for 16 foul shots.

Ashley Liller had a big evening, scoring 22 points, taking away 9 steals, and dishing out 5 assists. Charlena Reeves added 16 points and Jennifer Teagarden contributed 13 points, which included a 3-pointer. Preston was led by 15 points apiece by Jeannine Chambers and Georgia Baker.

Preston took the junior varsity contest. Details were not available.

The Senior Night regular season finale against Mt. Savage resulted in a stunning 73-point victory for the Rams and their home gym fans. Southern mercilessly pummeled the Indians all night long, going up by a 62-4 margin by the opening of the fourth quarter. Mt. Savage hadn't even broken into the scoring column until after the game had entered the second stanza, and were down 33-4 at the half.

Jessica Saturday took scoring honors with 22 points, her highest output of the year. Liller tallied 14 points and Reeves added 10 points as 11 Rams connected with scores on the evening. Lacey Dickel's 5 points led the 0-20 Indians.

The junior varsity game was more of a contest, although the Rams handily downed their opponents by a score of 38-24. Jennifer Bosley scored 20 points for Southern and Andrea Adams tallied 5 points for Mt. Savage.

A victory tomorrow night over Alco would send the Rams on to the West Region quarterfinals to face Williamsport. That contest will be played either Monday or Tuesday.

Condoerr, Midas Capture Mt. Top League Victories

Undefeated Condoerr narrowly escaped with an 83-81 victory in Mt. Top Unlimited Basketball League action Sunday afternoon in a tight contest with Dawson Trucking, and Midas maintained its hold on second place by defeating the Aquatic Center in the second game, 81-72.

With seven seconds remaining in the Condoerr-Dawson match-up, Pete Brosnihan was fouled and hit both ends of a one-and-one to break an 83-81 tie. A three-point attempt at the buzzer by Dawson Trucking was no good. Tom Stem led the winners with a game-high 30 points, while Kris Uphole netted 19 to pace Dawson Trucking.

The Aquatic Center stayed with Midas in the first quarter of the second game, which ended in a 14-14 deadlock, but couldn't contain Jason Brenneman in the second stanza. Brenneman scored 12 points in that period alone, and Midas maintained about an eight-point lead the rest of the game. Jared Beckman pumped in 35 points for the Aquatic Center, but Brenneman and Greg Inglese each scored 35 for the winners.

Games slated for this Sunday, Feb. 28, will pit Dawson Trucking against Midas at 3 p.m. and 219 Motors vs. Condoerr in the 4 p.m. contest.

Lakers To Play CCAC Today In Region XX Event

The Garrett Community College men's basketball team, which was nudged out of the Maryland JUCO Tournament by Baltimore City CC (81-80) on Friday, will enter the NJCAA Region XX Division II Tournament this afternoon at Allegany College, Cumberland. The Lakers, seeded seventh, will meet 11th seeded CCAC-Allegheny-Pittsburgh at 4 p.m.

The Lakers are currently 16-11, and could be playing without their leading scorer, Michael Fields, this afternoon. Fields sustained a concussion in the Baltimore contest and has not returned to practice. The former Allegany High School standout is averaging just under 21 points, 6.6 rebounds, 4.6 assists, and 2.5 steals for Coach Dennis Gibson and the Lakers.

Other Lakers who are averaging in double figures include 6-5 freshman Dexter Levi, who is hitting 14 points per outing, and 6-6 freshman Charles Somerville, who is averaging just under 12 points and 10.5 rebounds. Sophomore point guard Lionel Sewell is averaging 9.2 points and 4.6 assists.

There are 11 teams playing in the Region XX Division II tourney, with Catonsville (23-3) at the top of the seedings. Catonsville was top-ranked in the nation last week, but was upset by Anne Arundel in the JUCO tourney. Dundalk, which won the JUCO title, is ranked second and boasts a record of 25-5. The Lakers lost by a single point to Dundalk, and defeated Cecil (22-6) in the regular season, when Cecil was ranked third in the nation.

"We have a lot of talent on our team, and we have been competitive with just about everyone we've faced," stated Coach Gibson. "But we have lost some close games that we should have won on nights that we just didn't quite put it all together. We now have another opportunity to prove we have what it takes to play with the best of them."

Details of the Lakers' loss to Baltimore in the JUCO tourney were not received.

MEGHAN PRICE MEMORIAL ESTABLISHED — The Southern High School Student Council announced last week that a scholarship fund in memory of Meghan Price has been established at First United Bank & Trust. According to David Mayfield (SHS teacher and student council advisor), the council members voted to make a $500 donation to the scholarship fund, established to honor the memory of Meghan Price, a 1995 graduate of Southern High School who was killed in a car wreck on Dec. 29, 1998. While at SHS, Price had served as class representative, treasurer, and president of the student council. Upon enrolling at the University of Maryland-College Park, she became an active participant in the Student Government Association there and was this past fall elected president of that organization. Mayfield said the death of Miss Price caused the loss of one of Garrett County's "brightest stars." Last Friday during the high school's basketball game, Andi Bender, SHS student council president, and Mayfield presented Meghan's parents and the First United Bank with the donation. Shown left to right are Bill Grant (First United's chief executive officer), Karlyn and Sonny Price, Bender, and Mayfield. Contributions to the fund can be sent to First United Bank & Trust, Meghan Price Scholarship Fund, 19 South Second St., Oakland, MD 21550.

GCC Opens JUCO With Win Over Anne Arundel, Then Falls Hard To Frederick

The Laker women's basketball squad opened up the Maryland JUCO Tournament, which was played at Garrett Community College, by defeating Anne Arundel 68-51, but was stopped cold in the semifinals by Frederick 81-51. Frederick was then downed in the championship game in a close 45-42 contest with Hagerstown. Chrissy Lambert represented the Lakers as an all-tournament second team selection.

The Lakers led throughout the contest, going up 34-18 at the half. Anne Arundel cut the margin to five, 45-40, with eight minutes to go, but Garrett regrouped to cinch the victory.

"Tonight's win was a good example of how well the Lakers are capable of performing," commented GCC head coach Ann Wellham. "We were able to minimize our errors and capitalize on Anne Arundel's mistakes."

Turnovers sank Garrett's hopes against Frederick, as repeated Laker ball-handling miscues were turned into points by the tournament's top-seeded team, which had rolled to a 43-25 point halftime lead.

GCC was led by 14 points from Blackmon, while Erica McBride added 9 points and Sypolt connected for 8 points. Blackmon had 8 rebounds, Amanda Larnerd tallied 3 assists, and McBride and Keyshia Monroe had 2 steals apiece. Frederick's Dishawn King scored 21 points and teammate April Brooks added 18 points.

After Jonas Durst of Beall pinned Southern's Jeremy Hayhurst in the final 171-pound bout, Ram John Hayhurst pinned Ken Chandler of Fort Hill to win the 171-pound division title and Southern's Russell Crosco pinned Fort Hill's Chris Barb to take the 189-pound championship. STILL UNDEFEATED and nearing the end of their seasons are these three Garrett County senior high school wrestlers, all three of whom are also outstanding students in the classroom. The two Southern High Rams and one Northern High Husky have a combined record of 81-0 for the 1998-99 season, and will be among the favorites at the upcoming Maryland state championships. They are, from left, Nick Dolan of Southern, Jesse Shimrock of Northern, and Eric Rexrode of Southern. See story for details.

Local Grapplers Exemplify The Best In Student Athletes

Three of Garrett County's high school wrestlers, one from Northern and two from Southern, have each amassed impressive numbers on the mats this season, but each also epitomizes the ideal student athlete, as each is also among his respective school's most outstanding students in the classroom.

Jesse Shimrock, a senior on Coach Scott Stough's outstanding team at Northern, has completed the regular season with a perfect 30-0 record and is currently tied for number one in the state rankings in the 140-pound division.

The Southern Rams, coached by Kurt Lear, have been led this year by seniors Eric Rexrode and Nick Dolan, both of whom are also unbeaten. Rexrode currently has a 26-0 mark in the 145-pound division, where he is ranked fourth in the state, while Dolan is 25-0 in the 152-pound division and is ranked third statewide.

Shimrock has over 100 victories in his career as a Husky, and finished second in the state last year. Highlights for him this season have been first-place finishes in the Berkeley Springs, Garrett Invitational, Bi-County, and highly touted Bedford tournaments. He is seeded number one going into regional competition this weekend.

Even though Shimrock is a senior at Northern, he has already earned 17 hours of college credit by attending Garrett Community College via the Early College Advanced Placement program. He also earned a 3.42 grade point average and was named to the GCC dean's list.

Shimrock earned a gold medal in the VICA Skills U.S. Championships, he was a member of the Garrett County high school math team that won the regional competition, and he has been named a Minds in Motion recipient on numerous occasions.

He also holds a pilot license and flew solo for the first time just last week. After graduation, he plans to attend Embry-Riddle Aeronautical University. He is the son of Tom and Dana Shimrock, Accident.

Rexrode, son of Darrell and Linda Rexrode, Mtn. Lake Park, has a career record of 116-20 as a Southern Ram and finished third in the state championships last year. This year he placed first in the Berkeley Springs, Garrett Invitational, Bi-County, and Winner's Choice tournaments. He is the top seeded 145-pound wrestler going into regionals.

Rexrode is also a member of the winning Southern cross-country and track and field teams, having competed in the state meets several years.

In the classroom, Eric is carrying a grade point average of 3.75. He has received several Minds in Motion awards and is a member of the Foster D. Bittle Chapter of the National Honor Society. He plans to attend Western Maryland College this fall and major in mathematics.

Dolan will take his perfect record into the regional meet this week as the top-seeded 152-pound wrestler. He also earned first places at the Berkeley Springs, Garrett Invitational, Bi-County, and Winner's Choice tourneys. He placed fourth in the state championships last year, and also finished among the top 16 in the High School Open Nationals, held in Raleigh, N.C.

He is also a member of the track team and was a standout on the Southern football team.

As an honor roll student, Nick is carrying a 3.5 grade point average, has been named to Who's Who, and has received Minds in Motion awards for the past four years. His post-high school plans include attending the University of North Carolina at Charlotte, where he has already been accepted, and majoring in civil engineering.

Nick's parents are Rick and Lois Dolan, Oakland.

Southern Mat Members Win More Trophies

Seven members of the Southern Mat Club youth wrestling team competed in tournaments in Jefferson, Pa., and Hundred, W.Va., this past weekend. As has been the case all season, the local grapplers earned numerous awards, including three championship trophies, three second place awards, one third, and one fourth.

Ten-year-old Jeremy Gregory continued his winning ways by defeating all six opponents on his way to first place finishes in both the 9-10 age group as well as the 11-12-year-old division. Six-year-old Lex Ozias also competed in two age divisions. Ozias won five of six bouts while earning first place in the 5-6-year-old group and second place in the 7-8-year-old group.

Also earning second place awards on Saturday were Justin Ratliff (9/10, 70#) and Scott Wildesen (11/12, 90#). Capturing third place was George "Brutus" Scheffel (7/8, 45#) and finishing in fourth place was Scott Wildesen (13/15, 90#). Also competing were Tyler Gregory (5/6, 40#) and Daniel Carr (9/10, 70#), who both won matches, but were unable to place in the top four.

This weekend, the team travels to Mapletown, Pa., for another youth tournament. The season continues through March and concludes with the district, regional, and national competitions. For more information on the Southern Mat Club, persons may visit the website at www.gcnet.net/SMC.

Northern Youth Wrestlers Win At Meyersdale

Eleven members of the Northern Youth Wrestling Team participated in the Little Raider Wrestling Tournament held at Meyersdale High School on Saturday. Of the 11 participating wrestlers, nine placed for the Northern team.

Winning first place honors for the Little Huskies were Josh Duckworth, 7-8-year-old, 55-lb. class; Jason Warnick, 7-8, 50 lbs.; Jason Opel, 6 and under, 53 lbs.; Zach Watkins, 6 and under, 62 lbs.; and Brock Glotfelty, 9-10, heavyweight division.

Capturing third place honors were Michael Wolfe, 11-12, 90 lbs., and Brandon Opel, 9-10, 75 lbs. Winning fourth places were Clay Fazenbaker, 9-10, 65 lbs., and Cory Tressler, 7-8, 65 lbs.

Other participants were Levi Fazenbaker and Mitchell Brenneman.

The team has been busy, recently participating in the Southern Mat Club Tournament and the Berlin tournament. The squad has upcoming tournaments at Rockwood, Pa., on February 27 and at North Star High School on March 6.

The public is encouraged to attend the meeting.

In Loving Memory of

February 28, 1995

Quiet thoughts, tears unseen, wishing your absence was only a dream. But deep in my heart your memory is kept to treasure, to love, to never forget. I miss you sadly and think of you still. Forget you? No, my Dave, I never will.

So sadly missed, Mom.

Members of this team are: Andrew Grant, Brian Oxford, Andrew Rounds, Michael Schwalm, Dustin Slider, Bo Jonson, Steve Allison, Nick Glotfelty, and Jeff McDaniel.

A club spokesperson stated that the coaching staff is pleased with the success of the players, even though the scores do not reflect the progress being made. "A major challenge is the fact that practice space and times are so limited because of the expansion from three outdoor teams last year to six this year. As a result, players are only able to get half the practice time that was available last year which hurts the player's ability to be sharp in indoor contests. The club is looking for ways to secure an indoor facility for the development of county-wide players year-round through adequate practice time," stated a league spokesperson.

Arsenal begins its outdoor season in the West Virginia Travel League on March 28 and has submitted an application to host a United States Youth Soccer League outdoor tournament in Oakland on June 12-13.

WINNING THE GOLD! Keith Platter, 14, Grantsville, captured a gold medal in the Special Olympics this week for his run in the contest for beginning alpine skiers. Chad Stallman, 16, Friendsville, also had a good run in his challenge for an olympic medal. These young men were the first Garrett County athletes to compete in the Special Olympics of Maryland held each year at the Wisp Resort. Over 135 special athletes competed in the cross country and alpine events. Coach Chad Brown and district director Jason Schrimi guided and cheered Platter and Stallman in their contests. Dave Gell at SOMD headquarters in Columbia said that Schrimi is working to increase participation by Garrett County athletes in the annual snow sport competitions. As this try-out is to be held indoors, participants must bring tennis, gym, or indoor soccer shoes to wear. All participants must bring shorts, shin guards, and socks that cover the shin guards. Practice jerseys will be provided to wear over a T-shirt. All soccer balls will be provided.

A parent must accompany the player to the try-out, as a waiver form must be completed before a child can participate in the try-out session. Parents should bring a copy of the child's birth certificate for age verification and that may be kept by the club for future use. They should also bring the child's Social Security number.

There is no cost for the try-out; however, it is limited to players who live in Garrett and Preston counties.

If a child is selected to play, he/she will be expected to attend two practice sessions per week and games on Sunday afternoons. Because Arsenal Football plays in the West Virginia Travel League, travel is expected and parents, on occasion, will need to assist in providing team travel to distant locations. The travel season runs from Sunday, March 28, through June 5. The club is scheduled to participate in tournament play in Pennsylvania over the Memorial Day weekend and will participate in tournament play over the weekend of June 12-13. The June tournament may be hosted in Oakland.

•Playoff News:

The Huskies boys' and girls' basketball teams will begin play in the Maryland Class IA West playoffs at home against South Hagerstown on Friday, Feb. 26, with the boys' game starting at 6 p.m., followed by the girls' game at 7:45 p.m. Cost of admission is $4 for both games (only pay once). No passes will be accepted.

The Huskies will take a 14-7 record into the game, while the Rebels will come in with a 17-3 record. If the Huskies can pull off the huge upset, they would play the winner of the Beall/Oldtown game on Monday. Commenting on the game, coach Mike Friend said, "They're a very good team, definitely one of the top three teams in the region with Southern and Allegany. They (S. Hagerstown) play a very tough schedule, and they have a lot of weapons. We have to play our best game of the season to be successful. The Fort Hill game (played last night) will be excellent preparation. It's a tough draw, but they're the team you have to go through sooner or later if you want to win the region. If we win, we may have the opportunity to advance to the region championship."

The Lady Huskies will also host the Rebels. The Lady Huskies, who have won, come in to the game with a 10-10 record. South Hagerstown's record is not available. If the Lady Huskies win, they would play Beall on either Monday or Tuesday. Since Oldtown does not field a girls' team, Beall received a first round bye.

The Husky wrestlers won the Bi-County Wrestling Tournament last weekend at Westmar High School. The victory gave the Huskies the Bi-County Championship for the fifth straight season. Bi-County champions for the Huskies were Blake Hu-ber, Roy Holliday, Matt McNees, Brandon Stein, Paul Beitzel, and Brandon Kamp. The Huskies will participate in the Regional Tournament at North Hagerstown High School in Hagerstown on Friday be-ginning at 6 p.m.

Ms. Thomas Becomes Bride Of Mr. Rook In August 1 Ceremony

Alanna Mariah Thomas, daughter of Joseph and Karen Friend, Deep Creek Lake, and James Philip Rook Jr., son of Beverly Rook, Oakland, and the late James Rook, were united in marriage Saturday, Aug. 1, 1998, at the Deep Creek Baptist Church. The double-ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. Galen Hixon.

The bride chose an Alfred Angelo style gown. The gown was satin with Madeira embroidery, organza, and a built-in crinoline. The dress featured a scalloped hug-the-shoulder neckline and long fitted sleeves of satin and Madeira lace. The princess line satin bodice was encrusted with hand-beaded and Madeira embroidery. The dress featured a basque waistline that was accented with hand-rolled roses of satin and organza streamers at back waist. The shirred organza skirt was accented with scattered medallions and fell into a semi-cathedral train. The bride also wore a Victorian-shaped veil that was beaded on one side, with hand-rolled roses and beads throughout the rest of the headpiece.

The bride carried a cascading bouquet of white roses, tulips, lilacs, lily-of-the-valley, stephanotis, montelia, and baby's breath, accented with ivy and sword fern. Bridesmaids carried similar bouquets with matching satin ribbons.

The altar was adorned with candelabras and arrangements featuring white roses, Easter lilies, gladiolas, tulips, freesia, montelia, stephanotis, sword fern, and ivy. All the silk flower arrangements were designed and styled by DiAnne Brown of Sacramento, Calif., sister of the groom.

Amy Kight, friend of the bride, served as maid of honor. Bridesmaids, all attired in Alfred Angelo velvet gowns of emerald, grape, and burgundy, were Terri Friend, sister of the bride, Victoria Thomas and Margie Thayer, cousins of the bride, and Bobbie Goralski and Sherry Helbig, friends of the bride and groom.

Santanna Howdyshell, niece of the bride, and Sierra Brown, niece of the groom, who served as the flower girls, wore grape and lace velvet gowns to match the maid of honor.

The groom was attired in a long formal white tail tuxedo, while the father of the bride was attired in a black and white tuxedo. Groomsmen were all attired in black tail tuxedos. Serving as best man was the groom's friend, H.B. Martz. Ushers were Jeff Brown, brother-in-law of the groom, and Greg Becker, Scott Bookout, Jeff Hinebaugh, and Sid Friend, all friends of the bride and groom.

Kelly Martz, accompanied by pianist Karen Rexrode, provided the vocal selections "In This Life," "The Rose," "Keeper of the Stars," and "The Lord's Prayer." The bride also sang "My Valentine" to the groom during the wedding ceremony. A single red rose was presented by the couple to their mothers and the groom's grandmother, Mrs. Mabel Smouse.

The wedding party was escorted from the church to the reception in Engine 31 from the Deep Creek Volunteer Fire Company, driven by Chief Mike Phillippi. The reception was held immediately following the ceremony at St. Peter's Catholic Church Social Hall in Oakland, with food catered by Taste Unlimited of Accident. The wedding cake, designed by Tina Walkling, featured three tiers and a fountain, surrounded by heart-shaped cakes, all decorated in white, grape, and emerald.

Mark Phillips photographed the wedding while Jim Crabtree and Geni Sharps were videographers.

Following a honeymoon on the inter-coastal waters of North Carolina, the couple established residence in Oakland, where the groom is the assistant director of Garrett County Fire & Rescue Communications and the bride is a self-employed consultant for Partylite Gifts Inc.

Tichnell-Fleming Engagement Noted

Kristina Shiffy And Todd DeWitt Wed In October Double Ring Event

Kristina Marie Shiffy and Todd Adam DeWitt were united in a double ring ceremony on October 3, 1998. Rev. Gail Hixon officiated at the event, which was held at the Deep Creek Baptist Church. Irene Hixon provided the piano music and Debbie Gaither sang "Give Me Forever," "I Do," and "I'll Always be Right There."

The bride is the daughter of Bob and Carol Shiffy, and the groom is the son of Clyde and Marie DeWitt of Oakland.

Given in marriage by her parents and escorted down the aisle by her father, the bride wore a designer gown of imported Italian satin. The dress featured a square neckline, short cap-style sleeves, and a fitted Princess style waistline. The neckline and bodice were covered with antique appliqués beaded with tiny pearls and sequins.

The tight-fitting waistline extended to a full skirt and cathedral-length train. Attached at the waistline were three rosettes completed with rolled ribbon streamers flowing down the back of the gown. A headpiece of pearls and pearl droplets held a fingertip veil of imported French illusion. The bride carried a bouquet of assorted fall flowers, burgundy, orange, yellow, purple, and white mums accented with ivy.

Serving as maid of honor was Danielle Gaither, friend of the bride and groom. She wore a hunter green satin dress with a crepe overlay. She also carried a bouquet of assorted fall mums. The flower girls were Angie DeWitt, niece of the groom, and Breanna Baker, niece of the bride. They both wore white satin dresses with crepe overlays with a rosette in the front to match the bride's dress. The flowers dropped were petals from roses that the groom had sent the bride.

The best man was Tom George, friend of the bride and groom. The ring bearer was Josh DeWitt, nephew of the groom, and Tyler Roth, nephew of the bride, carried a white Bible. The men all wore black tuxedos with hunter green and gold pattern ties and cummerbunds. Heather DeWitt, sister of the groom, and Jennifer DeWitt, niece of the groom, attended the guest book and distributed birdseed.

The altar was decorated with white crepe interwined with an autumn leaf garland and white lights. Two fall flower arrangements sat on either side of the altar. The pews were decorated with hunter green and gold bows.

Following the wedding, a reception was held at the American Legion. The four tier wedding cake was decorated with fall flowers and made by Advantage Florist. The cake was served by Karen DeWitt and Barbara DeWitt, sisters-in-law of the groom. Food provided for the reception was prepared by Daisy Murray and the family of the bride.

The reception hall was decorated in a fall theme, with hay bales, cornstalks, pumpkins, and gourds throughout. Centerpieces for the tables were handmade cornucopias filled with gourds, hay bales, and pumpkins.

DJ services were provided by Mr. Z. Photography was provided by Art's Images. All bouquets, flower arrangements, corsages, and cornucopias were made by Heather Dawson, friend of the bride.

The bride was honored at a shower given by Marie DeWitt at the Oakland fire hall.

Tyler Opel, son of Brian and Tammy Opel, Foxtown Road, went to the Star Lite Roller Rink in Cumberland on Sunday, February 21, to help his friend, Alex Brenneman, celebrate his 7th birthday. Alex is the son of Dave and Laverna Brenneman, Blackberry Lane, Grantsville.

Mark and Audrey Ashby and son Keith were weekend guests of Carol and Kevin Bass and family.

Grace King was a recent visitor of Ferne Beachy.

Tom Glotfelty spent last week in Detroit taking additional pilot training with Spirit Airlines. He then flew to Alaska, where he visited several days with Bob Opel and the Clayton "Bud" Markley family, who are former residents of this area. After spending two days with homefolks here, Tom returned to Atlantic City and his flying position with Spirit Airlines.

James Glotfelty was treated in the emergency room of Garrett County Memorial Hospital Tuesday for broken ribs which he received after being knocked down and trampled while working with cattle in his barn.

Taylor Glotfelty was a participant in the Torchlight Parade held at the Wisp Ski Resort Sunday evening during opening ceremonies for Special Olympics. Taylor has been employed there this winter as an instructor with the Rossignol Adventure Center.

MY COMMENTS

Almost four weeks after Ground Hog Day in Bittinger, it is still definitely winter, with a fresh dusting of snow and cold, with wind chill around zero.

My husband Lloyd braved the cold weather to round up our horses this morning. I think they went to look for fresh spring grass. I'm afraid they will have to wait awhile for that. In the meantime, they are in detention and locked in the barn.

Lloyd thoroughly enjoyed his dunk in Deep Creek Lake on Saturday for the fund-raising event to benefit the Special Olympics. Lots of the participants just walked in to their waists, but not Lloyd, who went all the way under. It was so cold, even for the spectators.

4-H Club News

RED HOUSE

by Amanda Hinebaugh reporter

The January meeting of the Red House 4-H Club was called to order by Stacey Holler, president, with 27 members and 14 adults present. The secretary's report was read by Amanda Hinebaugh, who then handed the books over to incoming secretary Aliza Green. The club's newest members, Jeremy and Joshua Ash, Cassey Cousins, Caitlin Jones, Nathan Sines, and Jordan Skipper, were introduced.

Vonda Moreland provided information on the Livestock Association meeting and business. Trip ideas were discussed, and Eli Green's motion for a club camping weekend was approved. A discussion on fund raising resulted in agreement that the club would sponsor a hoagie sale in February and a spaghetti dinner at the Pleasant Valley Community Center on an April date yet to be announced.

A demonstration on a market lamb was presented by Justin Fitzwater. The members decided to use the same theme for the float and fair booth, and the Greens, Sineses, Cousinses, and Joneses are in charge of the committee for the fair booth.

The club's February meeting was held at Yough Glades Elementary School. The main topic was the club's fund-raising activities, including the February hoagie sale and April's spaghetti dinner.

The 4-H trip was also discussed, but no decisions were made. Plans for the rest of the year were also touched upon, as the Sines family has donated the wagon for the float, and the Greens, Cousinses, and Hollers are going to donate the tinsel. Future activities were also discussed, including a March sled-riding party sponsored by Amanda Green, a presentation on milk goats by the Andersons during the May meeting, and a visit by several Livestock Association members for the March meeting.

Demonstrations included Michelle Holler's presentation with her baton and Sarah Brenneman's presentation about her heifer, which just gave birth to twin calves.

The next meeting is set for Wednesday, March 3, at 7 p.m. at the Red House Church.

ON A PERSONAL NOTE
by Lucretia Sines

I would personally like to extend a great big thank you to all who participated in Saturday's "get up the nerve to freeze your 'burrrr' end off" Deep Creek Dunk. I applaud all who had the nerve to do what many of us didn't have the guts to do. I hear it was well attended and Sharon Hoover and Joy Fisher of the Friendsville Fire and Rescue Dept. were so excited about it that they can't wait to do it next year. Crazy, huh? Maybe not when you hear them talk about their experience. Sharon commented that she was thrilled to see the Special Olympians cheering them on and said that it really wasn't that cold. They talked so enthusiastically about it that I'm sorry that I missed being even a spectator.

Being a mother of a son with Down's Syndrome, I feel a part of my heart warming immensely just seeing the extremes that people will go to support the Special Olympics.

For those who dunked, volunteered, sponsored others, or helped in any way, I hope you can feel the reward of the smiles on the faces of the Special Olympians. Their smiles are priceless, their pride is strong, and their appreciation is endless.

FEMA Issuing Guide For Y2K

The Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA) has issued a consumer's guide to preparing for the year 2000, the Y2K Bulletin. The publication of the guide is part of FEMA's effort to provide timely, accurate information on preparedness for Y2K.

"Being prepared is key to dealing with any potential emergency, whether natural or man made," said FEMA Director James Lee Witt. "We need to take the same approach we use with hurricanes, tornadoes, or floods — Prepare for the worst and hope for the best."

When the calendar turns to 2000 (Y2K), problems may occur because many computer driven systems were designed to recognize the last two digits as designations for a year.

The Y2K Bulletin contains answers to questions most commonly asked about Y2K, what to do about consumer electronic products (including personal computers), and steps for small business owners to take, among other topics.

"It is important that we tell the American people everything we know, for an educated public will always make the right decisions," FEMA Deputy Director Mike Walker said.

Single and multiple copies of the four-page guide are available at no cost from FEMA. To place an order, persons should call 1-800-480-2520.

FSU Kicks Off Western Md. History Day

Garrett and Allegany county students will compete for the first time in Western Maryland History Day at Frostburg State University on Saturday, March 6, from 9:30 a.m. to 1 p.m., in the Lewis J. Ort Library.

Three thousand middle and high school students in Maryland are putting the finishing touches on projects for school and regional History Day competitions. The public may attend all History Day competitions.

The students have created original documentaries, museum-type exhibits, dramatic performances, and papers in local, U.S. and world history classes based on the national theme "Science, Technology, Invention in History." The young historians have used a variety of techniques to develop their topics, including researching local archives and conducting oral histories.

Local schools participating in this year's event include Southern High School. Topics pursued by students in western Maryland include the Lonaconing Silk Mill, Civil War nursing, and the construction of the C&O and B&O canals.

FSU is the western Maryland coordinator for the state History Day program. Area students and teachers have attended research and project development sessions conducted by university professors and librarians. Maryland's History Day Program is sponsored by the University of Baltimore, Columbia Gas of Maryland, and the Maryland Humanities Council.

Finalists from Western Maryland History Day will enter Maryland History Day 1999, the state competition, which will be held on April 17 at the University of Baltimore.

Maryland's History Day Program is part of the National History Day network, which seeks to reform the teaching and learning of history in the secondary schools. National History Day, headquartered at the University of Maryland, College Park, draws more than half a million participants and teachers from 49 states annually. Two thousand state finalists will compete in the 20th National History Day in June.

Doctor's discovery may end obesity

HILTON HEAD, S.C. -- A doctor believes that a natural formula containing the extract of a small Asian fruit can help cause significant weight loss.

Anthony A. Conte, M.D. reported in an American Medical Journal that the formula, now called Bio-Rex 3000™, caused patients to lose more than twice as much weight as those in a control group on the same fat reduced diet. Neither group was instructed to decrease the amount of food they ate or to increase their exercise levels. An article published in the American Journal of Clinical Nutrition says that you don't have to reduce the amount of food you eat to lose weight, provided that you limit the fat.

Dr. Conte says that animal studies suggest the mechanism behind the weight reduction is due to interruption of the "Krebs Cycle", an important step in the body's fat storage process. He says it may work the same way in humans. According to Dr. Conte, "The best part of this unique discovery is that it is not a drug, but a dietary food supplement. The Asian fruit, called garcinia, is similar to citrus fruit found in the United States with one big exception-- it may help some people fight obesity! While Dr. Conte's study may be preliminary, the exclusive North American distributor, Phillips Gulf Corp., is calling the Bio-Rex 3000 supplement "Nature's Ideal Diet Aid."

According to a spokesperson for the company, Bio-Rex 3000 is now available through pharmacies and nutrition stores or call 1-800-729-8446 or at www.phillipsgulf.com.

Bio-Rex 3000 is available at:

Deadline Nears For Purchasing Fresh Daffodils

Local businesses and individuals are assisting the American Cancer Society once again this year with that organization's annual Daffodil Days, by taking orders for the fresh flowers that will be delivered the week of March 15-21. The deadline for orders is next week, according to local chairperson Connie Margison, of Water Street Market Place, Oakland.

A single bunch of fresh, cut daffodils costs $6, while potted mini daffodils are selling for $8.50 per pot. Bulk orders are also available at a discount. Minimum orders of five bunches or four pots will be delivered by volunteers.

Orders may be placed and picked up at Water Street Market Place and at Jan Florist, Oakland. Orders may also be placed with any of the following volunteers: Tammy Ewing, Donna Aspinall, Mary Lynn Bosley, Carol Ann Lovett, Sally Steyer, Jenny Neville, Robin Shepherd, Sheila Reeves, Luann Watson, Debbie George, Connie Young, and Lillian Steele.

The daffodil is known as the "flower of hope," and is used for this annual campaign as a symbol of hope for persons with cancer. Proceeds benefit the various programs and research of the ACS.

BITTINGER
by Elliot Glotfelty
reporter

The Bittinger 4-H Club held its regular monthly meeting at the Bittinger fire hall on Tuesday, Feb. 2. The Monday night meeting was canceled because of bad weather. The main topic of the discussion was the upcoming buckwheat and pancake dinner, scheduled for Friday, Feb. 19.

The advertising committee consists of Elliot, Darryl, Blakely, and Robbie Glotfelty, Scott Bass, Caitlin and Claire Sussman, and Jody Brenneman. They met at the end of the meeting and arranged to have radio, newspaper, and poster advertising.

Record books were due that night and the club had 100% participation. Everyone had fun with their projects.

On February 5 the Garrett 4-H clubs had a holiday Ski Day at the Wisp. The weather conditions were fairly good and the slopes were well groomed. Members enjoying the Ski Day were Robbie, Blakely, Elliot, and Darryl Glotfelty, Claire and Caity Sussman, Matthew and Scott Bass, Eric Beitzel, and guests. The Ski Day was fun and we had no injuries.

Lt. Mullen New Guard Commander

GUARD UNIT WELCOMES NEW COMMANDER - Lt. Timothy P. Mullen was recently named commander of the Oakland Unit of the 243rd Engineer Company, Maryland Army National Guard, replacing Capt. Stuart A. Mellon, during a change of command ceremony led by Lt. General James F. Fretterd. Mullen was promoted to captain following the ceremony and is pictured above, right, as he receives his pins from Gen. Fretterd. (See story)

The 243rd Engineer Company (Combat Support Equipment), Maryland Army National Guard, which includes the Oakland unit, had a change of command ceremony on January 23 at Reisterstown, saying farewell to Captain Stuart A. Mellon.

Cpt. Mellon commanded the 243rd Company for two years before relinquishing command to Lieutenant Timothy P. Mullen, who became the second commander of the unit, which was activated in 1996. During a 30-minute ceremony at the Camp Fretterd Military Reservation in Reisterstown, Cpt. Mellon reviewed the troops for the last time, then turned over the command of the company to Lt. Mullen.

Immediately following the ceremony, Lt. Mullen was promoted to captain by the adjutant general of Maryland National Guard, Lieutenant General James F. Fretterd. In addition to General Fretterd, the honored guests included Brigadier General H. Steven Blum, Colonel Warner L. Sumpter, and Colonel Edward H. Ballard.

The 243rd Engineer Company Headquarters, located at Camp Fretterd Military Reservation, may be contacted by calling 410-833-0612. Detachment 2 is located at the BG Otho Holland Williams Armory in Oakland at 301-334-3200. The company trains soldiers as heavy equipment operators, mechanics, cooks, and engineering specialists.

For more information about the Oakland unit, persons may contact Recruiter Sgt. Tim Sanders at 301-334-9794.

ARMED SERVICES REVIEW

U.S. Navy Seaman Recruit Shaun A. Herring, son of Mark A. Herring, Friendsville, recently completed U.S. Navy basic training at Recruit Training Command, Great Lakes, Ill.

During the eight-week program, Herring completed a variety of training, which included classroom study and practical instruction on naval customs, first aid, fire fighting, water safety and survival, and shipboard and aircraft safety. An emphasis is also placed on physical fitness.

Herring and other recruits also received instruction on the Navy's core values -- honor, courage, and commitment -- and how to apply them in their military performance and personal conduct. Herring joins 55,000 men and women who will enter the Navy this year from all over the country.

Men and women train together from their first day in the Navy just as they do aboard ships and at shore commands around the world. To reinforce the team concept, Herring and other recruits also were trained in preventing sexual harassment and ensuring equal opportunity.

Herring is a 1997 graduate of Northern Garrett High School.

Staff Reports

Herman reported that the honors program at the college will begin in the fall. Any county high school graduate with a 3.25 grade point average or better can qualify for a scholarship that offers a 25% reduction in tuition fees.

He noted that up until recently, the college could accept teenagers younger than 16 only after the state had approved the application, based on test scores given in the public school system. Herman said this posed a problem for the teenagers in the county who had been home-schooled and did not have the required school records for the state to consider. However, the state has now developed an early entry testing mechanism specifically for home-schooled children and the problem has been resolved.

Planning Office

John Nelson, director of the office of planning, reminded the commissioners that the monthly session of the Planning Commission will take place next Wednesday at 1:30 p.m. in his office's meeting room.

Nelson commented on an issue in the Jennings area involving the reclassification of land there. Currently about 200 acres in the center of Jennings is classified as "town residential" and is also classified as a Rural Village. A resident who owns property close to the town residential area (and in the Fairview Subdivision) requested that his property, currently classified as agricultural resource land, be reclassified as suburban residential.

Nelson explained that the resident wishes to subdivide his property into one-acre lots. Under the ag resource classification, he cannot subdivide the property into anything smaller than three-acre lots. Nelson noted that the land is not used for any agricultural purposes, but that the owner wishes to build some single family homes.

The Planning Commission studied the issue and decided that in the area now being serviced by the new Jennings Sanitary District, the land could be reclassified from ag resource to suburban residential. This will allow the owners to divide their properties into about one-acre lots. The change will affect all lands in the Jennings Sewer District, which basically involves about 484 acres of properties in concentric circles around the existing community, Nelson said.

A public hearing was held last week about the change with approximately 12 individuals in attendance. Most were in favor of the change, Nelson reported. He told the commissioners that the Planning Commission does not anticipate any problems arising from the reclassification, such as sudden growth in the area.

"There are no major changes anticipated at all," Nelson said. "Most of the people at the hearing welcomed the change."

Social Services

Henry Brown, director of the county's social services department, told the commissioners that his office is "full steam ahead" on the establishment of a satellite office in Grantsville. He said the staff is eager to have the outreach in the northern area, where social services will work in cooperation with the county health department and GCC.

Brown reported that he has asked Delegate George Edwards to introduce legislation that would increase the social services board membership from 9 to 13 members.

"We want to bring former customers on as board members," Brown said, "because we need to know how well our services worked for them. They will provide invaluable information to us."

He also noted that his department is working on a new "client tracking" system that will help them monitor customers.

CSA

David Dubé, executive director of the Core Services Agency (CSA), reported that the CSA held its annual meeting recently and began an extensive review of the county's available services for the mentally ill. (See related story in today's issue.) He reported that the services for mentally ill individuals have increased by about 16% over the past year, with approximately 900 people seeking and receiving varying levels of treatment.

He noted that Olive Corliss's term on the CSA had expired and that the commissioners have appointed Chris Howe to fill the open position.

Economic Development

James Hinebaugh, director of the economic development office, reported he had good news for the commissioners, announcing that bids for the Southern Industrial Park expansion all came in within his office's budget. He said a company will be chosen shortly and work should begin in the area in the spring.

He reported that various grants are expected to come in for three or four local economic development projects. He also noted that his office is expected to receive an additional $250,000 for the already established revolving loan fund.

Community Action

Duane Yoder, executive director of Community Action, announced an event in Annapolis next week titled Stand Up for Rural America Day. The event, set for March 5, is being hosted by the FORVM (forum) for Rural Maryland and Speaker Casper Taylor, and is to be an opportunity for rural residents to garner the General Assembly's support. Persons attending the event are expected to rally around Taylor's One Maryland proposal, which, if passed, will provide funding to poorer counties (including Garrett) for infrastructure development and significant incentives for local economic growth. (See related story.) Yoder said Community Action will provide transportation to any local persons wishing to attend the event. He can be reached at his office number: 301-334-9431.

In other Community Action news, Yoder announced that the Truesdell Home for Seniors in Deer Park has been closed down. The center was home to six individuals who have been relocated to other care facilities, Yoder said. The center will most likely not be re-opened, he reported, having closed because of irreconcilable financial difficulties.

Sanitary District

Ron Petrella, administrator of the sanitary district, announced that the Jennings sewer lines are now functioning properly after a somewhat problematic start last month.

"All the problems have been worked out and it's now flowing as it should," he said. He also reported that his office and the Deer Park Water Company are working on a deed for land to be used in the water project there.

Solid Waste

Gary Love, director of the office of solid waste and recycling, told the commissioners that this spring's Tire Amnesty Day will take place at the fairgrounds in McHenry. This will ease the traffic flow problems experienced last year, he said.

Love said tire chips will be used as a protective covering layer in the landfill. His staff is now stockpiling chips for that purpose. He reported that traditionally gravel has been used for this purpose, but now the tire chips have been proven to be as effective. Using the chips is more appropriate, Love said, because they are a recycled material and they are much less expensive than gravel.

Chamber of Commerce

Diane Wolfe reported on the activities of the chamber, as the new executive director, Kenneth Wishnick, was attending a meeting of the Greater Grantsville Business Association. She had a variety of announcements, including the noting of a Hub Zone Seminar, slated for March 10 at GCC (7 p.m.). This seminar will be co-sponsored by Senators Paul Sarbanes and Barbara Mikulski and will focus on how businesses in the county can do business with the federal government. The seminar will be hosted by the Small Business Administration.

Wolfe reported that the chamber's spring advertising campaign will begin in March and will include publications such as USA Weekend, The Washington Post, Southern Living and Better Homes and Gardens magazines, and the National Geographic Traveler.

Library

Martha Makosky, director of the Ruth Enlow Library, expressed her thanks to the commissioners for their recent visit to the Oakland facility.

"The staff told me it was the first time in their memory that the county's commissioners took a tour of our library," she said. She said the board for the library is now working on a strategic plan to upgrade the local system with staff training, automation, and new technology. She said the staff is currently working on weeding out old books, which will be sold to the public for nominal prices. The money will then be used to upgrade the library's selection.

Roads Department

Lee Thorne, county roads administrator, reported that the stockpiles of abrasives have been replenished, having been depleted during ice storms in January. He said that because the winter has been mild, the road crews have been able to complete general maintenance projects on several roadways.

Emergency Management

Brad Frantz, director of the office of emergency management, told the commissioners that three bids have been received for the engineering study to take place in Crellin. The study will determine what sort of flood mitigation remedies could be used for various homes and properties in the town.

Frantz said his office has received a $1,000 grant which will be used to stage a drill for all county rescue personnel on April 24 at the fairgrounds. He said the drill will correspond with after-prom activities in the county.

Finally, Frantz reported on the status of the new transmitting tower in Oakland. Equipment for emergency management is currently being transferred to the new tower. When the transfer is complete, the tower now located on top the courthouse will be dismantled, Frantz said.

Mental Health Agency Holds Annual Meeting

The board of directors of the Mountain Top Mental Health Associates Inc. (MTMHA) held its annual meeting on February 17 at the Community Services Building of the Garrett County Memorial Hospital. The MTMHA is the non-profit agency that manages the Public Mental Health System (PMHS) for Garrett County. Each board member represents a segment of the community and is appointed by the Garrett County commissioners.

The status of the PMHS was reviewed, and members determined that 65 additional persons were served in the first three months of this fiscal year as compared to last year. Outpatient and inpatient treatment, psychiatric rehabilitation, and housing services to the seriously mentally ill were increased, according to the MTMHA report. A 7% increase in cost apparently met this 16% increase in services.

The board reviewed progress made during the past year and began the process of developing goals and funding priorities for the next fiscal year. An open group resource allocation model, facilitated by board treasurer Robert Stephens, was used to establish funding priorities. Although incomplete, the board started to rank-order a dozen different funding initiatives to identify those projects that will provide the most benefit for the money, according to the report.

Lastly, board president Irene Mersing recognized the other members for their efforts this past year. Mersing made special recognition to Vice President Olive Corliss, whose term of office was expiring. Elections for officers were held, with Christine Felker as president, Irene Mersing as vice president, and Robert Stephens as secretary/treasurer.

So I asked who in this county has that experience of blowing glass, and why is this company advertising this ad on the computer when no one in this county has that experience? She said that this terminal is hooked up to the Internet and maybe someone out there job searching would find this opportunity and relocate to this county.

This tells me that Simon Pearce is not looking for local individuals to fill these positions like they have been promising. YES, they have hired a few former Bausch & Lomb employees, but how did they get their jobs if they had no experience blowing glass?

The only way that I know how to get experience in something is to be taught. If you're not taught, how are you going to learn or get experience? Why bother telling the public that they will make a big impact on the local economy when in reality they are looking for experience, not for local unemployed citizens? Maybe this company was brought here for tourism aspects, and not jobs.

I would like to ask everyone who is unemployed or out of work: Do you want a big company like this to get your hopes up with all these promises and jobs, then not deliver? I certainly don't. Burger King will probably do more hiring and create more jobs than this company. I'd much rather see a Wal-Mart open on the mountaintop. At least they would create jobs and take the time and money to train new employees, and not bring their own with them. So if Wal-Mart is in the county's future plans, the sooner the better. We need jobs, not some company that makes things look good in the local newspapers and computers.

Sincerely,
Jerry Tasker

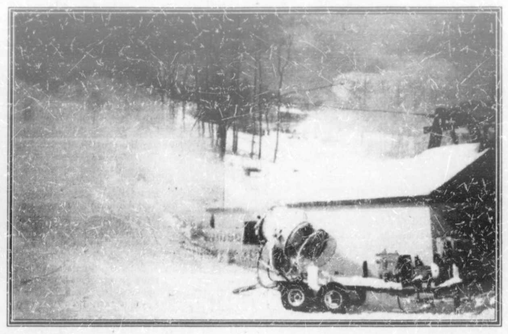
A Salute to the Snow Makers



by Ed King of A&A Realty

On behalf of all families whose recreational experience at Deep Creek Lake has been enhanced by this state-of-the-art machinery.

As many of you know, I enjoy writing articles from a personal viewpoint about this resort I love so much, rather than approaching advertising in the typical sense. I like to share with my readers the unique things about Garrett County and, specifically, features of interest to the family — interests that too many families are missing in their everyday urban existence. As I perceive the nuclear family of the 90's, it is apparent that the best tonic for America is MORE QUALITY FAMILY TIME!

The activities available in Garrett County are those that all members of the family can enjoy together. Because this time spent together is so special, these activities stimulate conversation and memories for years to come. Just the sharing of these times, around the fireside or at the dinner table, brings families closer together.

THE HILLS ARE ALIVE WITH THE SOUND OF MUSIC...

The steady hum of the snow makers is truly music to the ears of the skiing family. The snow making process is also a very beautiful sight — especially at night. The scene is the mountain, fully lighted, with the snow billowing out from the machines and gently floating to the ground. During strong winds, the mountain appears to be a white inferno belching and blowing snow across The Face from the machines on Squirrel Cage and on toward Boulder Run. As families travel south on Rt. 219 nearing the lake, the anxious eyes of children of all ages — including Mom & Dad — are watching for the first glimpse of WISP. If it's after dark, the first question is, are the lights on? And then, are they making snow? As the car drives on through McHenry, everyone is watching those wonderful machines at work.

MARTIN LUTHER KING WEEKEND

After two weeks of unseasonably warm weather and rain, all of those 35 inches of natural snow that fell in December had melted. With the melting, the base on Main Street and several of the other trails on the east side of the mountain were lost. The time was 12 noon, January 13, fewer than two days until the holiday weekend. The temperature was 50 degrees and rain was falling. Things looked bleak. Word came that Whitetail Ski Area was closed. Thanks to previously-made snow, WISP was still operating Lifts 1, 2, & 3; and the wet end of the mountain was operating as usual.

Shortly after noon, the temperature began to drop and the wind shifted back to the northwest. During the wee hours of that night, the sleeping mountain came alive. The temperature had dropped to below freezing, the lights were turned on, and the snow making machinery took center stage. The music began! One at a time, the mountain crew activated each machine. Soon, like a volcano erupting, the slopes and trails were being covered with snow at a fantastic rate.

January 14 — our adrenaline was running strong. It looked as though the weekend might be saved. All night Thursday and all day Friday, the music continued throughout the hills. Squirrel Cage, The Face, Roadrunner, and other trails were back in excellent condition. At noon Friday, I couldn't sit in the office any longer. My skis and boots are by my side on 24-hour alert. There is nothing like living and working within minutes of the slopes. Off I went, as an official snow tester. The goggles were a necessity, though, because the blowers were still doing their job.

The conditions were great. And the snow makers had saved the weekend. And, yes, as traffic filed through McHenry Friday evening, the answer to both of the previous questions was yes! The lights were on, and the blowers were making snow.

THE FAMILIES

Modern technology is to be thanked for the machinery that has made the recreational experience of skiing possible. This is particularly true here, south of the Mason-Dixon Line where natural snowfall is so unpredictable. The desire by families for the recreational skiing experience has driven the development of snow-making technology and, in turn, is the reason for this article.

Through the years I have observed families enjoying the WISP Ski Area. And it has been my pleasure to share in that joy with them. Did you know that people ski because it prevents the depression suffered by many through the long, cold, dark, dreary days of winter. Skiing activities give people an additional season of excitement to which they look forward. They are anxious and exuberant about getting to Deep Creek to ski, to race, to meet friends, and to plan future outings together. I find myself doing the same things, including planning for a Western ski adventure. Before I know it, I'm having fun. And those winter days have been converted from potential depression to just downright enjoyment.

WISP SKI CLUB FAMILY

The first family type which comes to mind are our own WISP Ski Club members. No matter if the setting is a day on the slopes or a social gathering in someone's home, the group is always representative of the generations, ranging from grandparents, to infants, to young married couples, and singles with their dates. All enjoy the experience together. There is no segregation by age groups. You should hear the chatter at an apres' ski party. The kids brag about their skiing achievements as their parents beam with pride. While the war stories are being told, someone slips a Warren Miller ski video into the VCR and we all wonder if any of our family will ever try extreme skiing. Some family names that come immediately to mind are: Sutton, Miller, Savage, Umbel, Hansen, Coleman, Curl, and Descutner, to name only a few.

GENERATION AFTER GENERATION

Another group of families are those who have enjoyed WISP for several generations. The name of Taft Oursler comes instantly to my mind. Taft is one of the most precise parallel skiers I have ever seen — absolutely poetic, liquid motion. In the 70's, I had the pleasure of skiing Aspen's Ajax Mountain with Taft; and I'll never forget the experience. Taft's daughter and her family are all excellent, avid skiers who enjoy the product of the snow makers. Many other families — like the Waddell's, Hinebaugh's, Bowman's, Smith's, Marple's and numerous others — have known the WISP before the days of snow making technology. Down through the years, they have seen many versions of the equipment as it progressed to today's state-of-the-art snow maker.

THE RACERS

The third family group that comes to mind are those whose members are involved in the excellent racing program offered at WISP. The program is for kids of all ages. This includes the masters class as well as children in their beginning years of ski racing. Every Saturday and Sunday throughout the season, you will find them riding the wind down the race course on Squirrel Cage. Parents stand at the finish line with cameras and videos at-the-ready to catch those smiles as the timekeepers announce their children's race times. Then the children wait at the finish line to watch their parents ski the race course. You see, skiing as a family is truly a family close-knit. It keeps them feeling young. Some of the racing families whose names are familiar are the Scofield's, Ashby's Elliott's, Gosnell's, Gibsons's, Lohr's, Alvarezes, Hough's, Ehringer's, Simpson's, Freyman's, Railey's and Winkelvosses. There are many, many more.

THE MARYLAND SCHOOL FOR THE BLIND

Next, I think of the children from this school who visit WISP each year, hosted by the Deep Creek Lions Club. They are a family in the sense that they live together and help each other with their handicaps. These children probably enjoy, more than anyone, the thrill of skiing and the boost it gives to their self-esteem and confidence level. I could tell stories for hours about how great this family is. I observe them helping each other do things, playing tricks on each other, and yelling to their buddies from the chair lift. More importantly, I hear about the family conversations after they have left the slopes and gathered in their rooms or at the dinner table. It's like all families. These children share their thrills and excitement from the day on the slopes.

I'll never forget one little girl who spoke at our Lions Club meeting. She thanked us several times for her 3-day trip that particular year. She was about fourteen years old. After sharing with us stories about her activities, including skiing, swimming, and a homemade ice cream party to which the children were treated, she said, You have helped me to accomplish something in life that neither of my (sighted) parents can do — ski the WISP! Think about that a moment. Her story gave me goose bumps, and I felt very good about our Lions Club work to benefit these children.

THE GARRETT COUNTY FAMILY

No one can measure the positive impact that the snow makers have had on Garrett County residents. But, not all Garrett County families ski or use WISP mountain for recreation. To most Garrett County families, however, the WISP is significant in producing the sale of goods and services, salaries, and taxes. The three-month ski season impacts our County's families in many ways.

Families with members directly connected to the tourism industry are those most impacted, sport shops, restaurants, real estate, and lodging, to name a few. Activities in these businesses are almost directly related to the snow conditions produced by the snow makers. Then there are businesses such as construction, building supplies, service companies, utilities, gasoline, groceries, beverages, as well as legal and government services. The list is unending. In the 60's and before, cottages were called camps. Most were seasonal (having no heat), and were closed up for the winter.

With the development of WISP Ski Area, these camps were gradually upgraded by adding insulation and heating. Very few improved properties remain that are not year-round cottages. All new construction of recreational homes includes year-round plumbing, insulation, and heating.

Observing the traffic Monday through Friday in the resort area, there is a very high number of service vehicles going to and from recreational homes. Services range from cleaning, to delivery of firewood, to cable television, to appliance repair, to interior decorating, to snow removal, etc. This traffic occurs year-round.

Many people living in the county use the recreational facilities offered at WISP. However, there isn't a family in Garrett County that is not impacted — directly or indirectly — by the resort economy.

THE SALUTE

On behalf of the families I have named, and many, many more, I would like to thank the other families who have made it all possible. First has to be the Heiss Family, for their foresight and the courage to pursue their dream. Next are the marketing and management teams behind the desks. The food service people The Ski Patrol, Dieter & Ludwig's WISP Ski School, Lift Operators, Willy-WISP Child Care, Snow cat drivers. And on and on. Lastly, and with very special thanks, I want to recognize the team that works throughout the night, sometimes in wind chills of 20 degrees below zero, to operate and maintain the machines which make it all possible — THE SNOW BLOWERS.

The President's Day weekend, while we remember and honor our Nation's great leaders, here in Garrett County at the WISP we salute all who have participated in giving our families such a wonderful recreational skiing experience.

My wife, Jean, and I have made Garrett County our permanent residence since 1985. We work together as a team, always striving for perfection as we serve the real estate needs of families in this mountaintop resort community. Our commitment does not stop with professionalism in real estate. We have served the owners of property around Deep Creek Lake since 1980 in matters of zoning, lake management, esthetics, and the environment. Our belief is that the protection of the recreational experience is necessary to the protection of the investment made by purchasers of property here in Garrett County.

This is a reprint of an article written by me for the February 11, 1993, edition of The Republican. It is being published again today because of the impact of this very mild winter 1998-99 on WISP Ski Resort. As of February 24, 1999, Garrett County had received only 48.75 inches of natural snowfall, along with abnormally warm temperatures often reaching the 60-degree range. This meant there was literally no natural snow on the ground. To further aggravate conditions, the northeastern United States experienced one of the most severe droughts in years last summer and fall. Garrett County was not spared. Many springs, farm ponds, and wells went dry.

However, in the face of what Mother Nature withheld, the WISP SNOW MAKERS saved the ski season. Only a week prior to Christmas, the slopes and trails were bare. About December 22, 1998, the temperature dropped and the snow makers went to work. Skiing on Christmas Day was great! And so was business all around the lake community because of the many holiday visitors for whom skiing was the attraction.

That was only the beginning of the up's and down's of this season for the WISP. Once again warm temperatures, lack of water reserves, and then rain tried but failed to thwart snow-making operations. Several weekends, including Martin Luther King Holiday and President's Holiday, appeared to be lost right up to the preceding Wednesday. However, by Friday evening of those two weekends the snow makers were running full force, enabling WISP to have fresh snow for skiing.

Last Wednesday, February 17, the County was visited by another warm spell with the much-heralded Deep Creek "Dunk" on the calendar for Saturday and the Maryland Special Olympics scheduled to get underway on Sunday. Thankfully once more, a couple cold days and nights enabled the snow makers to have the slopes in excellent condition for the Olympians.

Statistics of interest:

- The snow making crew is 7 men to a 12-hour shift.
- The snow grooming crew is 3 men to a 12-hour shift.
- Water consumption is 6,500 gallons per minute.
- Maximum water consumption is 10,000 gallons per minute.
- There are 100 SMI snow-making machines on the mountain.
- Snow made this year — 425 acre feet to depths ranging from 4 to 8 ft. consuming approximately 100 million gallons of water.
- Water reserve at the beginning of the year was only at 80% of normal; this was depleted by mid-January. Not until the warmer temperatures and heavy rains were the sources of water restored. As of this date, February 25, the water reserve is, again, nearly depleted.

Thanks again, WISP Management & Staff, for keeping the slopes open and for the resulting positive impact on the Garrett County economy.

Mid-Winter Bird Count Numbers Are Announced

In spite of a dreary, drizzly, foggy day, 19 intrepid observers spent a total of 14.5 hours watching bird feeders and 60.5 hours traveling a total of 487.7 miles by foot and car to record 5,747 birds of 63 species. This becomes the second all-time highest total of species for a Garrett County Mid-winter Bird Count. The highest count was 66 species in 1990.

Participants in this year's count were: Ken Bauer, Dessie Bowman, Michael Collector, Kevin Dodge, Courtney Englar, LeJay Graffious, Ed Hill, Frances and Harold Hoecker, Elizabeth and Emily Huxford, Sadie Kinsinger, Hillar Klandrof, Bill and Fran Pope, Judy Sconyers, Connie Skipper, Sallie Thayer, and Glenn Welch.

The "top 10" birds (by numbers counted) were: American crow, 2,313; European starling, 761; mallard, 662; Canada goose, 355; slate-colored junco, 243; black-capped chickadee, 234; American coot, 108; American goldfinch, 107; horned lark, 102; and red-winged blackbird, 100.

Most fortuitous for the birders was much open water on lakes and ponds, which accounted for 19 different species of ducks and other waterfowl tallied on the count. In addition, seven American robins and seven eastern bluebirds were seen. A flock of 50 cedar waxwings feeding on rose hips was noted near Oakland. Eleven Carolina wrens were reported from several areas of the county, an indication that the species continues to make a come-back after population declines from severe winters. Black-capped chickadee and white-breasted nuthatch were recorded by each of the 14 different groups of counters.

This is the tenth consecutive year for the Garrett County Mid-winter Bird Count, part of a state-wide effort by the Maryland Ornithological Society (MOS) to document birds that are present in Maryland in the midst of winter.

The next bird count scheduled for Garrett County will be Saturday, May 8. This county-wide May Bird Count will be part of the Annual North American Migration Count. For more information, persons may contact Fran Pope at 301-334-4908 or Connie Skipper at 301-387-5227.

Loaner Telephone Service Launched To Assist Seniors

In an effort to assure seniors are able to access assistance in the event of an emergency, Garrett County Community Action Committee's Area Agency on Aging will initiate a new service: Senior Citizen Cellular Phone Program. Seniors traveling to a medical appointment, shopping, or vacationing will be able to obtain a loaner cellular telephone from the agency to use during the length of their trip. The cellular phone will be programmed allowing only 911 access. It will give seniors peace of mind to know that, should they have a medical emergency or automotive problem while traveling, they can immediately call for assistance.

The program was first launched in Carroll County. Garrett County will be the second county to make the program available. "We believe it is a very worthwhile program that will provide seniors with a sense of security when they travel," stated an agency spokesperson.

The AAA wants to expand the program in Garrett County by making cellular phones available to seniors who do not have traditional telephone service. "Although there may be few individuals today who do not have access to a telephone, some do exist. The rural nature of the county adds to the isolation of seniors who do not have telephone service. The agency believes it to be imperative for seniors to have the ability to access 911 from their homes in the event of an emergency.

In order to make the program a success, the AAA is seeking used cellular phones from individuals in the community. "If you, or someone you know, have upgraded your cell phone and have the old one tucked away in a closet, please consider making a donation to the Area Agency on Aging," he added.

For further information, or to acquire a phone, persons may call Veronica Padmos at the Area Agency on Aging, 301-334-9431, or toll free, 888-877-8403, ext. 137.

EVERYBODY TALKS ABOUT POOR HEALTH

But, unlike the weather, you can do something about it. Even though the human body can take a great amount of abuse, it sometimes calls for help. When it develops minor pain or discomfort that goes away but returns, if you suddenly begin to lose weight or energy; these are danger signals.

Without delay visit a physician for a health check-up. It takes medical knowledge to find out what is wrong and how to properly help your body enjoy better health. Your physician has this ability.

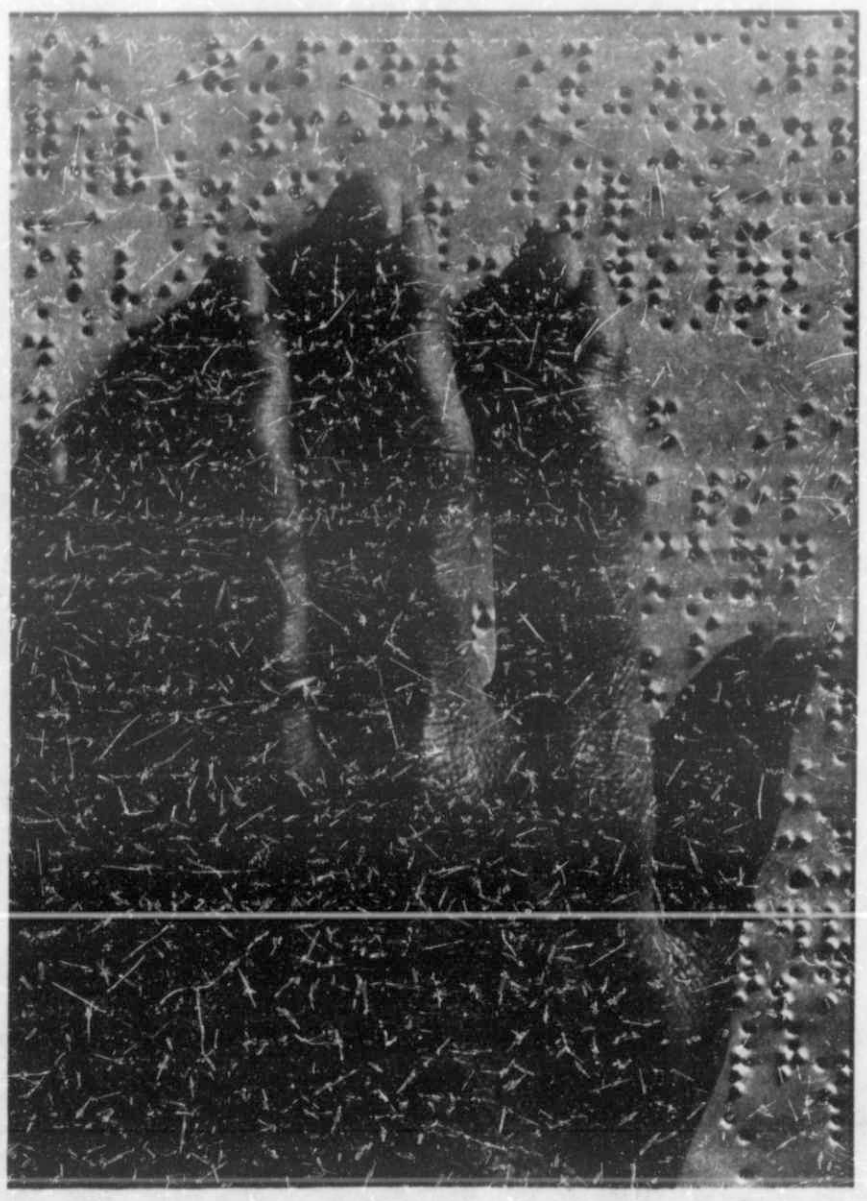
Not By Sight Alone

The setting sun paints a moving kaleidoscope of color across the sky. We can often see shades of peach, purple, pink and pewter. Yet, in the time it takes to write these words, many people around the world will lose their sight.

Blindness is a condition that none of us would choose, yet with training and faith in the ability of the human body and spirit to adapt and compensate, those that are blind can learn to "see" using the sensitivity of their fingertips.



Certainly, we cannot count on any physical ability or attribute to remain unblemished, for at best the physical body is only temporary. Yet, the spirit is eternal. Thus, we must remember the importance of the health of the spirit.

As we regularly exercise and nourish our body, we must make our spirit fit with regular weekly prayer and praise at our local church or synagogue. We read in 2 Corinthians 5:7..."for we walk by faith, not by sight."

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

BY LAWRENCE W. ALTHOUSE

THE WHOLE STORY
February 28, 1999

Background Scripture:
Titus 2:11-14;
Hebrews 12:18-29;
Revelation 1:17-20; 11:15-19
Devotional Reading:
1 Peter 1:3-9

It seems I have known the story of "Pandora's Box" since early childhood—but not the whole story.

Pandora was the lovely bride sent to Epimetheus by Zeus. Pandora and Epimetheus lived happily together until one day Mercury brought them a beautiful golden casket for them to enjoy, but with the specific instruction that it was not to be opened under any circumstances. Pandora, however, was as curious as she was lovely and, one day, while her husband was away, she pried open the box, just a little, but enough so that out flew a swarm of biting and stinging insects. She quickly closed it but it was too late. The insects even found and harassed Epimetheus and his friends. The poisons of the insect stings were suspicion, hatred, fear and malice. When Epimetheus returned home there was a bitter quarrel and Pandora was reduced to tears.

That is all I remembered of the story, but today I discovered the ending I had either never known or perhaps heard and forgot. While they were quarreling, the lovers heard from within the casket a sweet voice, calling: "Let me out! Let me soothe your pain." Fearfully, they opened the box and out flew a dazzling butterfly. As it lighted on the two lovers their pains were healed and they resumed their happy life together. The butterfly's name, you see, was Hope.

A GREATER HOPE

There are many tragic stories in the world but the healing power of hope is often the part of the story that is either unheard or unremembered. How tragic, for it is an essential element of life. "Man is based on hope," wrote Thomas Carlyle. "He has no other possession than hope." It has been demonstrated by medical researchers that hope—in the physician's skill, the medicine or therapy prescribed or in the providence of God—is a demonstrable ingredient in recovery from illness and injury.

As followers of Jesus Christ our hope, I believe, is even more powerful and trustworthy because our hope is based upon the One who created the universe and sent Jesus Christ to reconcile everything, especially humankind, to himself. In his letter to Titus, Paul calls this "our blessed hope, the appearing of the glory of our great God and Savior: Jesus Christ, who gave himself for us to redeem us from all iniquity..." (Titus 2:13,14).

This hope is presented in a variety of ways in the New Testament. Hebrews speaks of "the city of the living God, the heavenly Jerusalem, as our ultimate destination," a promise guaranteed in the new covenant mediated by Christ. There is nothing in this temporal world in which we presently live that cannot or has not been shaken literally and figuratively. But our hope is in "a kingdom that cannot be shaken." When we see things all about us breaking up and collapsing, we look toward that kingdom unshaken and unshakable.

VISIONS OF HOPE

In Revelation, Christian hope is anchored on the resurrected and glorified Christ who assures us, "I am the Alpha and the Omega, who is and who was and who is to come, the Almighty" (Rev. 1:8). In John's vision Christ says: "Fear not, I am the first and the last, and the living one...and I have the keys of Death and Hades" (1:17,18). Revelation 11:15 gives us another allusion to hope: "The kingdom of the world has become the kingdom of our Lord and of his Christ, and he shall; reign forever and ever."

In the Bible and in our own lives there are innumerable ways to speak of the Christian hope, but at the bottom line of each there is one reality. I remember how John Bright put it in The Kingdom of God: "So it was that Jeremiah could never believe that the national ruin was the end. True, he could see no cause to hope; but he never lost hope, because he never lost God." That's the whole story!

Scouts Gather To Mark Anniversary Of BSA's Founding

A group of Boy Scouts, Cub Scouts, volunteer leaders, and parents celebrated the 89th anniversary of the founding of the Boy Scouts of America (BSA) during a Rededication Ceremony last Monday evening in rotunda of the Garrett County Courthouse. The program was organized by adult Scout volunteers Paul Shogren, Brenda Arnold, and Kyle Morrison, BSA district executive.

Scouting came to America because a boy did an act of kindness for which he expected no reward, Morrison related to the gathering. This event occurred many years ago on a foggy London night when an unknown English Boy Scout led a lost American businessman, William T. Boyce, to his destination. When Boyce offered to pay the boy for his deed, he answered "No, thank you sir. I am a Scout. I won't take anything for helping."

Boyce was so impressed by the boy's kindness that he met with Lord Robert Baden-Powell, the founder of the Boy Scouts in Great Britain, to make arrangements to bring scouting to America. Boyce and a group of businessmen, educators, and political leaders founded the Boy Scouts of America on February 8, 1910. Scouts now mark that date as the anniversary of the BSA, gathering around the country for Rededication ceremonies at 8:15 p.m.

Service to others has always been central to Scouting, Morrison reminded the gathering. To that end, each November Cub Scouts and Boy Scouts in Garrett County collect non-perishable food and canned goods during the Scouting For Food campaign. This past November 2,500 pounds of collected food was delivered to the House of Hope and the Apostolic Church of Oakland.

Citing 1997's "Summit for America's Future," an initiative of General Colin Powell and President Bill Clinton, Morrison invited local leaders to involve Garrett County BSA youth in additional community service projects. One of the 1997 summit's outcomes was a commitment by the BSA that each youth member provide a minimum of 12 hours of community service annually through the year 2000. Nationally the BSA will render 200 million hours of community service by the end of next year.

Recitations of the Boy Scout Promise, the Scout Law, and the Cub Scout Promise drew the Rededication Ceremony to a close.

Scouting's membership has grown over the past two years in the Potomac Council and across the nation. The BSA Potomac Council serves 1,800 youth in six counties: Garrett and Allegany in Maryland, and Mineral, Grant, Hampshire, and Hardy in West Virginia. The council is a participating agency of the County United Way.

SCOUTING REDEDICATION CEREMONY HELD - A group of Scouts, present and former, gathered in the rotunda of the Garrett County Courthouse recently to mark the 89th anniversary of the founding of the Boy Scouts of America. There they heard an address by BSA district executive Kyle Morrison on the history, ideals, and goals of Scouting. Among the participating Scouts and leaders from Oakland Troops 1 and 22, and Cub Scouts and parents from Oakland Pack 70 were, in the front row from the left, Travis Sanders, Elric Weeks, Tory Weeks, and Dennis Garlitz; in the second row are T.J. Miller and Lynda Weeks, while in the third row are Kathy Sanders, Robert Kortas, Jordan Hazelwood, Tom Peterson, and Brad Wolf. In the fourth row are Glenn Sanders, Mark Miller, Morrison, and Dr. Fred Hazelwood, and in the background is long-time Scout Rev. John Grant.

Potomac Council Scout Show Set For Saturday

Boy Scouts of America Potomac Council's annual Scout Show will be held this Saturday, Feb. 27, at the Country Club Mall in LaVale. This year's theme is "Scouting... Experience It!"

The show provides the opportunity for Scouts from throughout the six-county area of Potomac Council to demonstrate to the public and each other the "fun and challenges" scouting presents to all youth, according to a council spokesperson.

Thirty Cub Packs, Scout Troops, and Explorer Posts with 1,000 youth and leaders will participate.

Participating units from Garrett County include: Troop 22, Pack 31, and Pack 70, Oakland, and Pack 49, Grantsville.

At Centre Court, the council will have an information booth designed to answer questions, greet alumni, and to encourage new youth to join scouting.

A special 72-page, 1999 "Scouting Yearbook" will be distributed free to all visitors.

Potomac Council serves nearly 3,000 youth and adult volunteers annually and is a participating agency in the County United Way.

On Dean's List

A Garrett County resident was among the students at Fairleigh Dickinson University, Rutherford, N.J., to be named to the dean's list for outstanding academic achievement during the 1998 fall semester. Carrie Filsinger, daughter of Michael and Lona Filsinger, Deer Park, earned dean's list recognition for earning a grade point average of between 3.2 and 3.5 on a 4.0 scale.

Filsinger, a freshman, is a 1998 honors graduate of Southern High School.

Treaty Could Add Billions To Ag Production Costs

Farmers and ranchers would see their income slashed by as much as 50 percent below last year's devastatingly low levels if global warming guidelines agreed to by the United States are fully implemented, according to a new study released last week.

The study by the agricultural consulting firm Sparks Companies Inc. shows that agricultural production costs could increase by $16.2 billion, or 8.8 percent. Because farmers and ranchers do not set the prices for their commodities, recapture of these higher costs would be difficult. Increased costs for processing, storing, transporting, and handling commodities and food would be forwarded to the consumer level and would have the greatest negative impact on low-income families.

"The impact of the treaty would be a financial last straw for many family farmers," said American Farm Bureau Federation President Dean Kleckner. "The Clinton administration has committed to a flawed treaty without releasing its own analysis of the impact the protocol would have on U.S. agriculture. Meanwhile, agriculture has completed three studies, all of which show devastating financial consequences for farmers and ranchers."

Last year, a group of agricultural interests, including AFBF, American Corn Growers Association, National Cattlemen's Beef Association, National Grange, and United Fresh Fruit and Vegetable Association, asked Sparks to analyze Clinton administration proposals regarding the Global Climate Change Treaty. The study released last week is based on the Kyoto Protocol that the administration signed in November 1998.

The release of the Sparks study coincides with President Clinton's renewed debate on the controversial treaty. In his State of the Union address, Clinton called global warming the nation's "most fateful new challenge" and called on U.S. businesses to take the lead in curbing carbon emissions.

Many business, policy, and environmental groups have proposed various strategies to "credit" U.S. businesses that voluntarily reduce greenhouse gas emissions. Last year, Sens. John Chafee (R-R.I.), Joseph Lieberman (D-Conn.), and Connie Mack (R-Fla.) offered a bill to give such a credit. Chafee is expected to introduce similar legislation in the 106th Congress.

While the credit concept may appear on the surface to be a viable early option, it has the potential to "create an artificial market that is not called for under the terms of the Kyoto Protocol," said Jon Doggett, AFBF senior director of governmental relations.

Doggett added that the administration and other Kyoto Protocol proponents have touted the treaty as a potential source of income for farmers because agricultural crops absorb carbon dioxide from the atmosphere. "But that is not clearly spelled out in the treaty, and there is little promise that the administration can guarantee that will happen," he said.

The treaty also would force U.S. farmers to compete for increased market opportunities with more than 100 countries, such as China and Brazil, which do not have to comply with the treaty and its emission constraints.

"This treaty only drives production agriculture to the countries that have environmental problems but don't have to participate in the United Nations' protocol on global climate change," said Kleckner.

Farming In Maryland.....

Farm Bureau Outlines Hog Relief Efforts

The American Farm Bureau Federation last week sent a letter to Agriculture Secretary Dan Glickman outlining the organization's priorities for addressing the unprecedented losses suffered by hog farmers in recent months.

The action plan was adopted during a special meeting of AFBF's board of directors and includes an endorsement of direct payments for pork producers. The temporary payment program, which would offer immediate assistance to hog farmers who suffered cash losses from October 1998 through January 1999, would be based upon price analysis conducted by the Food and Agricultural Policy Research Institute housed at Iowa State University.

AFBF President Dean Kleckner cautioned that the measures would not be a cure-all for the ailing industry, but they could help ease some of the hardship brought on by the lowest hog prices since the Depression.

"These are short-term solutions, Band-Aids on a cancer," Kleckner said. "But without them, many family farmers will not be around to benefit from the long-term answers."

Farm Bureau told Glickman that it does not support a permanent payment program for hog producers, nor does it support any form of federal supply management of the pork industry.

Farm Bureau requested adequate funding for USDA guaranteed and emergency loan programs and encouraged the agency, "in conjunction with the private sector, to quickly develop workable revenue assurance products for all crops and livestock and whole-farm operations."

Live hog prices declined steadily since mid-1997 and reached a low last December when average prices in some areas plummeted to below $10 per hundredweight.

Analysts report that a number of factors contributed to the dramatically low prices. To begin with, more than 100 million hogs were slaughtered in 1998, about 9 percent more than in 1997. Also, the close of several major packing plants last year meant that daily kill capacity declined by as much as 10 percent. Meanwhile, live hog imports — mostly from Canada — reached an all-time high of 4 million in 1998. Much of the Canadian influx was precipitated by labor disputes at packing facilities there.

Some analysts also contend that greater concentration within the pork industry contributed to the recent hog crisis. According to the Agriculture Department, the number of U.S. farms with one or more hogs fell by nearly 50 percent between 1993 and 1998, from 218,060 to 114,380. Meanwhile, fewer operations held a greater share of the industry. In 1993, producers who had 5,000 or more hogs controlled 18 percent of the U.S. inventory, according to USDA. By 1998, however, operations with 5,000 or more hogs accounted for 42 percent of the domestic hog herd.

Indiana Farm Bureau President Harry Pearson testified before the House Agriculture Committee last week regarding Farm Bureau's concerns about concentration. Pearson told the panel that the issue has prompted "increasing concern" among farmers and ranchers, and that Farm Bureau has urged Congress and the administration to scrutinize mergers and acquisitions with producers' interests in mind.

Pearson emphasized the importance of comprehensive and timely price reporting practices so that "all segments of the industry can make appropriate and informed business decisions." The farm leader also said that country-of-origin labeling and the interstate distribution of state-inspected meat could offer some relief to the hog industry "during this trend of increased concentration."

In addition to these measures, Farm Bureau has worked closely with USDA on various relief efforts for hog producers, such as including more pork in federal food purchase programs and foreign food aid packages, funding pseudorabies eradication programs, and easing loan requirements for producers under financial distress.

Farm Bureau also advocates improved risk management programs, freer trade, and regulatory reform as long-term measures for combating price slumps in the hog industry and all sectors of agriculture.

January Ag Prices Improve In Maryland

Prices received by Maryland farmers improved in January. However, all commodities except milk and broilers were below prices a year ago. Prices for apples, broilers and eggs were below December prices. U.S. prices also remained down from a year ago. The all farm products index of prices received in January was down 1 point from December. Price increases from December for hogs, tomatoes, cattle, and oranges more than offset price decreases for turkeys, milk, lettuce, and broilers.

Maryland Grain Producers Announce Ag Scholarships

The Maryland Grain Producers Utilization Board has allocated $5,000 of grain check-off funds to support the second annual scholarship program. The program will be administered by the Maryland Grain Producers Association, which will be awarding two deserving students with scholarships in the amount of $2,500 each ($1,250 for each semester) enrolled in a Maryland or an out-of-state institution.

The purpose of the scholarship is to provide financial support to students interested in pursuing an agriculturally related career. Given the dynamic changes in agriculture today, the advances in biotechnology, global positioning systems, environmental protection, and crop and livestock production, Maryland's grain farmers believe it is very important to encourage students to consider careers in agriculture by enhancing their educational development through the use of scholarships.

"Agriculture is undoubtedly not the same as it was with all of the technology available today," said Breck Debnam, president of the Maryland Grain Producers Utilization Board. "The agricultural community needs a strong educational foundation if we are going to be successful in the future. The scholarship program will perhaps encourage students to take a second look at a career in agriculture."

The scholarships will be awarded to full-time students attending a four-year institution or students enrolled in a two-year agricultural program. The selections will be based on agricultural background, family farm involvement, financial need, grade point average, agriculture-related studies, career goals, and extra curricular activities.

For an application, those interested may contact the Maryland Grain Producers Association, 53 Slama Road, Edgewater, MD 21037-1423. Applications are due by May 1, 1999.

NRCS Opens Sign-Up For $1.5 Million In EQIP

David P. Doss, state conservationist for the U.S. Department of Agriculture's (USDA) Natural Resources Conservation Service (NRCS) in Maryland, announced that Maryland received almost $1.5 million in fiscal year 1999 conservation funding through the USDA Environmental Quality Incentives Program (EQIP). Over the past two years, approximately $3.2 million in EQIP funds were used in Maryland to pay for conservation projects that address natural resource concerns and protect water quality. NRCS is USDA's lead technical agency for conservation programs.

"EQIP will help Maryland farmers address some of their most pressing local natural resource concerns, such as soil erosion, water quality, riparian areas, and grazing lands," said Doss. "EQIP provides farmers with flexible, effective, and voluntary conservation programs. Although a relatively new Farm Bill program only in its third year, EQIP has proven itself to be one of USDA's most popular conservation programs in Maryland."

Farmers should contact their local Soil Conservation District office, located at USDA service centers, for more information on the sign-up period, application process, and receiving conservation assistance through EQIP. The sign-up period for submitting an application for EQIP funds ends on April 9, 1999. NRCS has leadership responsibility for implementing EQIP and consults with USDA's Farm Service Agency (FSA) on planning and implementation policies related to Farm Bill programs.

"Maryland's FY99 EQIP program consists of 12 locally designated geographic priority areas (GPA) and one statewide natural resource priority area," said Chris Gross, NRCS Maryland EQIP program manager. "The boundaries of the GPAs were determined by local conservation groups specifically to target EQIP funds to areas with natural resource concerns. Any land not located in a GPA boundary is eligible for EQIP funding through the statewide natural resource priority area."

"Included in the 1999 funding, Maryland received $324,000 in special EQIP funding as an incentive to address water quality concerns of excessive nutrients in the Chesapeake Bay drainage areas. These funds are being targeted to the lower Eastern Shore of Maryland, where water quality concerns related to pfiesteria exist," added Gross.

EQIP provides cost-share assistance for up to 75 percent of the cost of certain conservation practices, such as grassed waterways, filter strips, manure management facilities, contour buffer strips, and livestock exclusion. Incentive payments can be made for up to three years to encourage farmers to perform land management practices such as nutrient, manure, irrigation water, and integrated pest management. Total cost-share and incentive payments are limited to $10,000 per person per year and $50,000 for the length of the contract, which can run from 5 to 10 years.

One emphasis for EQIP is the leveraging of EQIP funds with other conservation agencies to provide even greater stewardship of natural resources. In addition to USDA EQIP funding, the Maryland Department of Agriculture provides cost-share funds for selected conservation practices, and the combined conservation funding makes it possible for farmers to install conservation management systems that before would have been prohibitively expensive.

Farmers who address the primary conservation concerns in the locally designated GPAs will be given preference for an EQIP contract. The program is limited to persons who are engaged in livestock, poultry, or agricultural production. Nationally, one-half of the funds are targeted to livestock-related natural resource needs and the remainder to other significant conservation priorities associated with crop production.

Geographic priority areas were determined by a process that began with local work groups coordinated by soil conservation districts. The local work groups are made up of representatives from Maryland soil conservation districts, NRCS, FSA, FSA county committees, Maryland Extension Service, environmental groups, and other federal, state, and local agencies interested in natural resource conservation. These local work groups (convened by local conservation districts) conducted a natural resources needs assessment and, based on that assessment, developed proposals for priority areas. These local proposals are ranked according to natural resource concern priorities in Maryland and provide a basis for funding decisions.

The 1996 Farm Bill prohibits providing EQIP cost-share assistance to large confined livestock operations for the construction of animal waste storage or treatment facilities. However, technical assistance will be provided to all operations. EQIP defines a large confined livestock operation as one with more than 1,000 animal units.

NRCS funded FY99 proposals for the following GPAs in Maryland:

Egg & Chicken Numbers Reported By Ag Service

Maryland laying flocks produced 84 million eggs during December 1998, of which 76 million were table eggs and 8 million were hatching eggs. The average rate of lay was 74.6%. The average number of layers on hand during December 1998 was 3,634,000.

On Jan. 1, 1999, only 1% of the layers in Maryland were being molted and 31.0% of all layers had been through a molt.

Cattle & Calves In Maryland Decrease By 4%

The inventory of cattle and calves in Maryland on Jan. 1, 1999, numbered 250,000 head, a decrease of 4% and 10,000 head less than the inventory of 260,000 head a year earlier. The declines were in market stock, as breeding and replacement classes were unchanged. The calf crop for 1998 totaled 110,000 head, down 4% from the 114,000 for 1997. Agricultural operations with cattle numbered 4,500, down 12% (600 farms) from last year. Agricultural operations with milk cows numbered 1,100, the same as 1997.

All cattle and calves in the United States as of Jan. 1 totaled 98.5 million head, 1% below the 99.7 million on Jan. 1, 1998, and 3% below the 101.7 million two years ago. Beef cows, 33.5 million, were down 1% from Jan. 1, 1998, and 3% below two years ago.

NOTICE TO ALL PROPERTY TAXPAYERS OF GRANTSVILLE, MARYLAND

Senate Bill No. 93 of the Annotated Code of Maryland requires counties and municipal corporations to notify taxpayers of the availability of the semi-annual property tax payment option for owner-occupied residential property that is the principal residence of a homeowner.

If a taxpayer elects to make semi-annual property tax payments, ½ of the municipal taxes will be deferred until January 1. The second payment, due January 1, will incur a service charge reasonably equivalent to the anticipated lost interest income associated with the delay in the payment of the second installment and covering administrative expenses associated with the semi-annual payment not exceeding 25% of the charge of the lost interest.

To be eligible to make this election of semi-annual payment, all previous years' taxes must be paid in full by June 1. Taxpayers not making their first semi-annual payment by September 30 are automatically waived out of the semi-annual plan and must pay the full tax bill.

Selection of payment schedule for property taxes may be made upon receipt of tax bill. If taxpayer wishes to pay in full, he must choose the appropriate coupon and return it with the proper payment. If the taxpayer wishes to participate in the semi-annual payment option, the appropriate coupon should be returned with the payment before the September 30 deadline.

It is the responsibility of the taxpayers to notify their mortgage company of their wishes to pay on a semi-annual basis if they have an escrow account. The town is not responsible for any involvement in the semi-annual payment process.

Whatever payment plan the taxpayer selects shall remain in effect until the taxpayer decides to change it.

Jones Included In Who's Who

Jared Jones, son of Kermit and Mary Jane Jones, Mt. Storm, W.Va., has been named to Who's Who Among American High School Students for the 1997-98 school year, in recognition of his academic achievements. Only 5% of students from 22,000 high schools nationally are honored in the publication each year.

Currently a junior at Union Educational Complex, Jones is student council president and an honor roll student. He has served as the state and national ambassador of the Smoke Free Class of 2000, and as an officer in JROTC.

Jones is a member of the Mt. Top Renegades 4-H Club and attends Emoryville Methodist Church. His future plans include attending West Virginia University.

The student is the grandson of L.E. Jones, Anna Jane Sharpless, and Harold Sharpless.

Virginia Power To Add Scrubbers At Mt. Storm

Virginia Power, Richmond, has signed a contract for the construction of two additional scrubbers to remove sulfur dioxide from emissions at its Mt. Storm Power Station in West Virginia.

The scrubbers, which will be in operation by February 2002, will remove 95 percent of the sulphur dioxide emissions from Units 1 and 2. Unit 3 is already equipped with a scrubber. They are a part of Virginia Power's overall strategy to reduce sulphur dioxide emissions as part of Phase II of the Clean Air Act Amendments of 1990.

"We have committed to installing state-of-the-art scrubbers that utilize the latest technological improvements," said W. Robert Cartwright, senior vice president, Fossil & Hydro. The end result will be significant improvements in the air quality for areas to the east of the station, especially the environmentally sensitive Shenandoah National Park."

Each scrubber will remove about 55,000 tons of sulphur dioxide a year.

The contract was awarded to Marsulex Environmental Technologies, a Lebanon, Pa., firm. Construction is scheduled to begin in March.

The cost of the two-scrubber project is estimated at $118 million, considerably less than the $150 million paid for the scrubber on Unit 3. The cost of the project will be paid out of the company's operating budget and not passed through to the company's two million customers.

"Both the company and the environment are benefiting from improvements made over the last several years that have lowered the cost of scrubbers while improving their design," Cartwright said.

Scrubbers operate by spraying a mixture of pulverized limestone and water into the exhaust gas of the generating units. Inside the scrubber vessels, calcium in the limestone reacts with the gaseous sulphur dioxide to form calcium sulfate, commonly known as gypsum. Some of the gypsum from the scrubbers will be trucked to nearby mines and used to help reclaim highly acidic mine water runoff. The remainder will be placed in a landfill on the plant site.

Virginia Power is the principal subsidiary of Dominion Resources Inc., an international energy business with headquarters in Richmond.

CHALLENGE WEST VIRGINIA is a statewide organization committed to maintaining and improving small community schools, and Preston County now has its own chapter of that organization. Pictured from left are Arvin Harsh of Eglon and Jana Freeman of Aurora accepting a plaque from Linda Martin, education director of Challenge West Virginia, acknowledging their work in organizing the Preston County chapter. See story.

Preston County Forms Challenge W.Va. Chapter

Residents of Preston County have formed the first county chapter of Challenge West Virginia, a statewide organization committed to maintaining and improving small community schools. Arvin Harsh of Eglon and Jana Freeman of Aurora accepted a plaque from Challenge West Virginia Director Linda Martin acknowledging the creation of the charter chapter at a meeting in Flatwoods on February 12.

Mrs. Freeman has been named a fellow in the program and will be working with people from around the state as she continues her education reform efforts in Preston County. Mr. Harsh, who has been working on education issues for more than 30 years, is a mentor in the program.

Members of Challenge West Virginia are concerned that, despite recent research showing that small schools provide the best education for children, the state of West Virginia continues to pursue a policy of forced consolidation. Since 1990, boards of education across the state have closed 26 percent of West Virginia's public schools.

A recently released study authorized by the state and conducted by the research group MGT of America states that West Virginia operates the most expensive transportation program in the country based on cost per pupil and cost per mile. The study says the total estimated statewide pupil transportation costs in 1997-98 were $130.4 million.

For more information about Challenge West Virginia or the Preston County Chapter of Challenge W.Va., persons may contact Arvin Harsh at 304-735-3261 or Jana Freeman at 304-735-3411.

Church Youth Plan Dinner

The Terra Alta First United Methodist Church Youth (MYF), under the direction of Linda Stresky, will sponsor a dinner for the public on Saturday, March 13, from 4 until 8 p.m. in the church's fellowship hall.

The menu will include baked steak, mashed potatoes and gravy, green beans, cole slaw, rolls, and dessert. The cost is $6 for adults and $3 for children.

The public is welcome to attend.

Diabetes Study For Appalachian Region Slated

Grant Memorial Hospital, Petersburg, is working with West Virginia University to conduct a study to gain an understanding of diabetes in the Appalachian region.

Volunteers (6-12 in each group) are needed to participate in discussion groups in association with WVU's Prevention Research Center. A discussion group for those with diabetes will be held March 13 in the GMH Multi-purpose Room at 1 p.m. with Dr. Irene Tessaro. There will be another discussion group for people without diabetes at the Grove Street United Methodist Church on March 14 at 2 p.m. Refreshments will be served at both locations, and there will be a stipend paid to those participating in the discussion groups.

The study will involve interviewing local residents to uncover community issues surrounding prevention, detection, and care-seeking. The results of this study will be used to develop community-based diabetes awareness and prevention programs, and problems for early diagnosis in Appalachian communities.

Knowing how people feel about the disease, its onset, and treatment will help Appalachian residents' needs and concerns about access to care, treatment, health education, and prevention, according to a program spokesperson.

Funding for this grant is provided through the Appalachia Diabetes Coalition within the Prevention Research Center at WVU, in part by the Center for Disease Control and the Appalachian Regional Commission.

People with diabetes interested in participating in the March 13 survey must register with Shannon Smith, 1-800-414-5998 or 304-293-1899. Those not having diabetes but interested in the March 14 survey may register by calling Shannon Smith or Fran Welton at 304-257-1026, ext. 106.

When to Use Stroke/Heart Attack Medicines

A group of medicines called thrombolytics ("clot-busting drugs") can be life saving if given early enough to stroke and heart attack victims. According to a report in a recent issue of the journal Circulation, the life-saving benefit of this group of medicines occurs during the first hours after a heart attack. The report indicates that clot dissolvers given this quickly almost triples a person's chance of surviving. Protection from the drug may last for several years.

According to Annals of Emergency Medicine, studies show that most stroke victims arrive at hospital emergency rooms too late to benefit from the neurological damage protecting benefit of clot busting drugs. The window of time available for stroke victims to receive benefit from clot dissolving drugs in one study was three hours from the onset of symptoms.

Summit To Seek Distinction For National Road

The Maryland National Road Partnership will hold a summit next Tuesday, March 2, to advance the process of obtaining All-American Road status for Maryland's section of the National Road. According to the Maryland Office of Planning, the prestigious designation would bring economic benefits and national identity to one of the country's most scenic and historically significant roads. The National Road was named a State Scenic Byway in January 1998.

The summit will introduce participants to the Corridor Partnership Plan process and feature local community input and a discussion of priorities for the future use of the road. The Maryland National Road Partnership, made up of Maryland's Office of Planning, State Highway Administration, Office of Tourism, and Historical Trust, will develop and implement the Corridor Partnership Plan.

"The goal of the Corridor Partnership Plan is to develop a community-based strategy that balances conservation of the road's intrinsic qualities with its use and enjoyment," said Cindi Ptak, project manager for the Maryland National Road Partnership. "Communities will have the opportunity to consider all options as to how they want to use the byway corridor in the future, including conservation, enhancement, economic development, and tourism," she added.

The National Road Partnership is part of a larger initiative. Representatives from five states and Maryland make up the National Road Alliance, a coalition that seeks to obtain All-American Road designation for the entire 800 mile-long road.

"One of the great aspects of this project is that it fits so well with Maryland's Smart Growth principles," said Ronald M. Kreitner, director of the Maryland Office of Planning, the lead agency for implementing Maryland's landmark Smart Growth initiative. "Smart Growth encourages economic development and the revitalization of existing communities while preserving the state's most valuable farm, forest, and natural resource lands. The National Road project offers extraordinary opportunities to enhance the quality of life in these traditional communities as we move into the next millennium," he said.

Starting in Baltimore, the National Road travels west through Ellicott City, Frederick, Hagerstown, Hancock, Flintstone, Cumberland, Frostburg, and Grantsville, then beyond through Pennsylvania, West Virginia, Ohio, Indiana, and ending in Vandalia, Ill.

"With the potential to connect both historically and culturally with some 600 miles through five states, the National Road could become a national model for multi-state initiatives involving growth management principles," noted Kreitner.

The summit, which is open to the public, will be held Tuesday from 8:15 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. at the Ramada Inn and Convention Center on Dual Highway in Hagerstown. There is a $20 registration fee, which can be paid at the door. For more information, persons may call the Maryland Office of Planning at 410-767-4432.

Hospice Postage Stamp Released

The United States Postal Service released the Hospice Care commemorative first-class 33¢ stamp on February 9 in recognition of the 3,000 hospices, 25,000 professionals, and more than 100,000 volunteers that have made hospice increasingly the quality end-of-life choice for Americans.

The "Hospice Care" stamp design, which features a butterfly over a home, symbolizes life's journey to its final stage.

Brenda J. Butscher, executive director of Hospice of Garrett County, said, "This stamp presents an opportunity to share the message that dying well, surrounded by friends and loved ones, is an option available to all Americans. We could not be more grateful to the United States Post Office for their generosity in dedicating talent and resources to salute all those associated with the hospice movement. The end of human life remains one of the most sensitive subjects for discussion, but increased public education on hospice is a healthy and constructive way to let people know they do have options that give them more control over their final days.

"Hospice professionals and volunteers accept death as a natural part of life, seeking neither to hasten nor prolong the dying process — in short, to help terminally ill patients live out their final days in dignity, and without the fear of dying in pain and alone," she added.

While hospices originally treated primarily cancer patients (and still care for about half of all cancer deaths in America), those with heart and kidney disease, AIDS, and Alzheimer's disease comprise a significant portion of hospice users, Butscher said.

"Hospices not only manage medical care and answer to emotional and spiritual needs, but also provide support services such as bereavement programs, memorial services, and counseling. Hospice of Garrett County provides support for family and friends for at least a year following the death of a loved one," she said.

Hospice is not associated with any particular religious affiliation, and it serves patients regardless of age, gender, nationality, race, creed, sexual orientation, disability, diagnosis, or ability to pay.

The "Hospice Care" stamp represents a celebration of 25 years of improving the way people are cared for at the end of their lives and is dedicated to all those who have been served by hospices, and the professionals and volunteers who make hospice increasingly the choice of those who wish personalized, high-quality end-of-life care.

Hospice of Garrett County encourages the public to use the "Hospice Care" postage stamp and help to make all people aware of hospice care.

Registration For Kindergarten Now Under Way

The Garrett County Board of Education announces that the comprehensive preschool registration program which began 20 years ago will be held again this year. This program is for all children entering kindergarten or first grade for the first time in September.

This registration program, which will be held in all elementary schools during April, has been developed to help identify strengths and needs of children and to identify early any problems that may interfere with a successful start in school, according to a board spokesperson.

Because of a change in state regulations, parents must register any child who will be 5 years old by December 31, 1999. This new law allows exemptions to the school attendance requirements as follows: permits compliance through the home school instruction regulation; grants a one-year immaturity waiver if the parent or guardian makes a written request to the local school system; and allows a 5-year-old to be enrolled in one of three alternative program settings — a full-time licensed child care center, a full-time registered family day care home, or part-time in a Head Start 5-year-old program.

Parents of children who meet the above qualifications are asked to fill out the registration blank at the end of this article and mail it to the designated address. All parents registering children for school will receive a registration appointment. However, parents who choose to use one of the exemptions from the required 5-year-old attendance must request the appropriate exemption form from the Department of Pupil Services at 301-334-8939.

Parents are notified to bring their child's birth certificate, an official immunization record, and social security card, and to provide important information for the school's records during the registration. New state regulations now require parents to also bring proof of current residency, such as deed/mortgage agreement, current property tax bill, current rental lease or agreement, or current utility bill with applicant's name and address.

In addition, each child registering for school will receive a general health interview. Parents should be aware that a booster immunization for MMR (measles, mumps, and rubella) is required for kindergarten and first grade registrants. Immunizations, if needed, will be administered on site by the Garrett County Health Department nurses free of charge.

A HANDMADE AFGHAN will be awarded to a lucky person who supports the Garrett County Humane Society by purchasing raffle tickets for the afghan. The drawing will be held July 17 at the Garrett County Fairgrounds in McHenry during the first Fido Costume Contest. Displaying the afghan in the photo above are Nancy Helbig, left, and Bernadine Friend, both active members of the local Humane Society. Tickets, which are $1 each, may be obtained from any Humane Society member, including Gayle Miller, who may be contacted at 301-387-4862.

Earns Award From Achievement Acad.

Among those local students who have been named award winners by the United States Achievement Academy is Chris Lantz, son of Steve and Mary Lantz, Oakland, and a student at Southern Middle School. Lantz was honored in the area of science and was nominated for the award by SMS teacher Bill Janoske.

The academy selects award winners based on a number of criteria, including academic performance, interest and aptitude, leadership qualities, enthusiasm, citizenship, dependability, and a recommendation from a teacher, coach, or other school official. The names of the winners appear in the academy's yearbook.

COVER STORY

Family, pop royalty join Shania Twain on CBS

By Tony Atherton
©TVData Features Syndicate

There's quite a difference between the snow-covered bush of northern Ontario and the sandy beaches of Miami. It's almost as great as the one between Shania Twain's impoverished childhood in Timmins, Ontario, and her current status as an international superstar and six-time Grammy nominee.

These contrasts are reflected in Shania Twain's Winter Break, airing on CBS Wednesday, March 3.

The special, featuring guest stars Elton John and the Backstreet Boys, was taped at two special outdoor Miami concerts.

The program also includes footage of Twain taped in her Ontario hometown in January. Twain uses the Canadian segments to reflect on her roots and to introduce her guests.

The Timmins tapings gave Twain a chance to look up old friends and visit with her younger sister and two brothers. Twain cared for her siblings for three years after their parents died in a 1987 car accident.

"Going back was great," says the 33-year-old singer, who now shares a Florida home with her husband, music producer Jeff Lange.

In addition to her visit home, what sets the show apart is Twain's choice of guest stars. John has been one of her idols since she was a child, she says.

John and Twain swap hit singles in a duet performance of his "The Way You Look Tonight" and her "You're Still the One."

Twain's other guests, the Backstreet Boys, are always, in a way, part of her tour.

"They just give me a lot of energy, and I listen to them a lot before I go onstage to get me all pumped up," she says.

Twain should get pumped just keeping track of her phenomenal record sales. Her 1995 album The Woman in Me and her 1997 release Come On Over have both gone multiplatinum.

Shania Twain

At last count, The Woman in Me had topped 11 million in sales, a figure only three other women have achieved with a single album: Whitney Houston and two of Twain's Canadian compatriots, Celine Dion and Alanis Morissette.

Twain says she loves the fact that Canadian female singers have been so successful internationally, and it doesn't surprise her.

"I never thought that being Canadian was ever going to stop me. Sure, when you come from another country ... there's always a period of breaking through," she says. "You have just as good a chance as anybody else to make it in another country if you want to become an international artist."

In fact, Twain's down-home Canadian roots have proven something of an asset in the United States. The media seem enchanted by the notion of a sexy chanteuse who knows how to plant trees, handle a chain saw and jump-start a car.

Twain says she's used to bucking stereotypes, including those that assume because she presents a sexy, navel-baring image onstage and in videos, she is more sizzle than steak.

"You don't have to mask your femininity just because you're capable of doing a lot of other things," she says.

Tomb-opening special is 'not your mom's Egypt'

By John Crook
©TVData Features Syndicate

"Show me the mummy!"

That's the driving philosophy behind Opening the Lost Tombs: Live From Egypt, a two-hour special premiering Tuesday, March 2, on Fox.

Originating from Cairo at 3 a.m. Egypt time, the special presents the exploration of a tomb in a small pyramid that had been undisturbed for more than 4,000 years. Maury Povich is the host.

"Only 15 percent of the Giza Plateau has ever been excavated," executive producer Peter Isacksen says. "We are going into a tomb that Dr. (Zahi) Hawass' team is excavating."

Hawass, undersecretary of state for Egypt's Giza Plateau, says he fully briefs any camera crew members before entering such tomb areas.

"(I) tell them, 'Don't touch. Don't make a big flashlighting on any painting,' " Hawass explains. "We are going to be very careful in trying to enter sites like this."

Questions of taste, of course, hover around the project, which Isacksen characterizes as "not your mother's Egypt. We're going to show it in a really new, inventive, Foxlike way."

Supervising producer Nancy Stern cuts to the chase: "We want to find a sarcophagus that has a mummy in it!"

Another Egyptologist, Dr. Emily Teeter, who is working on a Discovery Channel special about Cleopatra, says viewers shouldn't hold their breath.

"The monument that they're opening has stood and has been available for several thousand years," she points out. "From an academic point of view, we don't have a lot of faith that this is going to be particularly interesting."

Viewers will see the first live broadcast of the exploration of an ancient Egyptian pyramid in Opening the Lost Tombs: Live From Egypt, airing Tuesday on Fox.

Q: You were wrong when you wrote that Roddy McDowall never did a TV series. I clearly remember he did one with Stephen Collins. –Martha L. Piercy, Charlotte, N.C.

A: I received similar letters from many readers who apparently saw an incomplete version of my answer. To recap: A reader asked if McDowall had starred in a late 1960s TV series. I replied that his first series role was in 1974's Planet of the Apes. Tales of the Gold Monkey, the show you recall, Martha, premiered in 1982. P.S. to one anonymous reader: McDowall was not in TV's My Friend Flicka.

Q: Did Margaret Colin (from the recent Lifetime movie The Secret) once play the part of Margo Hughes on As the World Turns? It was a long time ago! –R.B., Fort Myers, Fla.

A: Colin created the role of Margo Montgomery (later Hughes) in 1981. She left the show in 1983 and, for my money, no one since has equaled her.

Q: Is the actor who plays "The Biscuit" on Ally McBeal the same guy who played Pee Wee in the Porky's movies? –G.R.C. via e-mail.

A: No. Peter MacNicol plays John "The Biscuit" Cage on Ally. That was Dan Monahan in the Porky's movies.

Q: The African-American nurse on Becker looks very familiar to me. Was she once on a children's show? What else has she done? –Kathy Kurowsky via e-mail.

A: You must be remembering Hattie Winston, who plays Nurse Margaret Wyborn in Becker, from her old role as Sylvia on The Electric Company.

Roddy McDowall

She later played Nurse Toni Gillette in Nurse and maid Gloria Davis in the ABC drama Homefront.

Q: Is that David Brisbin, who played Mr. Ernst on Hey Dude, portraying one of the children's doctors on ER this season? –Megan via e-mail.

A: Yes. Brisbin began playing Dr. Babcock late last season.

Q: Whom did Demi Moore play on General Hospital, and when? –Nicholas Snowten, Charlotte, N.C.

A: In 1983, shortly before making a splash in the feature comedy No Small Affair, Moore played Jackie Templeton on the long-running soap.

Q: What was the 1970s sitcom starring Cleavon Little as a hospital orderly (and bookie)? –Phyllis Shemeley, Maple Shade, N.J.

A: Little starred as Dr. Jerry Noland in ABC's Temperature's Rising.

The sitcom ran from 1972 to 1974, with Little's character surviving three sweeping cast changes.

IN FOCUS

An amnesiac woman (Jane Seymour) seeks clues to her past in A Memory in My Heart Tuesday, March 2, on CBS.

Rebecca Blake's (Seymour) supportive husband already is worried about her recent headaches when a fainting spell brings a fateful encounter with a woman who recognizes her from earlier days as "Abbie."

Armed with a photograph of herself and her three forgotten children, she hunts for a man who may have the answers to her questions.

Q. I have a political button that pictures Abraham Lincoln. The picture is in color. On the back are the words "Bastian Bros. Co., Mfrs. of Ribbon, Metal, and Celluloid Novelties, Rochester, N.Y." Was it a campaign button in 1860 or 1864?

A. The earliest celluloid campaign buttons date from 1896. The few original Lincoln campaign pins were metal with black-and-white ferrotypes.

Your pin might date from the 1909 national celebration of the 100th anniversary of Lincoln's birth, or it might be one of several celluloid Lincoln buttons that have been made since the 1930s. Depending on its age and condition, your button is worth up to $30.

Q. I have a pale aqua Mammy cookie jar marked "McCoy" on the bottom and "Cookies" on the front. I believe I received it as a wedding gift in January, 1939. I have been told that it might be valuable.

A. Records from the Nelson McCoy Pottery indicate that your cookie jar was made between 1946 and 1957.

Your jar is valued at about $250.

A similar cookie jar was made earlier in the 1940s, but the wording on the woman's skirt read "Dem Cookies sho got dat Vitamin A." Only two examples of that jar have surfaced. One is an undecorated aqua jar; the other is yellow with underglaze paint on the hands and face.

TIP: To clean a gilt frame, try boiling three medium onions in two cups of water until the onions are soft. When the liquid is cool, use it to moisten a cloth, then rub the frame with the cloth.

Home Tips

KEEP IT NEW – As soon as I bring home a new garment, I immediately put a drop of clear nail polish on the threads of each button. Thanks to this procedure, I have never lost a button. On those with expensive material, I put the drop underneath the button.

In either case, it never shows, and it secures the button for a very long time. Kate W., Tustin, Calif.

SWEET SMELLS – For me, all those perfume strip samples included in charge account bills are a distraction.

But these samples make surprising and delightful bookmarks! Other happy locations for perfume strips are the linen closet, especially between pillowcases, drawers and tissue boxes. Mmmm! Rita F., Liberty Lake, Wash.

PARSLEY – To keep a supply of chopped parsley on hand, wash, then dry in a salad spinner. Pull leaves off stems and chop in food processor, then place in freezer bag and freeze. It works beautifully! Barbara N., Washington, D.C.

Biography®

GOLDIE HAWN: PURE GOLDIE

Comedy is Goldie Hawn's gift. A happy hybrid of the '30s screwball comedies' smart glamour girls and the '50s dizzy blondes, Hawn's a looker who also has impeccable comic timing and an amazingly putty-like face. And unlike many current romantic comediennes, Hawn, April's Biography magazine cover, is genuinely funny off-screen too. She opens this month in a remake of Neil Simon's 1968 hit, "The Out of Towners."

Hawn began dancing at 3, under her dancing teacher/mom's tutelage. After high school, she worked at upscale Manhattan go-go clubs and fruitlessly auditioned for every show in town. Next, she tried her luck in Hollywood, landing her breakthrough role as "Laugh-In's" favorite ditz. After an Oscar for "Cactus Flower," her first movie, she proved she was more than a piece of golden fluff. "Foul Play," "Shampoo," "Death Becomes Her," "The First Wives' Club" and others followed.

By the time she produced and starred in her signature movie, "Private Benjamin," she'd wed and divorced one husband, was on the verge of divorcing a second and had given birth to two children. Both men found it hard to live in Hawn's shadow. Enter actor Kurt Russell, cast as Hawn's lover in her second producing venture, "Swing Shift." Although they haven't married, sparks have been flying for more than 15 years. The two have one son.

Since 1989, the blended family has lived in a seven-bedroom custom-built Colorado house with a meditation room, exercise and screening rooms, pool, tennis court and family rooms. The couple try to arrange their assignments so they're always within reach of each other and their family.

At 53, Hawn is truly happy. Her secret? "I have an extremely positive attitude. I love life. Maybe I have a higher level of serotonin in my brain, or maybe it's just a choice. And I choose to be happy."

NOTICE TO ALL PROPERTY TAXPAYERS OF MOUNTAIN LAKE PARK

Pursuant to Tax-Property Article 10-204.3 Of the Annotated Code of Maryland requires counties and municipal corporations to notify taxpayers of the availability of the semi-annual property tax payment option for owner-occupied residential property that is the principal residence of a homeowner.

If a taxpayer elects to make semi-annual property tax payments, 1/2 of the municipal taxes will be deferred until January 1. The second payment, due January 1, will incur a service charge reasonably equivalent to the anticipated lost interest income associated with the delay in the payment of the second installment and covering administrative expenses associated with the semi-annual payment not exceeding 10% of the charge of the lost interest.

To be eligible to make this election of semi-annual payment, all previous year taxes must be paid in full by June 1. Taxpayers not making their first semi-annual payment by September 30 are automatically waived out of the semi-annual plan and must pay the full tax bill.

Selection of payment schedule for property taxes may be made upon receipt of tax bill. If taxpayer wishes to pay in full, he must choose the appropriate coupon and return it with the proper payment. If the taxpayer wishes to participate in the semi-annual payment option, the appropriate coupon should be returned with the payment before the September 30 deadline.

It is the responsibility of the taxpayer to notify their mortgage company of their wishes to pay on a semi-annual basis if they have an escrow account. The town is not responsible for any involvement in the semi-annual payment process.

Whatever payment plan the taxpayer elects shall remain in effect until the taxpayer decides to change it.

4-H Club News

TRAILBLAZERS
by Emily Cosner

The February meeting of the Trailblazers 4-H Club was held Thursday, Feb. 18, at Yough Glades Elementary School. Members answered the role with an activity they wanted to do this year.

We were reminded about Public Speaking on March 12 and about Achievement Night on April 10 at Northern High School. We talked about ski day and the Livestock Association meeting. We discussed having a club achievement program. The remaining project records were handed out. We voted to have each member pay $2 a year for dues and to have each member pay for his or her own project books. We discussed themes for our fair booth and float.

Following the meeting, every member gave a speech. Susan Mayfield, Ryan Sines, Diana Mayfield, Carey Rush, Nick Rush, Jenna Rush, Erin Rush, Cody Ferguson, and Emily Green gave prepared speeches. Extemporaneous speeches were given by the following: Erica Green, Emily Cosner, G.W. Beckman, Travis Sines, Sarah Cosner, and Angie Beckman. During the speeches, our Clover 4-H'ers, Jennifer Cosner and Trevor Stonesifer, worked on a craft.

Our next meeting will be March 18 at Yough Glades Elementary at 7:30 p.m.

COVE KIDS
by Beth Long reporter

The monthly meeting of the Cove Kids 4-H Club was held on Tuesday Feb. Keith Bender, president, called the meeting to order. The American pledge was led by Michael Bender, and the 4-H pledge was led by Rachel Schmidt. The roll call and secretary's report were given by secretary Lindsay Swearman.

Alice Long, club leader, spoke to the club about starting a fund-raiser. The books will be given to the club members in the March meeting for the fund-raiser. Carla Swearman, activity leader, talked to the club about the year's fun trip. Pittsburgh and Washington, D.C. were mentioned as possible destinations, and there will be a more detailed discussion at a later meeting.

Darlene Schmidt, who will be presenting a crafts activity at the end of each meeting, asked if anyone participating in the crafts project would also like to learn how to use puppets.

It was noted that there will be a skating party at Divito Park on March 20, at a cost of $5 per person.

Club members had been asked to prepare and deliver a speech, each of which was judged. Participants and their topics were as follows:

Matthew Margroff spoke about dogs; Megan Margroff described her dance classes; Keenan Kabell recalled his trip to Chicago; Rachel Margroff spoke about ponies; Melissa Collins dicussed animal testing; and Beth Long related the history of the Globe Theatre.

Jessie Biser saluted her father; Tony Bender spoke about bow hunting; Rachel Schmidt critiqued the Backstreet Boys; Leslie Swearman spoke about forests; and Michelle Bender's topic was "Sage, A Special Boy."

Ryan Evans spoke about his family; Leah Biser described her dog, Hunter; Lindsay Swearman disussed William Shakeapeare; Michael Bender described his grandfather's cabin; Cassie Adkins' presentation was on Indians of the world; and Keith Bender spoke about deer hunting.

Judges for the evening's speeches were Robert Bender, Kate Fratz, and Linda Strider. Gifts were given to the judges and to the leader, Alice Long. The winners in each divsion were Rachel Margroff, clover: Ryan Evans, junior; Rachel Schmidt, intermediate; and Melissa Collins, senior.

RULES OF PEDESTRIAN SAFETY DID NOT APPLY this morning in Oakland or any other Garrett County town, where snow began to fall last evening at an accelerated rate and high winds whipped the mountaintop all night long. Most places of business were closed today, since not everyone lives close enough to walk. These two women do, however, and they left footprints down the middle of Second Street as they trudged on to work. Power outages, closed roadways, and continuing blizzard conditions have kept the county quiet today, except perhaps in living rooms, where kids home from school are most likely pleading for something to do. Adverse weather conditions are expected to continue for the next few days, although significant additional snowfall has not been predicted.

GCC Sets Tuition Waivers For Out-Of-State Students

Tuition waivers amounting to a 33 percent reduction of tuition costs for out-of-state students and student-athletes from surrounding counties in Pennsylvania and West Virginia have been announced by Garrett Community College.

The regional waiver will apply to students who are residents of Somerset and Fayette counties in Pennsylvania, and Grant, Mineral, Preston, Tucker, and Monogalia counties in West Virginia. Students may enroll in any academic program at the college, and second-year students will also be eligible.

The athletic waiver will reduce for out-of-state students who participate in one or more of GCC's intercollegiate sports programs, mens and womens basketball, mens baseball, womens volleyball, and golf.

Dr. Steve Herman, GCC's president, told the college board of trustees that the tuition wavers will enable the school to comply with the state-mandated increase in out-of-state tuition and the proximity of the college to the contiguous states.

The new waivers will benefit both out-of-state students and the college, said Joan Crawford, GCC's director of enrollment development. "We are close to the borders of Pennsylvania and West Virginia and we have always enrolled students from these states. Now we will be able to give them an additional incentive to come here."

Crawford also pointed out that students receiving these tuition waivers will still be eligible for the college's Earn and Learn program, which places out-of-state students in jobs related to their academic programs and are thus able to defray costs of their education.

Residents of Pennsylvania and West Virginia who would like to have further information about these tuition waivers can call the GCC admissions office at 301-387-3010.

PASSING THE 1,000 MILE MARK - Having put more than 1,000 miles on her walking shoes in the last year, Dixie Wilson, at age 90, certainly shames most younger folks. The Kitzmiller resident signed up last February to participate in a Garrett County Health Department's Walk Away program; and she did just that! The premise of the very flexible program is: "Walk anywhere — just walk." Each participant is given a journal in which to record dates, times, places, and distances walked. After logging in the first 25 miles, the walker earns a sweatshirt. For each additional 50 miles covered, a red heart for the sweat shirt is earned. At 500 miles, a gold heart is presented. "Dixie has two gold hearts now," said Nancy Brady, health department coordinator for the program. The goal is to reduce cardiac risk through low stress exercise, she explained. "Besides lowering risks of heart disease, walking is a great stress reducer. It is just overwhelmingly good for a person to walk," Brady concluded. Funding for the walking incentive program is through the Centers for Disease Control. For more information on the Walk Away program persons may call Nancy Brady at 301-334-8122 or 301-895-3111. In the photo above, Dixie Wilson models her Walk Away sweatshirt displaying all the red and gold hearts she has earned while walking to strengthen her heart and enhance her health and well-being.

Teen Implicated In Local Hold-Up Receives 15 Yrs.

An 18-year-old Berlin, Pa., man will spend 15 years in jail for his involvement in a November 1996 hold-up at a Grantsville Burger King restaurant. Matthew Paul Shonko, charged with armed robbery, was sentenced last Friday by Judge Fred A. Thayer in Garrett County Circuit Court.

According to the report issued by the State's Attorney for Garrett County, Shonko and another individual gained entry to the Burger King along Chestnut Ridge Road on Nov. 8, 1996, and tied up two employees. They held shotguns on the two workers while they took money from the cash registers. They left with nearly $2,350, according to the report.

Officers of the Maryland State Police obtained an arrest warrant for Shonko in February 1997, acting on information from their own investigation and from Pennsylvania authorities. The defendant was returned to Maryland for this crime after being sentenced for theft-related and conspiracy to commit murder charges in Pennsylvania. Shonko has been returned to that state to serve a 3-to-10 year sentence, and then will begin his 15-year Maryland

Seminar Slated To Help Small GC Businesses Sell To Federal Govt.

A seminar for small local companies interested in exploring opportunities in selling goods and services to the federal government has been set for Wednesday, March 10, at 7 p.m., in Room 306 of the Continuing Education building of Garrett Community College. Although this seminar is free of charge, reservations must be made by the close of business tomorrow, Friday, March 5, by calling the Western Small Business Development Center at 301-729-2400.

The seminar will provide participants with details on the HUB Zone (Historically Underutilized Business Zone) Empowerment Contracting Program, a new federal procurement program designed to stimulate economic development and create jobs by providing contracting preferences to small businesses located in historically underutilized business zones. Garrett County has been designated as a HUB Zone, a designation which provides preference to local small and minority owned businesses as they compete for federal dollars.

Officials from the Small Business Administration, an independent federal agency, will be making the presentation and leading the question and answer period that follows. Among the topics to be covered are the types of firms that qualify for the program; the benefits that can be realized through program participation; and the contracts that are available to local businesses.

Companies already doing business through the program will also learn the latest developments or changes in the program and how to best take advantage of the opportunity to upgrade existing contracts.

Small businesses "finally get a break to be able to compete with the big guys," according to a letter to the Garrett County business community announcing the seminar and signed by Chamber president David Moe.

"Federal procurement has been streamlined to be more user-friendly and less demanding on the financial capabilities of small businesses," Moe said. "For example, federal procure-

Snow A Factor In Mishap Involving Four Vehicles

Snow on the roadway was noted as a factor in a four vehicle mishap on Route 219 Tuesday at 9:22 a.m., according to a report filed by Maryland State Police at Barrack W, McHenry.

Brenda M. Browning, 39, Mtn. Lake Park, was driving northbound on Route 219 in a 1986 Jeep. She reportedly slid on the snow and crossed into the southbound lane striking a southbound 1989 Dodge Raider, driven by Jeanne A. Thayer, 47, Swanton. Thayer's Dodge was subsequently struck by a southbound 1993 Ford Explorer, driven by Peggy A. Whitlock, 55, Friendsville.

Browning's vehicle was struck by a southbound 1994 Oldsmobile driven by William J. Welch, 72, Oakland.

Southern Rescue Squad responded to the scene along with the Oakland VFD. Whitlock was taken to Garrett Memorial Hospital, where she was treated and released.

Browning was charged with failure to drive right of center.

Personal Prop. Tax To Remain For Year 2000

The Board of Garrett County Commissioners this week issued a public statement announcing that the personal property tax for Fiscal Year 2000 will be unchanged. At the request of the former board of commissioners last year, enabling legislation was introduced and passed during the 1998 General Assembly that allows the phase-out of personal property tax, at the discretion of the commissioners, over a 10-year period.

According to a press release from the commissioners, the three have established that their "number one priority" is to reduce the overall debt and debt service payments, and similarly appropriate funds for substantial capital projects. They are currently reviewing projected revenue and expenditures for Fiscal Year 2000 and plan to outline projected fiscal requirements for the next five years, according to the release.

Fiscal year 2000 budget requests have thus far been significant, according to the commissioners, coming from numerous departments for operating expenses and capital improvement projects.

The board has directed the county administrator to maintain current tax rates, including personal property, in the preparation of Fiscal Year 2000 Operating and

Group Appointed To Explore Idea Of Building New Health Dept. Complex

Rodney Glotfelty, health officer for Garrett County, met with the county commissioners this week to discuss the idea of constructing a complex that would house all facets of the Garrett County Health Department. Currently the offices are in several locations in Southern Garrett County, having been spread out in five locations after leaving the Garrett County Memorial Hospital. The hospital housed the department for several years, but an expansion project at Garrett Memorial displaced the health offices two years ago.

The former board of commissioners and former health officer Rex Archer had voted to develop the current G.W. Plaza in Mountain Lake Park as the new complex, and an architect was hired to develop a plan there. However, Glotfelty and the current commissioners have decided that the location is not appropriate.

"The location would be very inconvenient for many county residents," Glotfelty said. "Anyone coming from the northern part of the county would have to drive all the way through Oakland and into Mountain Lake Park. We just don't think that's very feasible."

Chairman Ernest Gregg agreed, stating that the G.W. Plaza location is "impractical." In addition to the problematic location, the current building at the site would have to be substantially renovated to accommodate the health department offices.

"One of the more logical options there would be to tear down the existing structure and build something completely new, and if we're going to do that, we ought to find a better location," Glotfelty said. He also noted that the recommended 18-month construction/renovation at the existing building would once again relocate the offices currently housed there and would again disrupt service to citizens.

In a letter to the commissioners concerning this issue, Glotfelty stated that he is grateful the new commissioners have agreed that the construction of a new office complex for the health department is a "major county priority."

Issues related to location of the facility, securing necessary funds, and possible inclusion of other health related agencies must be resolved in the near future, Glotfelty stated in the letter.

"Ultimately, the health department complex will be a county-owned and maintained facility," he stated. Glotfelty asked the commissioners to appoint a steering committee to move the process along. He said the committee should consist of

USAF Clarinet Quartet Set To Perform At GCC

A concert by the U.S. Air Force Contemporary Clarinet Quartet will be given in the Garrett Community College auditorium this coming Wednesday, March 10, at 7:30 p.m. The concert is free and open to the public.

The quartet, newest chamber ensemble of the USAF Band of Flight, entertains throughout a seven-state area with a variety of styles, from dinner music to concert performances. Stationed at Wright-Patterson Air Force Base in Ohio, the group is composed of active duty enlisted members under the command of Major Courtney Pohl, commander and conductor of the USAF Band of Flight.

Technical Sergeant Carolyn Sargent, bass clarinetist, traces her musical heritage to her father, an Army bandsman during World War I, who introduced her to prominent musical role models such as Benny Goodman and Woody Herman. Sargent holds a B.A. in music education from Glassboro State College in New Jersey and has played the bass clarinet for nearly

A BIG CHECK, big in more ways than one, was recently presented to Oakland mayor Asa McCain, left, by Jeff McCauley, vice president of Farmers and Merchants Bank, Oakland, to be used to help renovate the historic B&O train station in Oakland (seen in the background). The check, made out for $5,000, is the first donation received under a new tax credit program, which provides a tax credit equal to 50 percent of the value of the donation to the Oakland station project. These tax credits may be claimed in addition to state and federal deductions for charitable contributions, which makes the "net cost" of the donation typically less than 30 cents for each dollar contributed. McCauley praised the program, saying that it provides local businesses a rare opportunity to help out with an important project, while actually costing far less than the donation itself. He challenged other local financial institutions to meet or exceed F&M's donation. Persons interested in learning more about the tax credit program may telephone the Oakland Town Hall at 301-334-2692 or the Oakland Main Street Program office at 301-533-4470.

Vacant House Gutted By Fire; Ruled Accidental

Fire that was reportedly the result of an electrical problem gutted a vacant, two-story, wood-frame structure along U.S. Rt. 219 near the Maryland-West Virginia border Saturday evening.

Volunteer fire fighters from the Mt. Grove, Aurora, Oakland, Gorman, Deer Park, and Bayard fire departments were summoned to the scene, just south of Red House, at 8:04 p.m. The blaze was brought under control in less than one-half hour, but the house was gutted. Gorman VFD chief Mike Steyer said that the house, vacant for some time, was owned by Ken Bachtel, who lived next door.

Deputy State Fire Marshal Robert Hahn Sr. investigated the incident on Sunday and determined that the cause was accidental and electrical in nature.

Also responding to the scene was the county air cascade vehicle from the Deep Creek VFC and a unit from the Southern Rescue Squad. There were no injuries reported.

Fire fighters remained on the scene until about 11:30 p.m.

"A Night Of Magic" To Benefit Garrett's BB/BS

"A Night of Magic" will be presented Saturday, March 20, at 7 p.m., in the auditorium of Garrett Community College as a fundraiser for Big Brothers/Big Sisters of Garrett County. The program will highlight the talents of Ben Sincell, master magician and professor of theater at GCC, who has been performing magic for over 30 years.

Sincell is currently a member of the board of directors of Our Town Theatre and technical director for Garrett Lakes Arts Festival (GLAF). He earned his master's in fine arts degree from West Virginia University, where he specialized in theatrical design.

"Although the main idea of the presentation is to have fun and let the audience participate in some of the performance," stated Sincell, "part of the program will investigate magic from ancient cultures and how, even today, much of what magicians do is based on ancient techniques and methods. So the program, which is especially entertaining to children, will appeal to all age groups."

The activity is priced to encourage families to attend. Tickets are $2 for children 12 years and under and $5 for adults. They are on sale at the following pharmacies: Beachy's in Grantsville, Friendsville, Deep Creek in the McHenry Plaza, and Englander's, Gregg's, and Proudfoot's in Oakland. Tickets will also be sold at the door as long as seats are available.

Big Brothers/Big Sisters of Garrett County expressed thanks to the pharmacies that have supported this community service activity, as well as to Sincell and GCC. If more information is needed about this activity or about Big Brothers/Big Sisters of Garrett County, persons may call the organization at 301-334-3591.

Amanda Stewart Recital Slated For Tomorrow

Amanda K. Stewart, local trombone virtuoso and Southern High School student, will present her first Garrett County recital on Friday, March 7, at 7 p.m. at the Mountain Top Christian Assembly of God Church. The church is located along Rt. 135, just east of Mtn. Lake Park.

The first half of the program will feature Amanda and her piano accompanist, Kathy Winkler, performing pieces by Grondahl, Fergolesi, and Mozart. The second half will include a trombone quartet performance with Miss Stewart, Dr. H. Keith Jackson of West Virginia University, and WVU seniors Matt Lenex and John Neurohr. They will present music by Haydn and Peeters.

The young musician has had a busy month, having participated in the Maryland All-State Orchestra in Baltimore and the All-Eastern Honor Orchestra in New York City.

In the All-State Orchestra, Miss Stewart was the principal trombone. The group performed at the Baltimore Convention Center under the direction of Dean Angeles, professor at Loyola University, New Orleans, La. Angeles conducted the orchestra in the Rienzi Overture by Richard Wagner, A Night on Bald Mountain by Modest Mousorgsky, and Symphony No. 2 by Jean Sibelius. Prior to the concert, Angeles stated that the orchestra was one of the best he had ever conducted. The audience apparently agreed, giving the group a 10-minute standing ovation at the close of the show.

Amanda was the principal bass trombone at last weekend's All-Eastern Honor Orchestra, which performed Mahler's Symphonie No. 5 at Carnegie Hall in New York City. The conductor was Benjamin Zander, 20-year conductor of the Boston Philharmonic. Zander noted in his preconcert comments that he had never known the Mahler piece to be played by an honor band in the United States — it is usually played by professional orchestras. However, he said the calibre of the musicians led him to choose it. Following the performance, the audience reportedly gave a 15-minute ovation.

While in New York, Amanda attended recitals by Joseph Alessi, principal trombone of the New York Philharmonic, and James Markey, co-principal trombone. She will attend a master class by Alessi on April 29 in New York and tour the Julliard School. Also in April, Miss Stewart will continue her quest for brass honors at the National Competition of the Music Teachers National Association in Los Angeles.

Amanda is the daughter of Brad and Patsy Stewart, Oakland.

SOCIAL WORKERS MONTH PROCLAIMED — The Garrett County commissioners met with local social workers this week to join the nation in proclaiming March as National Social Workers Month. The commissioners signed the proclamation, which states in part that social workers strive to make a difference by helping people resolve problems, cope with distressing situations, and locate resources to improve their social functioning; and that the diversity of the social work profession allows some to provide direct services and interventions to individuals, families, and groups, while others try to effect social change through work with communities, organizations, and the political system. The document states that a social worker can serve several roles, including advocate, resource coordinator, therapist, educator, and legislative lobbyist, touching many lives by assisting, guiding, and helping others to "successfully negotiate life challenges." Pictured left to right are Commissioner Wendell Beltzel, Michael Downton of the Dept. of Social Services' Child Protective Services, school-based therapist Suzanne Tomb, therapist Mary Louise Buckley, therapist Dawn Ross (all with Garrett County Mental Health), LCSW Donna McClintock (with Garrett County Health Dept., Geriatric Evaluation Services), child therapist Diana Boller, Commissioners Ernest Gregg and Fred Holliday, and Cheryl Pachilla of the Garrett County Addictions Services.

Wellness Programs Available To School Employees

The Garrett County Board of Education and the Wellness department of Garrett County Memorial Hospital are working together through a program called HealthWorks to make wellness programs accessible to employees at the different school worksites. "School employees have challenging jobs. It's important to be physically and mentally healthy in order to be most effective in working with children," remarked Gary Galloway, principal at Dennett Road School, one of the schools included in the program.

"Wellness requires a balance of work and play," explained Debora Nichols, CHES, coordinator of the Wellness department at Garrett County Memorial Hospital. With busy schedules many of us don't take time out for ourselves. That is one of the reasons many local employers, including the Board of Education, have started to look for ways to make Wellness programs more accessible for their employees."

Through the HealthWorks program, Nichols works with the individual employer to adapt the program so that it fits with the employer's needs. Presentations are made during lunchtime at some worksites, while others have presentations at the end of the workday. Some worksite wellness programs include blood screening and individual health counseling, while others include cooking classes and stress management programs.

"We recognize that while the employer is concerned about the health and well-being of their employees, they also have to think about the time and cost involved. That's why we work closely with the employer to determine what we can provide in terms of wellness programs," Nichols said.

Employers interested in obtaining more information about HealthWorks may contact Nichols at the Wellness department at GCMH by calling 301-334-2155, ext. 408.

NOTICE

TO ALL PROPERTY TAX PAYERS OF FRIENDSVILLE

Senate Bill No. 93 of the Annotated Code of Maryland requires counties and municipal corporations to notify taxpayers of the availability of the semi-annual property tax payment option for owner-occupied residential property that is the principal residence of a homeowner.

If a taxpayer elects to make semi-annual property tax payments, ½ of the municipal taxes will be deferred until January 1. The second payment, due January 1, will incur a service charge reasonably equivalent to the anticipated lost interest income associated with the delay in the payment of the second installment and covering administrative expenses associated with the semi-annual payment not exceeding 25% of the charge of the lost interest.

To be eligible to make this election of semi-annual payment, all previous year taxes must be paid in full by June 1. Taypayers not making their first semi-annual payment by September 30 are automatically waived out of the semi-annual plan and must pay the full tax bill.

Selection of payment schedule for property taxes may be made upon receipt of tax bill. If taxpayer wishes to pay in full, he must choose the appropriate coupon and return it with the proper payment. If the taxpayer wishes to participate in the semi-annual payment option, the appropriate coupon should be returned with the payment before the September 30 deadline.

It is the responsibility of the taxpayers to notify their mortgage company of their wishes to pay on a semi-annual basis if they have an escrow account. The town is not responsible for any involvement in the semi-annual payment process.

Whatever payment plan the taxpayer elects shall remain in effect until the taxpayer decides to change it.

Can You Say Sesquicentennial?

Plans are under way for our town's 150th birthday celebration! It's called the sesquicentennial, and if you can say that on your first attempt, then you're more than eligible to help us out. Join us at City Hall on Thursday, March 11, at 6:30 p.m. as we set the agenda for the week of Sunday, Oct. 10 through Sunday, Oct. 17. That means that various birthday celebrations will begin that weekend and coincide with some Autumn Glory activities. That's the idea behind the dates the committee has set for the big birthday bash. What we're especially looking for right now is input from civic and veterans' groups. We want to be able to set aside special days for these groups and we need help in doing that. So all of you Lions, Rotarians, and veterans' groups please mark down Thursday, March 11, on your calendars and make sure that your organization becomes a part of our 150th birthday celebration. Your groups were all there for our 100th, so we want to make sure your group is a part of the next piece of history.

individuals experienced in site searches and in financing similar projects.

Glotfelty said two site locations have already been discussed: one located on the northern side of Oakland, adjacent to the hospital, and the other, a more central location, near Garrett Community College.

"I believe the latter location would be preferable. It would provide a convenient location for providing services to a majority of county residents and would allow us to take advantage of the information technology infrastructure being developed at the college," Glotfelty said. "This location would also provide cost savings to the department, as northern satellite clinics could be reduced in size or eliminated. I believe the time is right to seriously consider this option."

Glotfelty reported that the health department recently received confirmation that $867,000 from the Department of Mental Health and Hygiene-sponsored Community Bond Program has been awarded to the county to construct the mental health and addiction program sections of the new facility.

"It is imperative that we move forward at this time to secure additional funds to complete the entire project," Glotfelty said. "The most promising source of grant funds for a rural health clinic would be from the Community Development Block program and the Appalachian Regional Commission. The Rural Development Community Facilities Grant/Loan Program could provide an additional small grant. This source would more likely provide low interest loan money for up to a 40-year term to complete the project. The savings to the county in consolidating health department services in one location could easily pay for this loan."

To explain, Glotfelty provided the commissioners with a break-down of current facilities costs. With the five areas being rented by different departments, yearly rent costs are reaching nearly $136,000. County-owned space currently being used by health department offices (which would be freed up for other occupants that could be rent-paying) is worth about $82,220 more.

Glotfelty told the commissioners that some consideration should also be given to the idea of renting space in the new facility to interested groups. He said he has recently fielded inquiries from various groups interested in such a rental agreement. They include the Garrett County Office for Children, Youth, and Families, Garrett County Department of Emergency Medical Services, Big Brothers/Big Sisters, the Burlington Center, and others.

"Rental fees charged to these agencies would help offset the debt service on the building," Glotfelty said.

The appointment of the "right individuals" for the steering committee is critical, Glotfelty said. He offered several names for the commissioners' consideration, including Dr. Steve Herman, Peggy Jamison, Duane Yoder, Linda Gnegy, Gary Mullich, John Nelson, Monty Pagenhardt, and Steve Sherrard. Glotfelty said he would agree to chair this committee with Pagenhardt.

Gregg said the persons named would be good for the committee, but also suggested that the commissioners appoint a person to represent the general public. Glotfelty agreed, but noted that time was of the essence. Gregg said for Glotfelty to proceed with the named members of the committee and that he and the other commissioners would soon appoint the public representative.

In another case, Thayer sentenced an Oakland man to eight years in jail. Bobby Donald Tichinel, 37, pleaded guilty in December to the charges of child abuse, third degree sex offense, and perverted sexual practice. The defendant received 10 years for the child abuse charge, and two years each for the sex charges. Thayer suspended six of the 14 years and ordered Tichinel to be on supervised probation upon his release and to complete a sex offenders' treatment program.

The defendant was arrested in May of last year by the Maryland State Police after an investigation revealed that he had sexually abused a juvenile from January through April of 1998.

In another sex offense case, an Oakland man was sentenced last week by Thayer to one year in jail. Christopher Lee Thorn, 33, pleaded guilty to a charge of fourth degree sex offense and one charge of contributing to a child being in need of supervision.

Thayer imposed a one-year term for each of these counts, to run concurrently. According to the state's attorney, Thorn's plea resulted in the dismissal of charges of second degree rape and third degree sexual offense.

Officers of the Garrett County Sheriff's Office charged Thorn last fall after relatives of a 14-year-old girl reported their concerns about her alleged relationship with the defendant. After being charged initially, Thorn apparently remained in contact with the juvenile, which led to the second charge.

ment officers are authorized to transact by credit card purchases up to $2,500 if your company offers that service. In addition, there are many ways to increase sales through joint ventures.

"The federal government purchases a variety of unusual goods and services [from qualified businesses]," said Moe. "All sorts of retreat and conference packages for employees, gadgets, promotional items, wood products ranging from mulch to furniture, food products, parts machining and repair, landscaping materials, and many others too numerous to mention.

"The federal government is actively looking for ways to include small businesses [located] in HUB Zone areas," Moe continued. "Your merchandise or service may be just the item needed by government agencies, such as machined goods for the Department of Defense or roadwork for the Department of Transportation. Other participating agencies are the departments of Agriculture, Health and Human Services, Energy, Housing and Urban Development, and Veteran Affairs; the Environmental Protection Agency; NASA; and the General Services Administration."

MDE Seeking Comments On Water Program

The Maryland Department of the Environment (MDE) is soliciting comments on its plan to assure and assess the safety of public drinking water sources in Maryland. A draft of the program document has been prepared for submission to the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency and is available for public comment. The 1996 amendments to the federal Safe Drinking Water Act require each state to develop a plan with public input.

The state's plan was prepared with significant input from water suppliers, local governments, public health agencies, and citizens concerned about protection of drinking water supplies. The plan calls for the preparation of maps for some 3,600 water sources that identify intake or well locations with a corresponding watershed or contributing area, land uses, and potential sources of contamination within that area. Water quality data will be collected and reviewed to determine which contaminants are present in the water supply source.

Along with the maps will be a narrative description of the mapping effort and an explanation of the vulnerability of the water supply source to contamination and its sources, which may affect the safety of the water supply. With this information, local governments in partnership with MDE and other agencies can develop protection programs to improve the integrity of each water supply, a spokesperson said.

For more information or to obtain a copy of the plan, persons may contact MDE's Water Supply Program at 410-631-3714

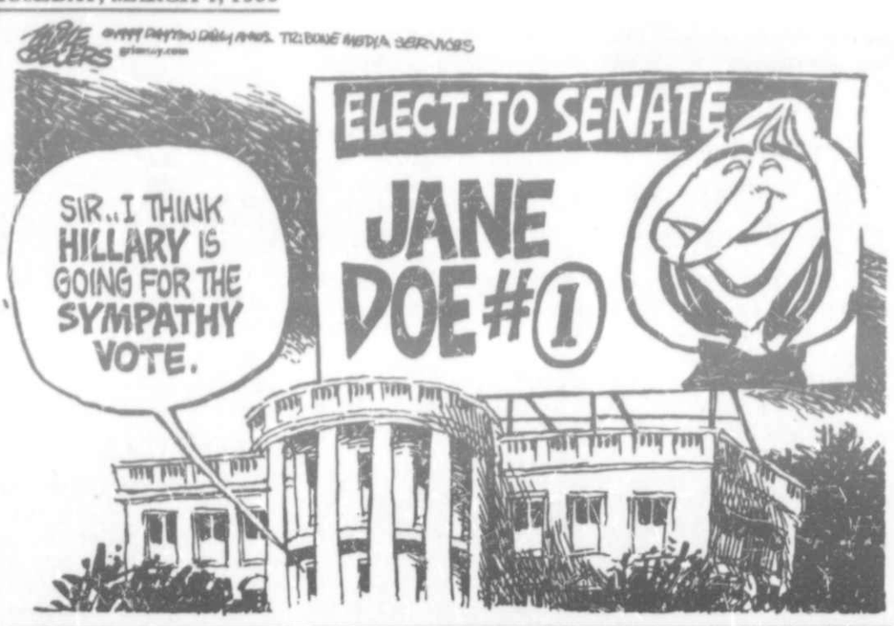
Fax Machines Can't Do It...

No matter how many advancements in technology our society enjoys, there are times, like this morning, when Mother Nature still has her way with us. Last night's snowstorm, which has virtually shut down just about every agency, every government office, and over half of our local businesses, also took a major toll on our staff here at the newspaper office. In fact, it was not until late morning that we even made a decision on whether or not we would be able to publish today. We were fortunate to have electricity and other utility services, but half of our staff of about 27 simply could not get here. Thus we have people doing things they are not accustomed to doing, and having to take on far more than their usual workloads on an always-hectic-under-the-best-of-circumstances Thursday morning. So we ask our readers to understand this week if some stories are missed and/or if there are errors.

It's true that fax machines, telephones, and the Internet offer some assistance during such times; but there is no replacement, at least in major parts of our operation, for your basic man(and woman)power. Fax machines and the Internet do nothing to help move two feet of snow out of our driveways and parking lots, and they do nothing to help us print, off-bear, collate, count, lift, tie up, label, bag, and deliver our newspapers.

We decided that we would, one way or another, publish this rag today, utilizing other members of our employees' families if available, and any other means needed to reach that end. Of course, we have no control over the wind and snow, no control over the U.S. Postal Service's decision to not run their trucks today, and no control over newsstand owners' decision to not open today. But at least, when some degree of normalcy returns tomorrow morning (we hope), our newspapers will be on their way to their thousands of respective destinations.

To the members of our dedicated staff who were able to make it in today (and especially to Sue, who was off this week because of the death of her mother just three days ago, but came in because she knew we needed her), we express our utmost appreciation.



Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

On Friday, March 5, Our Town Theatre will sponsor a reading of The Most Massive Woman Wins, a one-act play about eating disorders written by Madeleine George. Afterwards, there will be an open forum, during which the audience can discuss the presentation as well as the causes, repercussions, and signals of eating disorders with our guests, Doctor Alfred Kasprowicz, the director of eating disorders at Chestnut Ridge Hospital, and Suzanne Tomb, a local consultant on eating disorders.

Instead of charging an entrance fee, OTT asks that participants contribute some sort of personal care product (i.e., deodorant, shampoo, baby diapers, etc.), which will be donated to the House of Hope.

There is no rule dictating that those who attend this function must have eating disorders. If you have friends or family members who suffer from these afflictions, or if you simply want to become more informed about our society's problems with ailments such as anorexia and overeating, we invite you to come and share your concerns and questions. While many of our programs for the month of March are geared toward women, we encourage men to attend any or all of them.

"A theatre should be a cornerstone of its community" is part of the mission statement of Our Town Theatre. It is important that the activities at OTT not only entertain the people of Garrett County, but that they also attempt to enlighten us and encourage us to grow and take some risks. If Friday evening's program is successful, we will do our best to pursue other relevant issues through theatrical experiences coupled with thought-provoking activities. We hope to see you on Friday night at 7:30 p.m. Any questions may be directed to the theatre at 301-334-5640.

Thank you,
Jane B. Avery
Artistic Director
Our Town Theatre

To the Editor:

If those who do not learn from history are condemned to repeat it, Garrett County would be wise to study this red flag in recent Wal-Mart history.

The January 26, 1999, Cumberland Times-News reports the Country Club Mall in LaVale was sold at a $19.2 million loss to its previous owners, who purchased it 10 years ago for $51.6 million and sold it in December for $32.4 million, a 37 percent nose dive, not counting another $4 million spent for 1995 renovations.

Can anyone doubt that the LaVale Wal-Mart, opened in 1993, played a major role in the mall catastrophe? Could Oakland withstand such economic implosion?

Never gamble more than you can afford to lose, especially if you already have a Wal-Mart well within driving range, but safely out of harm's reach.

Sincerely,
R.C. Speicher

To the Editor:

Regarding the reappointment of Adrienne Ottaviani to the State Board of Education, I would first like to clarify and correct the misinformation printed in the Cumberland Times-News regarding my comments. I did not specify "college education" as a requirement, but I did strongly recommend the need for an individual to possess "credentials in the field of education" — knowledge and expertise in education to be able to address the many complex and critical challenges that the board will be facing as we enter the next century. I certainly believe that life's experiences and the "school of hard knocks" also serve as an excellent training ground, as well as formal education.

This state board has a tremendous amount of responsibility. It sets policy for the administration of the public school system by adopting bylaws and regulations which have the force of law. This board consults with and advises county boards of education, superintendents of schools and their staffs, principals, and teachers. It also mediates disputes arising from the 24 local independent school districts in Maryland.

I have submitted a recommendation to Governor Parris Glendening of an individual from Allegany County who has a lifetime of experience in the field of education (at all levels), a person of integrity, highly respected in the community and who is extremely interested in offering his expertise on this board.

Finally, since Adrienne's appointment met with some local resistance and consternation four years ago, I feel that a new appointment from Allegany County with outstanding credentials in the field of education would contribute greatly to the educational health of our region and that of the state.

To the Editor:

Ken Starr or Ken Bauer — I wonder who is the most contentious? Thank God, their contentiousness does not reflect the will of the people, the thing on which our country was established! It is little wonder that such extreme bias and unforgiveness feeds the hatred that keeps all humanity apart.

We have been striving, since the Civil War, to recover from the stigma of racial hatred, and we still have a ways to go. We also need to address the subject of political hatred as well, that a few extremists still struggle and insist to keep alive. These persons will not accept the fact that there is more than one opinion to every subject, so that the horns of the devil continually appear to thwart the very principle of Christian thought.

Our political system was not founded on the belief that differing opinions were to be a bloody battleground of hatred, pitting mankind against mankind, leading to enmity and war. Rather, instead of breeding anger and disgust toward others, the more gentle way is by reconciliation, not by bombastic outbursts and lengthy diatribes. Why not refrain from unjustly judging others and let God be the judge, for a change?

To the Editor:

Appalling, sad, reprehensible, sickening, disgusting, and any other synonyms that you can think of are some of the words that might describe the treatment that I have observed given to one of our senior citizens in this county.

In a county wherein the people speak with pride about their Christian beliefs and their patriotism, I find this especially disheartening. Coupled with this is the fact that some of the people who participate in this behavior are the same ones who have this amazing propensity to hold themselves up to the people as the very pillars of the community. Somehow these people have deluded themselves into believing that this Machiavellian attitude toward solving the problems of the county is the right one. Indeed, I believe that it is this elitist attitude that is at the very core of most of the problems that we are confronted with.

A few of these problems have been brought to the attention of our public servants over the years by Louise Harvey. I have attended some of these hearings/meetings with her and have seen firsthand the shabby way that they have treated her, including condescension, ridicule, buckpassing, snickering, etc. I think of these people as being lower than whale dung (which lies at the bottom of the ocean) and even that is a compliment for them.

Louise Harvey is an 87-year-old disabled veteran of World War II; a very bright person, in fact, much smarter than most of our local "leaders." Unfortunately, with age comes the usual problems: namely, loss of hearing, problems with vision, and so on. And so, some of these younger, physically fit people seem to see that as an invitation to use the tactic of derision in dealing with her. (I can almost hear them now, protesting, saying that's not the way it is at all).

Where does this fit in with the recent trends in society? I submit that many, if not all, of our problems can be traced to leadership (or the lack thereof). Look at the rise in the crime rate. Look at sexual harassment: e.g., Aberdeen Proving Grounds, Tailhook, Paula Jones. Look at cheating at the Naval Academy (they even had a stolen car ring there in recent years). Look at our commander-in-chief and how he conducts himself. Graft, bribes, misconduct, unethical behavior by some of our public servants. And behavior within some politicians' families including damage to others' property without the appropriate acknowledgment that someone has been wronged. The Kennedys. Mary Jo Kopechne. All of these things are really about how we treat one another as we pursue our goals, which oftentimes are motivated more by greed than need.

Add to this those mealy-mouthed individuals who don't have the courage of their convictions and are afraid to make a stand. And here, I am talking particularly about those people who hide behind such things as party affiliation, or he/she is my friend, etc. Please note that I realize that I sometimes alienate people with these comments and thereby lose them as "friends." On the other hand, I usually gain a few "true friends" the same way. At this point, I have most likely offended more people than is good for my physical well-being, so I'll stop here, leaving much left unsaid on the subject.

It would be nice if public apologies were made to the lady who helped make it possible through her service to the country for all of you to enjoy the freedoms that you have. And please, not one of those, "I am sorry that Louise Harvey misunderstood, etc." From the heart, or not at all.

To the Editor:

I was pleased to see Mr. Duckworth's letter in which he was seeking out other genealogical researchers of his family names. If any of the readers are searching for family history in Garrett County, and if they have a computer and are on-line, a really great source of information is the Garrett County USGENWEB page, which can be reached at: http:// www.rootsweb.com/~md garret/garrett.html.

In conjunction with the web page we also run a Garrett County e-mail list, dealing with genealogy and history, to which you can subscribe by sending a message to: mdgarret-l-request @rootsweb.com. In the body of your message type only: SUBSCRIBE. Put nothing more than a period in the subject line.

If any of the local readers feel they could possibly help, we would welcome them.

THE VIRTUAL REALITY OF KILLING

Few communities have gone untouched from the spate of killings of children by children. Those who are untouched today will not long remain so. Like a virus, this is a trend that threatens to become an epidemic.

It began in the inner city. We who live somewhere other than the inner city blamed the problem of senseless killings on drugs, on substandard and overcrowded living conditions, on the moral decay of the inner city, on the proliferation of guns. There was usually a racial bias, too, sometimes hidden within the analysis, but at other times explicitly stated.

Then the killings started to spread. They appeared in rural communities where one might expect "traditional values" to be strong. The killings continue in schools, in homes, and elsewhere. We ask, "Why?"

All the easy answers to that question will be wrong, or at least partly wrong. Blaming guns for the killing is like blaming a cough for bronchitis. Guns do make killing easier. I wonder if we had a series of killings by being dragged behind pick-up trucks whether there would be a "pick-up control movement" or new laws establishing "pick-up bans?" I don't think so.

What I wonder is, what has happened to the hearts of our teenagers and even young children that they seek to kill their friends, family, schoolmates, and teachers? I have a theory to explain this phenomenon in part, if not altogether.

We have reached a point in our land where we are not only unable to distinguish between right and wrong, but also between reality and fantasy. To put it in the specific context of our times, we are unable to distinguish between reality and virtual reality.

Television has been an object of my opposition for many years now, but the problem is not just television, but the entire image culture. As a society we are purveying violence to our children on screens: televisions, VCRs, movies, computers, Gameboys.

The most obvious example is the explicit killing that takes place in movies which are made and marketed to teenagers. I know this because I watch some of these movies with my son. I understand their appeal. They are filled with action which takes place between various heroes and villains, which is often well-played.

Recently we watched the Jackie Chan/Christ Tucker film Rush Hour, which — much to my surprise — I enjoyed. But there was a lot of killing and what was even worse came after the movie was over. They showed a number of clips — bloopers as they have come to be called — which indicated that the killers and the killed were just joshing around. Even in the make-believe world of film, the dead were not really dead.

That is how the image culture portrays death, whether in Nintendo or in an action movie. It is only a virtual reality in which no one really gets hurt. They can all laugh and have a beer together, killers and killed, when it is over.

Add to the images of the virtual reality of killing the variety of killing games (e.g, Laser Quest, Paint Ball, etc.) in which people pursue and shoot at each other, and then go out for ice cream. Is this any different from the games of cops and robbers or cowboys and Indians of my childhood? At least in one respect it is: "When I became a man, I put away childish things." The virtual reality of killing has become a substantial part of our entertainment industry for adults as well as for children.

Twenty years ago we were appalled to discover that Pol Pot had turned his nation, Cambodia, into "Killing Fields," where children were often induced to murder their parents. We are doing the same, not in the name of an ideology or a national goal, rather unthinkingly through the inertia of technological drift. We need to look away from our screens, away from our games, and look at life.

Capital Budget.

"The board is optimistic that there will be sufficient economic and revenue growth over the next two to five years to allow for the elimination of the personal property tax in the near future," the release states.

In the interim, the commissioners have decided to match a $250,000 grant from the State Department of Business and Economic Development to establish a $500,000 revolving loan fund for local businesses. The commissioners' opinion is that this action will have a "more immediate economic impact than a small reduction in the personal property tax, which would have about the same impact from a revenue perspective."

The commissioners stated that this action demonstrates the county's commitment to economic growth and the creation of additional employment opportunities.

OTT Now Taking Reservations For Talking With

Reservations for Our Town Theatre's newest play, Talking With, are now available for performances on Friday and Saturday, March 12 and 13, at 8 p.m., and Sunday, March 14, at 3 p.m. Tickets, which are $5 per person, will be sold at the door, but reservations are strongly encouraged and can be made by calling the theatre at 301-334-5640.

Talking With is a monologue play, which consists of 10 speeches written by Jane Martin, with an additional piece penned by Liz Rees Gilbert.

"Liz is hard at work on her segment, which is written as a tribute to her mother," said Jane Avery, coordinator of the production. Avery is directing several of the monologues with help from Fred Jacoby, Richard Hill, and Steve Schlosnagle.

"We are trying to encourage some of our local actors to give directing a shot," stated Avery, "and what better way for new directors to get their feet wet than to take on the challenge of a monologue."

Avery said the characters from Talking With are some of the most unusual roles that she has come across. "They are wonderfully written," she stated, "but some are a tad eccentric, which makes them so much fun to listen to. In one night of theatre, the audience will meet a rodeo rider, a baton twirler, a snake handler, a bag lady, and others who are too difficult to describe in one phrase. Our cast consists of 10 dynamic women who are really putting themselves on the line. Several of them have limited experience on stage, but you'll be amazed when you see what they can do."

Talking With is produced by special permission from Samuel French Incorporated.

Free Massages To Accompany Quilters Reading

Guests who come an hour early for Our Town Theatre's reading of the play Quilters, which will begin at 3 p.m. on Sunday, March 7, can be treated to a free massage by Pegg Janney or Debora Nichols, both trained masseuses.

"We are grateful to these ladies for adding yet another dimension to our programs for women's month," said Jane Avery, artistic director of Our Town. "It will be wonderful to hear Quilters again, but free massages will be the icing on the cake!" Those who wish to have massages should be at the theatre by 2 p.m. on Sunday.

Performed in 1993 for the Garrett Lakes Arts Festival, Quilters was considered an artistic success. "It's a play that stays with you," Avery said. "We will have five of the original seven actresses read their old parts, and we're hoping to display the production quilt, pieced by Martha DeBerry. It should be quite a day!"

Interested participants should direct their questions to the theatre at 301-334-5640.

OTT Featuring Women's Month Art Exhibit

As part of Our Town Theatre's celebration of National Women's Month (March), the theatre will feature an art exhibit titled "Four Women," consisting of the work of four female artists: Betsy Jaeger, Linda Reeves-Cook, Laura Stutzman, and Falon Stutzman.

Falon, a freshman at Southern High School and the daughter of Mark and Laura Stutzman, hopes to pursue a career in the arts. Her work, which was a project she completed for Robin Spiker's English class at Southern, explores styles of art through history.

Laura Stutzman, Falon's mother, is a graduate of Southern High and the Art Institute of Pittsburgh. She works as a free-lance illustrator in her Mtn. Lake Park Studio, creating commercial work for publishers and advertising agencies. She shares her work space with her husband Mark. Some of the local portraits that Laura has painted will be displayed in the OTT exhibit.

Linda Reeves-Cook teaches art at Southern. Her mixed media paintings are about the essence of place, reflecting the landscape of the American West, specifically the high plains and mountains of Montana, where she maintains a summer studio near the Rockies' Eastern Front.

Betsy Jaeger, from Morgantown, W.Va., received a bachelor of fine arts degree in painting from the University of Notre Dame and an master's of fine arts in painting from West Virginia University. Her works are a series of watercolors and mixed media on paper. She creates visual metaphors mainly through the images of animals, contrasting the reality of life in nature with the artifice of life created by humans.

"Four Women" will open on March 5 and will run until March 27 on the stage at Our Town Theatre. It will be available for viewing at all programs sponsored by the theatre, as well as by special appointments, which may be made by calling 301-334-5640.

Girls' Night Out Slated At OTT Saturday

An evening for women featuring music, literature, art, and general relaxation is planned at Our Town Theatre on Saturday, March 6, 7-11 p.m. Girls' Night Out, part of OTT's celebration of National Women's Month, is open to all area females in the ninth grade through those in their ninth decade. The evening will highlight the talents of several local musicians, writers, and artists, and will offer guests the chance to ply their own talents as well.

Guests will be able to create art works with the help of Mary Jane Berry, Alison Ulino, and Amy and Pam Snyder. Materials for the activities have been procured by Laura Stutzman, courtesy of the Oakland Arts store.

Musical entertainment will be provided by Amanda Stewart, local trombone virtuoso; Pat Morfoot and Kathy Michaels playing hammered dulcimers, pianists Kathryn Sincell-Corwell and Kim Andrews, and flutist/pianist Susan Peterson.

Literary readings will be given by Jane Avery, Eileen Schlosnagle, Sherry Frantz, Mary McEwen, Betsy Gergoff, and Emily and Susan Haydel, among others.

The line-up of entertainment is tentative, and all women attending will be invited to share their writings or music or art.

No reservations are necessary for Girls' Night Out. Tickets will be $3 for adults and $2 for students, and is open to women from 14 to 114.

"Every woman needs a Girls' Night Out once in a while," said an event organizer. "We hope lots of girls of all ages come out to the theatre and relax for a few hours."

Westvaco Reports Lower First Quarter Results

Westvaco Corporation reported its fiscal first quarter financial results this week.

Sales in the first quarter of 1999 ended January 31 totaled $651 million, 7.3 percent less than during the same period a year ago. Sales figures reflect a 4.9 percent decline in price and product mix, and a 2.4 percent decline in volume, on a year-over-year basis. Net income for the quarter was $25.2 million, or 25 cents per share of common stock, basic and diluted, compared to earnings of $32.5 million, or 32 cents per share, basic and diluted, in the first quarter of 1998. Net income for the first quarter of 1999 reflects a $4 million, or 4 cents per share, gain from the sale of nonstrategic timberlands.

John A Luke Jr., chairman and chief executive officer, noted that a differentiated product mix and cost reduction initiatives held Westvaco in good stead, despite challenging global market conditions.

He said the company is also benefiting from the completion of a substantial investment plan that added significant support to Westvaco's business strategy. With the plan complete, the company expects capital spending in 1999 to total $275 million, a significant decrease from a peak of $614 million in 1997.

Luke said Westvaco's first quarter performance reflects the challenging market conditions affecting the entire U.S. paper industry. Many of those challenges, he said, result from increased production capacity for a variety of products by foreign competitors and the overall effect of international market turmoil on currency exchange rates.

The members of Zion Lutheran Church, Jennings, celebrated the 90th anniversary of their church Sunday morning. Joe Resh was presented with a flower bouquet at his home for being the oldest male member of the church and Lucretia Stanton was presented with a fruit basket for being the oldest female member.

Sunday visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Resh were Darrell and Dottie Stahl from Cumberland, Glenne Burow, Judy Stanton, Shirley Yommer, Greg Lawson, Carol Resh, Mary Warnick, and Dave Wilt.

ATTEND OLIVER

The Vagnetti and Poholsky families attended the production of Oliver in Oakland on Saturday night. It was performed by local talent, sponsored by the Ecumenical Youth Ministry.

MEMORIAL DEDICATION

A dedication of new hymnals in memory of Ruth Hershberger was held on Sunday at United Church of Christ, Grantsville. Attending were Dan and Kitty Hershberger, Vienna, Va., Jim and Margaret Wagner, Sam and Ellen Housley, Brent Housley, and Michelle Geis. Dan and Kitty were weekend guests of Jim and Margaret Wagner.

VISIT HOME

Michelle Geis spent the weekend with her parents, Ellen and Sam Housley, and returned early Monday morning to college at Blacksburg, Va.

Margaret Hershberger Wagner is attending an insurance conference hosted by Brethren Mutual Insurance Company in Hagerstown this week.

TERP GAME

Carol and Scott Bass attended the University of Maryland-Clemson Basketball Game in College Park on Wednesday.

SNOWBOUND

Betty and Ellis Sacra, Partlow, Va., visited Ruth DiPaolo over the weekend only to find themselves snowed in on Monday and unable to return to their home that day. They were delighted with the snow.

COMMENTS FROM JOAN

The Bittinger area has some little known treasures. One of my favorites is the peaceful wilderness that exists here. When the area was first settled, the early settlers encountered a land with many wild animals, such as bears, wolves, and an abundance of wild cats on the mountains and wetlands, which is on a tableland between Meadow Mountain and Negro Mountain.

Meschach Browning went many times into the prime hunting lands, especially in search of bears. He wrote about the grass being as tall as a horse's back in the Glades. In his book Forty-four Years of the Life of a Hunter he tells of many exciting stories about his adventures in this area. Lost for a time, he holed up in a cave on Meadow Mountain. That cave still exists. His initials are still there, almost covered by mass lichens. Not many people know where that cave is.

Many caves are in big outcrops of limestone boulders along the top of the mountain. In fact, that ridge is part of the Eastern Continental Divide. The headwaters of the Casselman River are the springs and the run-off on the north side of the mountain that feed eventually into the Mississippi River.

The wildlife is still there. It is not uncommon to see a bear around there. I once saw a bobcat in our woods. Since I was a little girl, I have heard about a panther on Meadow Mountain near the 4-H Camp. Just stories, I guess, but I once was riding with my dad and Sandy Savage back into the back country, and we heard a loud and powerful scream, which Dad thought was the scream of a panther. I was so scared that I hurriedly galloped my horse back home and left the dust behind.

We heard a similar scream one night when we were tobogganing in the moonlight. It still gives me chills just remembering that sound. Still there are occasional reportings of sightings of a big cat in the area.

According to Bob Brenneman, one was tracked on the mountain. Bob knows the wilderness better than anyone. He used to hunt rattlesnakes and other animals with a bow and arrows. He still builds muzzleloader guns and powder horns. His bad hip has slowed him down some nowadays.

I only dimly remember some of the special places, such as Wild Cat Rocks, the Flint Rocks, a cave, and a big field with outcropping of flint in an area somewhere back behind the peat bog. It was one of my favorite destinations for my horse Joey and me when I was young. I wish my Aunt Betty and I could again roam up in that wild country to show my kids all the wonderful things. It is so rare today to have a wilderness in your backyard.

The Sussman family enjoyed a dinner and sociable evening with Mike and Carol Voekel over the weekend. Our girls had a ball playing with their kids, Megan, Sarah, and baby Zach. On the way home we were surprised to be hit with a good snow storm. It was enough that school was closed on Monday. It was a fortunate thing, as it gave Claire and Caitlin time to get their 4-H speeches ready for their Monday 4-H meeting. However, later the 4-H meeting was canceled, with it being rescheduled.

It is always a struggle to get their speeches ready, but that is the best lesson in 4-H, to work hard, do things you would rather not have to do. They can try to delay as long as possible, but sooner or later they will do it. 4-H surely did wonders for me, as I won the state of Maryland Best Horse Project and won a trip to Chicago to the National 4-H Conference.

On Monday afternoon we had a real decent March snow — good enough to rescue the ski season, just when it seemed almost too late to hope for a few more good days of skiing. I believe one year, about 1971, we got a huge dump of snow the very end of March (about 3 feet). The snow lasted at the Wisp until almost the middle of April. This is not quite like that storm, but will be good for at least a few more times of skiing and sledding.

Dinner Slated To Recognize Older Workers

An evening of dinner and music at the Mary Browning Center in Oakland on March 16 will honor older members of the work force. The event will mark National Employ the Older Worker week, scheduled for March 14-20.

Community Action has been nominated by the AAA for a Maryland Department of Aging Employer of the Year Award for its commitment to providing job opportunities for older Marylanders. "Approximately 30% of Community Action Committee's employees are over the age of 55," Padmos explained.

The celebration will have a St. Patrick's Day theme. Irish music will be performed by Sang Run, which consist of Patty Morfoot on hammered dulcimer, Mike Broderick on fiddle, Alice Flushman on flute, and Jeff Gilbert on guitar. Recognition will be given to oldest male and female employees.

In order to track their progress, team members are given graphs on which they can chart accomplishments. For more information on joining the worksite wellness challenge, persons may contact Nancy Brady at 301-334-8122 or 301-895-3111. The second payment, due January 1, will incur a service charge reasonably equivalent to the anticipated lost interest income associated with the delay in the payment of the second installment and covering administrative expenses associated with the semi-annual payment not exceeding 10% of the charge of the lost interest.

To be eligible to make this election of semi-annual payment, all previous year taxes must be paid in full by June 1. Taypayers not making their first semi-annual payment by September 30 are automatically waived out of the semi-annual plan and must pay the full tax bill.

Selection of payment schedule for property taxes may be made upon receipt of tax bill. If taxpayer wishes to pay in full, he must choose the appropriate coupon and return it with the proper payment. If the taxpayer wishes to participate in the semi-annual payment option, the appropriate coupon should be returned with the payment before the September 30 deadline.

It is the responsibility of the taxpayers to notify their mortgage company of their wishes to pay on a semi-annual basis if they have an escrow account. The town is not responsible for any involvement in the semi-annual payment process.

Whatever payment plan the taxpayer elects shall remain in effect until the taxpayer decides to change it.

WHAT MUST I DO TO BE SAVED?

What Must I Do to Be Saved?

What must I do to be saved? Here in the simplest, shortest form is put the question to which every man must learn the answer, or spend eternity lost, away from God, suffering the torments of the damned! Thank God, this question is asked and answered in the Word of God so simply that every soul can understand it. There are other questions in Gods Word which affect the soul's welfare, and many places in the Bible is the plan of salvation made plain, but only one place is this question given word for word, and there, too, we find the answer.

Paul and Silas were in jail in the city of Philippi and at midnight they sang and prayed until God broke down all the doors and broke the stocks which held their feet, with a mighty earthquake. The poor jailer, frightened and convicted of his sins, came to these two preachers and asked this question. Read it in Acts 16:29-31:

"Then he called for a light, and sprang in, and came trembling, and fell down before Paul and silas, And brought them out, and said, Sirs, what must I do to be saved And they said, Believe on the Lord Jesus Christ, and thou shalt be saved, and thy house." "What must I do to be saved?" "Believe on the Lord Jesus Christ, and thou shalt be saved"! There is God's plan of salvation, the only plan He has for every man, woman and child who was ever born into the whole world.

What Must I Do?

Sinner, there is something you must do if you would be saved. There was hope for this jailer because he saw himself a lost sinner and came trembling to inquire, "What must I do?" Reader, you are a sinner. The Word of God from beginning to end emphasizes that fact. In Isaiah 53:6 we learn:

"ALL we like sheep have gone astray; we have turned EVERY ONE: to his own way; and the Lord hath laid on him the iniquity of us ALL."

We have all gone astray! The Lord is not content for sinners to be left believing themselves good. In Romans the third chapter, how positive, how certain is the Word of God that every man, woman and child is a sinner!

"What then are we better than they? No, in no wise: for we have before proved both Jews and Gentiles, that they are ALL under sin; As it is written, There is NONE righteous, NO, NOT ONE: There is NONE that understandeth, there is NONE that seeketh after God. They are ALL gone out of the way, they are together become unprofitable; there is NONE that doeth good, NO, NOT ONE" (Romans 3:9-12).

In verses 22 and 23 it is stated again that "there is no difference: for all have sinned, and come short of the glory of God." That is the reason Jesus said to Nicodemus in the third chapter of John, "Marvel not that I said unto thee, YE MUST BE BORN AGAIN." And a little later in the same chapter, verse 18, He said that the man who has not believed in Jesus is already condemned.

Certainly these Scriptures must make it clear to every man who believes the Word of God that he is a sinner, and until he has believed in Christ and has been saved, he is a lost sinner and needs saving. The heart is wrong, and only God can make that right. Then if you want to be saved, you must admit in your own heart, "I am a sinner. I am lost and need to be saved." No one ever was saved without coming for salvation as a sinner.

Christ Died to Save Sinners, Not Good Men

Oh, I beg you, see it today! You are a poor, lost sinner, a Hell-bound sinner! Your heart is black. You have hardened your heart, you have resisted the call of God, you have rejected Christ. However good you are in man's sight, you are a terrible sinner, and unless you turn to Christ you must spend eternity in Hell. A SINNER! That is what you are. Admit it in your own heart, confess it to God. You are a sinner and you need saving worse than you need anything else in the world.

If you have settled in your heart that matter, then you are ready to learn God's answer to your question, "What must I do to be saved?"

Believe on the Lord Jesus Christ

Here is God's simple way to be saved. You are a sinner, your heart is wrong, you cannot save yourself, you are already condemned. The thing you are to do then, to be saved, is to simply trust the Lord Jesus with that matter. When you do trust Him, then you have God's promise, "Thou shalt be saved."

I do not mean that you are simply to believe that there is a God or that there is a Saviour. Devils believe that and tremble (James 2:19). You can believe that a certain physician is a good doctor without calling him to be Your doctor when you are sick. You can believe that a certain man is a good lawyer without taking him as your lawyer to defend your case. You are not just to believe the truth about Jesus; you are to believe on Him, that is, depend upon Him, risk Him, trust Him; and when you do, you are saved.

Not Saved by Good Works

Of course, you do not deserve salvation. There is nothing you can do that will make you worthy of it. You cannot be saved by keeping the Ten Commandments, for the Scripture clearly shows that you have not kept them.

Romans 3:20 says: "Therefore by the deeds of the late there shall no flesh be justified in his sight: for by the law is the knowledge of sin."

The same thing is told in Galatians 3:11 which says: "But that no man is justified by the law in the sight of God, it is evident: for, The just shall live by faith."

Many, many Scriptures repeat again and again that there is no salvation through human goodness.

"Not by works of righteousness which we have done, but according to his mercy he saved us, by the washing of regeneration, and renewing of the Holy Ghost." (Titus 3:5).

"FOR BY GRACE ARE YE: SAVED THROUGH FAITH; AND THAT NOT OF YOURSELVES; IT IS THE GIFT OF GOD: NOT OF WORKS, LEST ANY MAN SHOULD BOAST." (Ephesians 2:8, 9).

We had as well admit, there, that no man deserves saving and no man can save himself. Salvation must be free or the sinner could never get it. In fact, it takes blood to pay for sin, for the Scripture says: "Without Shedding of Blood is No Remission" (Hebrews 9: 22)

"For when we were yet without strength, in due time Christ died for the ungodly." (Romans 5:6).

"All we like sheep have gone astray; we have turned every one to his own way; and the Lord hath laid on him the iniquities of us all" (Isaiah 53:6).

Peter tells us that all of us are bought by the blood of Christ:

"Forasmuch as ye know that ye were not redeemed with corruptible things, as silver and gold, from your vain conversation received by tradition from your fathers; But with the precious blood of Christ, as of a lamb without blemish aand without spot." (1 Peter 1:18, 19)

Every lamb, bullock, heifer, goat, turtle dove and pigeon offered in the Old Testament times on the altar pictured this: that man, a guilty sinner, must have some innocent one to shed his blood to pay for one man's sins. Jesus died for our sins, and, thank God, salvation is bought for every man in the world, if he will have it, as the free gift of God.

"For the wages of sin is death; but the GIFT of God is eternal life through Jesus Christ our Lord." (Romans 6:23)

Dear sinner, remember that church membership will not save you. If you have been baptized that cannot save you. Baptism does not save, does not keep anybody saved. It is only an act of duty for those who have already found Christ as their Saviour. A moral life or lodge membership or good citizenship, these must all fail to bring salvation, for it is "not by works of righteousness which we have done, but according to his mercy he saved us" (Titus 3:5). Don't depend, then, on what you do, but on what Jesus did and promises to do for you.

What About Repentance?

Does not the Bible say that we must repent? Yes, the Bible plainly says that "God...commandeth all men every where to repent" (Acts 17: 30), and again, "Except ye repent, ye shall all likewise perish" (Luke 13:3, 5). This was the preaching of John the Baptist, of Jesus, of Peter and of Paul, that men should repent. And certainly repentance is God's plan of salvation. The trouble here, however, is that men misunderstand what repentance means, and there has grown up an idea that repentance means a period of weeping and mourning over sin, or sorrow for sin. This idea comes from the Douay Version of the Bible which instead of "repent" says "do penance." So the place of inquiry, where people should be taught the plan of salvation from the Bible, in revival meetings, became "the mourner's bench" and thousands of people have been taught that God would not hear their prayer nor forgive their sin until they went through a process of sorrow and mourning over their sin!

Do not misunderstand me. God is anxious for you to have a penitent, broken heart over your sin. You have gone away from God. You have trampled under foot the blood of Jesus Christ, wasted years of your life which you can never live over again. You have served your father, the Devil. There is plenty for you to weep over, and I am not surprised if you feel deep shame and sorrow in your heart that you have so mistreated the God who made you and the Saviour who died for you. I am not surprised if you cannot keep back the tears! But what I want you to know is that tears or no tears, however much sorrow you may have in your heart, or not have, those things do not save you.

You ought to be sorry for your sin and ashamed of them. "Godly sorrow worketh repentance" (2 Corinthians 7:10) - the right kind of sorrow leads to immediate repentance, but mourning is not itself repentance.

"Could my tears forever flow,
Could my zeal no respite know,
These for sin could not atone;
Thou must save, and Thou alone."

To repent literally means to have a change of mind or spirit toward God and toward sin. It means to turn from your sins, earnestly, with all your heart, and trust in Jesus Christ to save you. You can see, then, how the man who believes in Christ repents and the man who repents believes in Christ. The jailer repented when he turned from sin to believe in the Lord Jesus Christ.

Instant Salvation

The jailer did not go through a period of mourning. He was told to believe on the Lord Jesus Christ; he did just that and was saved, and his whole family was saved the same way, immediately, the same hour of the night. Everywhere you look through the New Testament you find that people were saved all at once without any process, without any period of mourning. Zacchaeus, up a tree, trusted Jesus and made haste and came down, and received Him joyfully (Luke 19: 6-9). Jesus said, "This day is salvation come to this house." When Peter told Cornelius and his assembled household that they could be saved by believing, immediately "while Peter yet spake these words," the Scripture says, the Holy Spirit came on them and they were happily saved (Acts 10:44-48). The thief on the cross, wicked sinner that he was, who a few minutes before had been railing at Jesus, was saved immediately when he inquired of Jesus (Luke 23:42,43). In the first chapter of John, verses 35 to 49, we see where Andrew, Simon Peter, Philip and Nathanael were all converted, one by one, immediately by faith in Christ. There is no record of any person in Bible times who was ever told to wait, or mourn, or weep over his sins before trusting Jesus and being saved! One who believes in Christ has repented. Repentance and faith are the same thing put in different words, and neither requires a long period of time, nor a process of mourning and sorrow.

Salvation is instantaneous. All that keeps you today from being saved is the wickedness of your heart that holds on to sin and will not run to Jesus to trust in Him for salvation. I beg you, turn in shame and sorrow from your sins this minute, and trust in Christ and be saved!

Can One Be Saved Without Prayer?

In the Bible there are many cases of sinners who prayed like the thief on the cross or the publican in the temple. In fact, Romans 10:13 says:

"For whosoever shall call upon the name of the Lord shall be saved."

Many people believe that a sinner cannot be saved without a period of prayer, without consciously calling on God. However, the Bible does not say that a sinner must pray in order to be saved. In fact, immediately following the verse in Romans 10:13 is an explanation which shows that calling an God is an evidence of faith in the haart and that it is really faith which seitles the matter. Read it again.

"For whosoever shall call upon the name of the Lord shall be saved. How then shall they call on him in whom they have not believeth" (Romans 10:13, 14).

The Lord encourages the sinner to pray, and the Lord hears and answers the sinner's prayer if that sinner trusts in Jesus Christ for salvation when he prays. He heard the prayer of the thief on the cross, of the publican in the temple, of blind Bartimaeus. But the Scripture says, "How then shall they call on him in whom they have not believed?" Certainly every one who is to be saved must believe. Prayer is evidence of faith. No matter how long one prays, if he does not trust in Christ, he can never be saved. If he trusts in Christ without conscious prayer, then he is saved already. There is just one plan of salvation and just one step a sinner must take to secure it. That step is to believe on the Lord Jesus Christ!

Some way we preachers have left the impression on this poor world of sinners that God is hard hearted and that it takes many tears and loud cries and long periods of sorrow before He will hear and save the sinner. We have left the impression that God does not care whether sinners are saved or not, and that sinners must some way touch the heart of God and get Him ready to forgive. What a slander on a good and holy God who "so loved the world, that he gave his only begotten Son, that WHOSOEVER BELIEVETH in him should not perish, but have everlasting life." Man's sins are already paid for, God's wrath is already turned away from any sinner who wants to be saved. Both the Father and the Son are a million times more anxious to save every sinner than the sinner can be to get saved! Thank God, I do not have to beg God to forgive my sins. He will do it the minute I am willing to trust it with Him.

How To Get The Change Of Heart

This simple way of being saved by faith seems so easy, and it is. Some sinner may say, "But I thought one must have a change of heart." So you must, dear sinner. But that is God's part. Jesus was talking to Nicodemus when He said, "Ye must be born again," and in the same chapter He tells Nicodemus how to get the new birth.

"For God so loved the world, that He gave his only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in him should not perish, but hath everlasting life." (John 3:16).

The change in your heart, sinner, is God's part and you may be sure He will attend to that. Your part is to simply believe in Him. Whatever else is necessary in your eternal salvation, the Lord attends to when you trust in Him, or believe in Him.

How Should I Feel?

Some people have an idea that the change of heart is a matter of feeling. Some do not want to claim Christ as Saviour until they have the mysterious feeling that they want. Do not let the Devil deceive you here. I believe in heartfelt religion, and thank God for the joy which He gives to me day by day. But the Bible nowhere tells how one must feel before he is saved, nor does it anywhere say how you feel after you are saved. In fact, people do not feel the same. Feeling varies with the person saved. Some cry when they are saved, some laugh, and a few shout aloud the praises of God. One is no more saved than the other. What you want, dear sinner, is salvation, and you should be satisfied to feel any way that will please the Lord, just so He forgives your sins. Be sure you notice another fact, too, and that is that you cannot feel right until you get right. Rejoicing does not come before you trust the Lord. One does not feel the result of medicine before he takes it. The Children of Israel in the wilderness, bitten by fiery serpents and at the point of death, were not healed and did not feel healed until they looked to the brass serpent on the pole (Numbers 21:6-9). People are not saved by feeling; they are saved by trusting in Christ. The prodigal son, away from home in the hog pen, decided to arise and go to his father, but he did not feel good. He was without shoes, clothed in rags, without the ring of sonship, without any evidence of his father's forgiveness, perishing with hunger! Yet he arose and came to his father, not by feeling, but by faith in his father. Thank God, his father received him, like God receives every sinner who will come. And when the prodigal boy sat down at his father's table, with shoes of the gospel of peace, clothed in the garments of the righteousness of Christ, with the ring of sonship on his finger, eating the fatted calf at the right hand of the father, happy in his love, then he has plenty of feeling. Feeling comes after salvation. Leave the feeling with the Lord and come to the Saviour by faith today.

After you are saved, you will get peace and joy out of following the Lord in baptism, reading His Word, winning souls and otherwise pleasing Him. You need to go to the Lord again and again day by day for the joy of a Christian life. But thank God that salvation is settled once and for all when you simply depend upon Christ as your Saviour.

What About Public Confession?

Every person who is saved ought to publicly confess Christ. Matthew 10: 32 and Romans 10:9 plainly teach that God will claim as His child any of us who will claim Christ as our Saviour, but we simply confess with the mouth what we have already trusted in our hearts. Concerning that very matter Romans 10:10 says: "For with the heart man believeth unto righteousness; and with the mouth confession is made unto salvation."

To claim Christ as your Saviour simply proves that you trust Him in the heart. Likewise; with all other promises in the Bible about how to be saved. "Him that cometh to me I will in no wise cast out," says John 6:37; and salvation is promised in John 1:12 to as many as receive Jesus. But you could not come to Christ without trusting Him, and John 1:12 shows that receiving Jesus is the same as believing on His name.

Dear sinner, do not make this a difficult matter. There is one simple step between you and Jesus. When you trust Him, everything else is settled, and you have repented, you have come to Christ, you have received Him, you have done everything necessary to be saved. Take the answer in Acts 16:31 at face value: "BELIEVE ON THE LORD JESUS CHRIST, AND THOU SHALT BE SAVED"! In dozens of Scriptures all through the Bible salvation is promised to those that believe. Read carefully the following Scriptures and see that again and again, many, many times, God has promised all any poor sinner would ever need when he believes on the Lord Jesus Christ.

"But as many as received him, to them gave he power to become the soles of God, even to them that BELIEVE on his name." (John 1:12).

"And as Moses lifted up the serpent in the wilderness, even so must the Son of man be lifted up: That whosoever BELIEVETH in him should not perish, but have eternal life. For God so loved the world, that he gave his only begotten Son, that whosoever BELIEVETH in him should not perish, but have everlasting life." (John 3:14-16).

"He that believeth on him is not condemned: but he that BELIEVETH not is condemned already, because he hath not BELIEVED in the name of the only begotten Son of God." (John 3:18).

"He that believeth on the Son hath everlasting life: and he that BELIEVETH not the Son shall not see life; but the wrath of God abideth on him." (John 3:36).

"Verily, verily, I say unto you, He that heareth my word, and BELIEVETH on him that sent me, hath everlasting life, and shall not come into condemnation; but is passed from death unto life." (John 5:24).

"And this is the will of him that sent me, that every one which seeth the Son, and BELIEVETH on him, may have everlasting life: and I will raise him up at the last day." (John 6:40).

"Verily, verily, I say unto you, He that BELIEVETH on me hath everlasting life." (John 6:47).

"To him give all the prophets witness, that through his name whosoever BELIEVETH in him shall receive remission of sins." (Acts 10:43).

"And by him all that BELIEVE are justified from all things, from which ye could not be justified by the law of Moses." (Acts 13:39).

Read again the Scripture we started with: "What must I do to be saved?" "BELIEVE on the Lord Jesus Christ, and thou shalt be saved." (Acts 16:30,31).

Trust Jesus the Great physician

If you were sick and about to die, and there was some good doctor whom you could trust, would you not risk him to take your case, give you the necessary treatment, and with God's help get you well? Then just like that, trust in Christ, depend on Him for your salvation, and turn it over to Him today. With the same kind of faith that will call in a doctor and risk him for your body, you can call in the Lord Jesus Christ and risk Him to forgive your sins and save your poor lost soul! He said, "They that are whole need not a physician, but they that are sick" (Luke 5:31). He is the Great Physician and will heal your soul instantly if you will trust Him. As you would trust a doctor, submit to his treatment, depend on him for results, so trust Jesus today about your soul. To be sure, human doctors fail many times. Their results at best are gradual, and so no doctor is a perfect picture of Jesus. The doctor can work no miracles, but Jesus can, and the change that is needed in that poor, wicked heart, He will make immediately, instantly, without any further effort on your part, when you trust Him!

Jesus Is Our lawyer

If you had committed a crime and were thrown in jail, probably the first thing you would do would be to send for some lawyer in whom you had confidence and trust him with the entire matter of your defense. In God's sight you are a criminal, condemned alrsady and with the wrath of God upon you day by day. But God has provided somebody to take the part of us poor sinners, criminals before the bar of God's justice, and Jesus is that lawyer, for the Scripture says:

"If any man sin, we have an advocate, [or lawyer] with the Father, Jesus Christ the righteous: And he is the propitiation for our sins: and not for our's only, but also for the sins of the whole world" (1 John 2:1,2).

Jesus will not only be your lawyer to defend your case; He has already paid the penalty and you may safely trust Him to have you immediately pardoned and justified! Why not simply risk Jesus as you would risk a good lawyer? Jesus is better than any Lawyer, of course, and you do not have to pay Him a fee, and He never fails.

A Wedding

A young man and young woman stand together, side by side, before the preacher. The preacher says, "You will join right hands." Then to the young man he says, "Do you take this young woman to be your lawfully wedded wife, to love her and cherish her until death do you part?" He answers, "I do." To the young woman the preacher says: "Do you take this man to be your lawfully wedded husband until death do you part?" She answers; "I do." Then the preacher says: "I pronounce you man and wife," and they are married in the sight of God and man.

What a simple picture of salvation! Jesus is the Bridegroom and we who trust Him are to be His bride. Already Jesus has loved you and has long urged you to accept His love. Jesus invites you to accept His love. Jesus invites you to believe in Him right now and be saved and so become a part Of His bride. Will you not right now with the same simple faith of that young woman who takes a husband, accept Jesus as your Saviour and say to Him, "I do"?

Make It Sure - Claim Him Today

The way is plain and you can be saved this moment if you will. Surely it has become plain, dear lost sinner, that it is your own fault if you are lost! Do you hate Jesus Christ? Will you hold on to your sin and go to Hell for your stubbornness? Nothing in the world could show your wickedness like postponing this matter. You can be saved right now, this minute. I beg you, do it now. Turn your whole heart from sin to trust in Christ. Choose for Heaven against Hell, choose for Christ against Satan. Do not let Satan deceive you any longer. If you delay, it may result in a hardened heart, a wasted life and a tortured soul in Hell! And if you are not saved, when God has made the way so plain and paid the price for your sins, then you have no one to blame but yourself. Will you trust Jesus Christ today and be saved?

"Boast not thyself of tomorrow; for thou knowest not what a day may bring forth." (Proverbs 27:1).

"Behold, now is the accepted time; behold, now is the day of salvation." (2 Corinthians 6:2).

"Today if ya will hear his voice, Harden not your hearts." (Hebrews 3:7,8).

God has given you this heartbeat, this breath, this moment in order to trust Christ, but there is no promise of another. I beg you do it right now, and then claim Him as your Saviour.

Rams Advance To 1A Region Final

A 1A West Region championship and a spot in the Maryland 1A semifinals is just one game away for Coach Tom Bosley and his varsity boys' team at Southern High School, as the Rams have earned a berth in the regional title game by winning three straight playoff games in the past six days. In the process, the Rams were named the Area Champion this week by a vote of local coaches, and are currently riding a 20-3 record and a 12-game winning streak.

Coach Bosley's senior-dominated squad first knocked off the visiting Allegany Campers in a first-round game Friday night, 63-46, then defeated home-standing Williamsport on Monday, 52-44, and stopped Hancock last night, 57-44, at Northern High School. The Rams, ranked seventh in the state's 1A standings this week, will face a major test Friday night when they meet South Hagerstown, the state's third-ranked team and believed by some to be the best 1A squad in the state. A win over South Hagerstown, which crushed Smithsburg last night, 95-59, would send the Rams to College Park for the following weekend's state championships.

The victory over Allegany on Friday was the third over the Campers this season; however, the game was closer than the final score indicates, as the Rams actually trailed by a point early in the fourth quarter, but then surged for 29 points in that period to win going away. Nineteen of those points were recorded on 23 attempts at the free throw line.

The Rams were on top by four, 14-10, at the end of the first quarter, and led by seven, 27-20, at halftime. The Campers out-scored them in the third period by a 12-7 margin, leaving the Rams with a slim 34-32 advantage going into the final quarter.

A steal by Nathan Simpson that led to a bucket by Rob Stansbury gave the Campers their brief fourth quarter lead, 35-34, with 7:20 remaining in the game. But after a time-out, the Rams re-grouped, and a bucket by Mike Paesani ignited a 10-0 run for Southern. Outstanding defensive rebounding and foul shooting the rest of the way allowed the Rams to pull away.

The 10-point surge was capped with a pick-and-run by Chris Ewing to Paesani, whose basket made it 44-35 with about four minutes remaining.

The Campers would get only two field goals the rest of the evening, while the Rams kept sinking free throws as the clock was winding down. Southern finished the evening with a 25-for-29 effort (86%) at the line.

The Rams led by as many as 19, 60-41, with 39 seconds left.

Paesani recorded 16 points, eight rebounds, and three blocks to lead the Rams, while Mike Pamepinto was right behind with 14 points and eight rebounds. John Andrews and Nathaniel Panther also reached double figures with 11 and 10 points, respectively, with seven of Panther's points being scored in the fourth quarter. Eight of Paesani's total were also scored in the final period.

Stansbury led Allegany's offensive effort with 12 points and Jeremy Smith netted 10. Ian Iliff grabbed seven rebounds. The Campers finished with a 15-8 record, with three of their losses coming at the hands of the Rams.

The Rams finished with a 30-26 edge in rebounds, with 20 of their total being recorded in the second half.

"We knew we needed to control the glass and play good defense, which we did all night," Coach Bosley said. "Obviously, we also did an excellent job at the foul line.

"Individually, I thought Chris Ewing and Nathaniel Panther did a great job again for us off the bench, and Mike Pamepinto really picked up the slack, offensively and defensively, when John Andrews had to come out with three fouls in the third quarter. Nathan DiSimone also played another good game for us."

Alco coach Toby Eirich also believed that a key to the Rams' win was beating his team on the boards. "We knew we had to win the rebounding game, especially with offensive rebounds," he said, "but they did a great job of boxing us out.

"They also played great defense, especially down the stretch," he continued. "They have a great program. They deserve all the credit."

Tuesday's game against Williamsport was similar, in that the contest featured good defense by both teams, remained close until the fourth quarter, and the Rams sealed their victory with another outstanding effort at the foul line down the stretch.

The Rams got off to a sluggish start and trailed by four, 13-9, at the end of the first quarter. They were down by one, 21-20, with just 15 seconds remaining in the second period, but a three-pointer by Pamepinto and another long-range bucket at the buzzer by Andrews gave Southern both the lead (26-21) and the momentum.

The third quarter was played almost evenly, with Williamsport closing the gap by a single point and Southern taking a 36-32 advantage into the final stanza.

The Rams still had a four-point lead at 42-38 when they went into a spread offense, forcing Williamsport to foul, sending Southern's best free throw shooters to the line. DiSimone hit six straight free tosses and Pamepinto made good on three of four to once again ice the win.

Paesani finished as Southern's top scorer, as he recorded 19 points, and also grabbed six rebounds. Pamepinto had 12 points and six rebounds, and Andrews reached double figures with 11 points and pulled down seven rebounds.

Pacing Williamsport (12-10) were Matt Bowman with 15 points and Ryan Graybill with 12.

"The Williamsport coaching staff did a good job preparing for us," Coach Bosley said. "It was a well-played, well-officiated game."

The Rams committed just four turnovers for the entire game and committed only 10 fouls, while Williamsport had just eight turnovers and 13 fouls.

Southern had to play Hancock last night at Northern High School without Mike Paesani in the line-up, as he was sidelined with an apparent knee injury. His absence allowed Hancock's 6-7 center Derek Hoffman to have one of his best games of the season, as he poured in 26 points.

However, the Rams took an early lead in the contest and maintained it throughout, once again securing their win in the fourth quarter with effective foul shooting.

Southern held a 15-9 lead at the end of the first quarter, was on top 32-20 at halftime, and took a 40-30 lead into the fourth quarter. With about five minutes to play, Bosley spread out his offense, forcing the Panthers to foul. During that stretch, DiSimone hit four free throws, and Nathaniel Panther and Pamepinto each made two.

Andrews and Pamepinto each finished with 16 points and DiSimone reached double figures with 10. Pamepinto also pulled down a team-high seven rebounds and Andrews was credited with seven assists.

Hoffman was the only Panther to reach the double figure plateau, and had a game-high 13 rebounds to go with his 26 points.

"Without Mike Paesani in the game, plus the fact that we didn't have time to have even one practice before the game made it a little tough for our kids," Bosley said. "Since our Monday game with Williamsport was postponed to Tuesday, the only preparation we had for Hancock was on a chalkboard.

"Hancock played as well as we had seen them play all year," he said. "Hoffman has the ability to shoot from long range as well as from inside, and he had a very good game for them.

"One of the keys to our success was a big second quarter by John Andrews, who picked up the slack with Mike on the bench," he said. "He scored 10 of his points in that period."

The Rams had yet another unexpected "meeting" with the Panthers after the game, as the winter storm closed the highways back to Hancock.

"We just crowded all of their players on our bus and followed a snowplow to the Comfort Inn in McHenry, which is where they spent the night," Bosley said. "It worked out fine, though. They are nice kids and everyone got along very well."

The victory tied the school's best-ever record of 20-3, a mark that was set twice before (1970-71 and 1991-92). A win over South Hagerstown on Friday would obviously break that record, but getting that win will be the toughest challenge faced to date by the Rams.

"South Hagerstown has four of its starters back from last year's team that made it into the state semi-finals," Bosley said. "They are very athletic, they have good size, and they are quick.

"They are similar to us in that they really like a fast-paced game," he said, "but their athleticism is better than ours, so I don't know if we will be able to keep up with them."

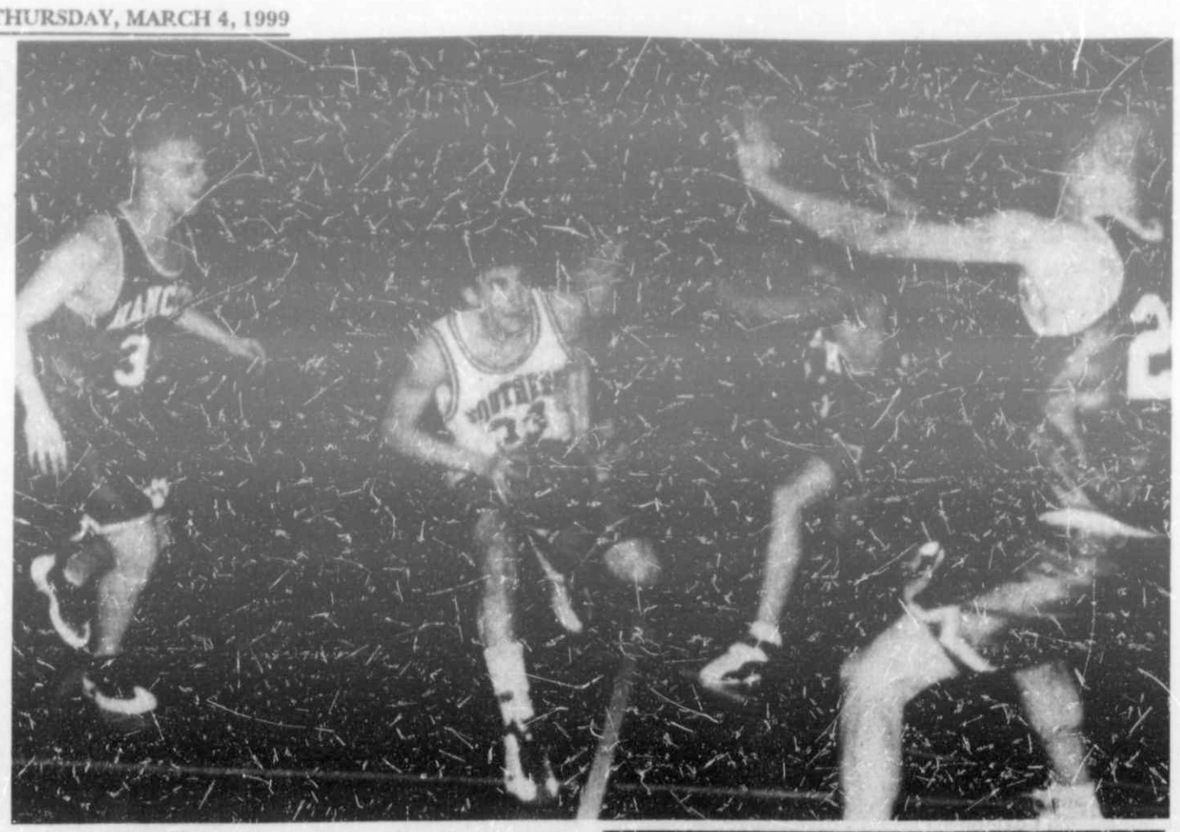
South Hagerstown has also had only three losses this season.

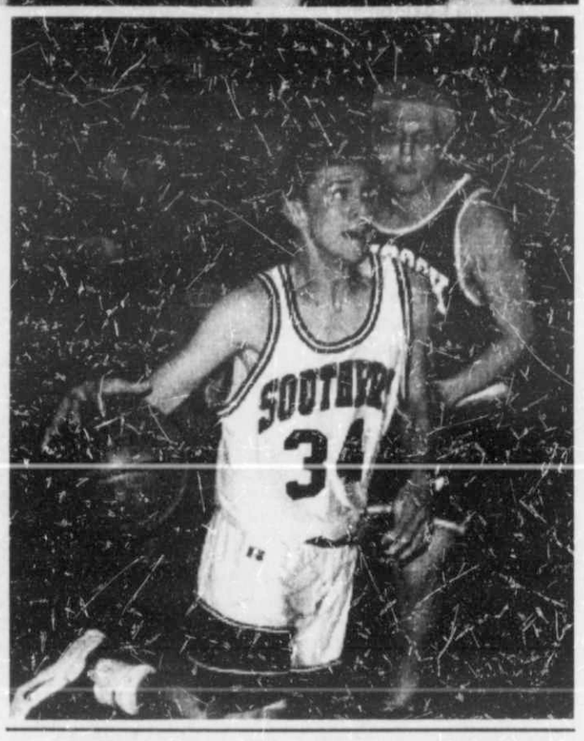
AREA CHAMPION HONOR

The Rams received 39 points in the balloting for the Area Champion title, edging out Pendleton County with 35 points. The Rams' record in the regular season was 17-3, while Pendleton finished at 19-1; however, difficulty of schedule was a factor in the balloting.

Keyser (16-5) placed third, followed by Hampshire (13-8), Allegany (15-7), Fort Hill (15-7), Petersburg (9-10), and Bishop Walsh (11-12).

The Rams' only losses were to Keyser, Preston County, and Tucker County, and they avenged all three of those losses during their recent 12-0 streak. They also finished with a perfect 12-0 mark in the Western Maryland Interscholastic League to win that title.





STILL WINNING are the members of the Southern High School boys' varsity, who defeated Allegany, Williamsport, and Hancock this week in 1A West Region playoff action to advance to the regional finals. These photos were taken last night at Northern High School where the Rams topped Hancock. Above, Mike Pamepinto looks to shoot over the long arms of Hancock's 6-7 center Derek Hoffman. In the background is Southern's John Andrews (#20), who shared top-scoring honors with Pamepinto (16 each). Below, Jonathan Price eyes the bucket and dribbles around a Panther defender. The Rams will face South Hagerstown in the 1A West Region final this Friday at Allegany High School in Cumberland, with the tip-off set for 7 p.m. If there is a two-hour delay or cancellation of school on Friday, the game will be moved to Saturday night, same time, same location.

Northern Girls Advance To 1A West Region Semifinals

The girls' varsity of Northern High School, despite having but one senior on its roster, remains alive and well in the 1A West Region playoffs, as the Huskies disposed of visiting South Hagerstown last Friday in an opening round, 64-57, and then crushed Beall on Tuesday in a quarterfinal contest, 64-29, also at the Cove.

The Huskies are scheduled to play Smithsburg this evening at North Hagerstown, but it was unknown at presstime if the weather has forced postponement of that game. Allegany is also slated to meet Hancock tonight in the other 1A semifinal.

Heidi Frazee and Heather Nugent led the way offensively for the Huskies against South Hagerstown on Friday, as they scored 21 and 18 points, respectively. Frazee also pulled down seven rebounds, while Nugent grabbed five and dished out seven assists.

The Huskies held a 17-14 advantage at the end of the first quarter, were on top 27-21 at halftime, and led 47-39 after three periods.

Also reaching double figures for Northern was Bridget Frazee, who scored 12 points, while Mimi Harvey was credited with five steals.

Pacing South Hagerstown was Emily Middlekauff with a game-high 22 points, a dozen of which were scored from three-point range. Allison Higgs finished with 10 points.

Nugent was the top scorer Tuesday in the rout over the Beall Mountaineers, as she pumped in 21 points, while Frazee finished with 15.

The Huskies held a modest 14-9 lead at the end of the first quarter, were up by 12 at halftime, 27-15, and led 35-24 after three periods. Then they erupted for 29 fourth-quarter points while holding Beall (5-16) to just five.

Mimi Harvey recorded nine rebounds and six assists for the Huskies, and Frazee had eight grabs.

The Mountaineers were led in scoring by Cheri Simmons, who netted eight points. Jackie Aylor chipped in with seven.

ON A ROLL In the 1A West Region playoffs is the Northern High School girls' varsity, which won its first two tournament games and has advanced to the semifinals. The Huskies will face Smithsburg in Hagerstown this evening, barring postponement of the game because of weather conditions. Southern Girls Fall To Alco In Opening Round Of Playoffs

A stellar 30-point performance by Allegany's Cassie Murray helped close the book on the girls' varsity basketball season at Southern High School Friday night, 72-53. The opening-round playoff match-up of Class 1A west region rivals left the Rams with a 10-13 record on the season.

SHS battled hard through the first half, and was down by only seven at the halftime buzzer, 32-25. A strong Alco third quarter all but extinguished the Rams' hopes as the Campers outscored the hosts by a 21-8 margin to go up 53-33 by the opening of the final stanza en route to the victory.

Thirteen points by Laura Friend, 10 points by Ashley Liller, nine points by Charlena Reeves, and eight points from Jessica Saturday anchored a balanced Rams scoring attack, but the overwhelming firepower of the Campers proved insurmountable. In addition to Murray's game-high point production for Alco, teammate Teandra Smith contributed 16 points and Tracey Little scored 14 points.

"I'm proud of our kids' effort," Southern coach Don Stemple commented. "They (Allegany) had beaten us twice this season by 30 points and this time we played our tails off, but we just didn't have the firepower that Allegany has."

THE FINAL ROUND-UP - The members of the Southern High School girls' varsity and their coach, Don Sternple, convene for the final time this season, as the Rams were about to be eliminated from the 1A West Region playoffs by a powerful Allegany team Friday evening in Oakland. The Rams lost the contest, 72-53, and finished their season with a 10-13 record. Below left, setting up to take a shot, is Southern's Jessica Saturday. Huskies Eliminated From 1A Playoffs By South Hagerstown

The 1998-99 basketball season came to an end for the Northern High boys' varsity Friday night when the Huskies were soundly defeated by visiting South Hagerstown, 77-51, in a first-round game of the 1A West Region playoffs. It was a tough draw in the tourney for the Huskies, as South Hagerstown came in sporting a 19-3 record and ranked third in the state among 1A schools.

The Huskies stayed close in the first quarter and trailed by just four, 18-14, at the end of that period, but South Hagerstown took charge in the second stanza by scoring 25 points and limiting the Husky offense to eight, giving the visitors a comfortable 43-22 advantage at intermission.

South Hagerstown expanded its lead to 67-42 in the third period, and outscored the Huskies in the final quarter, 20-9.

John Schnebly paced South Hagerstown in both scoring and rebounding, as he recorded 23 points and 11 rebounds. Randy Reeder netted 17 points, Frankie Linton dished out six assists and had five steals, and Charles Powell finished with six steals and four assists.

The winning team did an excellent job controlling the scoring of Northern's offensive leader Dustin Long, who was limited to eight points; however, he pulled down a game-high 12 rebounds and blocked five shots. Sophomore Rob Dozier led the Huskies in scoring with 17 points, while Greg Speicher recorded 11 and Jed Wilhelm finished with 10. Seniors Long, Wilhelm, Craig Kamp, and Brian Harvey were playing in their final game as Huskies.

"I give a lot of credit to our kids, especially our seniors," stated Coach Mike Friend. "They never quit and they provided great leadership throughout the season.

"South Hagerstown is an excellent team," he continued. "They are very consistent offensively, and their press really kept us out of the game after the first quarter."

The Huskies concluded their season with an overall record of 14-9. South Hagerstown crushed Beall in its next playoff game, defeated Smithsburg in the semi-finals, and will now meet the Southern Rams in the 1A West Region championship.

Laker Women Ousted From JUCO Tourney by Catamounts

The curtain drew to a close for the 1998-99 season of the Garrett Community College's women's basketball team Friday night as the Lakers lost a heartbreaker at Potomac State in the final seconds, 67-63. Garrett compiled a 14-10 overall record throughout the year, including a split in the JUCO tournament, which was played in McHenry two weeks ago and reported in these pages last Thursday.

The Catamounts led throughout the close contest in Keyser, W.Va., and at the half the score stood at 31-28. As the second half wound down the hosts went up by 10 at the 3:30 mark and GCC's chances looked bleak; however, the Lakers capitalized on a series of costly turnovers to begin closing in on PSC.

With six seconds left, down 63-61, Garrett ran a special inbounds play on which Lambert scored a basket to knot the score. The clock was stopped, as is done after every field goal when there is less than a minute remaining; however, as the players on the Lakers' bench were celebrating Lambert's game-tying bucket, one of them dropped a notebook onto the court and was whistled for a technical.

The costly miscue sent Barnes to the free-throw line to put them up by two points with two seconds to go, where she sunk two shots to put PSC up by two. The Lakers then inbounded the ball but were whistled once again for a foul that put the Catamounts' Erin Furey on the line, where she made both shots for the four-point win.

Chrissy Lambert's 19 points led all scorers, with runner-up honors going to fellow Laker Tasha Blackmon for her 17-point tally. Andrea Barrick added eight points and Erica McBride scored seven points. Potomac State was paced by Barnes's 16 points, 15 points apiece from Furey and Charlis Jordan, and Lakeesha Sampson's 14 points.

Garrett heads into the Region XX Tournament this weekend as the number six seed, taking on third-seed host Frederick at 7 p.m. Friday night. "We've lost to Frederick twice," GCC coach Ann Wellham said, "once in the regular season and in the JUCO semi-finals, when they walked all over us. We tried to run with them in that game, after playing hard the night before against Anne

Lakers' Season Brought To Conclusion By Beaver CC

The 1998-99 basketball season ended for the Garrett Community College men's team on Saturday when the Lakers went down to an 84-69 defeat at the hands of Beaver County CC in the second round of the Region XX NJCAA Division II Tournament, which was held at Allegany College of Maryland in Cumberland. The Lakers had earned a spot in the second round by edging CCAC-Allegheny on Friday, 68-65.

The Lakers and Coach Dennis Gibson concluded with a 17-12 record, with their biggest victory coming over Cecil CC, ranked third nationally, late in the regular season. Cecil won the Region XX title on Sunday. Garrett also played well against Dundalk (losing by one point) and Allegany, also nationally ranked at the time.

The Lakers, seeded sixth in the tournament, took the lead early in the game against CCAC-Allegheny, were on top 37-28 at halftime, and stretched the advantage to as many as 15 points in the second half before the Pennsylvania team rallied and Garrett had to hang on for the three-point win.

The game came close to going into overtime, as CCAC had the opportunity for a final three-point shot, but GCC's leading scorer and former Allegany High star Michael Fields, playing in his final game in a Laker uniform, stole the ball with three seconds left to wipe out that opportunity and preserve the Lakers' victory.

Fields finished with a game-high 21 points, while Dexter Levi had 16 points and four blocks, and Charles Somerville provided 10 points and four blocks.

The Lakers were up by 15 — 37-22 — with 52 seconds remaining in the first half, but the CCAC players made good on six straight free throws in that final minute to cut the halftime margin to nine points.

The leading scorers for CCAC, Ryan Litterini and Joe Rectenwald, had good shooting efforts from long range and, after the Lakers were on top by a 54-45 margin, Rectenwald sunk two three-pointers in a row to cut GCC's advantage to five points, 58-53, with 7:15 left.

A few minutes later, Litterini drained a three and Jim Hynes followed with a lay-up to cut Garrett's advantage to just two points, 64-62, with 1:30 remaining.

Somerville hit a jumper and Fields followed with a put-back bucket underneath to give the Lakers a 68-62 lead with 39 seconds left. Rectenwald then hit his fourth three-pointer with 25 seconds remaining, but those were to be the final points of the night. After GCC's Benitez Jackson missed on a one-and-one opportunity, the Cougars set up for a final three-point attempt, but that's when Fields stepped in and took the ball.

Litterini, who hit all five of his three-point attempts finished with 19 points, Rectenwald connected on four of seven long-range attempts and recorded 16 points, and Hynes scored 10 points and pulled a game-high 17 rebounds.

"We expected them to hold the ball and wait for good shots, which is exactly what they did," stated Coach Gibson. "But it was their big shots from outside that kept them in the game, and ultimately our defense and depth that won it for us. We substituted continually."

Beaver County, which came into the tournament seeded third and boasting a 23-5 record, proved to be too strong for the Lakers, particularly in the second half. Garrett stayed even with the Titans through most of the first half, and held a 30-28 lead with 6:40 to play. But a 12-point run a few minutes later gave Beaver a 46-36 halftime advantage.

The Lakers did not quit, though, and cut the Titans' advantage back to just three points, 49-46, at the 16:20 mark. But once again, the rally seemed to ignite the Pennsylvania team, which scored the next 13 points and took a 62-46 lead with 12:50 remaining. The Lakers trailed by as many as 20, 82-62, with 2:26 left.

"It was when they abandoned their press that we started having trouble offensively," Gibson said. "Their strength and experience really showed, because they did a good job capitalizing on our mistakes."

Defensively the Lakers could not contain Keith Allen, who led the Titans in scoring with 31 points, while Jason Blanchard recorded 22 points and grabbed 19 rebounds.

Fields and Levi each scored 14 points, Lionell Sewell netted 13, and Jackson chipped in with eight to pace the Lakers' offensive effort.

Beaver ultimately advanced to the Region XX finals, but lost the title to Cecil CC, 107-91, in Sunday's championship game.

Arundel. That didn't work, as Frederick came off a bye and was well-rested.

"This time we're going to have to be patient and slow things down a little. We're also going to have to rely on Christina Lambert, Erica McBride, and Tasha Blackmon to each score in double figures, which every one of them is capable of; and we need to have strong rebounding from Andrea Barrick and April Sisler.

"If we win, we play the winner of Catonsville-CCAC game at 7 p.m. on Saturday, and the championship is set for Sunday at 2 p.m. My five sophomores were selected as Region XX all-stars—Lambert, McBride, Barrick, Sisler, and Keyshia Monroe. If we're not in the championship game, those five will play in an East versus West all-star game at noon on Sunday."

Rounding out tomorrow's Region XX opening round is a 3 p.m. contest between number five seed Allegany College of Maryland and number four seed Potomac State, and a 5 p.m. match-up pitting number two seed CCAC-Allegheny with seventh-seeded Catonsville.

Two Lakers have been named to the Maryland All-JUCO team. First-team honors went to Barrick, while McBride was named to the second team.

Huskies Win Region Wrestling Tourney; Rams Finish Third

Five Win Individual Titles

The Northern High wrestling team continued to dominate area competition, as the Huskies rolled to a first-place finish in the Class 1A/2A West Region Tournament, held Friday and Saturday at North Hagerstown High School. Garrett County's other entry, the Southern Rams, placed third in the 15-team event.

The Huskies, led by individual champions Brandon Stein and Jesse Shimrock, amassed 173 team points, Williamsport placed second with 131.5 points, and the Rams, paced by individual title winners Eric Rexrode, Nick Dolan, and Russell Crosco, finished third with 124.5 points.

Francis Scott Key was the fourth-place team with 116.5 points, followed by: North Hagerstown, 87.5; Urbana, 72.5; Walkersville, 68; Beall, 59; Middletown, 56; Smithsburg, 45; South Hagerstown, 37; Catoctin, 24; Fort Hill, 14; Boonesboro, 13; and Westmar, 8.

The Huskies will have 10 grapplers competing this weekend in the Maryland State Championships at Western Maryland College in Westminster, and the Rams will have seven competing, as the top four finishers in the regional tourney are eligible.

Stein decisioned Steve Stone of Williamsport, 9-4, in the 125-pound division title bout, while Shimrock, who upped his record for the season to 33-0, outpointed Catoctin's Chad Dewees, 7-1, to capture the 140-pound championship.

For the Rams, Rexrode won the 145-pound title and kept his undefeated streak intact (29-0) by earning a 4-2 decision over Dave Mattison of Urbana; Dolan recorded an 8-3 decision over Steve Chucoski, also of Urbana, to win the 152-pound championship and up his perfect record to 28-0; and Crosco earned the 189-pound title by defeating Steve Meyers of Smithsburg on points, 5-2.

Runners-up for Northern included Roy Holliday in the 112-pound division; Matt McNees in the 119-pound class, who was just edged in his final match, 5-4; and Paul Beitzel in the 130-pound division. Sophomore John Hayhurst was a second-place finisher for the Rams in the 171-pound class.

Winning consolation rounds and thus earning third places were Northern's Blake Huber (103) and Mark Wolf (152), and Southern's Nick Sines (125) and Jeremy Hayhurst (160). Wolf's victory was a 2-1 double-overtime win over Beall's Steve Crowe.

Finishing in fourth place were Brandon Kamp (135), Matt Kauffman (160), and David Wampler (171) of Northern, and Jeremy Lear (130) of Southern. Kamp and Wampler each lost by just two points, both in overtime, in their consolation matches.

REGIONAL CHAMPS - Garrett County's high school wrestlers excelled at this past weekend's West Region 1A/2A Championships, held in Hagerstown, as the Northern Huskies captured the team title and the Southern Rams finished third out of the 15 high school teams that were in the competition. Pictured here are four of the five local grapplers who garnered individual championships. Above left, Northern's Brandon Stein controls Steve Stone of Williamsport in the finals of the 125-pound division. Stein won a 9-4 decision. Above right, Southern's Eric Rexrode maintains his undefeated record in defeating Dave Mattison of Urbana in the championship bout of the 145-pound division. Below left is Nick Dolan, another unbeaten Ram, working his way to an 8-3 decision in the title bout of the 150-pound class against Steve Chucoski, also of Urbana. Below right, Northern Husky Jesse Shimrock, also undefeated this season, seems to be involved in a modern dance routine with Chad DeWees of Catoctin. Shimrock decisioned DeWees, 7-1, to win the 140-pound division championship and up his personal record to 33-0 for this season. Southern's Russell Crosco was also an individual champion, having out-pointed Steve Meyers of Smithsburg, 5-2, to capture the 189-pound division title. BIG GAME TROPHY HUNTING CLOSE TO HOME

That's the point of the headline on the brochure for Glen Savage Ranch near Fairhope, Pa. If trophy hunting is your game, but extended travel isn't possible short term, the short drive from Garrett County to the Glen Savage Ranch could be the answer. Hunters here will find true trophy-size whitetails and elk. Most hunts are scheduled from [illegible] mid December and interested hunters need to book early. They will only book from one to four hunters per week.

Since it is so close, it might be a good idea for interested hunters to check it out first hand. To get there, take Route 96 north into Hyndman, Pa. Go straight through the traffic light to the first left (Church Street). Follow this to Fairhope and the Glen Savage property. During the non-hunting season, the property is available for other recreational purposes. The operators, Jerry Leydig and Greg Good, can be contacted at 814-267-5484 or 814-267-5884. Mailing address is P.O. Box 10, Fairhope, PA 15538. They also have a website at www.glensavageranch.com.

The Dale Ray Hunting Preserve is a bit farther away in Proctorville, Ohio, but is reputed to be one of the finest preserves in the eastern U.S. Owners and operators Tom and Sandy Belville say that it is a four-hour drive for them when they come to the Wisp to ski. Dale Ray offers a wide variety of exotic game along with accommodations, field dressing, and taxidermy. Proctorville is located along Ohio Route 7 across the Ohio River from Huntington, W.Va. Tom Belville invites anyone with questions to call him at 740-886-7060.

REEL ACTION

Rumor has it that walleyes are getting active in the Yough Reservoir and trout and perch have been hitting on Deep Creek. With the moderate temperatures we have been experiencing, spring fishing may be heating up a bit early this year. Make sure you have your current license and that your equipment is ready to take advantage of some early season opportunities.

[illegible] to offer hardy trout fishermen late winter angling. The best seems to be in the North Branch tailrace area. Fish minnow imitations slow and deep, and you will have a good chance of hooking up with one of the large rainbows or browns there. Remember, this river is one of those rare streams that holds rainbows, browns, brookies, and cutthroats. The Casselman, Savage, and Yough are also worth fishing if the flows are right. Regardless, the ticket seems to be nymphs and streamers.

Anyone considering driving to Erie, Pa., for late winter steelhead fishing should plan to do it before the end of March. Steelhead guide John Nagy tells us that the mild winter seems to have the steelhead in spawning mode about a month ahead of schedule. This means that they will have taken care of this business by the end of March and will be heading back to the big lake, thereby ending the stream fishing.

MORE FEMALE HUNTERS

In a survey of the total U.S. population in 1980, 10.2 percent indicated that they were hunters while the same question in 1990 indicated that only 9.4 percent participated. Over the same period the percentage of males hunting declined from 19.5 to 16.4 percent, while females showed an opposite trend with an increase to 2.7 percent from 1.3.

BASS ANGLING HAS A LINGO OF ITS OWN

All special interest groups develop their own languages, and bass fishermen are no exception. Being able to "talk the talk" is part of belonging. If the bass anglers around your local tackle shop have you wondering what they just said, the following list should help you.

Breakline: Any change in a lake or river bottom where the weeds end, bottom drops off, etc.

Carolina Rig: A setup where the hook is attached to a long leader that is tied to a swivel with a heavy weight above it.

Cover: Anything that holds fish and is not part of the actual bottom such as weeds, brush, submerged trees, docks, etc.

Flasher: A depthfinder that displays flashes of light on a dial to indicate water depth.

Flipping: A method of fishing using very stiff rods and heavy line to flip a lure into very thick cover from short distances. Pronounce "flippin."

Hawg: A really large bass.

Pitching: A method of fishing like "flippin" but done from a little farther away from shore. The lure is pitched to the cover underhand to reduce noise. Pronounced "pitchin."

Slow Rolling: To fish a spinnerbait slowly through the water so it stays on the bottom.

Spooning: To lift and lower a lure over and over, keeping at the level where the fish are. Yep, it's called "spoonin."

Structure: The features of the bottom and shoreline such as humps, creek channels, etc.

Texas Rig: A way of putting a plastic worm on a hook with a sinker right next to it. The hook is embedded so that the point goes right through the worm's body and the lure hangs straight.

Walk-the-Dog: To twitch a surface lure so that it darts from side to side as it is retrieved.

DNR Schedules Spring Trout Stocking Program

Trout anglers will benefit from more than 460,000 adult trout that will be stocked in lakes, rivers, and streams in 15 counties, Maryland Department of Natural Resources Secretary John R. Griffin announced recently. Approximately 120,000 trout will be stocked in Garrett County waters this spring.

"Our trout stocking program is designed to provide first-class fishing opportunities across the state," Secretary Griffin said. "I encourage anglers to check the trout stocking schedule or their 1999 Freshwater Fishing Guide for closure information as they get ready for opening day on March 27."

The stocking schedule includes a list of rivers, streams, and lakes that will be stocked, the number of trout to be stocked, and the weeks in which stocking will take place. It is available, free of charge, at DNR regional service centers, area fishery offices, and from licensing agents. In addition the schedule is posted on DNR's website at www.dnr.state.md.us/fisheries/springtroutstock.

Information regarding stream closures so that officials can stock and trout can acclimate is also provided in the schedule.

DNR's spring stocking actually began in early winter when 20,000 rainbow trout were stocked into Liberty and Prettyboy reservoirs. In addition, 28,000 adult trout were stocked into many central and southern Maryland lakes and ponds during early January to relieve crowding at our hatcheries due to a persistent drought. Recent mild weather and lack of snow cover has allowed DNR trucks to stock an additional 12,000 trout into lakes and ponds during the first week in February.

DNR's trout stocking program is funded entirely by the sale of freshwater fishing licenses and trout stamps, and by federal Sportfish Restoration Program (Wallop-Breaux) funds which are generated by anglers' and boaters' tax dollars.

Rated R - Running time: 2:04

Nicolas Cage is getting less and less interesting these days. His great characters in Raising Arizona and Peggy Sue Got Married have given way to action figures (Con Air, The Rock, Face/Off), and this is a shame. Of course, there's a heckuva lot more dough to be made as the main character in an action flick than some goofy guy in a goofy movie. He did add some energy to his private eye role in Snake Eyes, blending action with his old-style, overblown characterization. But anybody could have done as well with his part in Joel Schumacher's 8MM. A deeply disturbing film about the evil that lurks in the dirty, dark rooms of the human psyche, 8MM is effective (and seriously creepy), but Cage's part is about as deep as a windowpane. His flat performance is perhaps the only disappointing aspect of the movie.

Cage plays Tom Welles, a detective hired by wealthy widow Mrs. Christian (Myra Carter) to uncover the origins of an eight millimeter film she discovered in her husband's vault after his death. The amateurish "snuff" film, directed by a pornographer for someone's perverse thrills, shows a scantily-clad teenage girl being butchered by a man in a black mask. Understandably, the widow wants to know how her husband came to possess this vile footage, and whether the girl was really killed on film or if it was faked. She is ready to pay Welles whatever he needs to investigate this, and that is why he takes such an unpleasant assignment: He needs the money.

Welles tells his wife (Catherine Keener), who is uncomfortable with his frequent job-related absences, that he'll be finished in a few weeks, but the more he uncovers about the film and the porn industry, the more complex the case becomes. He finds the girl's picture among Cleveland's missing persons files, and tracks down her mother (Amy Morton). He finds an L.A. porn shop owner (Joaquin Phoenix) who identifies the filmmakers. And before he is finished, he discovers much more than he ever wanted to know.

8MM sports three separate bad guys: There are the film's director, Dino Velvet (Peter Stormare), the distributor, Eddie Poole (James Gandolphini), and the onscreen, masked murderer known only as "Machine" (Christopher Bauer). This triumvirate makes one highly unpleasant villain, but none of their performances is outstanding by itself. Added evil, on a lesser scale, is provided by Anthony Heald as the unscrupulous attorney who arranged the deal with the wealthy Mr. Christian.

This film was written by Andrew Kevin Walker, author of Seven. It is chilling in a Silence of the Lambs sort of way, but none of the villains is on a level with Anthony Hopkins, and Cage, here anyway, is nowhere near Jodie Foster. For a protagonist, his Welles is not an especially likable character; he is irresponsible with his family and unmoved by the creepy situation. Though he makes a few unconvincing gestures toward being so moved, he doesn't really get going emotionally until the final reel. Phoenix, whose performance in Return To Paradise still haunts me, is nearly that good here as the frustrated musician forced to turn porn vender. His character, like the girl in the film, is one of the millions of "good kids" who sell their souls to pay the rent.

8MM is a film that presents a clear view of something no one wants to see. It makes us crouch in the shadows and watch as the tears of a young girl are treated like cash crops, put on the market for the pleasure of others. It is good work by Schumacher, but hard to watch nonetheless. ★★★★

WAKING NED DEVINE

I can't figure it out. Are the films coming to us out of the British Isles really that good, or is it just that their different style is refreshing to us? I don't know, maybe it's just those darling accents. But I loved The Full Monty, I loved The Boxer, and I love Waking Ned Devine. We yanks, who have such a need for action/adventure and fabulously attractive, young leading actors, need an occasional diversion, and this is it. Much congratulation must go to 34-year-old Kirk Jones in his writing and directing debut—a beautifully produced, heartwarming film about a townful of senior citizens who conspire to claim the lottery money won by their deceased neighbor.

Ned Devine, one of the 52 residents of the small village of Tullymore, Ireland, was an avid player of the lottery. He was one of many in town who tuned in to the TV every day to watch the balls drop and the numbers appear. And one day it happened: He won the jackpot. But the excitement was a little too much for his old heart. The final sight he would see on this Earth were those brightly colored balls, their numbers exactly matching the ones printed on the slip of paper in his hand.

Jackie O'Shea (Ian Bannen), a friend of Ned's, finds out that a Tullymore local won the lotto, and sets out to determine who it was. When he finds Ned's body (played motionlessly by Jimmy Keogh), he is presented with a dual crisis: Why would the Lord play such a cruel trick on poor old Ned, and, uh, what will happen to the money? He tells his wife Annie (Fionnula Flanagan) and their friend, Michael O'Sullivan (David Kelly). After some moral wrangling and a highly symbolic dream, Jackie is convinced: Ned would have wanted his friends to share his riches—heck, he probably would have split it with them anyway! So, with hilarious rationalizations right out of Steinbeck, they all agree on a plot to deceive the Dublin lottery and do right by their dead friend.

This film is a great study of human nature by writer/director Jones. Like The Full Monty, it pokes fun at the things we will do for cash, but it has a tender side too. An ingenious device early in the film introduces us to many characters as Jackie, Annie, and Michael try to determine who the winner is, bribing all their friends with everything from meat pies to fruity soaps. Later on, the funeral scene, where Jackie's eulogy for Ned is interrupted by the lotto man ready to write a big check, is exquisitely touching and humorous at the same time.

There is some nudity (we are treated to the naked physiques of a couple of 70-year-old men), and panoramic vistas of the green, Irish countryside. Also present is a nice sountrack of Irish folk music and drinking songs, complemented by the original music of Shaun Davey. There's plenty of enjoyment to be found here, whether it be the humor, the honest performances, or just the sheer beauty. And I have to admit, it put me in the mood for a pint. ★★★★½

"Focus on State Government" was Janice Tackett's subject for discussion. She explained the three branches of government and their purposes and duties.

Alice Penzo reported that Michelle Maure has requested that the club serve as the physical agent for a grant. The purpose of being a co-sponsor of the grant, according to Penzo, will be to compile a history of each family by contributing a piece of fabric to be stitched into a quilt, along with the contribution of their family history.

Ressie Conrad announced that the Continuing Education Committee will sponsor a bicycle safety inspection in May. A speaker for March has been invited to talk to club members about obtaining and maintaining a checking account. The Family Committee is sponsoring a "Show and Tell" section at the Ladies Night Out on March 26. The Aurora CEOS will provide to door prizes and a fruit tray.

The club members will also serve as hostesses for the area meeting at Preston High School on April 17.

The vice president's feature, provided by Mrs. Conrad, was "The History of Valentine's Day." Mary Jane Hanline showed placemats made from circular designs cut from greeting cards, mounted on poster board, and covered with clear contact paper. Alice Penzo was the winner of the pig-in-the-poke.

MAXEY-THATCHER COUPLE WEDS

Karen Maxey and Joe Thatcher were united in marriage during a private ceremony held in Prince Frederick, Md., on Feb. 12. The bride is the daughter of Bob and Ruth Maxey, Clinton, Md., and the granddaughter of Audra Teets, Eglon, and the late Charles Teets, and Theta Maxey, Gnegy Church.

PERSONAL MENTION

Ryan Simmons, son of Alan and Debbie Simmons, Eglon, was assisting his neighbor, Ronnie Heishman, last Wednesday morning when he reportedly became entangled in a PTO shaft, resulting in a mangled left forearm and a broken ankle. Ryan was treated at Garrett County Memorial Hospital, Oakland, where surgery was necessary to repair the injuries. He is now recuperating at his parents' home.

Kitty (Hauser) Myers visited in Miami, Fla., last week with her sister, Doris Denison. She has since returned to her home in Aurora.

Charles Teets was returned last week to his Eglon residence, where on Sunday, Feb. 28, he died. Funeral services were conducted Tuesday at the Maple Spring Church of the Brethren. Here during his illness and death were his daughter, Ruth Maxey, and her daughter Karen. (His obituary is included elsewhere in today's edition.)

Diane Johnson of Oakland is a patient at the University of Maryland Hospital, where she underwent heart surgery on March 1. She is the daughter of Iris (Myers) Simmons, Aurora, and the mother of Jennifer Conrad, Eglon.

Todd Files For Council Position

Chris Todd, Oakland, is vying for one of three Oakland Town Council seats to be filled in Monday's town elections.

"Oakland is a great place to live and raise a family. I want to take this opportunity to be a part of the decision-making process to ensure that our town continues to be a community that is family friendly," said the candidate.

Todd is currently employed as the commercial sales manager at Naylor's Hardware, where he has been employed since 1994. He is a 1990 graduate of West Virginia Wesleyan College. Following graduation, he worked as a commercial sales manager for Commercial Roofing Specialists in Charleston, W.Va., before relocating to Oakland in 1994.

Todd and his wife Kendra live in Oakland with their two sons. The couple have been active volunteers in youth activities such as the Southern Mat Club, Girls' Youth Softball, and the Service Basketball League. They are also active in St. Paul's United Methodist Church, where Chris serves on the board of trustees.

Masons To Meet

Oakland Lodge #192, Ancient, Free, and Accepted Masons, will hold a regular communication next Tuesday, Mar. 9, at 7:30 p.m. The First Degree will be confirmed on an eligible candidate. All Master Masons are welcome to attend the communication, held at the Paul B. Naylor Masonic Temple in Oakland, and then share in refreshments in the social hall.

Meet Me In St. Louis Set At Frostburg

Persons can revisit the Victorian era as the Frostburg State University Theatre Department presents a grand-scale production of Meet Me In St. Louis. Showtimes for this family musical are Wednesday, Thursday, Friday, and Saturday, March 10 to 13, at 8 p.m. and Sunday, March 14, at 2 p.m. in the FSU Performing Arts Center Drama Theatre.

"This is a show for everyone of all ages. It is as entertaining as it is fun," said Richard Kagey, chair of the FSU Department of Communications and Theatre Arts. "We want the audience to sit down, be entertained, and have a good time."

The audience will join the members of the Alonso Smith family as they prepare for the momentous event of the new century and 1904, the St. Louis World's Fair. They will hear such familiar songs as "The Boy Next Door," "Have Yourself A Merry Little Christmas," and "Meet Me In St. Louis," presented by a cast of 27 FSU students and two other young women from the community.

"Because this play is adapted from the MGM movie of the same name, and artistically was written like a movie, the characters need to move in and out of doors, from one room to the next," explained Kagey. "To create the scene changes, our sets will move 'avista,' or right in front of your eyes."

To accomplish this formidable task, the University Theatre scenery shop staff of 30 has "raised" the permanent theatre floor 17 inches to accommodate an electrically powered turntable. This turntable will rotate the Smith's three-story Victorian house, allowing the audience to watch the family move throughout the home. Kagey acknowledges the assistance of the construction crew from the Maple Run Forestry Camp in the building of this set.

Resting on casters, the home is easily moved off stage by members of the 30-person running crew while other scenery, including a trolley, is rolled onto stage center. Technical director John Cattanach will supervise yet another crew for computerized lighting and electrical work.

"Realizing the work and cost involved in creating and then dressing everyone in period clothing, including hats, shoes, and gloves, we decided to rent the costumes," Kagey said.

He said that the creation of a production of this size will be an "invaluable educational experience" for the students.

"This is the standard of what the industry is doing," Kagey said. "We are trying to do things that expose our students to what is foremost in the industry."

FSU student cast members include T.C. Kouyeas, Carly Churchey, Billy Ferrell, Veronica Leek, Kate Hnatio, Tim Elliott, Andrea Smith, Jonathan Herrera, and Sean Cercone, and ensemble members Amanda Bond, Nicole Bourque, Jenica Braxton, Jessica Dukes, Lisa Gordon, Brynne Kessler, Jennifer Null, Tara Prato, Cathy Rock, Wane Albright, Wayne Carr, Billy Clark, Jay Jordan, Jeff Keilholtz, Chris Krysztofiak, Sonie Mathew, Justin Seward, and Ahmun Williams. Community cast members include Sarah Peterson and Emily Schadt.

For information and ticket reservations, persons may call the FSU Theatre Box Office from 1 to 4:30 p.m., Monday through Friday. Educators are reminded that reduced rates are available for student groups. Persons with disabilities may request accommodations through the ADA Compliance Office, 301-687-4102.

Public Forum On Alzheimer's Set In Washington

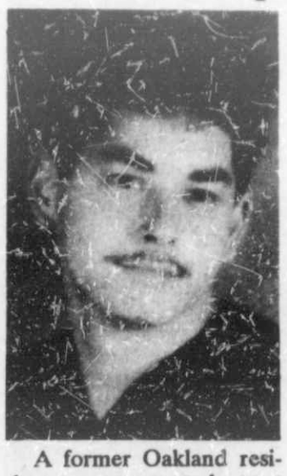
Between March 20 and 23, local families will have an opportunity to participate in the Alzheimer's Association's Annual Public Policy Forum: "Last Chance for the Millennium" in Washington, D.C., to help make the voices of Alzheimer's disease heard. Barbara Pilgram, executive director of the Alzheimer's Association, Western Maryland Chapter, which serves families in Garrett County, said, "People who have experienced Alzheimer's disease or who know the devastating impact of the disease are the most effective advocates with Congress. More than 500 people in Garrett County are thought to have Alzheimer's disease, and more than 4,000 are likely to be affected by the year 2040."

The Alzheimer's Association's federal advocacy efforts will focus on three concerns: getting families help to pay for long-term care; increasing research funding to find the cure for Alzheimer's disease; and modernizing Medicare to meet the chronic health care needs of those with Alzheimer's disease. The 1999 Public Policy Forum offers participants an opportunity to learn how to present their case before Congress and to speak with their state's congressional representatives in the House and Senate.

"Participants in the Public Policy Forum learn how to become a voice for people with the disease, many of whom have lost the ability to speak for themselves. They also are representatives of the many caregivers struggling to provide care for people with the disease," stated Ms. Pilgram.

The Alzheimer's Association's Public Policy Forum is being held at the Renaissance Hotel in Washington, D.C. It will include a press briefing and congressional visits, a congressional hearing on Alzheimer's disease, and a candlelight vigil on the evening of Monday, March 22. Participants are invited to call the Alzheimer's Association for more information at 1-800-696-6830.

Oakland Student Earns Scholarship



A former Oakland resident was among students at Allegany College of Maryland, Cumberland, who were recently awarded scholarships for the current academic year, according to the AC Foundation. He is Thomas A. Long, a 1992 graduate of Southern High School, who is currently working toward an associate degree in forest technology.

He is the son of Deimus and Alice Evans, Oakland. His wife Elizabeth is also a student at AC.

Garden Club Sets Presentation On Native Plants

The March meeting of the Mt. Laurel Garden Club will feature a program titled "Using Plants in the Home Landscape," presented by McHenry-based landscape designer/consultant Sherry Frantz. The meeting is scheduled for Tuesday, March 16, at 10:30 a.m. at the Will O' the Wisp.

The presentation will highlight those native plants and their cultivars which are most adaptable and attractive in the home landscape, as well as non-native invasive plants which should be avoided. Discussion will also revolve around the role of native plants in establishing habitat gardens.

Frantz has been studying and working with plants in various capacities for over 25 years, including recent freelance garden and landscape design projects around in the Deep Creek Lake area. She also designed the native habitat gardens at the Rocky Gap State Park Lodge and continues to work with that ongoing project.

Maple Syrup Demo, Breakfast Slated

Spring is maple syrup time in Garrett County, so demonstrations and an "all-you-can-eat" pancake breakfast are scheduled for March 13-14 at Swallow Falls and Herrington Manor state parks.

The maple syrup demo, "From Sap to Syrup," will be held from 8:30 a.m. to 3 p.m., Saturday, Mar. 13, at Swallow Falls State Park and Sunday, Mar. 14, from 8:30 a.m. to 2 p.m. at Herrington Manor State Park. Visitors may watch as maple sap from state park trees is boiled into maple syrup, and fresh local syrup will be offered for sale. Admission is free.

The "all-you-can-eat" pancake breakfast will be held Sunday, Mar. 14, at Herrington Manor State Park from 8:30 a.m. to 2 p.m., featuring pancakes with fresh maple syrup, sausage, coffee, and juice. The cost is $5 for adults and $2.50 for children under 12.

For information, persons may call the state parks at 301-334-9180, or contact the Garrett County Chamber of Commerce at 301-387-4FUN.

House Bill 9 Is Incentive Plan For New Teachers

The Quality Teachers Incentive Act, or house bill (HB) 9, has been introduced in the Maryland General Assembly with the purpose of attracting and retaining quality teachers in the state's public schools.

"By 2001, we will need approximately 10,000 additional teachers," said Delegate Sheila E. Hixson, chairperson of the House Ways and Means Committee. "This is almost twice the number of teachers we currently hire."

According to the Maryland State Department of Education, climbing enrollments and increases in the number of retirement-eligible teachers fuel the demand for more teachers. "Yet while the demand for them grows, we see fewer individuals entering the profession and we're struggling to retain the teachers we currently employ," Hixson said. "The Quality Teachers Incentive Act offers the state an opportunity to reverse these trends."

Hixson reported that the legislation contains a combination of strategies to attract and retain teachers, including expanding teacher mentoring programs, extending the teacher probationary period for an additional year, providing a stipend for teachers achieving national certification, offering a signing premium for top college graduates who agree to teach at a Maryland public school, awarding a salary bonus to teachers who teach at or mentor in an at-risk school, and granting an income tax credit for graduate courses teachers need to maintain their professional certification.

"This legislation will provide the state with the tools it needs to address the impending teacher shortage," Hixson said. "And while we realize that this legislation isn't a magic bullet, we believe it is a tremendous cornerstone in our efforts to ensure that we have a quality teaching force educating our children."

Bear Damage Declines Over 1998; Stamp Sales Still Being Tallied

by Steve Bittner
Forest Game Biologist
DNR Wildlife & Heritage Division

Black bear damage to agricultural crops has been an issue in Garrett County for several years. In 1996, the Maryland General Assembly authorized a program that provided financial assistance to landowners whose crops were damaged by bears. At the same time, a Bear Stamp was produced and sold in an effort to generate funds to pay for the program. To date, however, stamp sales have not been sufficient to fully reimburse landowners for these damages.

This past year black bear damage to agricultural crops was the lowest since the program began. Total bear damage was estimated to be $19,428 throughout western Maryland, dramatically lower than in 1997 when bear damage exceeded $49,000.

More than half of the damage occurred to field corn, with an estimated $10,233 of damage — nearly 32 acres — occurring in corn grain and silage fields. Reported damage to beehives was the second largest loss, with 10 hives damaged or destroyed at a cost of nearly $3,000. Some of the hives were repaired, but others were totally wrecked. Many landowners with hives accepted DNR's donation of electric fence material at no charge. The fences will keep bears out of beehives, provided they are properly maintained.

A review of damage claims for 1998 reveals that only $15,749 of the claims are eligible for compensation. Some of the claims are ineligible because the estimated damage was less than $200; some landowners do not want reimbursement, but asked for a damage assessment anyway.

As of this writing, it is not known how much money will be available to reimburse landowners for 1998 damage. DNR is still in the process of tabulating stamp sales and should have this information available in the near future.

Because the winter of 1999 has been fairly mild, field offices received occasional reports of bear sightings in both Garrett and Allegany counties during January. All bears except females with newborn cubs can be active during mild winters.

While it is commonly believed that once bears begin hibernating, they remain so until spring, warm winter weather can lead to increased bear activity. Similar to ground hogs, it is not uncommon for bears to move about on warm, sunny days in January and February. All wildlife seems to enjoy being about when the weather turns warm during the winter.

Eighth Grade Visitation a Success — Eighth graders from Southern Middle School and Bloomington School recently visited Southern Garrett High School. The students visited both academic and career and technology classes to assist them with the transition to high school next year. Upperclassmen served as guides for the students and answered numerous questions about academic and social life at SGHS.

TIMS Project — The Technology in Maryland Schools (TIMS) Project is currently under way at Southern High School and Northern Middle School. This project, designed to connect all Maryland classrooms to the Internet, is already completed at Southern Middle and Northern High schools. Completion is scheduled for late March or early April.

Legion Post To Provide Shuttle To W.Va. Clinics

Oakland's American Legion Post 71 recently received a 12-passenger van that will be used to transport ambulatory veteran patients to a pair of Veterans Administration health care facilities in West Virginia. The van is being provided by the West Virginia State Legislature and sponsored by the Disabled American Veterans Transportation program.

The transportation service, which will operate by appointment, begins Monday, March 15. The van will be available to transport patients to the VA Tucker County Community-Based Outpatient Clinic in Parsons, W.Va., on Mondays, Wednesdays, and Fridays, and to the Louis A. Johnson VA Medical Center in Clarksburg, W.Va., on Tuesdays and Thursdays. Patients will be picked up at and returned to Post 71.

"A 72-hour notice of the patient's appointment is needed in order to insure transportation availability," said Jimmie Seeders, transportation coordinator for the American Legion. Transportation arrangements may be made by calling Seeders at 301-334-2791. Medical appointments may be made by calling the Tucker County Outpatient Clinic at 304-478-2219.

The van will be operated solely by volunteer drivers. Any persons interested in serving as a volunteer driver should contact Seeders. The qualifications include a clean driving record, a valid driver's license, and proof of insurance, and volunteers will be eligible for awards based upon the number of hours they accumulate.

"Counting Doves" Faces Effects Of Cancer On Family

"Counting Doves," a story of the effects of cancer on one family, will be presented at Frostburg State University Tuesday, March 9, at 7 p.m. in Tawes Hall, Room 232.

The program raises the questions "What would happen if you found yourself with only one more year to live, and what would you do if it were your significant other?" Andrew Morris, past national executive director of the Sigma Pi Fraternity, will present this program, which recounts his and his wife's struggle with her cancer diagnosis.

From his diary, Morris will recount the story of his wife's original misdiagnosis and the later reality that she was indeed suffering from breast cancer. He will discuss the discovery of his wife's breast lump, tissue biopsies, chemical treatments, surgery, radiation, and the reality of death.

Through his presentation, Morris will inform his audience that 180,000 women will be diagnosed with breast cancer this year and 44,000 will die.

This event is free and open to the public. For information on this program, contact the FSU S.A.F.E. Office at 301-687-4761.

EVERYBODY TALKS ABOUT POOR HEALTH

But, unlike the weather, you can do something about it. Even though the human body can take a great amount of abuse, it sometimes calls for help. When it develops minor pain or discomfort that goes away but returns, if you suddenly begin to lose weight or energy; these are danger signals.

Without delay visit a physician for a health check-up. It takes medical knowledge to find out what is wrong and how to properly help your body enjoy better health. Your physician has this ability.

Spread the WORD

Youngsters seem to be experts in communication with their peers. They remember what is important to them and pass it on to their friends without fail. Therefore, it is crucial that we as parents give them wholesome and correct messages. So many dangerous messages are available so easily and readily today that, as busy parents, we need to really be creative in order to have enough quality time with our children. For example, have dinner as a family. It is a prime time for sharing how youngsters feel about what they learn.

Another excellent way to spend quality time together and to help your youngster make meaningful friends is weekly worship. The positive knowledge your child gleans there will act as armor as he or she is bombarded with the negativity encountered during the week. Go plan to worship this week...and spread the word.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

BY LAWRENCE W. ALTHOUSE

INCARNATION, ANYONE?
March 7, 1999

Background Scripture:
John 1:1-18; 20:30, 31
Devotional Reading:
Psalms 33:1-9

The late Dr. Harry Emerson Fosdick said that, when Jesus first began his ministry, many people said, God sent him. Throughout Jewish history, God had sent an ample supply of prophets, rulers, champions and so forth.

After a while, however, says Fosdick, "that sounded too cold, as though God were the bow and Jesus the arrow." So, some probably went on to say, God is with him. And for a while, that seemed adequate. Jesus could not do what he did unless God was with him.

Eventually, it was not enough, so that people began to say God came in him. "That was not so much theology at first as poetry," said Fosdick. "It was an exhilarating insight and its natural expression was a song. God can come into human life! they cried. God has come into human life!" That is what the incarnation means.

In beginning his gospel the Evangelist used a very special Greek term: Logos. The English rendering of Logos—Word—is rather weak by comparison. This Greek philosophical term was introduced about 500 years before the birth of Jesus, probably by Heraclitus of Ephesus. Stoics and Platonists understood the term to mean "the mind of God," reflected in the rationality, order and harmony of the universe.

To Jews, the "Word of God" represented God's penchant for expressing and revealing himself creatively. In Psalms 33:6 we read: "By the word of the Lord the heavens were made..." The prophets were given the "word of the Lord." In Proverbs 8:22-31 God's wisdom is the word of God, as William Hamilton puts it, "a portion of God extended into the world." Later, the Jewish philosopher Philo of Alexandria attempted to merge the Greek and Jewish concepts, both of which were impersonal in their nature.

When John the Evangelist used Logos in the opening of his gospel, however, he used it in a way that they probably had not anticipated: "And the word became flesh and dwelt among us, full of grace and truth" (John 1:14). This was a giant step, for he is saying what to many was unthinkable: the creative, expressive faculty of God became a human being! As much of God as can be expressed in human nature is what we encounter in Jesus the Christ.

GOD'S CHARACTER

Christians have played all kinds of semantic and percentage games with the concept of incarnation. It is impossible. Jesus was not 50% human and 50% divine or any other percentage breakdown. The best we can say—that he was 100% human and 100%—divine is good poetry but lousy mathematics. The fact of Christ, says Dr. Carnegie Simpson, "does not indeed show us everything, but it shows us the one thing we need to know—the character of God." A. Ian Burnett comments: "In other words, God must be like Christ. The character of the Creator cannot be less than the highest He has created, and the highest is that babe born to Mary on the first Christmas morning."

J.B. Phillips' translation of John in The Gospels puts it with beautiful clarity:

At the beginning, God expressed Himself. That Personal Expression was with God and was God, and he existed with God from the beginning. All creation took place through Him.... So the Expression of God became a human being and lived among us. (Macmillan, 1953)

The human mind can never comprehend the Creator of the cosmos. We can never analyze God's nature nor devise a theology that adequately explains how he works in this world. But, because of Jesus Christ we can know all we need to know. We can entrust ourselves to the mercies of a God whose character is glimpsed in the life of Jesus.

The incarnation, however, does not stop with Jesus Christ. St. Irenaeus tells us that "The Word of God, Jesus Christ, for his great love for mankind, became what we are in order to make us what he is himself." The object of Christian discipleship is for each of us to incarnate God in our own lives, however imperfectly.

Keep Maryland Beautiful Award Competition Set

As part of its Keep Maryland Beautiful activities, funded by the State Highway Administration, the Maryland Environmental Trust is accepting applications for the Margaret Rosch Jones Award and the Bill James Environmental Grants.

The Margaret Rosch Jones Award of up to $2,000 is for voluntary non-profit groups or communities which show continuing plans for a project that has already demonstrated a basic understanding and resolution of an environmental issue. The Jones award is given in memory of Margaret Jones, the executive director and moving spirit of the Keep Maryland Beautiful Program for many years. The award is designed to remind citizens of Jones's devotion, energy, and ingenuity by presenting an award in her name to a group whose voluntary activities personified these attributes.

Applicants must have been active in educating people in their community about at least one of these concerns: litter prevention, community beautification, and local or statewide environmental issue(s); and/or have been successful in eliminating or reducing the causes of a local environmental problem rather than address the symptoms.

The Bill James Environmental Grants of up to $1,000 are for proposed environmental education projects by school groups, science and ecology clubs, and other non-profit youth groups. These grants are given in memory of William S. James, who drafted legislation to create the trust, incorporating the activities of the Governor's Committee to Keep Maryland Beautiful. The objectives of the grants are: to encourage a sense of stewardship and personal responsibility for the environment; to stimulate a better understanding of environmental issues; to aid in the elimination or reduction of a local environmental problem; and to encourage education about growth management through protection of rural areas and sensitive resources and discouragement of sprawling development patterns.

Applications may be obtained from the Maryland Environmental Trust, First Floor, 100 Community Place, Crownsville, MD 21032-2023. Completed applications must be received by April 1.

Forum To Explore "The Presidency And Public Trust"

"Leadership, the American Presidency and Public Trust," a panel discussion, will be held on the campus of Frostburg State University on Monday, March 8, at 7:30 p.m. in the FSU Lane Center, Atkinson Room, 201.

Three panelists will contribute their views with Dr. Philip Allen, FSU dean of the School of Arts and Humanities, serving as moderator. After each panelist has the opportunity to make a short presentation, the audience will be invited to interact with the panel.

Dr. Steve Simpson, FSU professor of political science, will focus on the ways in which American presidents have contributed to widespread public cynicism toward government and how that cynicism has, in turn, made it more difficult for presidents to provide effective political leadership.

Dr. Shawn Johansen, FSU assistant professor of history, will explore how the myths about past presidents have produced unrealistic expectations for the presidential office and contributed to Americans' cynicism toward the political system.

Dr. Joy Kroeger-Mappes, FSU associate professor of philosophy, will focus on accusations of immorality as "blunt instruments" in attacks on leaders. She will also consider what generates and fuels attacks on leaders, and what is needed for more effective leadership.

The panel discussion is sponsored by the FSU Philosophical Forum. Questions about the program may be directed to Dr. Tom Mappes, FSU Department of Philosophy, at 301-687-4215.

There were 538 students named to the dean's list at Susquehanna University, Selinsgrove, Pa., for outstanding academic performance during the fall 1998 semester, and one of them is a Garrett County resident.

Juli Savage, daughter of Michael and Terry Savage, McHenry, earned at least a 3.4 grade point average on a 4.0 scale while completing a minimum of 12 semester hours of study. The Northern High School graduate is a sophomore, majoring in business.

On Dean's List At W.Va. Wesleyan

Three students from Garrett County were among those named to the dean's list at West Virginia Wesleyan College, Buckhannon, W.Va. Dean Richard G. Weeks Jr. announced recently that Maryann Wolfe, Mtn. Students on the 1998 fall dean's list have achieved a 3.5 or higher grade point average for the semester while carrying a load of at least 12 semester hours.

Wachter, a 1995 graduate of Northern High School, is a senior majoring in music education. A 1997 graduate of Southern High School, Rodeheaver is a sophomore majoring in international studies. Wolfe is a 1995 graduate of Southern High School. She is a senior majoring in English education.

WVWC enrolls approximately 1,500 students from 35 states. The college is one of only a few nationwide designated a "Thinkpad University," providing each freshman with a laptop computer.

Taylor Earns Scholarship To DeVry Institute

Robert Taylor, a senior at Northern High School, is the recipient of a 1999 dean's partial-tuition scholarship to DeVry Institute of Technology in Columbus, Ohio. Taylor is the son of William and Mary Katherine Callis.

The announcement was made by Dr. Galen Graham, president of DeVry/Columbus. The scholarship, valued up to $9,000, covers partial-tuition payment for the electronics engineering technology program. Taylor will earn a bachelor's degree upon successful completion of all course work.

Scholarship winners were selected from a group of more than 300 students nationwide and were granted on the basis of test scores (SAT/ACT).

"We're delighted to continue this tradition of granting scholarships to exceptional high school students," said Graham. "Providing scholarship opportunities is one way of demonstrating DeVry's commitment to academic excellence."

Nationwide, DeVry Institutes presents approximately 200 dean's scholarships to graduating high school seniors.

Three Domestic Assault Cases Come To Trial

A trio of domestic assault cases, each of which stemmed from Grantsville-area incidents, came before the bench in recent Garrett County District Court proceedings. One of the hearings resulted in a three-month jail sentence for a Grantsville resident.

After pleading guilty to a charge of second degree assault, Michael Wayne Wilburn, 37, was handed 90 days in jail by District Court Judge Ralph M. Burnett. Maryland State troopers had arrested Wilburn in January after he reportedly assaulted a female acquaintance at her Grantsville residence. An additional charge of malicious destruction of property was not prosecuted by the state's attorney's office.

A second degree assault charge faced by William Thomas Frickey, 50, Grantsville, was placed onto the stet docket by Burnett. Frickey had been arrested by deputies from the Garrett County Sheriff's Office following a January domestic incident at the Grantsville home of a female acquaintance.

Ronald Lee Wilt, 40, Grantsville, was exonerated of a charge of second degree assault which had stemmed from his January arrest by state troopers after a reported domestic assault at a Grantsville residence. Burnett handed down the not guilty verdict after Wilt's spouse invoked her marital privilege in deciding not to testify against her husband.

In other district court news, a Terra Alta, W.Va, man was sentenced after he had been found guilty of second degree assault.

Joseph Franklin Rodeheaver, 23, had entered a not guilty plea to the charge, which stemmed from his January arrest by sheriff's deputies for an alleged assault that had occurred in Oakland in January. He was handed a probation before judgment (PBJ), a 30-day suspended sentence, and placed on one year of unsupervised probation.

Rodeheaver was exonerated after entering not guilty pleas to additional charges of first degree burglary, second degree assault, and malicious destruction of property, each of which had stemmed from the same incident.

A felony theft charge faced by George William Sager Jr., 33, Berkeley Springs, W.Va., was placed onto the stet docket as Judge Paul Stakem stipulated that he stay off the premises of Glotfelty Enterprises.

Sager had been arrested last April for allegedly stealing tires from the Glotfelty-owned Tri-County tire store in Petersburg, W.Va. He was apprehended by Garrett County sheriff's deputies at Glotfelty Enterprises in Oakland shortly afterwards as he attempted to sell the business its own stolen tires.

Brian Keith Craver, 32, Mtn. Lake Park, was found in violation of a probation agreement that stemmed from a battery conviction. His probation was revoked, and Burnett reimposed a one-year jail sentence.

Alfred Jay Kight, 21, Mtn. Lake Park, was found in violation of probation that he had been serving after a conviction for unlawful taking of a motor vehicle. Burnett revoked Kight's probation, reimposed his original jail sentence, suspending all but three months to be served through the work release program, and ordered that he pay $200 in restitution within 24 hours of the hearing.

Jamie Lee Sirbaugh, 20, Ridgeley, W.Va., was granted a sentence revision to reflect a suspended sentence except for time already served for a misdemeanor theft conviction.

Harry Edward Parker, 18, Smithfield, Pa., was granted a sentence revision to reflect a suspended sentence except for time already served for a felony theft conviction.

Wanda Rae Broadwater, 34, Frostburg, was not prosecuted on a charge of making a false statement to a court commissioner. She had been arrested by sheriff's deputies in November and accused of making the false statement in order to have the commissioner take action on it against another party.

Eric Scott Uphold, 21, Oakland, was not prosecuted on a charge of violating an ex parte order which stemmed from his November arrest by the Oakland City Police.

Harold Dewain Smith, 31, Oakland, was exonerated on a charge of second degree assault when Stakem ruled he was not guilty.

DWI/DUI HEARINGS

Several driving while intoxicated (DWI) and driving while under the influence of alcohol and/or drugs (DUI) cases were heard in district court recently.

Paul Hugh Tichnell, 29, Maryland hometown not available, pleaded guilty to DUI before Burnett and was fined $300, handed a 30-day sentence with all but two days suspended, placed on one year of supervised probation, and ordered to complete 40 hours of community service.

Brian Keith Braithwaite, 29, Swanton, was sentenced by Burnett after he had pleaded guilty to DUI and was fined $300, handed a 60-day sentence with all but four days suspended, and placed on four years of supervised probation.

Richard Allan Haywood, 34, Uniontown, Pa., pleaded guilty to DUI and was handed a probation before judgment by Burnett, who also imposed a $255 fine and a 30-day suspended sentence, placed him on one year of supervised probation, and ordered him to complete 40 hours of community service.

Shannon Marie Price, 19, Westernport, pleaded guilty to DUI and was fined $200, handed a 30-day suspended sentence, and placed on one year of supervised probation.

Thomas Edward Gank, 19, Oakland, was found to be in violation of probation by Burnett, who revoked Gank's probation and reimposed his original incarceration sentence.

Russell Eugene Tasker, 27, Oakland, and Gary L. Wiles, 47, Smithfield, Pa., were both found to be in violation of their respective DWI probation agreements by Burnett. Sanctions were withheld and probation was continued in each case.

Stephen Ray Bolding, 34, Oakland, pleaded guilty to DWI before Stakem and was fined $1,000, handed a two-year sentence, half of which was suspended, and placed on three years of supervised probation.

Gary Lee Duff, 42, Corinth, W.Va., pleaded guilty to DWI before Stakem and was fined $555, handed a six-month sentence with all but 10 days suspended, and placed on two years of supervised probation.

Timothy David Hare, 27, Swanton, was deemed not guilty of DWI by Stakem.

ADORABLE ADOPTABLE? - Well, not up for adoption, but adorable nonetheless. Clifford the Big Red Dog visited with students and staff during the recent Scholastic Book Fair at Yough Glades Elementary, where students were given the opportunity to have their picture taken with the famous canine, hero of a series of children's books for several decades. All proceeds collected from the sale of the pictures were donated to the school's Accelerated Reader Program. Yough Glades students have read 7,191 Accelerated Reader books to date this school year.

COVER STORY

Grant swashbuckles in A&E's Pimpernel

By John Crook
©TVData Features Syndicate

Elizabeth McGovern

It's a classic role that has attracted thespians as diverse as Leslie Howard, Anthony Andrews and, of course, Daffy Duck.

Now, actor Richard E. Grant erases all competition as he steps into the boots of Sir Percy Blakeney and his daredevil alter ego, The Scarlet Pimpernel, in a new series of movies premiering Sunday, March 7, on A&E Network.

Filmed in the Czech Republic with a supporting cast that includes Elizabeth McGovern as Percy's fiery French wife, Marguerite, and Martin Shaw as the Pimpernel's nemesis, Chauvelin, the visually sumptuous production is noteworthy for playing its story straight, without overt campiness.

Unlike past incarnations, Grant's Sir Percy isn't a grotesquely effeminate fop, but an apparently superficial English aristocrat who hides a secret life: rescuing French innocents from the guillotine.

It was that sense of duality that drew the versatile 41-year-old actor to the project.

"When I read the script and did the research, it struck me that the character is like an 18th-century Batman," Grant says. "People who have a double life, that the audience is party to and the other characters aren't, are inherently dramatic and interesting.

"I think most people do have a public persona and then a different persona of who they really think they are. This guy who wouldn't seem to harm a fly yet secretly partakes in all this derring-do is something interesting for an audience to watch and for an actor to play."

He was in complete agreement with the creative team that this Sir Percy would be a social butterfly but stop well shy of caricature. Indeed, the relationship between this Percy and his Marguerite is the most passionate yet.

"In order for me or an audience to possibly believe that he could be sexually attractive to his wife or to anyone else, if he's a complete, outrageous hairdresser's assistant, it (just doesn't work)," he says.

Grant knows a thing or two about public image. Despite the fact that he is a gifted actor and an attractive man, his mainstream movies usually find him playing, well ...

"Freaks," he supplies, succinctly. "You can say it. Because of the way that I'm built, I've never imagined that I would be playing the roles that Mel Gibson and Arnold Schwarzenegger do. ... But this character, foppish though he may be to some extent, is something that I never really thought I'd get to play."

And he gets to play him in the King's English – no French accents here. Grant says the production steers clear of the comic overtones that have accompanied the British actor-French accent combination since Britain's lowbrow 1970s comedy series 'Allo, 'Allo!

"We briefly considered making the French Scottish, then decided, 'No, that will just offend the Scottish,' " he says, tongue firmly in cheek. "Finally, we decided, 'Let's just have all these people speak in English.' So that's what we did."

In any language, A&E's The Scarlet Pimpernel is splendid entertainment for the entire family.

CBS comes down with March Madness

By Josh Greene
©TVData Features Syndicate

A rapid-fire succession of games, an ever-increasing fevered pitch and lots and lots of screaming ...

Welcome to a college basketball fan's version of hardwood heaven, a k a the 1999 NCAA Men's Basketball Tournament.

Continuing coverage of all 63 tournament games begins Thursday, March 11, on CBS.

This year's road to the championship marks the ninth time sportscasters Jim Nantz and Billy Packer have teamed up to call the action from the early rounds straight through the championship game.

Nantz, the lead college basketball play-by-play announcer for CBS, sees the tournament as an unpredictable but wholesome venue for fans to support their favorite collegiate teams.

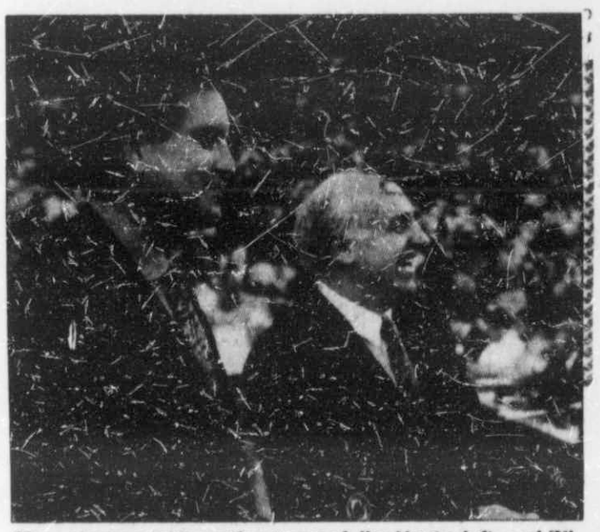
"There's something about 64 teams coming from all corners of the country that creates a sense of purity and drama," Nantz says. "Everybody has a team they can latch onto to represent their region."

Packer returns as analyst for his 25th NCAA basketball championship game and still relishes the uniqueness of it all.

"Each NCAA tournament has a different story line and different players," he says. "You never know what'll happen. I still think it's the truest national championship of any sport."

The field of 64 dwindles down to the Final Four, airing March 27 from St. Petersburg, Fla. The last two teams standing advance to the championship game on March 29.

"Every year you keep saying, 'It can't be as exciting as last year's tournament,' but they always are," Nantz says. "There aren't many things today that deliver the goods like that."



The veteran sportscasting team of Jim Nantz, left, and Billy Packer helps call the action for the 1999 NCAA Men's Basketball Tournament, beginning Thursday on CBS.

Q: Whatever happened to Promised Land on CBS Thursdays? It's missing, although Diagnosis Murder is still on. I am not happy. –Donna Howes, Ashland, Maine.

A: Promised Land returns to its regular time slot on March 25. CBS programmers refigured their midseason lineup to give new shows a trial run. They kept Diagnosis Murder on because it gets higher ratings than the Gerald McRaney series, but put Land on the shelf to give Turks a try.

No decision will be made on renewing any of the above shows until May. Sadly, however, To Have & to Hold seems to be gone for good, the victim of fatally low ratings.

Q: Whatever happened to the blond actress who was in the first few episodes of Martial Law? –G.M., Erie, Pa.

A: With the permission of the producers, Tammy Lauren left her role as Dana Doyle because she was unhappy with the way her character was developing.

Q: What are the chances that Mystery Science Theater 3000 will rerun some of the earlier episodes starring Joel Hodgson? –Mike McHugh, San Francisco.

A: The Sci-Fi Channel, which MST3K is orbiting at present, does not own the rights to the Hodgson episodes that aired on Comedy Central. Some of those episodes have been released on Rhino Home Video.

I hear rumors the show may be ending its run on Sci-Fi soon, so you may see repeats turn up in syndication.

Q: My son-in-law insists that Drew Barrymore played Cindy Brady on The Brady Bunch. My daughter and I are sure he's wrong. Right? –Carole via e-mail.

A: Of course he is. Among other things, your son-in-law isn't taking into account the time factor: Barrymore, 24, hadn't even been born when Bunch premiered in 1969. Susan Olsen, now 37, played Cindy.

Q: Did Don Knotts and Frances Bavier ever win Emmys for their work as Barney and Aunt Bee on The Andy Griffith Show? –Pat Flowers, Daytona Beach, Fla.

A: Knotts won five Emmys for his performances as Barney; Bavier won one for the 1966-67 season.

BEASTIE ERROR: Contrary to a recent answer here, Dustin Diamond of Saved by the Bell is not related to Mike D. of the Beastie Boys. Our Internet source for that answer was in error and has been corrected as well.

Friend Affiliates With Coldwell Banker Realty

Kelly Anne Friend, pictured above, has affiliated with Coldwell Banker Deep Creek Realty as a licensed sales associate, the company announced recently. Friend recently completed the 60-hour pre-licensing class and passed the state examination to fulfill all requirements for her Maryland real estate license.

"We are delighted that Kelly has chosen to work with us as a full-time sales associate," said Robert Huebner, broker/owner of the real estate company. "Kelly has done an excellent job for us as a receptionist, and as an assistant to her parents, Jim and Esther Friend (also sales associates with Coldwell Banker Deep Creek Realty), and I know that her conscientious dedication and her background in the business will be real benefits to her customers and clients."

Having worked in the western vacation locale of Lake Tahoe, Kelly hopes to bring some new and unique ideas to marketing vacation properties in this area. "I have always found that helping people is extremely rewarding, and being able to work with them to find a home is especially satisfying. I'm proud to work in an environment that plays a part in the growth of Garrett County's vacation community. I really enjoy telling people about the beauty and recreational splendor that Garrett County offers year-round. It is especially rewarding to be able to work closely and as a team with my family," she stated.

Friend is a 1994 graduate of Northern High School, and attended Virginia Polytechnic Institute and State University with an interest in business administration. She studied fine arts at Lake Tahoe Community College in South Lake Tahoe, Calif., and is currently a part-time student at Garrett Community College. She has been involved in Coldwell Banker Deep Creek Realty's committee to support Habitat for Humanity for the past two years, and is a new member of the Garrett Choral Society.

Friend is a member of the Oak Grove Church of the Brethren and is assisting in preparation for the tri-state's Ralph Bell/Billy Graham Association Crusade. She currently resides in Accident with her son Isaac.

MARCHING MINDS are new awards that are being presented to the members of the Southern Garrett Marching Band who perform well above average scholastically during their season of field show competition. During their eight-week season in the fall, the members of the band spend seven hours per week in field show rehearsals, from 14 to 18 hours per Saturday performing in field show competitions, plus performing at seven football games and occasionally at home soccer matches, not to mention performing in a number of parades. Yet, despite the scores of extra hours spent with the band, the students pictured here still maintained a grade point average of at least 87.5 percent during that season. Pictured from left, kneeling, are: Stephanie Smith, Matt Frederick, Lacey Holtschneider, Andrea Coughlin, Lauren Nelson, Hilarie Wampler, Becca Gangler, and Amber Wilt. Standing, same order, are: Kristi Skiles, Bryan Barnard, Karri Sanders, Tiffany Holtschneider, Jennifer Sanders, Cassie Kauffmann, Amanda Palmer, Daniel Shafer, Carrie Carpenter, Shawn Cardiff, Jamie Durst, Charlie Nolan, and Traci Skiles. Also earning the award, but not present for the photo, were Suzanne Gilbert, Molly McGowan, Jessica Moon, Kathryn Richter, Audrey Shipe, Anne Snyder, and Jason Snyder.

Frostburg State University will feature a performance of the United States Air Force Band of Flight's Contemporary Clarinet Quartet next Wednesday, March 10, at 3 p.m. in the FSU Performing Arts Center Pealer Recital Hall.

This woodwind quartet was established in 1997 with the charter to "enhance the quality of life" for the members of the Air Force. Performing a wide variety of styles for numerous situations, from dinner music and ambient entertainment to concert performances at international conventions, the quartet appears in the seven-state region for which the Band of Flight is responsible.

This group consists of active-duty enlisted members under the command of Major Courtney Pohl, commander and conductor of the USAF Band of Flight. Quartet members include: Technical Sergeant Carolyn Sargent, Senior Airman Richard D. Dryer, Senior Airman Wendy R. Harvey, and Airman First Class Hara Laskaris-Hackett.

The FSU performance will include the selections "The Earle of Oxford's Marche" by William Byrd, "Divertimento" by Alfred Uhl, and "That's A-Plenty" arranged by Paul Nagle and Bill Holcombe.

This event is free and open to the pubiic.

With Sincere Appreciation

To all who shared our sorrow
To comfort us with a touch of a hand, a hug, a kiss, or a shoulder to cry on;
Perhaps you helped to give her care,
Or sang a touching song.
Perhaps you sent a lovely flower,
If, so, we saw them there.
Perhaps you came and just sat quietly,
Just to show you cared.
Perhaps you sent or spoke comforting words,
or knelt with us to pray.
Perhaps you were not there at all,
Just thought of us each day.
Perhaps you prepared some tasty food,
Or rendered a service unseen.
Whatever you did to console our hearts,
We thank you sincerely, whatever the part.
To all who said what a great lady
she was, one of the best we always knew,
but it was nice to hear from others who loved her, too.
We will always remember your kindness.

May God bless all of you.

Y2K Conversion For Unemployed Called Successful

More than 8,000 Unemployment Insurance (UI) claims and 50,000 UI checks have been successfully processed since the first day of 1999, following the Maryland Department of Labor, Licensing, and Regulation's (DLLR) introduction of changes that made Maryland's UI system capable of handling the date change to year 2000. Nearly 200,000 Marylanders file for unemployment benefits each year, and the implementation brought one of the state's first major Year 2000 (Y2K) compliant systems on-line.

Governor Parris Glendening said, "The successful implementation means that Marylanders will be assured that their claims for unemployment insurance benefits will not be interrupted by the oncoming change next January. We are proud also that we are a national leader among states in the effort to provide outstanding service to customers without interruption during the Y2K transition."

Unemployment claims filed since January 1, 1999, include benefit years that extend into the year 2000. A test validated the system's ability to process four-digit year data correctly. Because many systems were originally constructed to use only two digits to designate a year, without changes they would recognize the new year as 1900 rather than 2000.

"It took an amazing amount of work by staff to come up with conversions for a host of UI departmental services," said John P. O'Connor, secretary of the DLLR. "I am confident that we will meet the governor's goal of ensuring continued excellent customer service into the next century."

In addition to Governor Glendening's support and state resources, DLLR collaborated with the U.S. Department of Labor (USDOL) to complete the process. The USDOL also provided financial and technical support which further contributed to the success of the project.

Thomas Wendel, director of DLLR's Unemployment Insurance Program, said, "Ensuring that the system could recognize the proper year is critical to its accuracy. We have been working on this problem for years, as part of a major rewrite of our benefits system, to make sure that the benefits for Marylanders will not be interrupted."

DLLR tested its Y2K conversion, implementation, and data validation for major UI applications on its mainframe system. The department had been redesigning its systems for several years, and much of it was restructured to be Y2K compliant. Establishing a claim with the benefit year ending date of 2000 was a critical test that the conversion needed to complete.

GARRETT COUNTY TAXPAYERS!

According to the laws governing my office (Section 14-808/Tax Property), the Treasurer must advertise and sell properties for delinquent County, State, Town or taxes due other taxing agencies.

Delinquent notices were mailed March 3, 1999. We have included all taxes on the property as required by law. However, only delinquent taxes (97-98 and prior years) must be paid to avoid a tax sale on the property. TAX BILLS MAILED LAST JULY ARE NOT DELINQUENT! Also, personal property taxes for 97-98 and prior years are delinquent and become a lien on the real estate (Section 14-808).

The figures on the delinquent notices will be effective through April 5, 1999. After April 5, 1999, all delinquent accounts will be given to the attorney for preparation for tax sale. Failure to pay before this deadline will result in assessment of attorney fees and other expenses of sale as provided by law.

Subsequent to new legislation this year (Annotated Code 14-809), the county collector shall proceed to advertise and sell any real property located in any municipal corporation in the county on which municipal corporation taxes are delinquent.

Lions Schedule Benefit To Meet $15,000 Pledge

The Oakland-Mtn. Lake Park Lions Club has pledged $5,000 per year for the next three years to Multiple District 22 of Lions Clubs International's Year 2000 Vision Research Foundation, and in order to raise those funds, the club has scheduled a dinner, dance, and raffle drawing for April 17.

The event, which will be held at the Oakland Elks Club lodge, will begin with a social hour at 5 p.m., dinner at 6 p.m., a drawing for $2,500 prize money at 7 p.m., and a dance following the drawing, featuring the band Stone Country.

The Lions will be selling only 150 tickets for the fund-raiser, at a cost of $100 per couple. They may be purchased from any member of the club. Some beverages will be provided free for the evening.

"Our community has always supported us in our fund-raisers, and we hope that this most important one will not be an exception," stated Greg Shockey, president of the club. "We are asking once again for the community to help us help the Wilmer Eye Clinic Research Division, which continues to discover new ways to prevent blindness and assist those less fortunate than themselves in coping with their sight problems."

The members of Multiple District 22 are committed to raise a total of $4 million by the end of next year, which will be placed in a foundation, the proceeds of which will support vision research at the Wilmer Eye Clinic at Johns Hopkins University Hospital in Baltimore. The Wilmer clinic is considered to be the best service and research clinic in the world. Much of the support for the clinic comes from Lions Club members in Multiple District 22, which includes all clubs in Garrett County.

A number of children and adults in District 22-W (Western Maryland) have been provided with sight assistance from the Wilmer Cliffic, according to Wayne Johnson, publicity chairman for the Oakland-Mtn. Lake Park Club. "We hope our community will enable us to help many more by supporting our April 17 fund-raiser," he said.

LIONS SLATE BENEFIT - In order to fulfill a major pledge to the Wilmer Eye Institute of Johns Hopkins University Hospital for vision research and sight assistance to persons in need, the Oakland-Mtn. Lake Park Lions Club will hold a dinner/drawing/dance at the Oakland Elks Lodge in April. Tickets for the event are now available from members of the club. Pictured above, distributing tickets for sale at a recent meeting of the club, are, from left: Jay Bateson, past president; Larry DeBerry; and Lowell Leitzel, club secretary. See story for details.

Lions Meeting Highlights GCMH Foundation Role

The Garrett County Memorial Hospital Foundation was the subject of a program presented to members of the Oakland-Mt. Lake Park Lions Club recently by Kathy R. Greaser, CFRE, executive director of the foundation, and William B. Grant, chairman of the foundation's George Loar Circle Committee. The presenters updated Lions Club members on the foundation's accomplishments over the past 12 years and its goals for the future.

Since the hospital operates under budgetary constraints regulated by federal and state guidelines there is always a "gap" between the equipment that is needed and what is affordable, the GCMHF officials said, adding that the foundation's purpose is to assist the hospital, bridging the gap with the funding of equipment and capital improvements that are needed but may not be affordable under these budgetary constraints. Since its inception the foundation has spent over $1.7 million on the purchase of much needed equipment and has committed to fund an additional $365,000 in 1999. The equipment funded has been placed in nearly every department of the hospital, affecting nearly every patient.

Over the past several years, the Oakland-Mt. Lake Park Lions Club has supported the foundation and the hospital through annual contributions of $1,000 to the foundation's George Loar Circle, a recognition designation honoring donor organizations. The club has been a supporter of the foundation since its original fund drive, the Capital Campaign. Contributions made to the foundation by the Oakland-MLP Lions Club now totals nearly $10,000.

"The foundation has dedicated this year as 'the year of the heart' in memory of Joanne Henry, a very active member of the foundation who recently passed away due to heart problems. Most of the funds raised this year will be spent for equipment used in cardiology procedures," Grant concluded.

Grant To Aid Md. Students With Disabilities

Maryland State Superintendent of Schools Nancy S. Grasmick has announced the receipt of a five-year federal Program Improvement Grant worth over $5 million. The grant will be used to fully integrate the education of students with disabilities into standards-based education reform in Maryland. Maryland was one of only 18 states to receive the competitive award.

"We are very excited about this grant and the opportunity it gives us to move ahead with integrating the education of our students with disabilities into our statewide reform efforts. The funds will help us unify our school reform efforts more quickly," Dr. Grasmick said, "and will assist us in improving education for students with disabilities."

Maryland will receive $1,095,000 of the grant award for this first year, which runs through January 31, 2000.

Grasmick said the grant will assist Maryland as the state reforms and improves education, provides services that help prepare young children for learning, and helps students with disabilities move to higher levels of achievement. "Maryland was particularly well placed to compete for this grant because we have such a well established accountability system that encompasses all children," she added.

Maryland will use the award to involve educators, parents, and other community stakeholders in bringing about progressive and positive change in services for students aged 3 to 21 and to assist in providing services for infants and toddlers with disabilities and their families through the statewide early intervention system. Funds will also be used for staff development for teachers, technical assistance, and identifying and sharing practices that have worked in improving results for students with disabilities.

Current results of students with disabilities on performance tests and other measures will serve as a baseline against which progress will be compared each year. Data will be disaggregated, organized, and reported at both state and school system levels and will be used to drive professional development, personnel preparation, and technical assistance for school reform and system improvement.

Technical assistance will support colleges and universities in increasing the numbers of college students preparing for careers as special educators, leading to improved practice in classrooms, schools, agencies, professional development systems, and preservice preparation programs.

Panelcraft Building Systems

The time to be concerned about how to keep from using so much heating fuel is when you build. Use Panelcraft's Structural Insulated Panels (SIPs).

SIP structures are known for their structural integrity. Nature's storms, earthquakes, tornados, etc., just need a little greater force to do the same amount of damage to SIP structures versus conventional.

SIPs consist of Polystyrene laminated between two pieces of structure board, thus creating a very rigid, super insulating panel which is used for Walls, Roofs, Ceilings and Floors, virtually any aspect of your project!

Q. I have a trick Chesterfield cigarette pack. It looks like a real pack, but is made from cardboard with a tin lining. When you open the top, a clown pops out. When was this made and why?

A. You have what is called a "jack-in-the-pack." It was an advertising novelty designed to be displayed in a tobacco shop.

We have also seen a Kent cigarette pack squirt gun.

Your trick pack dates from the 1940s or '50s.

Q. Can you tell me anything about the mantel clock I found on a farm in Wisconsin? The wood has an inlaid design, and the clock face is marked "Sessions."

A. The Sessions Clock Co. of Forrestville, Conn., dates back to 1903, when William Sessions and his son bought out the E.N. Welch Manufacturing Co.

Your tambour, round-top shelf clock is one of many similar clocks Sessions made during the 1930s. Your clock was made in a pattern Sessions called "Shelley." The company used the same inlay pattern on the front of other tambour clocks with other pattern names.

Home Tips

EASY OPEN – Much better than the nutcracker for opening small bottles like fingernail polish, even up to larger ones like steak sauce, is a pair of slip-joint pliers.

My husband bought two for me (to protect his own!), one for the kitchen drawer and one for my desk as a third-grade teacher before I retired.

This way the nutcracker stays with the picks instead of all over the house. Jean H., Leverett, Mass.

PICTURE LABELS – Certain months bring special occasions, such as weddings, graduations, etc., and accompanying announcements, some with pictures.

Since I don't like to write on the back of pictures, I simply pulled the name card from the announcement and taped it to the back of the picture. That way, not only do I have the full name, but also in years ahead, I'll be able to look back and see the year the person graduated or got married because that is also embossed on the card. Lisa T., Marysville, Ohio

CAR DEODORIZER – This past summer, my husband came across yet another excellent use for those hanging car air fresheners. He hung some in our outhouse at our out-of-state getaway. It does a great job! Katie B., Bensalem, Pa.

WALLIS SIMPSON AND EDWARD VIII: THE ROMANCE WORTH A KINGDOM

The world first learned of "the love affair of the century" in 1936, when the newly-crowned King Edward VIII became the first English monarch to voluntarily abdicate. He did it for the woman he loved – a 40-year-old double divorcee from Baltimore.

As told in April's Biography magazine, Bessie Wallis Warfield was born in 1896 to parents from two prominent American families. In boarding school, she met and wed dashing Lt. Earl Spencer, who turned out to be an abusive drunk. Despite family pleas, she divorced and moved to Washington D.C., where she indulged in several scandalous affairs.

Low on funds, she wed successful, dull Ernest Simpson. They moved to London, where they were soon part of the smart set, including the Prince of Wales. While Wallis claimed her relationship with the prince was strictly platonic before her second divorce, it's almost certain the two became lovers in 1934 at the latest. As the prince's favorite, she was the toast of London society. He, in turn, loved all things American.

Others painted a darker portrait of Wallis' attraction. Writer Chips Channon claimed the prince was her "absolute slave," helping to dress her, begging her for cigarettes, even crouching to paint her toes. Whatever the attraction, the smitten prince resolved to marry her.

They wed in a small ceremony in Paris, unattended by the British royal family. By most accounts, their life was an empty one, consisting of little more than shopping and jet set parties. Together with 18 servants, Wallis fastidiously kept house, requiring her sheets to be ironed twice a day and her napkins changed several times a meal. Always clad in clothes by top designers, she remained at the top of the best-dressed list for 40 years. As the duchess reportedly told a friend, "You have no idea how hard it is to live out a great romance."

Named Recipient Of Achievement Award

The United States Achievement Academy has announced that Beth Sauder, a student at Southern High School, has been named the recipient of two awards, one in the area of history and government, and the other in the area of science. She was recommended for the awards by teachers Sally Steyer and Tom Woods.

The academy selects its award winners based upon a variety of criteria, including academic performance, interest and aptitude, leadership qualities, motivation to learn, and dependability, and upon the recommendation of a teacher, coach, or other school official. The names of all award winners appear in the academy's yearbook.

Sauder, a junior, is the daughter of Steve and Anna Sauder, Oakland.

FSU Will Host American College Dance Festival

The world of dance will be the focus on the campus of Frostburg State University when it hosts American College Dance Festival (ACDF), Wednesday, March 24, through Sunday, March 28. The event is expected to draw over 300 participants and 30 faculty from colleges and universities throughout the mid-Atlantic region.

"It marks the first time that FSU has ever done something of this magnitude in dance," said Dr. Barry Fischer, FSU associate professor of dance and event coordinator.

Special guest artists and dance festival adjudicators include Carmen de Lavallade, area native Dan Wagoner, and Heidi Latsky.

De Lavallade's long career in dance has included work with exciting choreographers Lester Horton, John Sutler, Geoffrey Holder, Alvin Ailey, and others. She was a premier dancer in the Metropolitan Opera's performance of Samson and Delilah and Aida, and then returned as a choreographer for the 1990-91, '92 and '93 productions of Porgy and Bess.

In 1994, de Lavallade received an honorary doctor of fine arts degree from the Boston Conservatory of Music and for three years was the director of the Adelphi University Dance Company. She can be seen in a cameo role in the John Sayles film Lone Star.

Wagoner, a renowned American modern dance choreographer, is a guest artist at the Connecticut College Department of Dance. He has danced with Martha Graham, Merce Cunningham, and Paul Taylor.

For 25 years, Wagoner directed his own New York-based company, Dan Wagoner and Dancers, choreographing more than 55 dances for this company with performances throughout the United States and abroad. A past artistic director of the London Contemporary Dance Theater, he has taught at Harvard and Bates College summer dance programs and numerous universities and festivals, nationally and internationally.

Heidi Latsky, a native of Montreal, has been dancing in New York City since 1983. She was a principal dancer and teacher with the Bill T. Jones/Arne Zane Dance Company from 1987 through 1993, working also with Bill Young, Nina Wiener, Donald Byrd, and Molissa Fenley.

Latsky's choreography has been shown in various arenas, including the Cannes International Dance Festival. Currently, she is a recipient of a Harkness Space Grant and a resident choreographer for Soundance Repertory Company. Latsky heads the movement department at the School for Film and Television (NYC) and is on the Artist Advisory Board of the Danspace Project at St. Mark's Church.

Together, with partner Lawrence Goldhuber, they formed and have been touring internationally as "Goldhuber & Latsky" since 1997.

Festival plans include master dance classes in modern, jazz, hip hop, ballet, swing, native American, African American, Chinese dance, and others. Classes will be led by the three guest artists and various faculty. A variety of workshops and seminars, as well as massage therapy, will also be available.

Participating dance companies will perform in evening adjudicated dance concerts Wednesday through Friday evenings, with the top 10 student/faculty choreographs chosen to perform in a gala event Saturday, March 27, at 8 p.m. in the FSU Performing Arts Center Drama Theatre.

On Sunday, March 28, at 10 a.m. in the FSU Cordts Physical Education Center Dance Studio, the American Dance Festival will hold scholarship auditions for its 1999 summer program. These auditions are open to the public with registration available at 9:48 a.m.

"The diversity of this artistic and educational experience will benefit the FSU campus and put us on the national map of the arts," Fischer said.

For a nominal fee, the public, ages 16 and above, is invited to participate, based on space availability, in the scheduled classes. Classes are scheduled for Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday from 8:30 a.m. until 4:30 p.m., with registration each morning in the FSU Cordts Physical Education Center.

A limited number of seats will be available for evening performances, on a "first-come, first-served" basis. These tickets will become available at the FSU Performing Arts Center Box Office by 6:30 p.m. prior to each scheduled evening event.

For more information on the dance festival, including schedules of events, persons may contact Dr. Fischer at 301-687-4730.

Persons with disabilities may request accommodations through the ADA Compliance Office at 301-687-4102, TDD 301-687-7955.

Head Start Sets Recruitment Fairs Across County

Garrett County Community Action's Head Start Program has scheduled four recruitment fairs over the course of this month to recruit children for fall 1999 enrollment. Head Start operates centers at Accident, Crellin, Dennett Road, Friendsville, Jennings, Kitzmiller, and Center Street in Oakland. Program options include center-based, home-based, year-round, evening, and pre-school support. Community Action also offers wrap-around childcare at the Center Street, Oakland, location.

"Head Start offers a healthy environment with nutritious meals and snacks and age-appropriate activities supervised by qualified staff. Children thrive in our program and have proven to be ahead of their counterparts when beginning kindergarten. The fairs will afford parents the opportunity to see our operation first-hand," stated an agency spokesperson.

During the recruitment fairs, parents with eligible children who will be 3 or 4 by December 31, 1999, will have the opportunity to see a classroom, meet Head Start staff, receive an overview of the Head Start Program, and complete the necessary paperwork to enroll their children in the fall. Snacks and activities will be provided for children.

The fairs will begin at 8:30 a.m. and end at 3:30 p.m., with a break from noon to 1 p.m. on the following dates at these Head Start locations: Tuesday, March 9, Oakland Room III, 104 E. Center Street, Oakland; Friday, March 12, Jennings Room I; Tuesday, March 16, Friendsville Head Start Center; and Monday, March 22, Crellin Head Start. Parents may attend any fair regardless of the center their children may attend or the program options they may desire.

Head Start family service staff request that parents who attend the fairs to bring with them proof of the child's age, social security numbers of all family members, shot record of the child slated for enrollment, and income verification for the family. Although walk-ins will be accepted, persons are encouraged to call to schedule an appointment. For further information or an appointment, interested persons can call 301-334-9431 or 1-888-877-8403, ext. 126.

County Native Earns Professional Engineer's Cert.

Jennifer Glotfelty, P.E., recently received her professional engineer's license to practice civil engineering in the state of North Carolina.

Glotfelty graduated from Southern High School in 1989 and continued her education at Drexel University in Philadelphia, where in 1994, she was awarded a bachelor of science degree in civil engineering.

Her professional career began in Charlotte, N.C., where she has been employed by the City of Charlotte's Engineering Department for the past four years. Her first responsibilities involved preparing contracts and reviewing grading and detention plans. For the past two years, she has served as a project manager for the city's storm water services division. She is responsible for projects ranging from $500,000 to $3,000,000 in construction costs for the improvements to storm drainage systems in neighborhoods throughout the city.

The National Council of Examiners for Engineering and Surveying (NCEES) offers the professional engineer's exam twice each year. The vision of the NCEES is to provide leadership in professional licensure of engineers and land surveyors through excellence in uniform laws, licensing standards, and professional ethics for the protection of the public health, safety, and welfare, and to shape the future of professional licensure. Engineers must graduate from an accredited engineering program, pass the engineer-in-training examination, and practice under the direction of a professional engineer for four years before they are eligible to sit for the P.E. exam.

Jennifer is the daughter of Butch and Ann Glotfelty, Oakland. She is the granddaughter of Don and Betty Glotfelty, Oakland, and Claudine Calhoun, Mtn. Lake Park, and the late Peck Calhoun.

GCC To Offer Class In Special Movement Method

The Feldenkrais Method, a system of body mechanics and movements which are designed to help practitioners re-connect with their natural ability to move, will be the topic of an upcoming course at the Oakland Center of Garrett Community College. The six session course, set for Tuesday mornings from 11 a.m. to noon, will begin on March 23 and will run through April 27.

"Participants will learn how to improve posture and breathing, reduce stress, tension, and fatigue, and ease pain and stiffness," said course instructor Miriam Nanartowich, a certified Feldenkrais practitioner. "It can help the young or old, in-shape or out-of-shape, or those who have an illness such as fibromyalgia. It's also perfect for those who sit to work."

The six-hour course carries a tuition of $8 for Garrett County residents, and an additional $4 registration fee. Interested persons may contact GCC's Patricia Baer at 301-334-8304 for further information.

Italian Composer To Perform At Frostburg State

Guido Baggiani, one of Italy's pre-eminent composers of experimental music, will be at Frostburg State University for the American premier of his composition, Danza. The work will be performed at FSU's Concert of Twentieth Century Music, Saturday, March 13.

Baggiani, born in Naples, studied at the music conservatory of Santa Cecilia in Rome with Boris Porena. He also studied with Karlheinz Stockhausen at the Reinische Musikschule in Cologne, Germany.

He is the co-founder of the new Roman musical, Musica Varticale, an association for the diffusion of contemporary music and electroacoustic technology. He has received commission in Italy, France, and Spain. His compositions have been performed throughout Europe and in the United States.

Reviewer E.M. Cioran, summarizing critiques of Baggiani's works, reports that the central themes of "uncertainty" and/or "the uncertainty of reaching absolution" exists in all of Baggiani's music. He goes on to describe the deeper, metaphorical meanings of Baggiani's works and how difficult it is to place a label on the music.

"Could we then call [Baggiani's] aptitude 'Poetics of uncertainty?' Certainly not, because if it should happen, such a poetics would be bound to a definite, affirmative rule of behavior.... The vibratility of sound has also its own strong metaphorical meaning."

Baggiani was the Italian representative to the United States for the celebration of the Charles Ives Centenary. He teaches composition at the Conservatory of Santa Cecilia in Rome.

who passed away two years ago March 3, 1997
It is lonely here without you
So sad along life's way.
Life does not seem the same to me,
Since you were called away.
It broke my heart to lose you,
But you did not go alone.
For a part of me went with you
That day God called you home.
They say time heals all sorrow
And helps us to forget.
But time so far has only proved
How much I miss you yet!

Sadly missed by his wife, Ann

SFC. Bittinger To Retire From National Guard

Sergeant First Class Tom Bittinger of the Maryland Army National Guard, will retire effective April 1 from Company B, Det. 1, 121st Engineer Battalion, Oakland.

Bittinger enlisted with the guard in April 1956 when he was a junior in high school. He went on inactive status in October 1957 and attended Towson State College. After two semesters of study, he enlisted in the active army in June 1958 and was assigned duty at Fort Hood, Tex., and Fort McPhearson, Ga. He was sent to Frankfort, Germany, where he met and married the former Dorthee Bruhahn in 1960.

Bittinger ended his active military duty in 1963 and accepted employment at the Oakland Post Office, where he was a city letter carrier for 20 years. He then enlisted in 1967 with the local guard unit, where he was a member until 1972 as a platoon sergeant. He then transferred to Company A, 5th Battalion, 20th Special Forces in Baltimore, where he was promoted to master sergeant. He requested a discharge in 1978, but then re-enlisted with Company C in Oakland as assistant platoon sergeant in 1983. He went to the active guard reserve, where he served as a trainer and readiness NCO until June 1995. He was later named the recruiter for the local unit and worked with 11 high schools and three colleges in Garrett and Allegany counties.

Bittinger will be on military leave until his retirement next month. He and Mrs. Bittinger are the parents of two daughters, Evi Watkins and Christine Ashby, both of the Deep Creek Lake area.

Sgt. Tim Sanders has been assigned to Bittinger's local recruiting position. Anyone interested in learning about membership in the National Guard may contact Sanders at the local armory or telephone 301-334-9794.

U.S. Navy Petty Officer 2nd Class Daniel S. Smith, son of Daniel L. Smith, Oakland, recently departed on a seven-month deployment to Naval Station Roosevelt Roads, Puerto Rico, while assigned to U.S. Naval Mobile Construction Battalion 74, home based at Gulfport, Miss.

While deployed, Smith's unit will act as the area's alert battalion, lending forward presence and providing construction support to the region.

Since their inception shortly after the bombing of Pearl Harbor, construction battalions have been deployed around the world to provide humanitarian assistance and build refuges for thousands of fighting forces. Seabees are trained in bridge building, steel work, various construction, and heavy equipment usage. In addition, they possess knowledge of combat, heavy weapons use, and perimeter security tactics, necessary skills used to defend their positions.

The 1993 graduate of Southern High School joined the Navy in August 1993.

Maryland Sells $225 Million In General Bonds

The Maryland Board of Public Works, consisting of Governor Parris N. Glendening, State Comptroller William Donald Schaefer, and State Treasurer Richard N. Dixon, sold $225,000,000 in general obligation bonds for a low interest bid of 4.258291% on Wednesday, Feb. 24. The bid is the lowest paid for Maryland general obligation bonds since November 1971.

A syndicate headed by Merrill Lynch submitted the winning bid. The board reviewed five bids which were submitted electronically. Maryland became only the third Triple-A rated state to use the electronic bidding process. The bonds had been rated Triple A, the best possible rating, by Moody's Investors Service Inc., Standard & Poor's Corporation, and Fitch Investors Service Inc., the three major bond rating agencies. The Triple-A rating means the state pays lower interest costs. Thanks to the Triple-A rating, the state has saved more than $151 million in interest costs since 1971, compared to a Double-A rating, the next highest rating.

Proceeds from the $225 million bond sale will be used to fund a variety of loan authorizations, including general state construction, water quality projects, and a variety of museums and cultural attractions throughout Maryland.

Treasurer Dixon credited the new electronic bidding procedure for the large number of bidders. "This simplifies the process and allows bidders to change their bids right up to the last minute. We're among the leaders in the nation in this regard," he said.

Governor Glendening said, "This is a tremendous reflection on the financial management team in the offices of the treasurer and the comptroller and the cooperation of the General Assembly."

Comptroller Schaefer said Maryland remains one of only eight states in the nation to retain the coveted Triple-A rating from all of the major bond rating agencies.

These 15-year bonds, backed by the full faith and credit of the state, are sold in denominations of $5,000. They are available to the public from brokers and bond dealers.

Maryland last sold general obligation bonds in July 1998, when $250 million in bonds were sold for a low interest bid of 4.5678%.

GENERATIONS OF WOMEN GATHER - Five generations of women were part of a large festive family gathering in Kitzmiller recently. Velma Anderson, seated in the center with great-great-granddaughter Erinn Haly, was surrounded by immediate family — and that was a real crowd. The mother of 14, Velma, 87, has 40 grandchildren. Add an assortment of great- and great-great grandchildren, and the total comes to 116. Standing with Velma in the photo from left are daughter Helen Crouse, Kitzmiller; granddaughter Sandy Browning, Upper Marlboro; and great-granddaughter Angie Browning, Upper Marlboro. This is but one of five groups of five generations in Velma Anderson's family!

Team-Building Class Slated At Garrett CC

Building an Effective Team, a new class addressing strategies to promote team-building in the workplace, will be offered at Garrett Community College from 6 to 9:15 p.m. over three consecutive Monday evenings beginning March 15. "Teambuilding is a high-impact method of making businesses and organizations work," said course instructor Dawn Beitzel.

"Individuals need not only be self-reliant, but also inter-reliant, [that is] able to utilize individual talents and strengths [cooperatively] in a given situation in a given situation, for true success," Beitzel continued. "This class will give participants the opportunity to learn, experientially, the methodology of teams."

The sessions will be held on GCC's McHenry campus, and tuition for the nine-hour course is $60. Registration should be made as soon as possible, and interested persons can obtain further information by calling the GCC Small Business Development Center at 301-387-3080.

Farming In Maryland.....

Kozier Updates Farmers On EQIP Program

Mike Kozier, Farm Service Agency (FSA) district manager, says farmers should be updated on the facts about the USDA Environmental Quality Incentives Program (EQIP). Maryland received approximately $1.5 million in funding through EQIP to fund conservation projects in fiscal year 1998. EQIP funds will be used to provide financial assistance to Maryland farmers to address priority agricultural, natural resource and environmental concerns in local watershed areas. In fiscal year 1997 and 1998, EQIP funds helped to pay for over $1.4 million and $1.8 million, respectively, in conservation projects.

The signup period to participate in Maryland's EQIP conservation program ends on April 9. However, applications will be accepted throughout the year. Farmers should contact their local Soil Conservation District Office located in USDA service centers to obtain applications for EQIP contracts.

Established in the 1996 Farm Bill, EQIP provides a voluntary conservation program for farmers who face serious threats to soil, water, and related natural resources. Nationally, it provides technical, financial, and educational assistance primarily in designated priority areas. Half of EQIP funds are targeted to livestock-related natural resource concerns and the remainder to other significant conservation priorities.

Conservation Tools

EQIP is one of several conservation programs making up tools in a "conservation toolbox" of federal, state, and local programs that farmers can use to solve their natural resource concerns. EQIP offers financial, educational, and technical help to install or implement structural, vegetative, and local management practices called for in 5- to 10-year contracts for most agricultural land uses. USDA also offers the Conservation Reserve Program (CRP), which puts seasitive croplands under permanent vegetative cover for 10 to 15 years. CRP contract holders receive annual rental payments. Other USDA, federal, state, and local programs provide additional tools for producers to care for private lands in a shared commitment between public and private interests.

Priority Areas and Locally Led Conservation

EQIP works primarily in priority areas where significant natural resource problems exist. In general, geographic or statewide priority areas are defined as watersheds, regions, or areas of special environmental sensitivity or having significant soil, water, or related natural resource concerns.

These concerns could include soil erosion, water quality and quantity, wildlife habitat, wetlands, and forest and grazing lands. These priority areas are identified through a locally led conservation process. Conservation districts convene a local work group composed of representatives from the Soil Conservation District, Natural Resources Conservation Service (NRCS), Farm Service Agency (FSA) and FSA County Committee, Maryland Extension Service and other federal, state, and local agencies interested in natural resource conservation. The soil conservation districts bring the views of local interests to work groups by gathering community input through the locally led conservation process. Local input helps ensure that the work groups develop and implement conservation program that fully reflect local needs and priorities.

With assistance from NRCS district conservationists, local work groups identify program priorities by completing a natural resource needs assessment and, based on that assessment, develop proposals for priority areas. Priority area proposals are submitted to the NRCS State Conservationist, who selects those priority areas within the state, based on recommendations from the state technical committee.

EQIP can also address additional significant statewide concerns that may occur outside designated priority areas. At least 65 percent of the funds will be used in designated priority areas and up to 35 percent can be used for other significant statewide natural resource concerns. Additional emphasis is given to areas where state or local governments offer financial or technical assistance and where agricultural improvements will help meet water quality and other environmental objectives.

Conservation Plans

All EQIP activities must be carried out according to a conservation plan. Conservation plans are site-specific for each farm and can be developed by farmers with help from NRCS or other service providers. Conservation plans should address the primary natural resource concerns. All plans are subject to NRCS technical standards adapted for local conditions and are approved by the Soil Conservation District. Farmers are not obligated, but are encouraged, to develop comprehensive resource management plans.

Contracts

EQIP offers 5- to 10-year contracts that provide incentive payments and cost sharing for conservation practices identified in the EQIP proposal as addressing priority resource needs within the local or statewide geographic priority area. Contract applications will be accepted throughout the year. NRCS conducts an evaluation of the environmental benefits the farmer offers. Offers are then ranked according to previously approved criteria developed with the advice of the local work group. The FSA County Committee approves funding for the highest priority applications. Applications are ranked according to environmental benefits achieved when weighted against the costs of applying the practices. Higher rankings are given to plans developed to treat priority resource concerns to a stainable level. EQIP seeks to maximize environmental benefits per dollar spent.

Practice Payments

Cost sharing may pay up to 75 percent of the costs of certain conservation practices, such as grassed waterways, filter strips, manure management facilities, contour buffer strips, livestock exclusion, and other practices important to improving and maintaining the health of natural resources in the area. Incentive payments may be made to encourage a farmer to perform land management practices such as nutrient management, cover cropping, integrated pest management, and riparian area management. These incentive payments may be provided for up to three years to encourage producers to carry out management practices they may not otherwise use without the program incentive.

Eligibility

Eligibility is limited to persons who are engaged in livestock or agricultural production. Eligible land includes cropland, hayland, pasture, forestland, and other farmland where the program is delivered. The 1996 Farm Bill prohibits owners of large confined livestock operations from being eligible for cost-share assistance for animal waste storage or treatment facilities. However, technical, educational, and financial assistance may be provided for other conservation practices on these "large" operations. USDA has defined a large confined livestock operation as an operation with more than 1,000 animal units.

EQIP Funding

Funding for EQIP comes from the federal government's Commodity Credit Corporation (CCC), which funds several other USDA conservation programs. Conservation practices for natural resource concerns related to livestock production will receive 50 percent of the funding. Total cost share and incentive payments are limited to $10,000 per person per year and $50,000 for the leugth of the contract.

As the principal conservation agency within USDA, NRCS has leadership for EQIP. NRCS works with FSA to set the program's policies, priorities, and guidelines.

EQIP continues the department's commitment to streamlining and improving its conservation programs. Four of USDA's former conservation programs were combined in EQIP: the Agricultural Conservation Program (ACP), Water Quality Incentives Program (WQIP), Great Plains Conservation Program (GPCP), and the Colorado River Basin Salinity Control Program (CRBSCP).

HONEY BEE MANAGEMENT SHORT COURSE

In recent years the honey bee population has severely decreased mainly due to mite infestations. The honey bee, known for the production of honey, is the most important insect involved in the pollination of our fruits and vegetables. Healthy honey bee colonies can be maintained with good management practices. In cooperation with Jerome Cassidy, owner of the Buzzy Bee Keepers Store and the Preston County Extension Service, we have organized an excellent four-session short course for the novice and the experienced beekeeper. The program is scheduled as follows:

Tuesday, March 23, 7:30 p.m. Garrett Extension Office
- *Introduction to Beekeeping
- *Honey Bee Biology
- *Bee Equipment and Assembly

Monday, March 29, 7:30 p.m. Preston Extension Office
- *Spring and Summer Management
- *Fall and Winter Management

Tuesday, April 6, 7:30 p.m. Garrett Extension Office
- *Nectar Sources
- *Maintaining Healthy Bees

Saturday, April 10, 9:30 a.m. to 3 p.m. Garrett Extension Office

This will be a "hands-on" session for the following topics:
- *Equipment Assembly
- *Honey Extracting
- *Products of the Hive
- *Hive Management/Hive Manipulation
- *Installing Packaged Bees

The cost for the complete short course is $10 per person, which will include a good volume of educational printed materials, refreshments and the opportunity to be one of the three recipients of a bee colony plus a basic hive to be given away on the April 10 session. Reservations are due by March 18 by calling either the Garrett County Extension Office at 301-334-6960 or the Preston County Extension Office at 304-329-1391.

Farm Bureau Calls For Demise Of Death Tax

Farm Bureau is once again waging a legislative attack on what American Farm Bureau Federation President Dean Kleckner describes as "one of the most punitive taxes the government collects: — the federal estate tax.

Farm Bureau representatives and other small business owners spoke at a Capitol Hill press conference last week to drum up support for a bill that would phase out the death tax. The legislation (H.R. 8), introduced by Reps. Jennifer Dunn (R-Wash.) and John Tanner (D-Tenn.), would reduce the estate tax rate 5 percent a year until it is eliminated. Estate taxes in the highest bracket — 55 percent — would be wiped out after 11 years.

Washington State Farm Bureau President Steve Appel, a third generation wheat and barley grower, said that the death tax jeopardizes his children's ability to carry on the family operation because the tax burden would sap the profit-making ability from the farm.

"It's my hope that my children will become the fourth generation to cultivate our land, but unless death tax laws are changed I'm not sure that will happen," said Appel.

Families often have to parcel off pieces of their operations following the death of a loved one in order to pay the resulting tax burden. "That's not productive and it's certainly counter to the American tradition of family-owned farms and ranches," according to Kleckner.

Rep. Tanner agrees, saying family businesses carry far more than a monetary value. The elimination of the death tax, he said, "is a societal statement that we believe that saving and investing and passing on generational family farms and small businesses is good, is something that we ought to have as a national policy."

The death tax also forces farmers and ranchers to spend valuable time and resources on estate planning just to keep family businesses in the family.

"Farmers and ranchers spend countless hours preparing for their deaths," said Kleckner. "They meet with accountants, lawyers, and more accountants and lawyers in attempts to protect their farms from government tax collectors. These activities are time consuming, expensive, and erode the efficiency of American agriculture."

Appel said that his parents used trusts and other estate planning tools in order to pass the farm on to him and his siblings, but even well-laid plans are not foolproof.

"They succeeded in keeping our farm in our family, but not without consequences for me," said Appel. "My eight brothers and sisters are now my landlords."

Joining Appel at the press conference was Weakley County (Tenn.) Farm Bureau member Keith Fowler, who runs a large row crop and swine operation with his wife Linda, his father, and his father-in-law. The Fowlers received AFBF's Young Farmers and Ranchers Achievement Award last January.

"Farming is tough enough without any further burdens or obstacles," said Fowler. "The death tax is inefficient, it's unfair, and it should be eliminated."

Farm Bureau achieved limited estate tax reform during the 105th Congress when lawmakers passed the Taxpayer Relief Act, which increases the estate tax exemption from $600,000 per person to $1 million by 2006, with additional relief for family-owned businesses.

While increased exemptions help, Appel maintains that elimination of the tax is still the best option for farmers and ranchers.

"Over the years I've seen the value of my land increase to the point that I'm not sure the estate tax exemption will be much help when my children are ready to take over the farm," said the farm leader. "The death tax deserves to die before more family farms and ranches are destroyed."

Md. Ag Statistics Serv. Reports On 1997 Ag Census

The 1997 Census of Agriculture reported that Maryland's agricultural products sold totaled $1.3 billion in 1997, an increase of 12% from 1992. Livestock, poultry, and their products accounted for 65% of this total. The average sale per farm in 1997 was $108,580, up 21% from 1992.

Every five years, the census of agriculture takes a snapshot of America's agriculture. This picture is an invaluable tool for assessing trends and determining current needs of farmers and ranchers at the local level. The census provides comprehensive, comparable statistics for every county in Maryland and the nation.

For example, according to the 1997 census, the top five counties in Maryland based on total value of agriculture products sold are: Wicomico, Worcester, Frederick, Somerset, and Caroline. Livestock, poultry, and their products account for the majority of these sales. The top five counties based on value of crops sold are: Queen Anne's, Baltimore, Dorchester, Kent, and Wicomico.

While Maryland has a significant number of large farms (almost 21% had sales over $100,000), the census revealed 50% of the state's farms sold less than $10,000 worth of agricultural products in 1997. Twenty-six percent of the farms recorded sales of less than $2,500 in 1997, compared with 24% in 1992. In contrast, less than 10% of the state's farms accounted for more than 85% of the total market value of agricultural products sold in 1997.

The 1997 census revealed other interesting facts about Maryland's agriculture, such as:

- 52% of farm operators considered farming to be their principal occupation, compared with 54% in 1992.
- 36% of the farm operators worked 200 days or more off the farm.
- The average size of a Maryland farm was 178 acres, compared with 171 in 1992.
- The average age of farm operators in Maryland is 55.2 years, compared with 53.9 in 1992.
- Almost 12% of Maryland's farmers are female.

These facts and more for every county and state are now available from the 1997 Census of Agriculture Highlights Tables on the NASS website at http://www.usda.gov/nass/. More detailed census reports will be released on March 20 on the Internet, on CD-ROM, and in printed publications.

Regional Milk Cooperative Distributes Profits

Maryland and Virginia Milk Producers Cooperative Association Inc. have distributed its traditional 13th check to members, totaling over $3.5 million, or 19 cents per hundredweight. Issued on Monday, Feb. 1, the money was generated as over-order premiums from the profits of raw milk sales in 1998. The payment was made on almost 1.9 billion pounds of milk marketed by the cooperative in 1998.

Class I sales to the southeast, including Florida and the Carolinas, are the major contributors to the 13th check. Representing about 25 percent of the returns Maryland and Virginia generate for members over Federal Order prices, the 13th check has been allocated by the cooperative for 21 straight years, averaging 18.7 cents per hundredweight.

General Manager George Walgrove said, "Maryland and Virginia were pleased with the above average over-order premiums we were able to negotiate last year. The level of over-order price available from the market varies according to the Federal Order prices. Generally, when Federal Order prices are high, over-order prices are low. With the all-time high average basic formula price in 1998 at $14.20, we found the 19 cents to be good news for members."

President Jack Hardesty, a milk producer from Berryville, Va., said, "The board was pleased to approve the 13th check allocation, and are happy Maryland and Virginia had a good year for raw milk sale profits. As we anticipate a seasonal decline in milk prices, we hope this extra cooperative distribution comes at a good time."

Maryland and Virginia Milk Producers Cooperative Association, headquartered in Reston, Va., is a milk marketing and processing cooperative that markets milk for about 1,150 dairy farmers throughout Pennsylvania, Maryland, Virginia, West Virginia, and Delaware. The cooperative includes Marva Maid, a milk processing division in Newport News, Va., a manufacturing division in Laurel, and an equipment division in Frederick.

In 1947 the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade was negotiated, and the Federal Insecticide, Fungicide and Rodenticide Act passed.

Maryland Fruit Production Down

Maryland fruit growers produced 3.5 million pounds of apples in 1998, 24% less than the 46 million pounds produced in 1997. Utilized production totaled 24.0 million pounds, 22% above 1997's 44.5 million pounds. The season average price for utilized production was 18.4 cents per pound, down from 20.0 cents per pound in 1997. The value of Maryland's utilized production for 1998 was $6.3 million compared with $8.9 million in 1997.

Maryland peach growers produced 10.5 million pounds of peaches in 1998, up 8% from 1997. The season average price for the 1998 peach crop was 30 cents per pound, compared with 43 cents for the 1997 crop. The value of the utilized production totaled $3.06 million, down 8% from the $3.87 million for 1997.

The United States utilized apple production for 1998 was estimated at 10.6 billion pounds, 3% greater than production in 1997. Production in the eastern states was reduced as a result of dry conditions but was more than offset by large production increases in Washington, Colorado, and Idaho. Utilized peach production in 1998 estimates at 2.4 billion pounds, down 6% from last year but 15% above 1996. The California crop, accounting for 74% of the U.S. peach crop, was down 6% from 1997.

NOTICE
TO ALL PROPERTY TAXPAYERS OF MOUNTAIN LAKE PARK

Pursuant to Tax-Property Article 10-204.3 Of the Annotated Code of Maryland requires counties and municipal corporations to notify taxpayers of the availability of the semi-annual property tax payment option for owner-occupied residential property that is the principal residence of a homeowner.

If a taxpayer elects to make semi-annual property tax payments, 1/2 of the municipal taxes will be deferred until January 1. The second payment, due January 1, will incur a service charge reasonably equivalent to the anticipated lost interest income associated with the delay in the payment of the second installment and covering administrative expenses associated with the semi-annual payment not exceeding 10% of the charge of the lost interest.

To be eligible to make this election of semi-annual payment, all previous year taxes must be paid in full by June 1. Taxpayers not making their first semi-annual payment by September 30 are automatically waived out of the semi-annual plan and must pay the full tax bill.

Selection of payment schedule for property taxes may be made upon receipt of tax bill. If taxpayer wishes to pay in full, he must choose the appropriate coupon and return it with the proper payment. If the taxpayer wishes to participate in the semi-annual payment option, the appropriate coupon should be returned with the payment before the September 30 deadline.

It is the responsibility of the taxpayer to notify their mortgage company of their wishes to pay on a semi-annual basis if they have an escrow account. The town is not responsible for any involvement in the semi-annual payment process.

Whatever payment plan the taxpayer elects shall remain in affect until the taxpayer decides to change it.

IMPORTANT NOTICE

The Telecommunications Act of 1996 requires that customers be given the option of keeping their existing telephone numbers should they choose to change their local service provider. The technology that makes this possible is known as Local Number Portability (LNP).

On March 2, 1999 Bell Atlantic filed its LNP surcharge tariff, with a proposed rate of $.24 per month, with the FCC. LNP surcharge tariff information can be found in Bell Atlantic FCC Tariff No. 1, affecting the states of NJ, PA, DE, MD, VA, WV, and the District of Columbia. This tariff is scheduled to become effective on March 17, 1999, and the charge will continue for a period not to exceed five years. If you are in an area that is not LNP-capable, the LNP surcharge will not be applied until LNP is available in your area. This surcharge will apply to all business and residence lines (except TeleLife), and wholesale switch services, and may vary for certain multi-channel services.

The tariff filings are available for inspection during the hours of 9:00 a.m. and 4:30 p.m. Monday through Friday at the FCC Public Reference Room located at 1919M Street Northwest, Washington, D.C.

State Income Tax Returns Arriving Faster

Maryland State Comptroller William Donald Schaefer says that more taxpayers are filing their state and local income tax returns earlier this year, increasing the amount of mail being handled in the processing cycle in Annapolis. The comptroller's office had received 524,133 tax returns so far this year, about 13.7 percent more than at this time last year. Approximately 160,000 of the returns were filed electronically, 24% more electronic returns than received at this time last year.

"We are in one of the heaviest parts of the filing season," said Schaefer. "We're mailing out refunds in about two weeks. Direct deposits, especially those requested by taxpayers filing electronically, are getting to bank accounts more quickly."

The comptroller's office has issued about 311,579 refunds so far, including 55,797 that were deposited directly into bank accounts by taxpayer request. The refunds are averaging $600, up from about $500 last year, largely because of the state tax cut. About 75 percent of Maryland's 2.25 million income tax returns generate refunds.

Taxpayers who owe additional tax are also taking advantage of the electronic filing option because they can file now and not pay until April 15. Nearly 5,000 taxpayers who owe additional taxes have already filed electronic returns and will submit their payment with a voucher (Form 502V) by April 15.

These taxpayers benefit from the acknowledgment that their return was received and the assurance that the amount they owe is accurate, eliminating the fear that a mistake will result in additional tax, penalty, and interest charges after April 15.

Taxpayers with questions or needing forms can get help at the comptroller's website: www.marylandtaxes.com, or by e-mail at taxhelp@comp.state.md.us. Telephone help is available from 8 a.m. to 11 p.m., Monday through Friday, at 410-260-7980 in central Maryland or 1-800-MD TAXES from elsewhere. Forms are available by e-mail at forms@comp.state.md.us or through the Forms-by-Fax system at 410-974-3299, as well as in local libraries and many post offices.

The comptroller's 20 taxpayer service offices offer free state income tax assistance, Monday through Friday, from 8 a.m. until 5 p.m.

"If you bring your completed federal return and your W-2 statements to any of our 20 taxpayer service offices, we'll prepare your Maryland income tax return for you, free of charge," said Schaefer. The addresses and telephone numbers of all 20 Maryland taxpayer service offices are listed on the back of the Maryland tax booklet and in most local telephone directories.

Adorable Adoptables

VOL NO. 122 OAKLAND, GARRETT COUNTY, MD., THURSDAY, MARCH 11, 1999 PER COPY 47¢ Printed on RECYCLED NEWSPRINT

AN OVERHEATED FURNACE was determined to be the cause of this fire that severely damaged a 100-year-old house near Crellin Monday morning. Vanessa Holland and her 2-year-old son heeded a sounding smoke detector and escaped the fire without injury. Fire fighters from several local companies responded to the scene and brought the fire under control in about 20 minutes, but the house sustained an estimated $45,000 in damages. Oakland Moves To Annex Area On Route 219

The annexation resolution introduced by the town of Oakland on March 1 was moved one legal step forward with the printing of the public notice that appears in this issue of The Republican.

The annexation would enlarge the corporate boundaries of the town by incorporating land that is adjacent to the current boundary lines. Written consent of no less than 25 percent of residents in the area to be annexed was needed in order to proceed with this action.

The parcel to be included through this process is described in the legal notice according to descriptions on a plat revised January 20 by Morgan C. France, surveyor. The land included is located between Third and Fourth streets and extends north from the current town boundary on Rt. 219 through the location of the Genus Centre.

Mayor Asa McCain Jr. explained that not all properties in that parcel of land will be annexed. "The map shows the exact properties that will be included. Anyone who wants to see the map can stop in the town office," he said.

The properties annexed through this resolution will receive town services and be subject to town taxation. In 1952 the mayor and council of Oakland passed an ordinance providing for the extension of the town limits.

A PERFECT SEASON - Jesse Shimrock of Northern High School stepped onto the wrestling mat 37 times this season, and in each and every case he stepped back off it as a winner. Shimrock concluded his high school wrestling career by setting a new school record for career wins (110) and winning a Maryland State individual championship in the 140-pound division at the state tourney on Saturday at Western Maryland College. In the photo above, Shimrock controls Timur Chabuk of Einstein High School in the state title bout. He defeated Chabuk on points, 8-3. Shimrock and teammate Brandon Stein, who won the state title in the 125-pound division, led the Huskies to a second-place finish as a team. The Southern High Rams also had an excellent showing in the tournament, as they finished fourth among the dozens of 1A and 2A teams from around the state. See sports pages for more coverage. GCSO Traffic Stops Lead To Added Charges

Several traffic stops by deputies from the Garrett County Sheriff's Office resulted in additional charges being filed against the respective drivers over the past few weeks when drugs were found during two of the incidents and a weapon was found during the third.

Gordon Lynn Stalnaker, 48, Crab Orchard, W.Va., was stopped at 4 a.m. on Saturday, Feb. 27, on Gorman Road near White Church Road and charged with driving while intoxicated (DWI). During a routine search at the Garrett County Detention Center, drugs were reportedly found in his sock. He was then charged with possession of cocaine and drug paraphernalia, in addition to DWI and a driving with a suspended license charge. Stalnaker was released after posting a $1,000 bond.

Two days earlier, Anthony Craig Corby II, 22, Mtn. Lake Park, was stopped at 1 a.m. on Maryland Highway at Youghiogheny Drive for failure to drive right of center. He was arrested after a computer check revealed that his license was suspended, and a vehicle search that followed uncovered a plastic bag containing suspected marijuana and a metal pipe with suspected marijuana. In addition to the suspended license charge, Corby faces charges of possession of marijuana and drug paraphernalia. He was subsequently released on his own recognizance.

Jonathan Lane Nuzum, 26, Oakland, was stopped at 3 a.m. on Tuesday, Feb. 23, on Hutton Road near South First Street in Oakland, and

Overheated Furnace Blamed For Monday Blaze At Crellin House

An overheated furnace is being blamed for setting a fire that caused an estimated $45,000 to a 100-year-old Crellin house Monday morning.

Volunteers from the Oakland, Terra Alta, Deer Park, Gorman, and Deep Creek fire departments were called to the residence of Garry E. Holland Jr., 21, his wife, Vanessa L. Holland, 21, and their 2-year-old son, Colten E. Holland, at 9:46 a.m. after a smoke detector alerted Mrs. Holland. Upon their arrival, fire fighters found heavy smoke and flames coming through the wall of the second floor area above the porch roof.

The blaze was brought under control in about 20 minutes, but fire, heat, smoke, and water damage was substantial, making the house uninhabitable.

Mrs. Holland told Deputy Fire Marshal Bruce Shafer that they had lost electric power at about 4 a.m. that morning. The power was restored at about 7 a.m., but the house had cooled considerably during the three-hour outage. Mr. Holland set the furnace thermostat higher in order to re-warm the house, and then left for work.

Mrs. Holland said that a smoke detector sounded at about 7:30 a.m., but she could find no fire in the two-story wood-frame house. About two hours later the smoke detector sounded again and this time she observed fire in the ceiling area above the furnace. She exited the house with her son and called 911 from her mother-in-law's residence next door.

Oakland first assistant chief John Feather said that the furnace overheated and set fire to an area between the ceiling over the furnace and an interior wall. Most of the damage was confined to the furnace area, an upstairs bedroom, and the kitchen.

Fire fighters were also successful in rescuing a family cat named Casper. Another cat named Muffin escaped the house on its own.

The Southern Rescue Squad, the county air cascade unit from the Deep Creek VFC, and personnel from Allegheny Power Company also responded. There were no injuries reported.

The Hollands are reportedly staying with relatives until their house is repaired.

Deputy Fire Marshal Shafer stressed the importance of well-maintained smoke detectors in private residences, noting that they have saved numerous lives throughout the state and nation.

Clarification Noted On GCC Waivers

The Republican reported last week that tuition waivers had been announced by Garrett Community College for-out-of-state students and student-athletes from surrounding counties in Pennsylvania and West Virginia; this information incorrectly stated the facts submitted by the college.

The report should have stated that tuition waivers amounting to a 33 percent reduction of tuition costs in the form of regional waivers for out-of-state students from surrounding counties in Pennsylvania and West Virginia, and athletic waivers for residents of any state other than Maryland, have been announced by the college.

In presenting the need for the waivers to the college board of trustees, Dr. Steve Herman, GCC's president, pointed out GCC's need to comply with the state-mandated increase in out-of-state tuition and the proximity of the college to the contiguous states.

Persons who would like to obtain further information about these tuition waivers may call the GCC admissions office at 301-387-3010.

Juveniles Charged With Distribution At Southern High

Detectives from the Garrett Bureau of Investigation (GBI) recently arrested three juveniles at Southern High School after receiving an anonymous tip that they were involved in drug-related activity.

The trio was arrested on Thursday, Feb. 25, in connection with three separate incidents of drug distribution on school property, and they were charged with distributing marijuana, Oxycodone, and Paxil. They were released into their parents' custody and the case was referred to the Department of Juvenile Justice.

Commissioners Will Not Fund Rec Director

In a letter directed to Asa McCain, chairperson of the Summit '98 After-School Opportunities Committee, the Garrett County commissioners have stated that they will not appropriate county funds to employ a recreation coordinator. The proposal for the position was given by McCain to the commissioners two weeks ago.

"The board supports the concept of an after-school recreation program and the employment of a recreation coordinator, but it requested that the Summit explore all other funding sources to initiate the implementation of such a position," the letter states.

In his proposal, McCain explained that numerous activities for young people are scheduled and take place throughout the county, but participation is often low because of a variety of reasons, including lack of publicity, transportation troubles, and other problems. The committee's consensus was to seek the hiring of one individual who would work to coordinate all the county offerings and would help to find solutions to transportation difficul-

Tax Credits Possible For Persons Renovating Historic Oakland Bldgs.

Oakland property owners planning to renovate historic buildings might be eligible for significant tax credits, according to Glenn Tolbert, Main Street manager. A free workshop on federal and state preservation rehabilitation tax credits will be offered on Thursday, March 25, at 6:30 p.m. in the Oakland City Hall. The workshop is being sponsored by the Greater Oakland Business Association (GOBA) and the Main Street Program.

Eligible properties may include those within the boundaries of the Oakland National Register Historic District.

A 25% state rehabilitation tax credit is available for owner-occupied residential property as well as income-producing property. The rehabilitation expenditure in a 24-month period must be substantial, exceeding $5,000 for owner-occupied residential property, and the greater of the adjusted basis of the structure or $5,000 for all other property.

Barn Destroyed By Fire; Cause Still Unknown

Fire of undetermined origin destroyed a barn and all of its contents in Bittinger Sunday afternoon, with the loss estimated to be $150,000.

Peter Mueller, the owner of the barn located at 9362 Bittinger Road, discovered the fire and reported it at 4:36 p.m. Responding to the scene were units from the Bittinger, Grantsville, Deep Creek, Accident, Eastern Garrett, Deer Park, and Salisbury.

Deputy Chief Fire Marshal Al Ward said that the bard, which was being rented by D. Kauffman, also of Bittinger Road, contained 3,500 bales of hay, a hay bailing machine, a tractor, and other equipment, all of which was destroyed. Fire personnel remained on the

BOE Approves Budget, Sets Date For Graduation, Adds Snow Days

The members of the Garrett County Board of Education reviewed and approved the budget to be presented next week to the county commissioners.

The request for funds carries the 3 percent increase for staff members and capital improvements that would include renovations to the Southern High School gymnasium, building an auxiliary gym at Northern High School and upgrades to the HVAC system at Swan Meadow School.

The board members also approved the selection of June 6 as graduation day for Garrett County seniors. To make up for the additional snow days used during the recent storms, the board agreed to add two additional days at the end of the school year. "We didn't want to change the days off at Easter because people may already have made plans for those days," said school superintendent Dr. Wendell Teets.

A variety of administrative procedures were reviewed and some amended during the meeting. Items considered by the board included board policies on enrollment requirements, home and hospital teaching, and promotion/retention.

Originally scheduled to held Tuesday evening, the board meeting was postponed to Wednesday because of inclement weather.

CAC Recognized For Employing Older Workers

Garrett County Community Action Committee Inc. was one of six employers selected to be honored by the state Department of Aging for consistently providing job training and employment opportunities for older workers.

In observance of National Employ the Older Worker Week, March 14-20, a ceremony will be held in Columbia, during which the honorees will be recognized. Secretary of Aging Sue Fryer Ward named the other selected employers as Weis Markets, Associated Catholic Charities, Maryland Department of Agriculture, MAC Inc., and Delmarva Community Services Inc.

Ward noted that these employers influence positive trend in the labor market and help dispel some of the myths about aging. "Providing older workers with the opportunity to bring their skills, dedication and positive attitudes to the workplace creates a win-win situation for everyone," she stated.

The Department of Aging and local agencies on aging provide training, job counseling, job placement, and support services. In addition the department's senior aides program provides men and women age 55 and older who have a limited income with part-time community service training assignment with the objective that they gain permanent employment in the public or private sector within two years.

This is the first year that the department has sponsored the Employer of the Year awards. The ceremony will be open to the public. To make reservations persons may call 410-767-1273.

For more information on the senior aide employment program, persons may call 1-800-AGE-DIAL or 301-334-9431.

Jennings Zoning Change Adopted

A reclassification of land designation in Jennings was approved by the Garrett County commissioners Tuesday, upon the recommendation of the Garrett County Planning Commission. The reclassification has been discussed for some time, initiated by a request from a Jennings resident who wished to subdivide his property into smaller lots than what the prior regulations allowed.

John Nelson, director of the office of planning and zoning, explained that about 200 acres in the center of Jennings is classified as "town residential" and is also classified as a Rural Village. The resident owns property close to the town residential area and requested that his land, currently classified as agricultural resource, be reclassified as suburban residential.

Under the prior regulations, this resident would have been disallowed from subdividing his land into anything smaller than three-acre lots. His entire property (which Nelson said is not used for any agricultural purposes) is apparently not much larger that three acres, so he was unable to divide it at all.

The Planning Commission took the request under consideration and finally determined that the area now being serviced by the new Jennings Sanitary District could be reclassified from ag resource to suburban residential. This area consists of approximately 484 acres, Nelson said. The suburban classification will allow property owners to divide their land by one-acre portions.

The mandated public hearing on this issue was held in Jennings several weeks ago, where two individuals expressed concern that the change would invite undesired development in the rural area. Nelson said he and the members of the commission do not anticipate any major changes, however.

The commissioners agreed to the change and signed the document Tuesday.

McCartney To Speak At Hall Of Fame Event

Dr. Brenda McCartney, assistant superintendent of Garrett County Public Schools, will deliver the keynote address at the fifth annual Garrett County Women's Hall of Fame induction ceremony, slated for Saturday, March 27, at the Will O' the Wisp. McCartney's presentation is titled "Lessons from Successful Women."

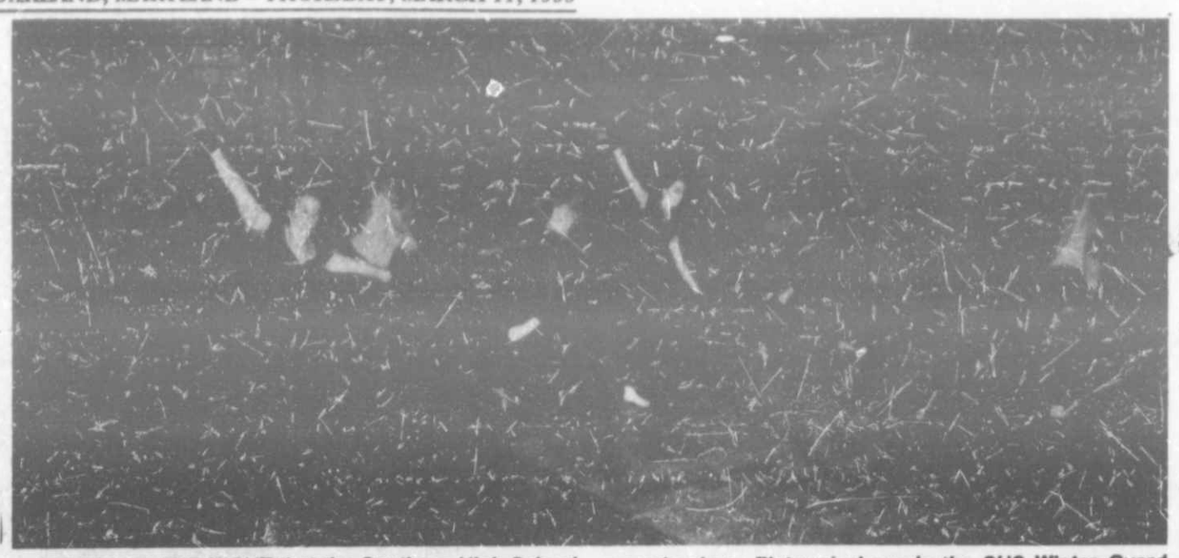
An experienced administrator and teacher, McCartney holds a doctorate of education degree from the University of Maryland. She specializes in curriculum and instruction with undergraduate certification in elementary education and social studies. McCartney, a member of the Tri-State Chapter of Phi Delta Kappa, serves as a director on its executive board. She is a noted community leader and can be credited with creating many of the innovative measures utilized in local public schools, according to a spokesperson for the Garrett County Commission for Women (GCCW).

The emcee for the event will be Beverly Beard, former member and treasurer of the GCCW and one of the Hall of Fame founders. She serves as the GCCW representative on the Deep Creek Lake Advisory Board.

Beard, former assistant director of income maintenance at the Department of Social Services, retired from that position after 30 years of service. Beard is an active community volunteer and currently serves as the president of the Hospice board of directors and vice president of the Community Action board of directors.

"In addition to showering her grandchildren with lots of attention, Beard enjoys sewing and travel," the GCCW spokesperson said.

The country breakfast will begin with a 9:30 a.m. sign-in on March 27 at the Will O' the Wisp. Registrations must be made no later than Friday, March 19, at a cost of $12 per person ($6 children under 12). For further information, persons may call 301-334-4810.



TONIGHT'S THE NIGHT that the Southern High School Winter Guard, Winter Percussion, Stage Band, and several groups from Brenda's Body Shop will perform in the school gymnasium. Admission to the 7:30 p.m. performance costs $5 for adults, $3 for students, and is free for pre-schoolers. Pictured above is the SHS Winter Guard during a recent rehearsal, and below are the members of the Winter Percussion. GCSO Releases Statistics On Family Violence

Garrett County Sheriff's Office has released information on investigations and reports on domestic violence and assault during the month of February.

There were six complaints of domestic violence recorded and four cases of domestic violence assaults. Seven domestic violence ex parte orders and four domestic violence protective orders were enforced.

Of the arrests reported for the time period, two were on charges of domestic assault and one for violation of restraining orders.

Jeep Overturns, Driver Sustains Minor Injuries

Kara Jeanne Unger, Clearville, Pa., received minor injuries when the 1987 Jeep Cherokee in which she was traveling overturned on Frostburg Road Sunday at 10:18 a.m.

According to a report filed by Maryland State Police at the McHenry barrack, Unger was traveling too fast for road conditions when her vehicle began to slide. The Jeep then traveled up an embankment and overturned.

Unger was taken to Sacred Heart Hospital by Frostburg Ambulance for treatment of injuries. Eastern Garrett VFD also responded to the scene.

Multiple Charges

Christopher M. Tasker, 27, Oakland was arrested on multiple charges Saturday following a one-vehicle accident. Police reported that Tasker was driving a 1995 Ford F-10 on Route 560 around 4:30 a.m. when his truck ran off the road on a curve. Gorman VFD and Southern Rescue Squad responded to the scene and the driver was transported to Garrett Memorial Hospital, where he was treated and released.

Tasker was charged by police with driving while intoxicated, failure to drive right of center, and being in violation of the seatbelt use law.

Drug Arrest

Christopher M. Goodman, 19, and Andrew T. Smith, 20, both of Centreville, Va., were arrested in Friendsville early Monday morning and charged with possession of marijuana and drug paraphernalia and an alcohol violation.

Police said that at 4:35 a.m. an officer responded to a report of a suspicious vehicle on Maple Street west of Water Street in Friendsville. Upon arriving at the scene and making contact with the two vehicle occupants, the officer noted a moderate odor of an alcoholic beverage on the breath of both men and several unopened bottles of beer on the floor of the car.

A search of the vehicle incident to arrest revealed one clear plastic bag containing marijuana and a smoking pipe. Smith and Goodman were each held on $500 bond.

Smith Monies To Be Distributed By End Of April

Applications are available for non-profit groups to apply for funds from the Stanley P. Smith Family Foundation, according to Patrick I. Conroy, trustee for the foundation.

The Smith Foundation was organized in 1997 by part-time Oakland resident Stanley P. Smith Jr. in honor and memory of his late father, Stanley P. Smith, his late mother, Marion Q. Smith, and his late brother, Warren Q. Smith. The goal of the foundation is to provide funding assistance to selected Garrett County organizations that meet certain minimum eligibility requirements and whose charitable efforts directly affect, in the broadest sense, the lives of all citizens of Garrett County.

Eligible organizations must: have 501(3)(c) tax exempt status; not be a private foundation or an affiliate of any other private foundation; not be a direct beneficiary of any other foundation; demonstrate how a grant will broadly benefit the people of Garrett County; demonstrate financial need; complete a grant request application; and be accountable for the use of any funds that are received.

Last year the foundation distributed a total of $24,000, consisting of grants from $2,000 to $5,000, to eight different non-profit organizations/programs. Persons may obtain an application form by writing to: Stanley P. Smith Family Foundation, P.O. Box 739, Oakland, MD 21550; by telephoning Conroy at 301-387-0562; or by e-mailing him at lakeshore@mail.gcnet.net.

Foundation advisory committee members include: Jamie Durst, George Edwards, Asa McCain, Karen Myers, Joshua Neubert, Peter Porcaro, Ann Sebold, Don Sincell, and Mark Stutzman.

Co-NECT, a program that has awarded grants totaling over $185,000 to two Garrett County Schools, will hold a kick-off event tomorrow, Friday, at Southern High School. The two-part event will begin in the morning with a tour of Bloomington School and Southern High, which will be followed by a training session for staff members.

Founded by the Educational Technologies Group at BBN Corporation, Co-NECT provides a comprehensive model of school reform with an emphasis on boosting academic achievement for all students in core subject areas. Those subjects include math, reading, science, social studies, and science.

Lynn Couture, director of staff development for the Co-NECT program, will offer an overview of the combination on-site and on-line assistance that will be available over the next three years to help students at the two selected schools achieve specific goals set by the program proposal.

Gerard To Sit On VA Mental Health Council

Garrett County resident Howard Gerard has been selected to serve on the mental health advisory council at the Veterans Administration Hospital in Martinsburg, W.Va. He will join that group for the first time on March 12.

A World War II veteran, and a retired railroad employee, Gerard was diagnosed with mental illness in 1949. With what he described as a combination of "therapy, medication, hard work, love, and prayer," he has struggled back to his position as an active and contributing member of his community.

For the last several years, Gerard has volunteered his services to benefit other members of the community who suffer with mental illness. Currently he co-chairs the Garrett County Mental Health Advisory Committee, works on behalf of the Alliance for the Mentally Ill, and is a member of the board of directors of Mountain Top Mental Health Associates (MTMHA), which coordinates funding and services for those with mental illness in Garrett County.

As a MTMHA board member, Gerard represents the interests of the segment of the community composed of primary and secondary recipients of mental health services. He works on the Family Subcommittee of the board to educate the public on mental illness. Part of his mission is to help reduce the stigma of mental illness.

MTMHA's executive director, David Dubé, has had the opportunity to interact with Gerard for over a year. "He has been a joy to work with. He represents well the interests of mental health consumers. And he never says no when asked to do something," Dubé commented.

Recently Gerard was presented with certificate of appreciation for his dedication to the mentally ill of Garrett County through his service to MTMHA.

Looking forward to the opportunity to meet with the Veterans group at the hospital, Gerard said he anticipates the challenge of working with a new group in a new environment. "And I'm supposed to be just a retired railroad worker," he said, smiling.

NEWLY APPOINTED MEMBER of the mental health advisory council at the Veterans Administration Hospital in Martinsburg, W.Va., Garrett County resident Howard Gerard took on the challenges of that position for the first time this week. A member of the board of directors for the Mountain Top Mental Health Associates, Garrett County's core service agency, Gerard was recently honored with a certificate of appreciation for his service in that capacity. In the photo above, Gerard displays that certificate.

LOCAL ATHLETES TRAIN WITH CHAMP — Mariana Beltzel, a member of the Garrett County Sportaerobic Team, is pictured above with renowned coach and former national aerobic champion Dale Duncan. Duncan, from New Jersey, was in the county recently to help the local sportaerobic team train for the first youth national aerobic championship, slated for April 9 and 10 in Los Angeles, Calif. "Coach Duncan was fantastic!" stated Brenda Brosnihan, who trains the local team along with Lexi Frey. "His expertise, training tips, and enthusiasm were key to helping our team have a competitive edge." The 25-member team will enter eight competitive categories in three age groups. Portions of the contest will be aired on ESPN on April 19. Winners of the national event will advance to the World Cup competition in Las Vegas this July. More than 22 countries will compete in that event, Brosnihan reported. The athletes have also weight-trained with Sue Snyder at Premier Physical Therapy, and are participating in the Presidential Sports Program. Brosnihan said the support of the team by the community has been overwhelming, and that the county will be well-represented at the national contest, as nearly 80 people are slated to make the trip. The sportaerobic team will also be appearing at several local civic and sporting events, she noted.

Vintage Clothes, Costume Revue Slated At OTT

A Vintage Clothing and Costume Revue is planned at Our Town Theatre for Sunday, March 28, at 2 p.m. The event, in conjunction with National Women's History Month, is to be a fund-raiser for the theatre.

Local actors and high school students have been recruited to model a portion of the theatre's collection of costume and antique clothing. Displays will also be set up to exhibit clothing too fragile to be worn.

"This will be an exciting trip back through the decades," said a theatre spokesperson. "Nostalgic memorabilia and period music will add ambience to the show. We hope to evoke the memories and atmosphere of the past.

"Did you ever wonder what your grandmother wore to afternoon tea? Or what a girl might wear to exercise in during the 1890s? Come find out at the Vintage Clothing and Costume Revue," the spokesperson said.

Tickets for the event (with proceeds benefiting the non-profit theatre) will be $15 each. Reservations can be made by calling the box office at 301-334-5640.

Proceeds From Talking With To Aid Dove Center

Our Town Theatre management has decided to donate the profits of one performance of ticket sales for the play Talking With to the Dove Center. "We will contribute the revenue for whichever performance makes the most money," stated Jane Avery, artistic director of the theatre. The play will be given this weekend, opening on Friday, March 12, and continuing on the 13 and 14.

Curtain time for Friday and Saturday is at 8 p.m. and at 3 p.m. on Sunday. Tickets, which are $5 per person, will be sold at the door, but reservations are strongly encouraged and can be made by calling the theatre at 301-334-5640.

"So far, our activities for women's month have been well attended and very successful," noted Avery. "In addition to a coffee house, a play reading, accompanied by free massages, and an art exhibit, our evening about eating disorders garnered a nice contribution of toiletries for the House of Hope. Next week we will offer a coffee house for teens on Friday, March 19, which will feature a performance by Pandora's Box, and there will be a reading of Claire Booth Luce's The Women on the 21st, which will be accompanied by more massages."

Talking With is a monologue play consisting of 10 speeches written by Jane Martin with an additional piece penned by Liz Rees Gilbert. Avery said the characters from Talking With are some of the most unusual roles that she has come across.

"They are wonderfully written and delightfully eccentric, which makes them so much fun to listen to," Avery said. "During the performance the audience will see 10 dynamic local women — Eileen Schlosnagle, Barbara Ann Reed, Anna Snyder, Patty Brenneman, Evelyn White, Lois White, Patty Wells, Judy Bertsch, Liz Rees Gilbert, and Gloria Salazar — portray all types of poignant and humorous personalities. It has been a joy to see this production take shape."

Avery has been joined in directing Talking With by Richard Hill, Fred Jacoby, and Steve Schlosnagle.

"I think all four of us were intrigued by the multi-talented individuals we worked with and the way in which they intermeshed their roles to build a very fine presentation (proof that the whole is greater than the sum of its parts)," Avery said.

The play is geared for an adult audience, and it contains some harsh language. It is being produced by special arrangement by Samuel French Incorporated.

Hafer Among Appointees To Advisory Group

Senator John Hafer was recently appointed by Senate President Thomas Miller Jr. to the State Advisory Council on Administrative Hearings. The council, created in 1989 as part of the Office of Administrative Hearings (OAH), consists of nine members appointed by the governor, a senator, and a delegate.

The OAH hears personnel grievances from various departments, charges against employees, and motor vehicle and patients' rights violations. The purpose of the council is to advise administrative law judges and identify any issues of pertinence to the OAH.

"The OAH has been deemed a major success story," Hafer commented. "I'm proud to be President Miller's designee for this council."

The council is chaired by Delegate Carol Petzold. She has invited Hafer to hold one of the quarterly meetings in western Maryland.

Friends Make Donation To Support Library

The Friends of the Ruth Enlow Library recently made a second donation of $6,000 to assist in moving the work of updating and upgrading the library collection.

The new funds are allocated for keeping the adult collection up-to-date, but represent only a small portion of the entire amount needed for this effort, said a library spokesperson. "Any financial support from other sources, such as local businesses or community members, would be welcomed for use in this large undertaking."

The entire collection has not been reviewed in several years, said Martha Makosky, library director, who added that making sure such resources as almanacs, medical texts, and technical or scientific information are current is time-consuming but important work. "It is part of a strategic plan to transform the public library system," Makosky said.

"We are trying to keep everyone in the county informed about what we are doing so they know they can count on the Ruth Enlow Library to satisfy their information needs. It is important that the library has information that is accurate and up-to-date on the shelves and available to Garrett County citizens."

Books that are no longer needed by the library are being offered for sale to the public at nominal cost. The sale will begin on Saturday, March 20, and will continue through Saturday, March 27.

ADDICTIONS ADVISORY COUNCIL FORMS — The newly assembled Garrett County Addictions Advisory Council met with the Garrett County commissioners recently to inform the elected officials of the council function and goals. The group has been formed in an effort to integrate and consolidate local services for those residents suffering from addiction. Fred Herath, chairperson of the council, said he has had "great participation" from the 14 groups represented on the council. They are working toward the goals mentioned, as well as toward the realization of a halfway house in Garrett County, preferably in the Finzel area, that could serve both Garrett and Allegany counties. Currently, persons who wish to take the positive step into a halfway house situation must relocate to Hagerstown, where the closest facility is located. Herath noted that those who chose to reside in such a facility "don't get a free ride." Residents must take responsibility for paying rent, keeping jobs, and staying sober. The addictions council is also working to decrease the number of repeat offenders in Garrett County, or those persons who serve time in jail and then are returned to custody, having again broken the law. Herath said that because of work that members of the council have done, the percentage at the local jail of repeat offenders has gone down from 45% to under 20%. Pictured standing, left to right, are council members Jack Michaels, Garrett County Sheriff's Office (GCSO); Kerrie Margroff, Department of Parole and Probation; Gary Berkebile, GCSO; Anna Bishop, Garrett County school system; Henry Brown, Department of Social Services; Elizabeth Biser, integrity counseling/Mettie Workers; Herath, health department Addictions Clinic; Ann Sherrard, prevention coordinator of the health dept.; Lee McDaniel, secretary of the council and a representative of the recovery community; Debbie Jo Adams-Noroski, Garrett County Lighthouse; and David Dubé, Mountain Top Mental Health Associates. Seated in the same order are Commissioners Wendell Beitzel, Fred Holliday, and Ernest Gregg.

Political Winds...

It's extremely early to be making any predictions about the next presidential campaign and ultimate results of the 2000 election, but we're going to take a shot at it this week and then look back 20 months from now and see if we were anywhere near the mark.

On the Republican side, out of the gate like a shot is George W. Bush, present governor of Texas, even though he has not officially announced. Elizabeth Dole is making an early bid, Pat Buchanan, Lamar Alexander, Steve Forbes, and Dan Quayle have also announced, and John McCain is strongly considering a run.

Al Gore, as vice president, must be considered the front runner for the Democrats, but the popular Bill Bradley has also announced.

A prediction on the Democrat side seems a little more clear-cut. Gore, despite his stiff, mechanical way of doing things, despite his involvement in alleged illegal campaign financing activities, and despite having to follow in the wake of Bill Clinton's affairs, will most likely win his party's nomination. The power of incumbency as a VP is difficult for anyone, no matter how popular, to overcome.

Our best guess on the Republican side is that the leaders down the stretch will be Bush, Dole, and McCain. Buchanan is too radical, Alexander is too bland, Forbes is too strange, and Quayle has never recovered from misspelling the word "potato."

Barring a negative turn of events for Bush, he will be the one to catch. Dole's experience in a variety of high level positions, plus her gender, will make her a strong candidate. We like McCain's prospects because of his moderate conservative philosophies and his record in the U.S. Senate.

Of these three, we believe Dole will fall short of winning the nomination, but might then be the leading candidate as the vice president nominee for either Bush or McCain.

So the final question is, will it be Bush or McCain? In spite of Bush's early popularity, we're going to take a long shot here and predict that McCain will be the GOP nominee, with either Bush or Dole as the running mate.

Of course, it's all politics, which is something that is almost as hard to predict as next week's weather. And with the weather we've been having lately, we realize that our political predictions might not even be close.

WHERE HAVE WE GONE, JOE DIMAGGIO?

by David Foster

A great deal has been said and written about the passing of baseball great Joe DiMaggio this week, and rightfully so. Seemingly not without coincidence, the Yankee Clipper's death came at the same time a book by Tom Brokaw, The Greatest Generation, graces the best-seller list, and the movie Saving Private Ryan sets its sights on several well-deserved Academy Awards. This timing serves to remind us baby boomers that the Americans who came of age in the Depression and World War II, and who rebuilt the nation and much of the world in the aftermath of those events, are passing on. The publicity surrounding DiMaggio's death serves as a reminder that we need to acknowledge their sacrifices and thank them for much of the good we have today, before it is too late.

DiMaggio is also being remembered for the aura of his personality, his silence projecting an image of the "quiet man," which happened to be the title of a movie starring another icon of his era, John Wayne. While Joltin' Joe's reticence was, in his own words, born more of shyness than strength, and may have contributed to his ulcers and his two divorces, some look at the quiet man through the lenses of today's bare-all talk shows, Barbara Walters interviews, and politically motivated forays into the private lives of public people. Many of us yearn for the days when public figures let their deeds do their talking, and others accepted those deeds as their testament without prying them apart to find cracks in the armor and feet of clay, which all of us have. What goes around comes around, and the pendulum will no doubt swing back in that direction someday when we tire of talking about having sex and concentrate more on making love. (Now there's a phrase you don't hear much anymore.)

On a more personal note, this week's DiMaggio news caused me to pull a baseball out of the attic, a baseball I handed to him for an autograph years ago. The signature on the ball has since bled into an unreadable blob, but I still have it and probably always will. Not because it reminds me so much of an older man with white hair sitting behind a table with a pen in his hand, but more because it reminds me of a 12-year-old boy who played pick-up baseball with his buddies every day on whatever vacant lots we could find in our city—lots that have since been covered with townhouses and office buildings. A kid where I'm from can't find a vacant lot for a pick-up game today, for the only baseball fields there now are fenced in and under lock and key—not exactly my idea of a field of dreams. You pretty much have to be a member of an organized team in an organized league to play ball there now.

The signed baseball also reminded me of another big-league ballplayer's statement, which I read at about the same time I was seeking autographs of DiMaggio and other athlete "heroes" of mine. Bobby Tolan, whom Pirate fans will recall as a fine switch-hitting outfielder for Cincinnati's Big Red Machine, was known for being very gracious to kids asking for his signature, but more importantly, as he would hand the signed item back to the child, he would always say, "You know, someday my autograph might not mean so much to you. You really should be getting the autographs of your parents and your teachers. They are the most important people in your life, and those are the heroes you'll want to remember long after you forget about me."

Now that's a class act, too.

To the Editor:

I am appalled at what I have seen in our local newspaper in the cartoon section. You might call them "controversial" in nature, but I say they send the message they were intended for.

Where have our morals gone?

Let's refer to the "Teletubbies" cartoon. Are we to accept toys that rob our children from their sexual identity? Then why not uphold men like Jerry Falwell, who is trying to bring our nation out of moral decay? He can't do it alone!

Remember, all it takes for evil to abound is for good men to do nothing. Look at our White House; is that what we want for our future?

To the Editor:

As we do each year, the U.S. Postal Service Baltimore District will be collecting food for the Harvest for the Hungry program. Garrett County post offices will be doing so again this year from now until March 20, 1999. Our carriers will be collecting food that is left for them from March 13 to March 19. In addition, customers may leave food at any Garrett County post office in the containers in the lobby.

All food collected will be distributed to food banks in Garrett County, such as the House of Hope.

We want to thank our customers for their support of this vital project in the past and ask for that same level of support once again.

To the Editor:

Writing a bad check in Maryland is a felony offense. But if someone sets your cat on fire or forces a dog to fight to the death for the entertainment of cheering spectators, it is simply a misdemeanor offense. HB 711, introduced by Delegate George Owings of Calvert County, would make dogfighting, cockfighting, intentional and malicious acts of animal cruelty, and the injuring or killing of a law enforcement animal a felony offense. It would also allow the courts to order a convicted abuser to undergo psychological counseling at his or her own expense.

Numerous other states have adopted similar penalties in the last decade. Animal cruelty is a felony offense in 22 states. Dogfighting is a felony in 43 states, and cockfighting is a felony in 19 states. Virginia's legislature just passed a felony anti-cruelty bill, which is awaiting Governor Gilmore's signature.

HB 711 recognizes that deliberately inflicting pain and suffering on an animal is an act of violence and elevates the penalty provisions of the current weak law. Many legislatures have enacted their felony cruelty laws in the last decade because there is a well documented connection between acts of animal cruelty and other forms of human violence. People who enjoy abusing animals rarely stop there. They are much more likely to be involved in child abuse, wife beating, or other acts of violence against people. One study found that one-third of the households with animal abuse complaints also had domestic violence problems. In another study, 74% of pet-owning women reported that a pet had been threatened, injured or killed by their abuser. Both people and animals will benefit if HB 711 passes.

HB 711 has 15 co-sponsors and will soon be voted on in the House Judiciary Committee. The bill has the support of Governor Glendening and is deserving of support from all Maryland citizens. Contact your elected officials and urge them to support HB 711.

Sincerely,
Wayne Pacelle

To the Editor:

In the past several months there have been letters stating that the Postal Service in Garrett County left a lot to be desired.

As a "transplanted" Garrett County resident, I would like to go on record in "singing the praises" of the McHenry Post Office. Phyllis Vitez is the most professional, kind, thoughtful, and considerate post mistress I have ever encountered. These very same qualities are also shown by her staff — Kim, Tracey, and others. My mail carrier, Charlotte Thomas, performs in exactly the same manner. I think of her as a friend, as I do the others. It is always a pleasure to see their smiles and hear their friendly "hellos."

We in McHenry are fortunate to have these wonderful people and their great service.

Thank you!

ST. PATRICK'S DAY — MARCH 17

St. Patrick was born about 389 A.D., probably near the Severn River on the border of modern England and Wales. In those days England and Wales were one.

During Patrick's 72 years of earthly life, the Christian Church underwent one of the richest and most tumultuous periods of its history. At the time of his birth, Christianity had already been the official religion of the Roman Empire for 70 years.

The problem for Patrick — and for other Christians of Romanized Britain of that time — was that the Roman Empire was beginning to shrink. The imperial legions abandoned Britain in the face of the invading Angles and Saxons. On the west coast of Britain, Irish pirates took advantage of the political instability to carry off what plunder they could, even human plunder, including the 16-year-old Patrick.

Patrick's devotion to Christ grew during his enslavement. He received visions which inspired him to risk all on an attempted escape, which was successful.

He did not, however, escape in order to return to a life of relative ease to which his birth had seemed to destine him. He escaped in order to study for the priesthood, and, subsequently, to return to Ireland as a missionary.

In 432 A.D. Patrick did return to Ireland as a missionary bishop. His earlier experience there had taught him that he must win the good will of the kings, who were really tribal chieftains, absolute though they were in their small realms.

It is at this juncture that Patrick's story is of especial interest to Christians on the boundary of the 20th and 21st centuries. For just as civilization, as represented by the Roman Empire of that day, was being beaten back on its frontiers, so too, in our time, civilization is being beaten back on its frontiers.

We, who live in the USA, might have very few sensations which would lead us to conclude that civilization is on the wane. Those who equate civilization with technology or economic prosperity — as, indeed, many people do — see only advancing civilization.

I will not argue now about the signs in our own land of declining civilization. I can state as an incontrovertible fact, however, that the 250 million people living in the countries of the former Soviet Union, spanning Europe and Asia, are verging on chaos. In the case of Russia, if the state fails, then there will be chaos with nuclear weapons.

The Balkans, another eastern frontier of Europe and home of many European wars, including World War I, continue to be a powder keg. We still have troops in Bosnia, with the prospect of sending additional soldiers to Kosovo — without a strategy for withdrawal.

On the great continent of Africa many of sub-Saharan countries are reverting rapidly to the primitive tribalism of pre-colonial days — but with modern weapons. In the Moslem world there are the threats arising from Saddam Hussein and his ilk, on the one hand, and militant Islamic fundamentalists on the other.

In a word, St. Patrick is a saint for our time, just as he was a saint for his time. His being kidnapped and enslaved enabled him to renounce the comforts which he could have expected by the circumstances of his birth and upbringing. He bravely confronted the alternatives to Christianity (principally Druidic religion). At the same time he was both winsome and shrewd in his presentation of the gospel in order to ensure the highest likelihood of converting his hearers and the lowest likelihood of being martyred for his faith.

There grew up in Ireland a Christian Church which flourished while Christian churches elsewhere foundered. The work of St. Patrick lives today. Those who share his faith do well to follow his example and renew the great work of speaking for Christ in a world which knows him not.

Garrett County Chamber of Commerce — Home of Deep Creek Lake — UPDATE

by Ken Wishnick
Executive Director

This week marks my first complete month on the job as Chamber executive director, and what a month it's been. I fully expected that much of my time was going to be spent learning all I could about people, programs, and goals for the county. What I didn't realize is that my education on county ways would go much farther.

In the short time I've been here, I've also learned why people don't drive on back roads during a windy snowstorm and how to stay warm during a power outage when you are snowed in. In a more challenging test, I learned that if you can't use an electric can opener, a simple hammer and nail can open a can of soup if you are hungry enough! My wife and I even got a lesson in cross-country skiing from our realtor, who explained that it was the best way to view the back of a house when there's deep snow.

Yes, life in Garrett County is different than it is in Columbia, where I've spent the last 14 years, but in some ways, it's very similar. People in Columbia are known for being very opinionated. With 10 villages comprising the town, there is often much jockeying to ensure that each gets what he perceives to be his fair piece of the pie. Here in Garrett, there is no shortage of opinions. Ask about Wal-Mart, a new interstate highway, county-wide zoning, or most any other current issue, and there are passionate comments on all sides of the issue. However, ask someone from Grantsville if too much attention is given to Oakland or if a Friendsville resident thinks the county should invest in a new facility near Deep Creek Lake, and you better be prepared to sit for a while.

Herein lies both the problem and opportunity. While there is much that can be accomplished if all communities in Garrett can unite in a common vision, the reverse also holds true. As a newcomer, or "pilgrim" as I've been called, I remain optimistic we can all work together in shaping strategies that will bring greatly enhanced economic benefits to all parts of our beautiful county.

During the next few months, a strategic tourism planning process will begin for Garrett County, utilizing state and federal grant funds. The plan will evaluate at least 20 other resort areas that have been successful in marketing tourism. It will then be up to us to focus the remainder of the study on how to use their best practices to unite all of Garrett County in leveraging our assets in attracting additional tourist dollars. We will have a unique opportunity to recreate our overall approach toward tourism in some very creative ways.

Tourism accounts for about 20 percent of Garrett County's economy and is an excellent place to start in establishing goals and programs we can all agree to. However, as we move forward, we must always keep in mind that what makes Garrett County unique is the beauty of our area. Although there is still much room for new development and added amenities, the balance between environment, quality of life, and economic needs must always be maintained.

Dove Center Offers Support Group For Adults Molested As Children

Adults who were molested when they were children may still bear the burden and the scars of the abuses inflicted upon them and they may still experience emotional stress as a result of a long ago violation, explained Linda Spassil, executive director of the Dove Cener.

"Some of these adults who were child victims never had the opportunity to face and discuss the event with an understanding, compassionate person who can also provide insights into an individual's healing," she said.

To help deal with some of the internal conflicts experienced in the aftermath of abuse, the Dove Center, Garrett County's domestic violence and sexual assault resource, is planning to start an informational group for victims. "The group will meet on Wednesdays for 10 weeks, but we haven't scheduled a starting date yet. We thought we'd wait to get some response and see what will be best," Spassil stated.

Some of the topics that will be addressed during the sessions include: the healing process, myths and facts, "the sound of silence," feelings surrounding victimization, self-esteem, and relationship building.

There will be no fee charged for those participating in the sessions. Anyone who is interested in enrolling the group or getting more information from the Dove Center may call 301-334-9000 or 1-800-894-3872. All calls are completely confidential.

"Once people start calling in to enroll, we will choose a start date and announce it," Spassil said.

TICKETS STILL AVAILABLE - The dinner theater production of The Castaways by the Friendsville Community Players will be staged at Southern High School on Sunday at 2 p.m. Some tickets are still available for the performance. A complete ham dinner with green beans, scalloped potatoes, jello salad, rolls, coffee, fruit drink, and dessert will be served before the musical, which features a cast of all ages under the direction of Friendsville Elementary School principal Doug Gaither. Proceeds from the event will benefit the Frances Dunbar Cancer Fund. Tickets, costing $8 for adults and $6 for children, may be ordered by calling 301-387-5612. They are also available at Flowers By Webers, Oakland. Should inclement weather require cancellation, the information will be announced on the radio.

1999 Student Arts Fair Set For April 10

The third annual Garrett County Student Arts Fair will be held on Saturday, April 10, at Garrett Community College. There will be no admission charge to this year's event, which is scheduled from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m.

The arts fair features exhibits, demonstrations, and performances by the county's public school students of all ages. Visitors to the fair will be able to attend musical ensembles, vocal performances, storytelling, and poetry reading. Demonstrations and displays will include clay sculpture, drawing, painting, papermaking, and use of the potter's wheel.

Workshops will be offered in computer art, theater games, making musical instruments, weaving, tie-dying, drawing, working with clay, and painting. "There will be a variety of things to do and see," said Student Arts Fair coordinator Carolyn Collen-DuBose.

There will be a new addition to this year's event. "A special performance will be given by Blue Sky Puppet Theatre, 'The Barker of Seville,'" Collen-DuBose said.

The two previous arts fairs have attracted many people from the community as well as students and parents. "Many of the people who attend the other fairs were really surprised at the quality of work produced by the students. People really enjoyed themselves. Anyone who didn't get to the arts fair before might want to mark it on the calendar now," Collen-DuBose concluded.

House Committee Considers Raising Tobacco Tax By $1

The Maryland House Ways and Means Committee held a public hearing last week on House Bill 190, Governor Parris Glendening's proposal to increase the tobacco tax by $1 beginning in fiscal year 2000. According to Sheila Hixson, committee chairperson, the intent of the legislation is to discourage smoking and the use of smokeless tobacco, especially by teenagers, and to help recover the state's costs associated with treating individuals with health problems caused by smoking.

"It is important the Ways and Means Committee and the General Assembly do anything within its power to encourage current smokers to stop smoking, and to discourage potential smokers, especially teenagers, from lighting up," Hixson said.

As introduced, HB 190 would increase the current tobacco tax from $.36 to $.86 in 2000 and to $1.36 beginning in fiscal 2001. It would also impose a 25% tax on the wholesale price of other tobacco products, including cigars, smokeless tobacco, and snuff.

According to Hixson, these increases are expected to increase general revenues by an estimated $150 million in 2000 and $236 million in 2001. HB 109 would require the governor to use the added revenue to benefit state education facilities.

"Consideration of the full $1 tobacco tax increase will be one of the most important issues that the Ways and Means Committee will address this session," Hixson stated. "The committee will ensure that any revenues generated from this tax increase will fund worthy public programs and initiatives."

Omission Noted On Honor Roll

The Northern Middle School honor roll lists were published two weeks ago, and one name inadvertently omitted from that list by the school was that of Thomas Menges. The eighth grader was named to the regular honor roll for the second grading term for earning at least 80% in all subjects.

KITTY RESCUE - All life was spared at the scene of a structure fire Monday morning in Crellin, where a 100-year-old house caught fire because of an overheated furnace. Even the family felines, Casper and Muffin, escaped the blaze, as Muffin got out on his (her?) own and Casper was rescued by Oakland and Terra Alta fire fighters. Casper is pictured above being handed off the roof by one fire fighter to another. The house was the residence of Garry and Vanessa Holland and their 2-year-old son. SMS Students Participate In Odyssey Of Mind

Five Southern Middle School students performed in the regional Odyssey of the Mind competition in Boonsboro last Saturday. Erin Oxford, Michael Nelson, Andrew Murray, Amanda King, and Kasey Bell created their own humorous scene based on a not so humorous scene from MacBeth.

Following Odyssey of the Mind guidelines, the five students worked together and independently of outside help to write their scene — including original music — design their costumes and set, and include a surprise technical element. They competed with other middle school teams, who had chosen the same problem, in the western Maryland competition.

Winners will go on to state, national and international competitions. The Odyssey of the Mind school program fosters creative and problem-solving skills among participating students from kindergarten through college. Students solve problems in a variety of areas, from building mechanical devices, such as springdriven vehicles, to giving their own interpretation of literary classics. Through solving problems, students learn life-long skills such as working with others as a team, evaluating ideas, making decisions, and creating solutions while developing self-confidence from their experiences.

Encouragement for the team has been from coaches Brenda King and Sherry Taylor. Gayle Farrar served as judge at the competition.

As he was being searched, a switchblade knife was found in his back pocket, which resulted in an additional charge of concealment of a deadly weapon. He was released after posting a $1,000 bond.

DOMESTIC INCIDENT

Michael Lee Paugh, 27, no fixed address, was arrested shortly after 12 a.m. on Friday, March 5, after a domestic-related complaint from a resident in the 2500 block of Fingerboard Road. He was charged with violating a protective order, and is currently being held in jail on a $5,000 bond.

ACCIDENT

A snow-covered road reportedly played a factor in a 1:45 a.m. accident that occurred on Monday, March 1, on Garrett Highway just south of Blue Ribbon Road.

Tabatha Shan Welling, 21, Oakland, was operating her Geo Storm northbound on Garrett Highway when it skidded off the road and into a ditch. She was transported by the Southern Garrett Rescue Squad to Garrett County Memorial Hospital, where she was treated and released. The Oakland Volunteer Fire Department assisted on the scene.

ANALYZE THIS

Rated R - Running time: 1:43

After seeing Robert De Niro playing the same tough guy for 20 years, it's nice to see him doing—uh—the exact same thing. But with a sense of humor. De Niro's characterization of mob boss Paul Vitti in Harold Ramis's Analyze This is not much different from his standard parts, but here, he's making fun of himself, lampooning the gangster/thug character he has become so well associated with over the years.

Meanwhile, Billy Crystal, who hasn't done anything memorable since Mr. Saturday Night (1992)—unless you want to count the Oscar shows he's hosted—desperately needs a success to put him back in the public's (and the producers') good graces. Though he's not making much of a stretch here either, playing a jewish guy with an ascerbic sense of humor, this might be his ticket out of the doldrums created by his latest flop, My Giant. If nothing else, the contrast De Niro and Crystal provide each other will help them both.

Paul Vitti (De Niro), New York mobster, suffers from job-related stress. He can't kill people, he can't watch people die, he can't even watch a sentimental TV commercial without bursting into tears. Living in the shadow of his great father, the capo di tutti capi, he mustn't let a psychological disorder ruin his reputation, so he goes to see a "shrink" named Ben Sobel (Crystal). Ben, who also has trouble living up to the ideals of his famous analyst father (Bill Macy), finds himself stagnating in his profession. He feels like he needs a change, but Vitti is not exactly what he had in mind. Still, he agrees to treat him, because Vitti truly does seem to be in pain. And because he might kill him if he refuses.

The trouble is, Ben is about to be married to the beautiful but dippy news anchor Laura MacNamara (Lisa Kudrow, who is making a career out of playing dippy people), and Vitti and his friends keep interrupting things. Like the wedding.

Neither De Niro nor Crystal will win any stretching awards for this, but director Ramis (Caddyshack, Groundhog Day) deserves some credit for keeping the pace moving and the dialogue clicking. There are many rapid-fire scenes between the two leads that showcase their talents nicely, and the script, written by Ken Lonergan (story) and Peter Tolan, with some help from Ramis, is funny and unassuming. The high point is a dream sequence re-creating the scene from The Godfather where Marlon Brando gets shot buying oranges. It is a shot-for-shot copy, including the overhead view of the oranges cascading all over the street and the close-up of the assassins' guns held high, but with Crystal in the Brando role and De Niro (instead of John Cazale) kneeling over him, pathetically crying, "Papa! Papa!" This clever idea works brilliantly, especially since De Niro played Brando's role as a young man in The Godfather, Part II.

I must say, Kudrow is quite disappointing here; although she has only a peripheral role, her usual airhead performance drags the comedy down considerably, and her make-up looks pasty and unattractive, as does that of several others in the film. An enjoyable performance is given by Joe Viterelli as Vitti's right-hand-man, Jelly. Every menacing mobster needs a fat-but-lovable sidekick. Viterelli and Chazz Palminteri, who plays Vitti's enemy, have both been seen in plenty of other mob flicks, and know the parts well. Analyze This is nothing new, especially for its stars, but it's good fun nonetheless. ★★★★

THE OTHER SISTER

Rated PG-13 - Running time: 2:09

I was surprised to find that Garry Marshall's The Other Sister was only a little over two hours long. Near the end I wasn't even sure what day it was outside. Starring Juliette Lewis and Giovanni Ribisi as a mentally challenged couple who fall in love, The Other Sister uses every trite cliché in the book to pull at our heartstrings, and though Lewis (psychotic in Natural Born Killers) and Ribisi (haunting in Saving Private Ryan) both have some moments, much of their story is overly sentimental and ultra-simplistic.

Their story (written by Alexandra Rose and Blair Richwood; screenplay by Marshall and Bob Brunner) starts with Carla Tate (Lewis) graduating from a "special school" outside San Francisco. After spending several years bonding with her teacher, she must return home to her overprotective mother, Elizabeth (Diane Keaton) her ex-drunk father, Radley (Tom Skerrit), two sisters (Poppy Montgomery and Sarah Paulson) and the cook (Juliet Mills). But they're all happy to see her, and Elizabeth tries not to be too pushy. Radley has dried out and become a patient, loving father, so as to contrast with Elizabeth's super-controlling matriarch.

Carla wants to be independent, so she enrolls in a local tech school. Instantly she meets Daniel McMahon (Ribisi), her male counterpart, who impresses her by having a job and an apartment. She decides she wants her own place too, which (as with every decision of hers) is met with loud dissention from her mother. But after some argument, Elizabeth allows Carla to move into a small place which she, Elizabeth, has hand picked. Soon the story devolves into Carla and Daniel trying to decide whether or not to "do it," and perusing The Joy Of Sex to investigate possible positions.

This is obviously supposed to be a major acting vehicle for Lewis and Ribisi, and they do fairly well with what they have. Lewis has a nice quality of showing the mental wheels in motion. But their performances don't hold a candle to the kind of unbridled energy of, say, Leonardo DiCaprio in What's Eating Gilbert Grape? While DiCaprio was just recklessly throwing it out there, not caring where it landed, these actors seem focused inward, always keenly aware of how they look and talk.

This film often takes a humorous attitude toward the couple; although they are both ultra-sensitive to being laughed at, the script has us laughing at them (not with them) at every turn. Keaton's character is so unpleasant she's almost a villain—except when she has one of her "moments of connection" with Carla. And the relationship between Carla and Daniel (the whole point of the film) is inexplicably without substance: He seems driven by sex, and she by escaping her mother. We almost never see any moments of connection between the two. For what is supposed to be a poignant love story, The Other Sister fails to show much spark. ★★★

CRUEL INTENTIONS

Rated R - Running time: 1:35

Egads. I knew Dangerous Liaisons (1988), starring Glenn Close and John Malkovich, was really good, but I forgot how good until last night. Its excellence is heavily underscored by the new teenage version, Cruel Intentions, starring Sarah Michelle Gellar and Ryan Phillippe. Written and directed by Roger Kumble (based on the novel Les Liaisons Dangereuses by Choderlos de Laclos), this is the most laughable piece of tripe I have forced myself to sit through in quite some time. It is a bad-acting extravaganza of the first magnitude, featuring the ridiculously unlikely love/sex lives of a bunch of snot-nosed kids pretending to be suave.

The story is that Kathryn Merteuil (Gellar), the rich, vindictive seductress and class president of the selective Manchester School, and her half-brother Sebastian (Phillipe), the bad-boy Cassanova, enjoy seeing people's reputations destroyed, so they decide to make a wager: He will bed the squeaky-clean Annette Hargrove (Reese Witherspoon), who has had her "I want to wait for true love before having sex" manifesto published in a national magazine. Annette, who has just come to Manchester this year, is looked on by all as the ideal of adolescent restraint and maturity. So our two infantile sex scoundrels put their plan in motion, with the following terms: If Kathryn wins (that is, if Sebastian fails to make it with Annette), she gets his '56 Jaguar Roadster. If Sebastian does the deed with Annette, he gets to do the deed with Kathryn, no holes barred (sorry—but she does actually say, "You can put it anywhere"). But the plan backfires: Sebastian is so impressed by Annette's wholesome charms, he actually falls in love with her.

Meanwhile, Cecile Caldwell (Selma Blair), a virginal ditz whose mother (Christine Baranski) has entrusted her to Kathryn's care, is similarly undone by Sebastian so that the man she loves (Sean Patrick Thomas) can be had by Kathryn.

I thought Gellar was bad in Simply Irresistible, but watching her make pastries is infinitely more enjoyable than squirming through her attempt at evil refinement. Apart from spreading her legs and opening her blouse, her portrayal of Kathryn contains little that is remotely impressive. And if you think she's bad, you should see Phillippe as Sebastian, who supposedly wants to get Kathryn in bed (since she's the only one in school he hasn't yet). Phillipe seems to be cast seriously against his own personal grain here. His scrawny, mincing, overintellectual performance makes it difficult to watch the many scenes in which he's making it with the various women of the film. I haven't seen a man so uncomfortable with his heterosexual role since Malcolm Gets in Caroline In The City.

The performances by Witherspoon and Blair are not terrible, but they can't save the film from Gellar and Phillipe. Kumble's directing, if he was even present during shooting, has people doing things unfathomable to human nature. The little emotion portrayed is openly faked, with people suddenly "crying" when the situation has not given reason for it. You could tell the eyedroppers were working overtime during the final reel, because every time you turn around there's another fake tear rolling down someone's unemotional cheek.

Don't waste your hard-earned dollars on Cruel Intentions, unless you want to find yourself victim to the wager that must have been made between Kumble and his producers. Maybe if the film makes a thousand dollars, he gets to drive someone's vintage Yugo. ★

Tracy Buckley, Stephen Beaver United In Double Ring Ceremony

Tracy Lynn Buckley and Stephen Scott Beaver were united in holy matrimony on June 27, 1998. The double ring ceremony took place at Oak Park Church of the Brethren in Oakland, with the Reverend Mel Menker officiating.

The bride is the daughter of Douglas and Bonnie Buckley of Oakland and Mary Louise Buckley of Mtn. Lake Park, and the granddaughter of Harry and Pauline Buckley and the late Harold and Dorothy Adams. The bridegroom is the son of the late William and Rheta Beaver, and the grandson of Edward and Helen Beaver and Robert and Rheta Pierre.

Given in marriage by her parents and escorted to the altar by her father, the bride wore a designer ivory gown of satin and a cathedral-style train and pearl earrings and necklace. The gown was adorned with sequins and had a matching tiara headpiece with a double detachable veil. The bride carried a bouquet of ivory and plum roses adorned with lace, made by Mary Lou Stemple. Her hair was styled by Mary Lynn Friend.

Serving as maid of honor was Laura Bailey, Glen Burnie, sister of the bride. Bridesmaids were Babbette Dunn, Orlando, Fla.; Annette Mongold, Dover, Del.; and Beth King, Westminster, Colo. The bridesmaids wore deep plum floor-length gowns of satin and lace and carried bouquets similar to the bride's. The bouquets were made by Mary Lou Stemple of the Party House. The flower girl was Abby Buckley, niece of the bride. Joint ring bearers were Brandt Bailey and Alex Toothman, nephews of the bride. The flower girl carried a basket of roses, while the ring bearers carried satin pillows.

The best man was Hylton Dunn, Orlando. The groomsmen were Joshua Slatkey, Durham, N.C.; Alan Beaver, Damascus; and Doug Beaver, Frederick. The groomsmen wore black tuxedos and the best man and bridegroom wore vests to match the bridesmaids.

The soloist was Evelena Fike and the organist was Carolyn Updyke. Kelly Buckley, sister-in-law of the bride, attended programs and the guestbook.

The ceremony was followed with a reception at the Point View Inn, McHenry. Decorations were done by Mary Lou Stemple. An ivory triple-tier wedding cake adorned with lace and bows was baked by Alice Wilt. Mr. Z provided music. The videographer was Danielle Curry, friend of the bride and bridegroom.

The rehearsal dinner was provided by the Women's Fellowship of Oak Park Church of the Brethren. The bride was the guest of honor during a bridal shower hosted by Laura Bailey.

The couple honeymooned in the Bahamas and in Cocoa Beach, Fla. They currently live in Omaha, Neb.

SHARING THE WONDERS OF THE ARTS - A gift of artworks from retired Pittsburgh, Pa., businessman Murray G. Lowenthal will soon be on display for all students at Northern High School. The gift was 17 pieces of original Chinese art to be on permanent display in the school. "Lowenthal believed that the arts should be a part of the students' daily experience," said NHS band instructor Bill Robinson. Faced with the expense of mounting and framing the works for display, School Improvement Team member Donetta Rice and carpentry teacher Jeff Montgomery came up with a solution. With the assistance of students, including Mike Garlitz, Craig Miller, Charles Wilt, and Melanie Miller, Rice and Montgomery undertook the project of preparing the display. The works should be ready to exhibit in the spring. They will circulate throughout the school, with pieces being displayed in classrooms, conference rooms, and cafetorium, Robinson said. Mr. Lowenthal, whose generosity made this art display possible, died in December. The photo at left is a sample of the original paintings on silk given to the students at NHS. In the photo above Rice discusses possible mounting techniques for a piece. Below, Garlitz and Miller prepare to design the frame for one of the paintings. Photos by Bill Robinson.

Huskies Second, Rams Fourth; Shimrock, Stein State Champs

The most outstanding season of high school wrestling in Garrett County history was completed Saturday at Western Maryland College in Westminster, where the Northern High Huskies finished second in the Class 2A/1A Maryland State Wrestling Tournament and the Southern High Rams captured fourth place out of dozens of high school teams from around the state, many of them from considerably larger schools than Northern and Southern.

In that process, two Huskies earned individual state championships, as Jesse Shimrock concluded a perfect season with a 37-0 record and won the 140-pound division title, and Brandon Stein won the state 125-pound division championship.

The Huskies missed the team championship by a mere 4.5 points, as they finished second only to Franklin, which amassed 106.5 points compared to Northern's 102. Kent County finished with 76.5 points to just edge out the Rams, who had 74 points. Placing fifth was Williamsport with 58 points, followed by Albert Einstein with 67.5, Overlea with 52, Owings Mills with 48, Urbana with 47.5, Francis Scott Key with 42, and Beall with 40.

Other top finishers for the Huskies were Blake Huber, who was the runner-up in the 103-pound division; Matt Kauffman, who won third place in the 160-pound class; Mark Wolf, who earned a fifth place in the 152-pound division; and Paul Beitzel, who placed sixth in the 130-pound division.

Southern's top finisher was John Hayhurst, who was the runner-up in the 171-pound division by a single point. Tasting defeat for the first time this season were Southern's Eric Rexrode and Nick Dolan, as Rexrode won third place in the 145-pound division and Dolan finished third in the 152-pound division. Russell Crosco placed fifth in the 189-pound class.

Shimrock's 37th victory without a defeat, his 110th of his career as a Husky against just 20 losses (new school record), was an 8-3 decision over Timur Chabuck of Einstein High School in the 140-pound finale.

Stein, who finished his season with a 29-4 mark, out-pointed Jason Laughbach of Overlea in the 125-pound division title bout.

Garrett County's state runners-up, Huber and Hayhurst, are both just sophomores. Huber, who finished with an overall mark of 30-6, was decisioned by freshman Matt Schuster (35-2) of Franklin, 10-1, in the finals of the 103-pound division, while Hayhurst was edged by Williamsport senior Jared Myers, 12-11, in the 171-pound title contest. Hayhurst concluded his season with a 29-5 record, while Myers finished his senior year with a 33-3 mark.

Kauffman won third place in the state when he decisioned Nathan Kirk of Rising Sun in the 160-pound consolation round. Southern's Rexrode recorded a 4-3 decision over Dave Mattson of Urbana to secure third place in the 145-pound division, while teammate Nick Dolan out-pointed Daunte Neal of Lackey High School, 5-1, to win third place in the 152-pound division.

Shimrock was invited to participate in the Maryland All-Star Classic, which was held Tuesday at River Hill High School in Clarksville. No results of that event have been received.

Relay Kick-Off Is Rescheduled

The American Cancer Society's Garrett County Relay For Life Kick-off Celebration originally scheduled for March 4 has been rescheduled for Thursday, March 18, at 7 p.m. at the Community Services Building of Garrett Memorial Hospital. The event had to be postponed because of weather conditions.

Huskies Fall To Smithsburg In West Region Semifinal, 53-33

After advancing to the 1A West Region playoff semifinals with a pair of homecourt victories over South Hagerstown and Beall, the Northern High School girls' varsity basketball team was eliminated by a quick Smithsburg squad at North Hagerstown High School Friday evening.

"We were outmanned in terms of speed, not size," NHS head coach Julie Hoffman commented afterwards. "Smithsburg's players were very fast, and they had four excellent ballhandlers and four hot shooters who were on the mark throughout the game. That made coming up with an effective defense very tough, because we couldn't really key in on any single player; as we tried to do so, they were able to switch off to rely on another outstanding player."

Heidi Frazee, who led the Huskies on the night with 14 points and a pair of three-point goals, carried her teammates in the first half as the Huskies struggled to find their shooting range. Northern was down 14-4 at the end of the first quarter, 26-13 at the half, and 43-23 at the opening of the final stanza.

"Heidi worked for her shots real well, using some good moves to get into shooting position and following up on her misses with aggressive rebounding," said Hoffman. "She wasn't having a particularly hot night herself, and she had to work hard for anything she got. Heather Nugent started hitting in the third quarter and our team began clicking as a whole at the same time, but it was a little too late to catch Smithsburg.

"Our opponents were a small team, but very athletic. They played tall, were good leapers, and boxed us out well to cover the boards."

Heidi Frazee's scoring efforts were aided by Nugent's seven points, six points by senior Jackie Brenneman, and three points apiece scored by Mimi Harvey and Bridget Frazee. Harvey's score came on a three-point bucket. Bridget Frazee led Northern's rebounding total with nine.

The Huskies finished the year with a 13-12 overall record and a 5-7 WMIL mark, and Hoffman praised her squad's efforts as the team worked together to form a cohesive unit over the season. "We came into the year with only one player with real varsity experience, Heidi Frazee, who did a very nice job of taking on the team leadership role, while Heather Nugent came up from the junior varsity and stepped right in, ready to play. Heather and Heidi are both very competitive; they pushed each other to play their best.

"Bridget Frazee, a freshman, improved a great deal over the year. She came on very strong to dominate the boards in our first two playoff games, against Hagerstown and Beall. She'll continue to be a real force in the future.

"Our only senior, Jackie Brenneman, was a coaches' dream. We'd tell her what to do, and she gives 100 percent every time. For example, we knew her free throw shooting had to improve because in the early part of the season she was hitting only 15 percent of her foul shots. Jackie worked hard on her form, put in a great deal of practice, and by the end of the year she had upped her foul shooting to 76 percent.

"Her commitment paid off for the team in lots of ways, including preparing her to hit some key free throws to help clinch the game at South Hagerstown, which was a game that we won at the foul line."

Hoffman, assistant coach Sarah Pletcher, and their returning Huskies are looking forward to an off-season of individual workouts that could help the experienced team gel into a WMIL powerhouse next season. "We're one of the few teams around other than Allegany that won't be hit real hard by graduation," concluded Hoffman.

Rams' Hopes For State Title Dashed By South Hagerstown

The dream of winning a regional championship and advancing to the Maryland State 1A semifinals was thwarted for the Southern High School varsity boys Saturday night when the Rams went down to a heart-breaking, one-point defeat at the hands of the South Hagerstown Rebels, 54-53, in the 1A West Region title game, played at Allegany High School.

Southern entered the contest as the underdog, as the Hagerstown team (23-3) coasted into the finals by soundly defeating every other playoff opponent, but the Rams nearly overcame the Rebels' superior size and quickness to set the stage for a trip to College Park next week. But it was not to be.

The game hung in the balance with just two seconds left on the clock, but it seemed like an eternity for both teams. The score was tied at 53-53 at that point when South Hagerstown's Randy Reeder, who ended up being his team's hero, was fouled. He stepped to the line having scored only four points in the contest, and he missed his first shot. He hit the second one, however, to give the Rebels the one-point advantage and, seemingly, the victory, since the Rams had but two seconds to try to score.

What followed, however, was a series of time-outs, followed by an outstanding set-up by Southern mentor Tom Bosley that the senior-dominated Rams worked to perfection. In fact, it was Reeder who almost nullified what would be his winning foul shot.

After seeing what kind of defense the Rebels were going to use in the final two ticks of the game, Bosley directed Mike Pamepinto to inbound the ball with a 90-foot bomb directed to Mike Paesani. He directed Paesani to race from one side of the court to the other to receive the pass, knowing that a defender would follow him. That defender was Reeder.

Bosley also instructed Jonathan Price to plant himself in front of Reeder to try to draw a charging foul. The call and Price's response worked to perfection, as Price was knocked to the floor by the charging Reeder and was sent to the charity stripe with a one-and-one opportunity.

But the hopes for the regional title were dashed when Price missed the front end of his one-and-one and time expired as the loose ball rolled out of bounds.

"It was an unbelievable ending," Coach Bosley said. "Our kids positioned themselves, then moved just exactly how we told them to, and Jonathan did a great job drawing the foul. He just couldn't get his shot to fall though.

"It was a lot of pressure on Jonathan, and he had won several games for us before under similar situations," he said, "but it just wasn't meant to be. It could have happened to any one of our players; plus we had a lot of other missed opportunities throughout the game, any one of which could have caused a different outcome."

The Rams trailed 16-9 at the end of the first quarter, but cut the Rebels' advantage to just two points, 27-25, by halftime. They fell behind by six, 44-38, by the end of the third stanza, but rallied to tie the score twice in the fourth period.

A bucket underneath by Southern's Chris Ewing knotted the score at 46-46 early in the final stanza, and a pair of free throws by Paesani with just 54 seconds to play tied it at 53-53. Paesani's foul shots came after a bucket by Pamepinto and a key steal and lay-up by John Andrews.

The Rebels then held the ball for a final shot, but it was a controversial call that ultimately sent Reeder to the line for his winning shot. Andrews attempted to steal the ball from Reeder, the ball bounced off Reeder's foot in the process, and the two were both on the floor going after the loose ball. But Reeder finally got control and Andrews was called for the foul, much to the disliking of the Southern fans, who filled two-thirds of the Allegany gymnasium seating.

Paesani, who went into the game still nursing a sore knee, led the Rams with 14 points and a game-high nine rebounds. Pamepinto also reached double figures with 10 points, and Andrews finished with nine.

Leading the Rebels in scoring and rebounding was John Schnebly with 17 points and seven boards. Mike Lee scored 11 points.

"Southern is an excellent team," stated South Hagerstown coach Bob Starkey, whose team much prefers a run-and-shoot, high-scoring contest. "Defensively they are outstanding, and offensively they are very patient, both of which keep the score of their games down. It's difficult to step up the tempo against them."

Although distraught over the loss, Bosley said that his players literally did all they could do.

"They gave an absolute maximum effort, which is all any coach can ask of his players," he said. "On paper, South Hagerstown looked like a team that was 30 points better than we are. But we went in very well prepared and so highly organized with what we wanted to do. We just fell a couple points short.

"We knew that, to win the game, we needed to do an effective job boxing out and keep them from getting a lot of second shots; we had to play good transition defense and keep them from scoring off fast breaks; and run well offensively against their excellent press. We did all of those things,

Long Closes Husky Career As Sixth-Ranked Scorer; Moving On To GCC

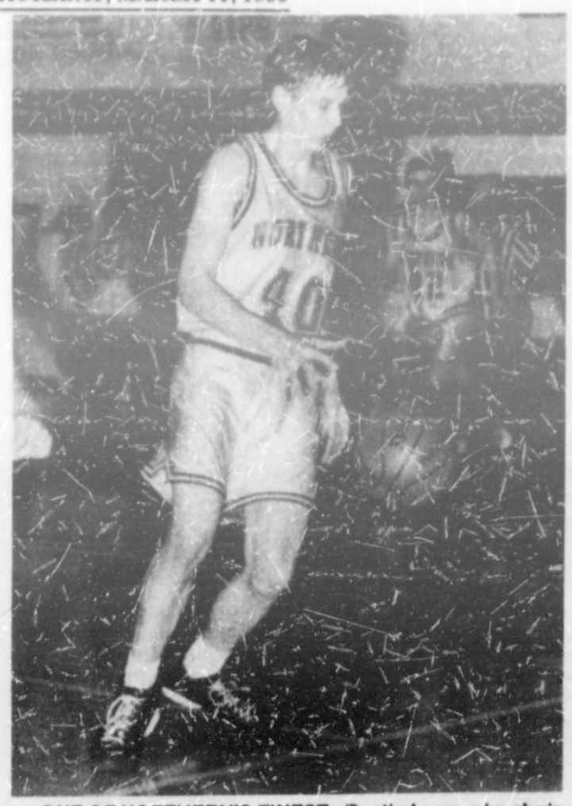
Northern High School's Dustin Long ended his high school playing days in sixth place on the school's all-time scoring list as he and his team were eliminated from the 1A Western Region playoffs by a tough South Hagerstown squad recently. The 6-3 175-lb. forward, whose above-the-rim style of play thrilled Husky fans all season long, will likely continue to display his talents for local fans next year as he takes to the court wearing the blue and white of the Garrett Community College Lakers.

Long's 1201 varsity career point total puts him just behind fifth-ranked NHS scorer Billy Bender, who amassed 1207 points over his career. His deft shooting touch garnered a 24.3 scoring average over the past season, leading all scorers in Garrett and Allegany counties, and a 21 point average over his varsity career, which began when he moved up from the junior varsity squad six games into his sophomore season.

"Dustin developed over the years to become our team leader," commented NHS head coach Mike Friend. "His work ethic set an example for the rest of the team, and he was quick to encourage his teammates too. He led us in a number of stats—scoring, field goal and free throw percentage, rebounding, and blocked shots—but what I found most indicative of his character was the fact that he led us in taking charges. That's the dirty work in basketball that no one wants to do. It shows how tough he is, and how much he wants to win.

"He's good to coach, self-motivated, and works hard—everything you want in a basketball player. He'll do well under coach Dennis Gibson's program at GCC."

"Dustin's somebody we want," Gibson concurred. "He plays hard, is aggressive and mentally tough, and jumps well. He'll make a fine small forward, we'll work on his outside jumper and ball handling, but we know he has the athletic ability and work ethic to succeed. Putting him inside with returning players Dexter Levi and Charles Summerfield will really help us out."



ONE OF NORTHERN'S FINEST - Dustin Long, a lynchpin for the Northern Huskies boys' varsity basketball squad for the past 2½ years, finished his high school career recently in sixth place on NHS's all-time scoring list. The Huskies' team captain, Long led his squad in a number of offensive and defensive categories this year, and his speed and 33-inch vertical leap helped him come from behind and cut down a number of fast breaks by unsuspecting opponents. Shown above in the Huskies' home gold and away blue uniforms, Long will be playing on, and above, the McHenry court of Garrett Community College next season.

Lakers' Beefed-Up Baseball Slate To Open This Friday

A young Garrett Community College baseball team will open its 1999 season tomorrow, weather permitting, when the Lakers are scheduled to play a single game at Montgomery Germantown, the first contest of an expanded 54-game schedule.

Coach Ed Wildesen, who is beginning his sixth season at the helm of the Lakers, will look to his six sophomores for leadership in trying to improve upon a 26-12 record from last year. Fifteen freshmen round out the roster.

Gone from last season's successful squad are: first baseman and pitcher Denny Rulli, who was offered a Division I spot at the University of North Carolina-Greensboro, but decided to play closer to home next fall; short stop/catcher Jason Davis, now playing at Division I Coastal Carolina; pitcher Mike Johnston, who was drafted and signed with the Pittsburgh Pirates after his freshman year at Garrett; Matt Stallings, a third baseman and pitcher who is now at Alice Lloyd College; catcher/first baseman Eric Harper, who is playing for Salem-Teikyo College in West Virginia; and Gene Sethman, outfielder and pitcher, who is on the roster at California (Pa.) University.

Of the newcomers to the Laker roster are three strong transfer students in Darnell Bratton, Brian Tarajack, and Jay Bruckey. The six sophomores are: Andy Blackwell, who is verbally committed to the University of Pittsburgh for next year; Matt DiAngelo, Mike Maravich, Chad Ord, Joe Eisner, and Lee Pennington.

Tarajack, who transferred from the University of Western Kentucky, is verbally committed to West Virginia University, while Bratten, who came from Penn State-Beaver Campus, is formerly one of the top American Legion players from Western Pennsylvania.

Top freshman include Gary Lee, referred to GCC

Rams' Hopes

but just missed getting the win."

The 54 points scored by the Rebels was a season low.

Bosley said that a victory would have put the Rams in a strong position to take the next step — win their semi-final game — and earn a spot in the state finals.

"Pikesville is the team that we would have met next, and they made it there by upsetting a couple teams that had their best players out because of injuries," he said. "Pikesville is, by far, the weakest of the four remaining teams. I'll be surprised if South Hagerstown doesn't handle them fairly easily this Friday."

The 21-year coach said that winning the state title on Saturday at the University of Maryland's Cole Field House would have been much more difficult than getting into the final game, however. "North Dorchester and Oakland Mills, one of which will be in the finals, are both outstanding teams. South will have their hands full against either one of them, if they defeat Pikesville first and make it into the championship game."

Bosley said that the 1998-99 team, which is dominated by seniors, is the finest team he has coached.

"Eleven of our 14 kids are honor students," he said. "One of them is ranked number one in the class (John Andrews), another one is ranked ninth, and the rest of them are in the top third. They used their intelligence all season long to make up for size and speed deficiencies, and they had just a great season. I'm really going to miss this group."

Andrews, Pamepinto, Paesani, Price, DiSimone, and Andrews will all be lost to graduation this spring; however, both the Southern junior varsity and freshman teams had excellent seasons this year, which should mean a continued bright future for the Rams.

"There are so many people I want to thank for helping us have such a super year," Bosley said. "They include all the merchants and businesses that support us in many ways; the student body and all our other fans, who really rallied behind us all year; the school administration and faculty for all of their support; the parents of our players, who saw to it that their kids were at practice and were able to participate in summer camps and leagues; and finally to the players themselves, especially our seniors, for their commitment and dedication to the team and to the sport, not just this year, but over the past several years."

The Rams concluded their season with an overall record of 20-4, which matched the school record number of victories.

PERFECTION AT PAR-MATT - Jeff Meyers strode to the line 12 times for the Underwood Landscaping Team during the March 3 competition of the Wednesday Civic Bowling League at Par-Matt Lanes, and he threw 12 consecutive strikes for a perfect 300 game. Bracketing his perfect game with game scores of 245 and 184, Meyers tallied a 729 on the night, which was not quite up to his record 812, the highest sanctioned set ever recorded at Par-Matt. Meyers is shown above accepting a check from Par-Matt's proprietor, Barb Smith, who pays $300 for each sanctioned game. It wasn't the first time Meyers put 12 X's together on a scorecard either, for he bowled a perfect 300 game once before in St. Clairesville, Ohio. No report of his body english techniques are available, but they are evidently very effective.

would like to extend our deepest appreciation to everyone who comforted us in any way after the tragic loss of our precious little angel. We are sincerely grateful for the love, prayers, cards, calls, monetary gifts, food, flowers, and all expressions of sympathy.

We offer a special thanks to: 911, Southern Garrett Rescue Squad, the Emergency Room Staff at Garrett Memorial Hospital, the PICU staff at Ruby in Morgantown and all those involved in the transport, Rev. Neil Parsons, Pastor Theodore Uphold, wife and congregation, the White United Methodist Church and community for the wonderful meal and hard work after the funeral, Durst Funeral Home, Art Beckman and family for the special gifts, Burger King, and all of our beloved family and friends.

Words seem inadequate to express our heartfelt gratitude; we serve an awesome God who has shared His great love and comfort through every kind deed shown us. We pray that God will bless each of you richly!

Rotary, Masonic Lodge, Civic Club Win Titles In League Tournament

(delayed one week)

The Service Club Basketball League ended its season with a flurry of activities on Saturday at Southern High School. The Championship Showdown began with American Legion winning the consolation championship in the Junior Division (5th and 6th grade boys) over Veterans of Foreign Wars, 30-24.

Darwin Bennett and Ryan Heselbach of VFW provided excellent defense to hold down American Legion's Cory Tressler (second leading scorer in the league, 176 points) to just two points. Heselbach chipped in with a season-high 16 points for VFW. Shane Latta picked up the slack for American Legion, scoring a season-high 10 points. Aaron Louden and Brian Yoder scored 4 points each and controlled the boards. Jason Wakefield and Joey Tressler led AL defensively. Darwin Bennett and Daniel Sgaggero shared 6 points, while T.J. Ravenscroft and Ryan Crosco excelled defensively for VFW.

In the championship game, Matthew Savage saved his best game for the most important game of the year, by scoring 14 points and dominating the inside, as Masonic Lodge upset Fraternal Order of Police, 30-27. In a tightly played contest, Matt Skidmore scored 6 points and Brad Reese netted 4 to help Masonic Lodge pull out the three-point victory. Tyler Livengood and Josh Lear excelled defensively for the Masons. Cory Bosley added 19 points to his league-leading total (217). Chad Everd and Nick Gregg shared 8 points. Chris Miller and Erik Brown contributed defensively and with rebounding. FOP was the regular season champions.

In the Girls' Division (5th-8th grade), regular season champs Catholic Daughters of America overcame the loss of the league's second leading scorer, Robbin Gregg (189 points), to defeat Business and Professional Women, 29-19, to win the consolation championship. Rising star Kendra McLaughlin and Nina Stoner led CDA with 10 and 9 points, respectively. Becca and Melissa Flanagan controlled the boards, while Nikki Reeves and Sharon Harvey supplied hustle and defense. For BPW, Casey Taylor scored 11 points and played excellent defense. Roxann Hoalcraft and Natalie Winter contributed with defense and rebounding. Kayla Nazelrod provided excellent ballhandling.

In the championship game, Justine Pagenhardt hit two clutch free throws with just 5 seconds left to give Oakland Women's Civic Club an exhilarating one-point victory over American Legion Women's Auxiliary, 26-25. Pagenhardt scored 13 points to lead OWCC. Melissa Durst and Amber Bernard played aggressive man-to-man defense and Jessica Sharon controlled the boards, plus chipped in with 8 points. Brittany Naylor had her best game of the year as she scored 15 points. Sabrina Scheffel and Ashley Friend combined to hold Pagenhardt under her league-leading 17 ppg average. Emily Cosner led Legion Auxiliary on the boards with rebounding and inside defense.

In the Senior Division (7th and 8th grade boys) consolation game, Joe Davis scored 16 points to lead Knights of Pythias over the Lions, 45-22. Johnathan Sypolt scored 9 points, but dominated the inside game with rebounding and defense. Ben Friend chipped in with 7 points. Brent Niner contributed on the boards and Cody Latta provided excellent team defense. Adam Miller led Lions with 9 points. Ronnie Coleman added 6 points. Brandon Louden played excellent defense and Bart Shaffer provided rebounding.

In the championship game, Nathan Fitzwater saved his best game of the year to help lead regular-season champ Rotary to a 39-31 victory over the Elks. League-leading scorer Dennis Tressler (249 points) was held to 11 points, but played a major role on defense and on the boards. Derek Steffan made two three-pointers and ended with 8 points. A.J Bender and Jay Tressler provided excellent team defense and ballhandling. For the Elks, Matthew Stephens scored 17 points and Brian Edwards chipped in with 6. Karl Hillen and Coy Ware provided the ball handling and perimeter defense.

The league championship games were followed by the annual pizza party sponsored by Coca-Cola and Pizza Hut. The celebration began with remarks by longtime successful Southern High boys' and girls' head basketball coach Don Stemple. His discussion on the values of the game were fol-lowed by comments by the Rams' current head boys' coach, Tom Bosley. His comments focused on commitment, discipline, and thankfulness.

POISED AT THE PRECIPICE - Mary Sutcliffe of Oakland is shown as she is about to push off from the starting gate for one of her slalom ski runs in the outdoor Winter Maryland Senior Olympics, held recently at Ski Roundtop in Pennsylvania. Sutcliffe's 77-second run set the Maryland state senior Olympic record in the giant slalom for women's age group 70-74, and she also won gold medals in the regular and novice slalom events. An inspiration to her peers (and her juniors), the record-setting senior has had both knees replaced. The indoor Maryland Senior Olympics will be held beginning today, March 11, and continuing through Saturday, March 13, at Towson State University. Any Maryland senior 50 and older who is interested in competing in the weekend's track and field and swimming events may register at Towson on the day of the event. Further information may be obtained by calling Community Action's Area Agency on Aging office at 301-334-9431.

Lakers'

by George Mason University, and Brian Melnyk, referred by WVU.

"We have typically played only 40 games in our regular schedule, so we are going to be a lot busier this season," Coach Wildesen said. "Plus, of the junior colleges on our schedule, nearly 40% are ranked preseason. This doesn't include games against junior varsity squads whose varsities are nationally ranked."

Wildesen said "time will tell" if this Laker team reaches its full potential. "We should be relatively balanced in all three facets of the game (pitching, defense, and hitting). I see a potentially slow start for us, given our limited time outside and the difficulty of our schedule. However, we certainly are more concerned with how we finish up than how we start. Our focus all season will be to improve each week."

A new feature at the GCC diamond this year is a 10-by-36-foot electronic scoreboard, complementing the other recent improvements at the field, including a warning track, lights, and a professionally manicured grass infield.

"I also want to comment on our academic progress," Wildesen said. "I've seen a stronger and stronger commitment from our players in the classroom over the years, and I see our program expecting more from our players academically. This makes it so much easier for them to move on to a four-year institution."

After Friday's opener with Montgomery Germantown, the Lakers will embark upon a rigorous spring-break, 11-game series up north. Their first home contest will not be until April 3 (see schedule).

State Makes Significant Progress On Nation's Reading Report Card

Maryland's 4th grade reading scores have increased significantly since 1994, according to the National Assessment of Educational Progress (NAEP). The state results, released this week, showed that Maryland is one of only 10 participating jurisdictions (of 43 total) to realize significant gains in 4th grade reading since the test was last administered four years ago.

Maryland's average score of 215 on a 500-point scale (up from 210 in 1994) matched the national average, and, in the mid-Atlantic region, the state's five-point gain trailed only Delaware's (6 points). NAEP is the only nationally representative and continuing assessment of what students in the United States know and can do in various academic subjects.

Maryland also saw a significant increase in the percentage of 4th grade students considered proficient or advanced in reading from 1992 (24 percent) to 1998 (29 percent) — one of only eight jurisdictions to do so. Proficiency is defined as full mastery of subject knowledge and the application of that knowledge; advanced is defined as superior academic performance.

"The progress we're seeing on NAEP is proof of what is possible when a state's policies, partnerships, resources, instruction, and teacher preparation are focused on reading," said State Superintendent of Schools Nancy S. Grasmick. "Because reading is fundamental to all other academic success, this is good news not only for reading but for scholastic achievement, in general."

Since 1994, the percentage of Maryland 4th graders performing below basic (partial mastery of the knowledge and skills necessary for proficiency) has dropped from 45 percent to 39 percent, while the percentage performing at or above basic has increased from 55 percent to 61 percent.

Both white and black 4th graders have experienced statistically significant reading gains since 1994; however, substantial performance differences remain between the two. White students' average score increased from 223 to 229 — black students', from 185 to 195. Seventy-six percent of white students performed at or above basic in 1998, compared with just 69 percent in 1994. And 38 percent of black students performed at or above basic last year, compared with 31 percent in 1994.

A comparable disparity in performance holds true for poor students and their non-poor peers. Sixty-three percent of 4th graders eligible for free and reduced-price meals performed below basic, compared with just 27 percent of their non-eligible peers.

"There is no doubt we're heading in the right direction, even among our lower performing populations," said Dr. Grasmick. "But we can't look at the disparity that remains and not admit that we still have a long way to go. The scores validate the State Board of Education's focus on raising the performance of African-American and at-risk students."

In recent months, the state has undertaken many initiatives intended to improve reading performance, especially among at-risk students. These include increasing targeted funding to poor schools; requiring additional reading coursework for teachers and teacher candidates; and establishing a partnership with Johns Hopkins University and the Kennedy Krieger Institute to use the latest brain research in developing reading programs.

On the 8th grade reading test, administered for the first time in 1998, Maryland's average score topped the nation's (Maryland, 262; U.S., 261) and exceeded by 4 points the mid-Atlantic average score. Seventy-two percent of Maryland's 8th graders performed at or above basic, and 31 percent reached the proficient or advanced levels.

The Maryland School Performance Assessment Program (MSPAP), first administered in 1993, is closely aligned with NAEP, which includes both multiple choice and open-ended questions. Dr. Grasmick attributes much of Maryland's success over the past four years to the improved instruction, higher expectations, and more rigorous standards brought about by MSPAP.

The NAEP reading test has been administered by the National Center for Education Statistics at the state level three times: in 1992 and 1994 in grade 4 and in 1998 in grades 4 and 8. Grade 12 reading results were reported this year at the national level only.

THAT EXTRA INGREDIENT

Every prescription written by your physician is a set of instructions to the pharmacist telling the exact amounts of the medicines he wishes you to have, the form they are to be in and the way they should be taken. It is our responsibility to carry out those instructions.

But, pharmacists always add an extra ingredient to every prescription. That is the special care in compounding it. We handle your prescription as if it was intended for a member of our own family, for you have entrusted us with your most precious possession...your health.

In the "old days" when soap and water weren't as plentiful and accessible, the bath was a weekly occurrence, usually on Saturday night in the old washtub. It erased the grime of the previous week, but that could only last for so long, for the rest of the week bathing was just "a lick and a promise."

As time passed, bathing has become more frequent and elegant. Tubs come in a variety of materials, sizes and styles. The bath has progressed from a weekly necessity to a daily experience, complete with scented candles, leaving one feeling tranquil and refreshed after an exhausting day.

Do we give the same attention to our spiritual cleansing? We may be cheating ourselves of that blissful tranquility provided by a refreshed spirit. Worship regularly in God's House, and visit Him in daily prayer. Your soul deserves more than "a lick and a promise."

These Firms invite you to a House of Worship each week

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

BY LAWRENCE W. ALTHOUSE

POINTING THE RIGHT WAY

March 14, 1999

Background Scripture:
John 1:19-42

Devotional Reading:
Ephesians 4:25 through 5:2

One of the finest Christian voices of the 20th century came from a land most of us cannot locate on a world map. The more familiar name of this teardrop-shaped island at the tip of India is Ceylon, but today it is known as Sri Lanka.

This Sri Lankan was known to the Christian world as D.T. Niles, a gifted speaker and evangelist who was selected to give the opening address at the historic Amsterdam meeting of the World Council of Churches. In 1951, his only book in English to that time was published, That They May Have Life, (Harper). It is a small book of only 120 pages, but it is the best book on the why and how of Christian witness I have ever read.

At one point he says: "Evangelism is witness. It is one beggar telling another beggar where to find food. The Christian does not offer out of his bounty. He has no bounty. He is simply guest at his Master's table and, as evangelist, he calls others too." Forget all the things you think you know about evangelism and begin with the idea that we are all 'beggars.' There are people in the church that seem naturally endowed to be preachers, teachers, and evangelists. But we don't have to be any of those to be involved in evangelism, for we are, like all human beings, beggars trying to find food.

BEING A CHRISTIAN

So, as a beggar who has found food at the Lord's Table, it is incumbent upon me to help other beggars find that food. I don't have to point to myself and say, "Look at what I am and what I know." What I need to do is simply tell other hungry souls where to find the same food to which someone else directed me. That is no less true for you. You, too, can at least point other beggars in the right direction. As Niles pouts it, "Evangelism is not a program, it is being a Christian."

The religious authorities were very concerned about John's credentials. Levites and priests were sent to him to ask, "Who are you?" John did not hesitate to confess "I am not the Christ" (1:19), "And they asked him, 'What then? Are you Elijah?' He said, 'I am not.' 'Are you the prophet?' And he answered, 'No.' They said to him then, 'Who are you?'" John was not willing to play their name games and said simply, "I am the voice of one crying in the wilderness, 'Make straight the way of the Lord.'"

Both friends and foes alike wanted to focus on John personally, but instead he determinedly pointed away from himself to the Christ: "...among you stands one whom you do not know...the thong of whose sandal I am not worthy to untie." Again and again they tried to focus on John, but each time he pointed to Jesus and said, "Behold, the Lamb of God, who takes away the sin of the world" (1:30). As a Christian that is our task, too—to point to Jesus and say, "Behold the Lamb of God!" (Not in those words, of course, because they are not meaningful to most of the fellow beggars we encounter.)

AN INVITATION

Niles says that "Evangelism is the proclamation of an event, it is also an invitation to an encounter—an encounter with the risen Christ." Many of us are "not merely prodigal from their Father's home but have actually forgotten the Father's address...It is our task to make the Father's address known, to be signposts directing travelers to the Father's presence..."

That's what John the Baptist did, he pointed people to an encounter with the Christ. When two disciples of John came to Jesus asking, "Rabbi...where are you staying?", he invited them to a personal encounter: "Come and see" (1:39). Then one of them, Andrew, found his brother Simon Peter, and made the same invitation to him. If they could point people in the right direction, so can we.

President Clinton Meets With Local AmeriCorps Group

Garrett and Allegany county AmeriCorps members were among President Clinton's guests at a recent meeting at Ritchie Coliseum in College Park. The event was the president's kick off of the AmeriCorps "Call for Service" recruitment campaign.

Jody Teets, an AmeriCorps member serving at Garrett County Community Action, and Allegany County member Ernie Poland had the additional honor of being selected to sit on the stage with the president, Gov. Parris Glendening, and Lt. Gov. Kathleen Kennedy Townsend.

Teets, who serves in the Emergency Services Department and in the Microworks office, described her response to her AmeriCorps service and the special event she attended. "AmeriCorps has given me a lot of opportunities that I normally would not have received. It was exciting to be chosen to sit on the stage with the president. Still today I can't believe I met him," she commented.

Virginia Fike, who serves in Community Action's Emergency Services Department, was also invited by the president to attend the meeting in College Park. "It was a day of excitement — a once in a life time event — to be invited to join the President of the United States," she said.

The local AmeriCorps branch, A STAR in Western Maryland, brings together members from both Garrett and Allegany counties. A STAR is headquartered at Frostburg State University.

The goals set by the Call to Service campaign include enrolling 50,000 AmeriCorps members in 1999 and 100,000 members per year by 2002. AmeriCorps members participate in the national service program in return for a stipend and an education grant.

To Learn About Careers In The "Great Outdoors"

When members of the junior classes at Northern and Southern high schools come to Garrett Community College for the annual Career Day April 16, among the sessions they will be able to choose will be three that focus on careers in the "great outdoors."

GCC's directors of the three signature programs — Adventure Sports, Agricultural Management, and Natural Resources and Wildlife Technology -- will discuss careers in their related fields. For students who prefer doing things outdoors to working in an office, these sessions will provide an opportunity to hear how they can "learn to earn a living doing what they love."

Mike Logsdon, director of the college's Adventure Sports program, will show a video and give information about employment opportunities in middle management positions with adventure sports businesses, in parks and recreational facilities, and in teaching adventure activities.

New careers in agriculture will be the focus of Willie Lantz's presentation, as he demonstrates forms of alternative agriculture students in the program can pursue. In addition to farm management and agribusiness, students will see how horticulture, raising goats and rabbits, and fish farming are possible career choices.

For students interested in environmental careers, Kevin Dodge, director of the Natural Resources and Wildlife Technology program, along with a representative from the Department of Natural Resources, will discuss employment possibilities in wildlife and fisheries management, soil conservation, water quality monitoring, environmental inspection, resource management, and parks and recreation.

In addition to the sessions focusing on careers in the outdoors, two other members of the GCC staff will conduct sessions at Career Day. Jim Davis, assistant professor of computer applications, will discuss careers in information technology and other computer-related areas, and Beth Doerr, GCC athletic trainer, will present career possibilities in training and sports medicine.

2. I understand that this election will allow the deferral of ½ of the County, State, and special taxes (when applicable) until January 1.
3. I understand that my second payment will incur a service charge reasonably equivalent to the anticipated lost interest income associated with the delay of the second installment and covering administrative expenses associated with the semi-annual payment not exceeding 10% of the charge of lost interest.
4. I understand that if I elect semi-annual payments, NO DISCOUNT will be granted on either payment.
5. I understand that ALL PRIOR YEAR TAXES must be paid in full by JUNE 1 to be eligible to make this election of semi-annual payments.

7. I understand that by failing to make payment of the first semi-annual amount by September 30, I am electing out of the semi-annual program.
8. I understand that once I elect semi-annual payments, it remains in effect until the property owner changes the election or transfers the property.
9. I understand that it is my responsibility if I have an escrow account that I must notify my mortgage company before May 1 of my wishes to pay on a semi-annual basis and that the County is not responsible for any conditions or costs that my lender may impose for its involvement in the semi-annual payment process.

Women's History Month Celebration Event Planned By New Horizons

An event titled "Women Putting Our Stamp on America," in observance of Women's History Month, will take place on Wednesday, March 24, at 1:30 p.m. in the auditorium of Garrett Community College. The event has been planned and will be facilitated by Barbara Frey, program director for New Horizons, New Dimensions, and The Caring Connection, Single Parent/Displaced Homemaker and Single Pregnant Women projects, sponsored by GCC.

According to Ms. Frey, the activity is being funded by a mini-grant from the Maryland state Department of Education through the Maryland Professional Development Center for Equity, Leadership, and Advocacy, based at Hagerstown Community College.

The program will begin with a 14-minute video produced by the United States Postal Service titled "Women on Stamps," featuring postage stamps honoring women. This will be followed by 14 participants showcasing some of the women who have "put their stamp on America" by their endeavors and how they have been memorialized on a U.S. postage stamp. Historical conversations by characters from the late 1700s through the 1900s will highlight the performance.

The program, which is free and is open to the public, will last for approximately 1½ hours. Because of limited seating, persons interested in attending must call 301-387-3071 to confirm their attendance.

The event is listed on the schedule of co-curricular activities open to students attending Garrett Community College.

The New Horizons Program is jointly funded by the Maryland state Department of Education and Garrett Community College. Grant funds in the amount of $45,000 are made available to the program through Career Technology and Adult Learning, which is 90% of the total program budget, with Garrett Community College contributing an additional $5,200, which is 10% of the total budget for New Horizons. The New Dimensions Program is 100% funded by the Department of Human Resources, Community Services Administration, Women's Services Division, in the amount of $14,998. The Caring Connection program is 100% funded by the Maryland State Department of Education, Career Technology and Adult Learning.

GCC Sets Follow-Up Computer Class For Senior Citizens

A course titled Basic Computer Skills for Seniors Level II, designed to provide students with an introduction to Windows and accessing the Internet, has been scheduled by Garrett Community College in response to the success of the Computer Skills for Seniors Level I class.

The 12-hour Level II class will be offered at the Oakland National Guard Armory beginning Friday, March 19, meeting from 9 a.m. to 12:15 p.m. over four consecutive Fridays.

Graduates of the Level I course may now register for Level II. Those who missed Level I may sign up for a new Level I class, which will begin at GCC's Oakland Center on Friday, April 16.

Registration for both of these courses may be made at the Oakland Center of GCC, and for further information interested persons may contact Patricia Baer of GCC at 301-334-8304.

Several Students Complete Career Planning Class

The New Horizons/New Dimensions programs of Garrett Community College recently completed the first in the spring series of a five-week, 10-session Career Planning class taught by Mary Kirkland, intake/counselor specialist with the New Horizons Program of GCC. The class included learning about job hunt strategies, getting to know oneself, what self-esteem means to a non-traditional student returning to classes or to the work world, ways to build self-esteem, what stress is and how to handle it, combining working with family obligations, time and budget management, résumé writing, and job interview techniques.

Several interest tests were administered to participants to determine their career interests. These tests included the Career Assessment Inventory (CAI), the Holland Code Self-Directed Search, and the GATB (General Aptitude Test Battery).

The recent group of students enrolled in the class included: Elisha Buckingham, Sharyn Burch, Christai Friend, Mary Garrett, Kathy Hamilton, Holly Huxford, Brandy Poling, Cynthia Sisler, Carita Thomas, and Susan Watson.

Anyone interested in enrolling in a career planning class should call New Horizons weekdays from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. at 301-387-3071 or 387-3102 for complete information. "The class is a great beginning for a support group and has proven beneficial for re-entry individuals to make career decisions and to enter training in their areas of interest," stated Barbara Frey, program director for New Horizons and New Dimensions.

The New Horizons Program is jointly funded by the Maryland State Department of Education and Garrett Community College. Grant funds in the amount of $45,000 are made available to the program through Career Technology and Adult Learning, which is 90% of the total program budget, with Garrett Community College contributing an additional $5,200, which is 10% of the total budget for New Horizons. A chartered bus trip to Pittsburgh to attend the Good Friday Healing and Communion Service with Benny Hinn is planned on April 2.

Sponsored by the Sang Run Christian Center, the bus seats will be filled on a first-come, first-served basis.

"Riding the bus guarantees us a seat at the Pittsburgh Civic Arena," said Pastor Joe Spiker. "The bus seats 47 people comfortably and the cost is $20 per person."

The bus will depart from the McHenry fire hall on Friday, April 2, at 11 a.m., and will return the same night. Other pick-up spots include the Friendsville fire hall and one in Morgantown, W.Va.

Payment in advance is requested and checks may be made payable to: Sang Run Christian Center, P.O. Box 505, McHenry, MD 21541. Interested persons may call the Rev. Spiker at 301-387-6141, or fax a message to 301-387-9632.

NOTICE

TO ALL PROPERTY TAX PAYERS OF DEER PARK

Pursuant to Tax-Property Article 10-204.3 of the Annotated Code of Maryland counties and municipal corporations are required to notify taxpayers of the availability of the semi-annual property tax payment option for owner-occupied residential property that is the principal residence of a homeowner.

If a taxpayer elects to make semi-annual property tax payments, ½ of the municipal taxes will be deferred until January 1. The second payment, due January 1, will incur a service charge reasonably equivalent to the anticipated lost interest income associated with the delay in the payment of the second installment and covering administrative expenses associated with the semi-annual payment not exceeding 10% of the charge of the lost interest.

To be eligible to make this election of semi-annual payment, all previous year taxes must be paid in full by June 1. Taypayers not making their first semi-annual payment by September 30 are automatically waived out of the semi-annual plan and must pay the full tax bill.

Selection of payment schedule for property taxes may be made upon receipt of tax bill. If taxpayer wishes to pay in full, he must choose the appropriate coupon and return it with the proper payment. If the taxpayer wishes to participate in the semi-annual payment option, the appropriate coupon should be returned with the payment before the September 30 deadline.

It is the responsibility of the taxpayers to notify their mortgage company of their wishes to pay on a semi-annual basis if they have an escrow account. The town is not responsible for any involvement in the semi-annual payment process.

Whatever payment plan the taxpayer elects shall remain in effect until the taxpayer decides to change it.

The name is Payne. Royal Payne.

John Larroquette's latest character lives up to his name in Payne, a comedy premiering Monday, March 15, on CBS. The show moves to its permanent home on Wednesdays beginning March 17.

Payne is based on the 20-year-old British farce Fawlty Towers, starring John Cleese as belligerent, put-upon (and very funny) innkeeper Basil Fawlty, inhospitably disdainful, it seemed, of all staff – and guests. Prunella Scales played Basil's wife, Sybil, the much-maligned power behind the throne. Payne casts Larroquette in the Cleese role and JoBeth Williams as Payne's wife, Connie.

John Larroquette

Rick Batalla co-stars as the Paynes' waiter-bellman-valet, Mo, imitating the Fawltys' Spanish bellman, Manuel (Andrew Sachs), cringe for cringe. Mo's country of origin, in a bow to political correctness, is not defined. The Paynes' maid, Breeze O'Rourke (Julie Benz), is a spineless wonder who is no match for the acid-tongued Royal, unlike the Fawltys' maid, Polly (Connie Booth).

Payne isn't the first time Hollywood has tried to scale Fawlty heights. An adaptation starring Harvey Korman never passed the pilot stage, and Amanda's, a distaff incarnation with Bea Arthur, folded in three months.

Though Larroquette and company hope the third time is the charm, this latest hommage seems halfhearted. Every show needs its own motivation – something the members of this creative team haven't come to grips with. They're still looking over their shoulders at Basil Fawlty.

With the exception of Batalla's Mo, the performances in the first two episodes are restrained and uninspired, as the actors insist on their dignity at the expense of physical humor and character definition.

Cleese spotted the problem when he read the first script as a favor to the producers. "His only real note," producer John Peaslee recalls, "was, 'You're not taking enough time to set up the farce.' And we said, 'John, you had an extra seven minutes that we just don't have.' "

As Mrs. Payne, Williams' reluctance to plunge in speaks volumes. Looking at her 1970s British counterpart, she saw only a battle-ax. ""I said, 'If I do this, I want to create a very different kind of character from the woman Prunella Scales (played),' " she says.

In doing so, Williams misses the quiet core of a woman who could run the hotel better as a solo act but keeps her incorrigible husband around anyway. The most interesting thing to say about Connie Payne is that she's glamorous.

British comedies can be adapted and succeed on this side of the Atlantic; All in the Family and Sanford and Son are two examples. But the people who produce them must believe in them, or no one else will.

It would be terrific to see a well-done American Fawlty Towers. And if the frenetic pace of first-rate farce were a drain on the cast's energy, the producers could guarantee CBS a set number of superior episodes for a limited run each year. That's one British notion that is definitely overdue on U.S. TV.

Cleopatra's Palace special makes history

By Cynthia Werthamer
©TVData Features Syndicate

An archaeological first is combined with a television first in Discovery Channel's Cleopatra's Palace: In Search of a Legend, airing Sunday, March 14.

Finding the palace of the legendary Egyptian queen who ruled more than 2,000 years ago in Alexandria has been the passion of French underwater explorer Franck Goddio. Before our eyes, Goddio's international team of divers and experts uncovers artifacts that haven't been seen by humans in nearly two millennia.

Viewers in the 142 countries where the special is airing will be able to see its awe-inspiring discoveries on the same day.

The event marks the first time in Discovery Channel's history, and perhaps the first time ever, that such a program will have a prime-time premiere around the world on the same date.

Cleopatra's Palace is the centerpiece of Discovery's "Watch With the World" initiative, which includes complementary programming airing during the week before the broadcast on the Travel, Discovery Science and Discovery Civilization channels.

"We chose this as the first worldwide broadcast because it is a big event for Discovery," says Maurice Paleau, executive producer of Cleopatra's Palace.

Narrated by Alexandria-born screen legend Omar Sharif, the program explains the state-of-the-art methods Goddio and others used to pinpoint the ancient dwellings destroyed by earthquakes and covered by tidal waves.

Their destruction meant looking for "a massive underwater jigsaw puzzle," as Sharif puts it.

Goddio spent years researching with sonic resonance and a global positioning satellite, which resulted in the creation of a map of the underwater city. Between this high-tech research and ancient writings describing its layout, the underwater city was so well-documented that it was "hidden in plain sight" in a square-mile area of harbor, Goddio says.

Divers had no way of knowing whether they would uncover treasures or rocks once they reached the objects covered by centuries of silt and hardened grime.

Their discoveries are remarkable. Jewelry in pristine condition is recovered from a ship wrecked around the time of the great queen. One gold braided ring bearing the seal of a bird is so dazzling in the underwater gloom, it's as if we're uncovering it ourselves.

A poignant statue of a priest holding a holy vessel indicates a private chapel for the cult of the goddess Isis, whom Cleopatra worshipped. Cleopatra herself may have prayed there. It's chilling to realize those in Goddio's crew – and by extension, we viewers – are seeing these buried treasures for the first time in 1,500 years.

"The thing that's extraordinary is the state of the ruins is very, very good," says Emily Teeter, a noted Egyptologist from the University of Chicago who is featured in the documentary.

Modern society's entire idea of Cleopatra – her world, her famous conquests, both strategic and amorous – was "primarily legendary until Goddio's work," Teeter says. "Now we can really begin to work with the archaeology, rather than just the legends of the city and the woman."

Goddio's divers use a new method of silicon sheeting to lift hieroglyphs and other messages off massive underwater tablets, which otherwise remain undisturbed.

Environmentally conscious viewers also will be reassured to learn that the magnificent statues, once raised to the ship for examination, are returned to their underwater beds. The Egyptian government will determine their ultimate fate. Goddio says he hopes one day to see an underwater museum where visitors may look through glass windows and see archaeologists at work, rather than dolphins at play.

"We finally have a reconciliation of the myth and the reality of Cleopatra," Paleau says. "She is such a figure of legend, and we have found her palace. It's extraordinary."

Q: Is Catherine Hicks (7th Heaven) married to Michael E. Knight (All My Children)? –M.E. via e-mail.

A: No, but your confusion is understandable. Knight is married to actress Catherine Hickland (One Life to Live). Hicks is married to makeup designer Kevin Yagher (Face/Off).

Q: My husband and I enjoy Jackie Chan movies. I say the lip movements of most of the actors don't match the dialogue because they are dubbed by other, English-speaking actors. My husband insists that the original actors can speak perfectly good English and the producer runs the film a little faster to achieve a "signature" kind of effect. Who is right? –Dianna K., APO address.

A: You are correct, Dianna.

Q: In what soap did Ethan Wayne once work? And in John Wayne's movie Big Jake, what part did veteran actor John Agar play? I have watched the movie 20 times and I can't recognize him. –Skip Freeman, New Bern, N.C.

A: Ethan Wayne, who played "Little Jake" in Big Jake, originated the role of Stephen "Storm" Logan Jr. in The Bold and the Beautiful in 1987 and has returned to play the role intermittently over the years. Next time you watch Big Jake, watch for Agar as a character named Bert Ryan.

Q: I have been watching reruns of The Dukes of Hazzard. Why did two actors playing Coy and Vance suddenly replace John Schneider and Tom Wopat for a while? –W. Mayer via e-mail.

A: In the spring of 1982, Schneider and Wopat walked off the show in a contract dispute. Byron Cherry and Christopher Mayer were hired to fill in as Bo and Duke's cousins the following fall. Viewers were not pleased, and Schneider and Wopat returned in February 1983 after a settlement was reached.

Q: The guy who plays Del in Caroline in the City looks remarkably like Matt Lauer on Today. Are they brothers? I notice there is a Lauer in the cast. –D. Holland, San Francisco.

A: No. Eric Lutes, who plays Del, isn't related to Today cohost Lauer. Neither is Andy Lauer, who plays the dimwitted Charlie on the sitcom.

Q: Whatever happened to Debbie Matenopoulos of The View? I missed the show for a week or two, then she was gone. –M. Hays via e-mail.

A: The official story is that Matenopoulos wants to try other things, such as acting. The persistent rumor, however, is that producers decided that her often ditsy attitude, mercilessly lampooned on comedy shows, just didn't fit the show's mix.

Governor Says Senior Programs To Be Enhanced

During his remarks to more than 500 senior adults who had gathered for a legislative rally in Annapolis last week, Governor Parris Glendening announced his intent to increase the funding for senior programs that provide vital services for frail and vulnerable elderly. He said an additional $1 million will be added to the funding for these programs.

This money will increase the availability of services through the state's Senior Care, Long Term Care Ombudsman, Guardianship, and Health Insurance Counseling and Advocacy programs.

"Our seniors deserve this level of commitment," Glendening said.

Maryland's Senior Care Program funds services for frail seniors, age 65 years and older, who may be at risk of nursing home placement. The governor reported that 7,000 frail elderly persons received case management or in-home services last year at a fraction of the cost of institutional care. The additional funding would allow more family caregivers and their aging relatives to receive assistance in helping seniors stay in their own homes and communities, he said.

The Long Term Care Ombudsman, Guardianship, and Health Insurance Counseling and Advocacy programs are targeted to vulnerable older adults. The governor said nearly 15,000 consumer contacts with these programs required staff assistance in the areas of complaint investigation, mediation and resolution, health insurance claims, long term care policies, information requests, and educational outreach.

Emergency Funds Are Available

Garrett County Community Action Committee Inc.'s Community & Emergency Services has funding for heating emergencies and terminations. Beginning this year the applicant must complete an application that will include financial budget counseling, and the applicant must provide proof of household (gross) income for the past 30 days.

For further information, persons may call 301-334-9431, ext. 114.

Thousands Use Internet To File Maryland Taxes

Electronic filing of Maryland income tax returns is on its way to another record year, according to Maryland State Comptroller William Donald Schaefer, who said his office had received 184,562 electronic returns by March 1 — 27% ahead of last year at this time. The state received a total of 222,000 electronic returns last year.

"This year, for the first time, taxpayers can file electronically from their home computers as well as using professional tax preparers," Schaefer said, noting that more than 8,300 taxpayers have already filed using their home PCs.

One key reason for using electronic filing is that it speeds refunds to taxpayers. When combined with direct deposit, electronic filing can have a Maryland income tax refund in the taxpayer's bank account in a couple of days and a federal refund in less than half the normal time.

Baltimore City and Prince George's County are the top two e-filing subdivisions to date, with 24% and 18% of all electronic filings, respectively.

"If you choose to file electronically from your home computer, you can have easy access to the software. You'll find links to all of the approved software providers when you visit our website at www.marylandtaxes.com," Schaefer said at a March 2 news conference.

The comptroller's office has received nearly 670,000 Maryland state and local income tax returns, 15% more than at this time last year. The office has issued 470,936 refunds so far, totaling $185 million. Of those refunds, 177,065 totaling nearly $110 million are going to electronic filers.

The average refund due electronic filers is $620, compared with $521 for a paper return. "Obviously, taxpayers with larger refunds are choosing the speed of electronic filing," Schaefer said.

Nearly 75% of Maryland's 2.25 million income tax returns generate refunds. Nearly 50 percent of Maryland taxpayers use a professional tax preparer to complete their income tax returns.

Schaefer noted that electronic filing can also benefit those who owe additional taxes since they receive an acknowledgment that their return was accepted and the assurance that the amount they owe is accurate, eliminating the fear that a mistake will result in additional tax, penalty and interest charges after April 15. "You can file electronically now and wait until April 15 to pay," the comptroller said. Nearly 7,000 taxpayers have taken advantage of this option so far and will submit their payment with a voucher (Form 502PV) provided by the tax preparer or software provider.

In addition to convenience — enhanced this year by the new, online feature for home computers — electronic filing is virtually error-free. Mistakes are usually corrected before the return is filed — avoiding delays in the processing of refunds and fewer tax forms being returned for corrections.

"Less than one percent of all federal tax returns filed electronically show errors, compared to 20% of paper returns," said Karen Mayr, electronic filing coordinator for the IRS.

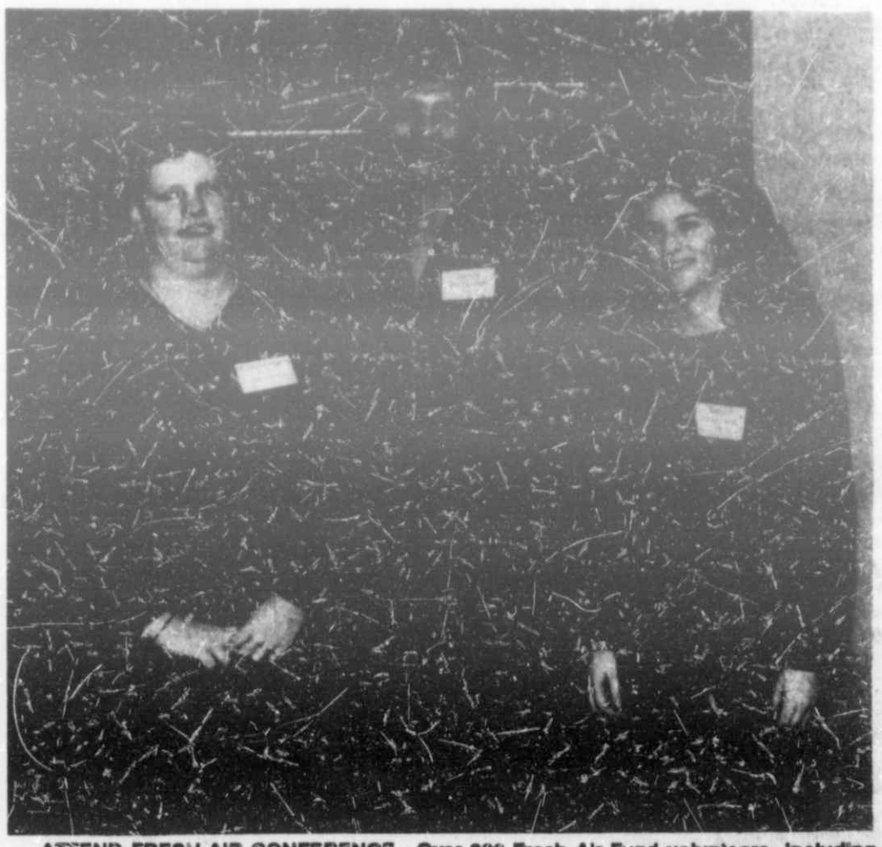
"You not only get your federal and state refunds faster through electronic filing, but the preparation is faster. People are finding that e-mailing cuts the amount of the time spent on taxes by up to 50%," said John Folderauer, Baltimore District Tax Aide coordinator of AARP.

Aside from linking to electronic filing software, taxpayers can also download state tax forms and information from the comptroller's website www.marylandtaxes.com any time, 24 hours a day, seven days a week. State tax questions can be sent by e-mail to the comptroller's taxpayer service section at taxhelp@comp.state.md.us. Forms are also available through the Forms-by-Fax system at 410-974-3299, as well as in local libraries, many post offices, and in the comptroller's 20 taxpayer service offices.

Taxpayers can get free state tax help over the phone, Monday through Friday, from 8:30 a.m. until 11 p.m. by calling 410-260-7980 in central Maryland or 1-800-MD TAXES from elsewhere.

Free in-person state tax help is also available at the comptroller's taxpayer service offices Monday through Friday, from 8 a.m. until 5 p.m. The addresses and telephone numbers are listed on the back of the Maryland tax booklet and in most local phone directories.

IRS assistance is available 24 hours per day at 1-800-829-1040, at the IRS website at www.irs.ustreas.gov, and at any IRS walk-in facility in Maryland.



ATTEND FRESH AIR CONFERENCE - Over 200 Fresh Air Fund volunteers, including two from the local area, recently attended the organization's annual Friendly Town conference in New York City. Each summer, nearly 6,000 disadvantaged children, ages 6-18, enjoy free, two-week vacations with volunteer host families in suburban and rural communities. Local Fresh Air Fund volunteers recruit and interview host families, check references, and coordinate the Friendly Town program throughout 13 northeastern states, from Maine to Virginia, and in Ontario, Canada. In the photo above, from left, are: Michelle Harris, the Western Maryland Fund representative; Wendy Armstrong, Cumberland chairperson; and Miriam Seidenfeld, director of the Career Awareness Program for the Fresh Air Fund. The independent, non-profit agency has provided free summer vacations to more than 1.6 million disadvantaged New York City children since 1877. Local families interested in hosting may contact the Fresh Air Fund at 1-800-367-0003 or Michelle Harris at 301-759-4757.

Our Message

The Bible says... "These things have I written unto you that believe on the name of the Son of God; that ye may know that ye have eternal life,..." (I John 5:13).

God wants us to know that we can go to Heaven, but we must do it God's way. First, we are all sinners. "For all have sinned, and come short of the glory of God;" (Romans 3:23).

Because of our sin we are under the penalty for sin. "For the wages of sin is death..." (Romans 6:23). This penalty means eternal separation from God in an eternal Hell. However, God does not want anyone to go to Hell so He sent His only Son to die and pay the penalty for our sins. "But God commendeth his love toward us, in that, while we were yet sinners, Christ died for us." (Romans 5:8)

God's love is so great that He made a way for our sins to be forgiven. He offers His forgiveness and salvation freely, "...the gift of God is eternal life through Jesus Christ our Lord." (Romans 6:23).

God offers Heaven as a Gift, purchased with His blood on the cross. But like all gifts, it is not yours until you receive it. Here is how you can receive Christ. "That if thou shalt confess with thy mouth the Lord Jesus, and shalt believe in thine heart that God hath raised him from the dead, thou shalt be saved." (Romans 10:9). You must believe in your heart and call on the Lord to save you. "For whosoever shall call upon the name of the Lord shall be saved." (Romans 10:13).

Will you at this moment call on the Lord Jesus. If you will, then pray this simple prayer: "I realize I am a sinner. I know I need the Lord Jesus Christ. I believe that He died on the cross and rose again for me. I sincerely receive Him right now by faith as my Lord and Savior. I take the gift of God which is eternal life in Jesus Christ the Lord. Amen."

If you sincerely prayed this prayer, please visit, call, or write us at the address below. We would like to share with you some literature that can help you grow in your new life in Christ.

Allegheny Energy Notes Progress In Y2K Readiness

Allegheny Energy Inc. reports that it is "committed" to Y2K readiness and is working toward "a smooth and successful transition into the next century." The company has been actively addressing potential Y2K concerns in various areas of the business for the past several years, according to a company spokesperson.

Kenneth M. Jones, vice president and chairman of the Y2K Project, said, "Allegheny Energy is very much aware of the critical importance and complexity of the Year 2000 issues, and has made our readiness a top priority.

"We clearly understand our customers' concerns about reliability of our services and operations in the year 2000, and we recognize our role in working to achieve a successful outcome," he added. "The company is accomplishing this through the Y2K Corporate Project Team, made up of employees from all areas of the company, who are coordinating readiness and contingency efforts for our critical systems."

Jones says Allegheny Energy has committed "both money and manpower" to this project and plans to spend $15 million to $20 million, with more than 500 employees involved at the project's peak. About $9 million of that amount has already been spent in 1998 on the Y2K initiative.

By June 30, 1999, plans call for all systems that directly affect production or safety to be ready for operation in the year 2000. While the majority of the assessment and remediation work should be completed by the end of March, testing and additional contingency planning will continue through the year 2000. Contingency plans will be developed for all critical systems and continually updated throughout the year, Jones explained.

Additional measures include a Y2K drill, scheduled for April, which will enable the company to further evaluate its readiness. The drill, coordinated by the North American Electric Reliability Council, is primarily a test of the ability of regional utilities to function and communicate effectively under less-than-normal conditions. As an added precaution, Allegheny Energy has already initiated plans for increased staffing in critical areas for New Year's Eve 1999.

"Throughout the remainder of 1999, Allegheny will be working to regularly inform customers, communities, vendors, and business partners of our plans and progress," Jones said.

Allegheny is also working with various industry groups — including industry trade associations and reliability councils — to capitalize on industry-wide experiences and participate in broad industry testing and contingency planning. The North American Electric Reliability Council issues a quarterly report to the Department of Energy on the industry's Y2K status. The latest report, released Jan. 11, 1999, stated, "With more than 44 percent of mission-critical components tested through Nov. 30, 1998, findings continue to indicate that transition through critical Year 2000 (Y2K) rollover dates is expected to have minimal impact on electric system operations in North America."

Headquartered near Hagerstown, Allegheny Energy Inc., with public utility subsidiaries doing business as Allegheny Power, provides electric service to approximately three million people in parts of Maryland, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Virginia, and West Virginia.

Antiques

Canadian country furniture was made by workmen who came from France or England. The furniture was made to resemble pieces from the "old country."

French Canadian country furniture is unique. One unusual style is known as the "Ile d'Orleans chair." Such chairs were common in the lower St. Lawrence River region.

The seat on an Ile d'Orleans chair is a flat piece of wood. The back resembles an empty picture frame. The legs usually had stretchers that were turned, resembling other chairs of the era.

Examples of Ile d'Orleans chairs that were made in the late 17th century can be found in some museums today. The style was out of fashion by the late 1700s.

Q. I have a string of small bells to which is attached a little booklet titled "Bells of Sarna." How old are the bells? Is Sarna a person?

A. Sajjan Singh Sarna was a bell-marketing genius. Sarna was born in India about 100 years ago. He immigrated to the United States when he was a young man but returned to India in the 1930s to buy a supply of Indian bells. He returned to the States and started selling single bells and sets of bells.

He sold the bells with booklets that named the different bells and explained how they were used in India. Sarna later acknowledged that he invented many of the bells' names.

Millions of Sarna bells were sold, so their prices are not high. A string of small Sarna bells sells for $10 to $20.

EASY FROSTING – My neighbor came to have coffee this afternoon. I had baked rolled-out cookies and I was frosting them. She was so shocked to see me frost them with canned cake frosting. It works great and if I want more color, I add a few drops of food coloring, any color I want, to the white frosting. She thought that was a wonderful, easy thing she had never thought of. She is going to pass it on to her friends. Elizabeth C., Texarkana, Ark.

NO WASTE – I have very dry skin and so use a lot of hand and body lotion. It seems that the stem of the pump is never long enough to dispense all of the lotion in the bottle and it's time-consuming and aggravating to remove the pump and try to pour out the lotion with slippery hands.

Now when I reach that point, I "stash" the bottle until I've collected several. Then, I remove all the pumps, saving only one. I cut the bottles in half and, using a funnel, empty the lotion into the one remaining whole bottle. I then have a "new" bottle of lotion. At almost $8 a bottle, I believe I've saved a tidy sum. PAUL GAUGUIN: IMPRESSIONS OF TAHITI

Paul Gauguin spent his early years living with his mother's wealthy, aristocratic family in Lima, Peru. According to April's Biography magazine, he believed his Spanish relatives had intermarried with the Incas, giving him "savage" blood. He later got a job as a stockbroker in Paris and quickly became prosperous. At 25, he wed a wealthy young Danish woman, Mette, and had five children. He collected Impressionist paintings, befriending the painters. When the 1882 stock market crash cost him his job, he decided to become an artist. His less-than-thrilled wife returned to Denmark with the children.

At first, Gauguin was unsuccessful. When his art finally began to sell, he resolved to go to French Tahiti to recapture his exotic, "savage" childhood. Ever the businessman, he obtained a French government grant to study and paint the natives. When he arrived, he discovered Western diseases had decimated the native population. Missionaries had destroyed the island's temples and forbidden indigenous rituals. He escaped the capital, moved to a tiny village and bought a 13-year-old "bride." Although they were happy, he abandoned her and his child when he returned to France with 80 paintings.

Although Gauguin's paintings sold, recognition and money were short. He broke his ankle in a barroom brawl. Due to syphilis, it never properly healed. Sulking, he returned to Tahiti where his former "wife" wanted nothing to do with him. He found another prepubescent who lived with him despite his advancing syphilitic sores. He drank heavily and took morphine for his ankle pain. He attempted suicide, but took too much arsenic, threw up and lived.

In desperation, Gauguin moved to the remote Marquesas Islands where he wed another schoolgirl and continued to paint. In 1903, he died of syphilis, alone, at 55. Although Gauguin failed to find paradise, he left a legacy as the most daring of the Post-Impressionist painters.

State, County Jobless Rates Up In January

Seasonal layoffs lowered employment in January, increasing the number of unemployed to 113,614 and pushing the unemployment rate up from 3.5 percent in December to 4.1 percent in January. Garrett County's jobless rate also jumped from 10.5 percent in December to 12.7 percent in January, but it was well below the January 1998 rate of 16.7 percent.

"Although the seasonal decline in employment took place, it is encouraging news that a record number of Marylanders were employed during January," said John P. O'Connor, secretary of the Maryland Department of Labor, Licensing, and Regulation. "Additionally, we remain positive that job growth will continue to reflect the strength of the state's economy."

The upturn in Maryland's unemployment rate was consistent with the national movement, which showed unemployment rising by nearly a full percentage point from 4.0 percent to 4.8 percent.

Declining employment is the norm for January, with post-holiday reductions, weather-related layoffs, and semester break activity contributing to overall downsizing. During January, the number of employed fell by nearly 29,400 people to 2,661,583. Even with this decline, January's employment level represented the highest on record for the month. The withdrawal of workers from the job market offset this decline somewhat, holding down January's unemployment increase to 16,377 people. In January 1998, more than 148,250 people, or 5.5 percent of the labor force, were unemployed.

Following seasonal adjustment, Maryland's unemployment rate dropped slightly from 3.9 percent to 3.7 percent.

Seasonal employment declines were scattered throughout Maryland's industrial payrolls during January, lowering job counts in both the private and public sectors. In retail trade, post-holiday layoffs of temporary workers reduced employment levels in general merchandise and apparel stores. With holiday functions over, food stores and restaurants also cut their worker rolls. Services, particularly agricultural, amusements, and business services, also reported fewer workers in January while in construction, temporary layoffs diminished employment levels. In the public sector, the downturn, both state and local government was effected by semester break activity at area colleges and universities.

Maryland Cited For Exempting Poor From Taxes

Citing a report by the Center on Budget and Policy Priorities showing Maryland with the eighth lowest state income tax burden in the nation for poor working families, Governor Parris N. Glendening this week praised state lawmakers and advocates for the poor for working together to reduce the tax impact and improve the quality of life for Maryland's low-income families.

"Families that are working hard to provide minimal support for their children and other loved ones benefit tremendously from this relief from the burden of income taxes," said Governor Glendening. "By encouraging these citizens to obtain jobs, assisting them with child care, housing and transportation costs, and also significantly reducing or eliminating their state income taxes, the working poor are living better quality lives and have a greatly increased chance of pulling themselves out of poverty."

The report lists Maryland along with Kansas and Massachusetts as the three states that since 1996 have offered tax refunds to families whose incomes already are below the minimum taxable level in Maryland, a two-parent family of four pays no taxes on income below $24,300 and can receive a "refund" of state income taxes if their annual income is $16,655 or lower.

"With so many Marylanders doing well financially, it is hard to imagine the difference a small return means for struggling families," Glendening said. "Yet an unexpected check in the mail for $250 or $300 is an extra week's pay for a family making $16,000 per year."

"Our poorest citizens must struggle with numerous needs in addition to or complicated by poverty and this is one way we can offer them additional support," said State Senator Barbara Hoffman, chair of the Senate Budget and Taxation Committee. "Working with Governor Glendening, we have been able to show how a few extra dollars each payday can make a difference in the quality of life of a family already living at or near the poverty line. This is a vital part of our overall initiative to help low-income families live better."

The report found that despite reductions in welfare caseloads because of welfare-to-work efforts in most states, the families who leave welfare seldom make enough money to climb out of poverty. Since 1995, Maryland has helped 131,832 people, or 57%, shift from welfare to jobs and independence, using a supportive, non-punitive approach. In addition, Maryland is reinvesting all of its $50 million in savings from declining welfare rolls into programs to support children and families in areas such as job training and child care, and to serve those still on welfare because they have greater barriers to employment.

"Maryland is once again taking the lead nationally," said Delegate Sheila E. Hixon, chair of the House Ways and Means Committee. "Tax relief for the working poor benefits the entire state by rewarding productivity instead of penalizing it."

In addition, programs targeting teen pregnancy have helped produce a 12-percent drop in the birth rate among teens, a frequent case of poverty among children. And the Governor's Task Force on Children, Youth, and Families Systems Reform developed a results-based human services system that holds state and local agencies accountable for their performance in meeting local needs of children and families.

"As supportive as our income tax policies are in helping low-income families cope with the daily cost of living, we must do much more," added Governor Glendening. "That is why our emphasis on improving education and increasing employment opportunities is so vital to the future of all Marylanders."

By contrast with Maryland's tax policies, the report notes: "Six of the 15 states that enacted the largest personal income tax cuts in recent years still have income tax thresholds below the poverty line."

Zion Lutheran Church Marks Nine Decades Of Ministry In Jennings

by Leota Baker

Anniversary Celebration

As the toll of the bell at Zion Lutheran Church chimed out across the countryside of Jennings on February 18, 1999, members and friends of the congregation gathered to attend a special worship service. The occasion was a celebration of the 90th anniversary of the organization of the Zion Lutheran congregation.

Greetings and a welcome were extended by Douglas Knupp, intern pastor. His sermon for the day blended an appreciation of heritage and gratitude for the witness of former pastors and leaders of the congregation, with a challenge to move forward.

Mitchell Fost served as the acolyte, Nellie Yommer as the lector, Marjorie Wan as the organist, and Randall Yommer and Floyd Baker were the ushers. An anniversary banner was made by Glenne Burow.

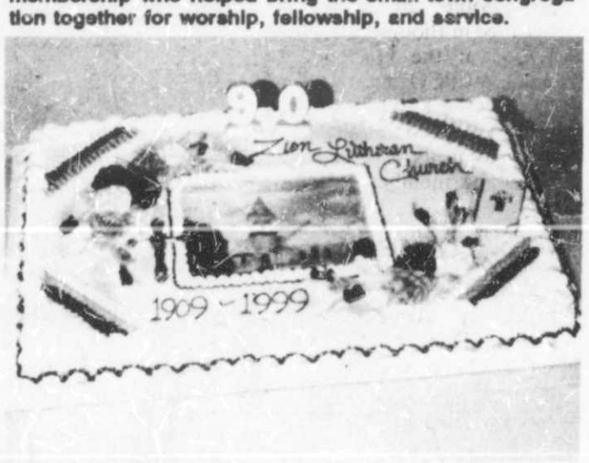
A poster of pictures of all the pastors who have served the congregation during the past 90 years was displayed in the narthex, along with pictures of the church that had been taken as early as 1912, as well as more recent church photos. An enlarged picture of the church and congregation taken during the pastorate of Rev. E.E. Campbell was centered on a table bearing memorabilia that helped the past become reality for current members. An assortment of scrapbooks and photo albums were a source of joyful reminiscence for all who were present.

Refreshments were served following the worship service, including the anniversary cake, which was decorated by Sharon Garlitz. A real work of art, it brought history alive, with its 8x10 inch picture of the church and the inscription "Zion Lutheran Church 1909-1999." Douglas Knupp lit the two candles—"the big 9-0"—which were blown out by Sammy Knupp. The cake was cut by Clara Durst, and Judy Stanton presided at the punch bowl.

Appreciation gifts were sent to the oldest male and female members, Joseph Resh and Lucretia Stanton.

Special offerings, received from individual donors, were given in memory of the following: Rev. E.E. Campbell, by his granddaughter Clarice and her husband, Wilbert Krammer, to Zion Church; Rev. A.C. Curran, by his daughter, Ruth Ellen, and her husband, Harry Shaffer, to Zion Church; Rev. James M. Allan, by Zion's confirmation class of 1954, and designated for the Lutheran Theologica' Seminary, Gettysburg, Pa.; Rev. L.F. Danner and Rev. Stanley Armentrout, anonymous offerings, designated to go to Camp Luther.

BEARERS OF THE WORD - Zion Lutheran Church has been blessed over its 90-year history with a number of nurturing pastors who have ministered to the Jennings community. Rev. Alvin Yugel, above left, organized the congregation in 1909 and was the church's first pastor. Filling Yugel's shoes today is intern pastor Rev. Douglas Knupp, above. Below is the 90th anniversary cake, decorated by Sharon Garlitz, which was shared by current congregation members, joined in spirit by all nine decades of the flock's membership who helped bring the small town congregation together for worship, fellowship, and service.



Zion's Women of the ELCA sent a gift offering to Our Savior's Lutheran Church on the Rocky Boy Indian Reservation, Box Elder, Mont., in memory of Rev. and Mrs. Curt Runze. This charity was a favorite social ministry of Mrs. Runze's, and she had always encouraged the women of Zion to lend their support.

Church History

Zion Lutheran Church was established during the first decade of the twentieth century. The school house, built in 1902 by Jennings Brothers Co., a lumbering firm, served as a common worship place for all faiths in the community.

Rev. John B. Shoup, pastor of the Bittinger Lutheran Parish, composed of Emmanuel Church, Bittinger, and St. John's Church, Meadow Mountain, was the first Lutheran pastor to conduct worship services in the Jennings area. It was through the efforts and leadership of Rev. Alvin Yugel that Zion Lutheran Church was organized in Jennings and became a third point in the Bittinger Lutheran Parish.

The congregation was organized on February 28, 1909, and the Rev. Yugel became its first pastor. Charter members were seventeen in number, but there is no available record of names. The following constituted the first church council: Harvey Custer, Floyd Stark, Christian Yommer, Edward Pritts, Ray Billmeyer, and Charles Stahl. Bilmeyer served as secretary-treasurer of the church for many years. The article of incorporation was filed and recorded in Oakland on March 24, 1909.

That same month, a building site at the northeast edge of Jennings was acquired from J. Louis Durst for the sum of $5. The building was constructed by Plummer Contractors, Frostburg. Molded concrete blocks made at the building site were used in the exterior construction. The interior was of plaster and was completed by Charles Engle, Frostburg, and the cornerstone was presented by the J.B. Williams Co., marble dealers, also of Frostburg.

The building proper was designed to seat 100 people. All windows were of stained glass; the large center window in front of the church, bearing the name of J.L. Durst, remains intact.

According to notes entered in the church records, the present church building was dedicated on November 14, 1910. Ministers present for the dedication service were: Rev. C.F. Steck, president of the Maryland Synod, Pastor Yugel, and Rev. Shoup.

In 1929, the interior of the church was remodeled, covering the ceiling and walls with tongue and groove, stained wood veneer. Rededication services were held that year, with the Rev. William P. Cline, president of the Synod of West Virginia, delivering the dedicatory sermon.

Additional ground was purchased from Durst in 1937 to provide adequate parking space at the rear of the church.

The first altar appointments appeared in Zion Church in 1946. The cross and candlesticks were presented by Mrs. Curt H. Runze, the pastor's wife. The marble cross, still in use, was originally given to Runze as a gift on her confirmation day. The first paraments to be used in the church were made of wool felt, also a project of Runze and the women of the church.

In 1953, the church interior was covered with white Celotex paneling and ceiling tile. The chancel was elevated and covered with new carpet, and lighting above the altar was added. A red dossal curtain was placed behind the altar as a gift of Rev. and Mrs. James M. Allan. A service of rededication, led by Rev. Robert E. Casseli, president of the West Virginia Synod, was held on June 6, 1954.

Later, new pews were purchased, and two aisles were dispensed with as the pews were arranged to provide a center aisle.

Brass candlesticks were presented to the church in 1956 by Rev. Allan as a memorial to his son, Rev. Allan, who died of cancer while serving the congregation. Paraments in ecclesiastical brocades were made by various members of the women's group, also in tribute to the memory of Pastor Allan.

Coal stoves vanished from the scene in 1953 and were replaced by gas heaters. A furnace room was added to the original structure in 1975, and a fuel oil heating system was installed, as a gift from Mr. and Mrs. Emmons Meyers.

A communion rail was erected at the chancel entrance in 1966. A baptismal font was added to the chancel furniture in 1972, and a set of credence brackets were also erected the same year. The original slate roof was replaced on the west side of the building in 1972.

The original exterior doors were replaced in 1985, and restroom facilities were installed and a well was drilled in 1986. In 1988 a pouring lip chalice and burse and veil were purchased and dedicated. Church identification markers were placed at the intersection of State Route 495 and Jennings Road in 1994. The church driveway was paved and carpet was installed in the church during 1997.

Rev. Louise Knotts was the first female pastor called to serve the parish. She had previously served as pastor of the Bittinger Lutheran Parish for 10 years, longer than any pastor called by that parish.

Leota Baker was elected to the Zion Church council in December 1978, becoming the first female to serve on the council. Current council members are Floyd Baker, Clara Durst, Glenne Burow, Sharron Shawley, Amy Maust and Jan Yommer.

Zion congregation has been served by the following pastors: the Revs. Alvin Yugel, Carl Schull, J.L. Marvin, E.E. Campbell, David Straesser, C.C. Sellers, A.C. Curran, Curt Runze, James M. Allan, John Kline, Hugo W. Schroeder

TO ALL PROPERTY TAXPAYERS OF FRIENDSVILLE

Pursuant to Tax-Property Article 10-204.3 of the Annotated Code of Maryland counties and municipal corporations are required to notify taxpayers of the availability of the semi-annual property tax payment option for owner-occupied residential property that is the principal residence of a homeowner.

If a taxpayer elects to make semi-annual property tax payments, ½ of the municipal taxes will be deferred until January 1. The second payment, due January 1, will incur a service charge reasonably equivalent to the anticipated lost interest income associated with the delay in the payment of the second installment and covering administrative expenses associated with the semi-annual payment not exceeding 10% of the charge of the lost interest.

To be eligible to make this election of semi-annual payment, all previous year taxes must be paid in full by June 1. Taypayers not making their first semi-annual payment by September 30 are automatically waived out of the semi-annual plan and must pay the full tax bill.

Selection of payment schedule for property taxes may be made upon receipt of tax bill. If taxpayer wishes to pay in full, he must choose the appropriate coupon and return it with the proper payment. If the taxpayer wishes to participate in the semi-annual payment option, the appropriate coupon should be returned with the payment before the September 30 deadline.

It is the responsibility of the taxpayers to notify their mortgage company of their wishes to pay on a semi-annual basis if they have an escrow account. The town is not responsible for any involvement in the semi-annual payment process.

Whatever payment plan the taxpayer elects shall remain in effect until the taxpayer decides to change it.

Zion Lutheran

Jr., Stanley Armentrout, Louis F. Danner, James Mitchell, David Rockwood, Louise Knotts, and Mark Klawonn. Douglas Knupp is currently serving the congregations of the Bittinger Lutheran Parish as an intern.

The 75th anniversary of Zion Church was celebrated in 1984 with a joint service of the churches in the parish, with Pastor David Rockwood leading worship. The communion assistant was Floyd Baker, Nellie Yommer and Lisa Zuckerman were the lectors, and Tammy Burow served as the acolyte. Daniel Yommer and Nora Stahl were honored as the oldest members of the congregation who were living in 1984. Each family present received a booklet of the history of Zion Church, written by Leota Baker.

Currently, Joseph Resh is the oldest male member of the congregation and Lucretia (Meyers) Stanton is the oldest female member. Both were received into membership on September 16, 1923, during the pastorate of the Rev. E.E. Campbell. The youngest member on the child membership roll is Logan James Yommer, who was received on December 6, 1998, by the Sacrament of Holy Baptism, which was administered by the Rev. Alex Black, retired bishop of the W.Va.-Western Md. Synod.

Sunday School

The year 1905 marked the beginning of the Sunday School, which was also organized in the Jennings school. In the course of history, many have served as teachers and superintendents. The most commendable records are those of Mr. Root Beachy, who served as superintendent for 25 years, and Mr. Stewart Stahl, who had served for a period of over 30 years.

Those who reminisce may recall fond memories of all the children's Christmas services held at Zion. Earlier members of the congregation have reflected how the floor-to-ceiling pine Christmas trees, bedecked with real tallow candles, held all in great expectancy as Mr. Beachy came forward with a long pole, at the tip of which was a flaming taper, to light the candles.

The Sunday School was well attended for many years, but attendance dropped during the 1970s until this phase of the church's life disbanded in 1979.

Women's Groups

The women's auxiliary of the church was first organized during the early 1920s by Mrs. J.L. Marvin, the pastor's wife. Functioning under the name of the Women's Missionary Society, this organization existed through the pastorate of Rev. E.E. Campbell. No written records of activities are available.

The organization of the later group occurred in 1947 under the leadership of Mrs. Marie Runze, the pastor's wife. Although attendance has declined since yesteryear, there is still a women's group at Zion.

The name has changed from Women's Missionary Society, to United Lutheran Church Women, to Lutheran Church Women, to the present name — Women of the Evangelical Lutheran Church in America.

Betty Broadwater is the only living charter member of the women's organization which saw its beginning in 1947. The first membership roll was comprised of 10 ladies, nine of whom are now deceased. Their leader, Mrs. Runze is also deceased.

TRAINING PLACE GRADS — Four local women recently completed the office procedures course at the Training Place in Oakland. They are now ready to join the work force, a spokesperson stated. Pictured left to right are instructor Kathi Refosco and graduates Nola Myer, Starlene Hyde, Rosa Hardesty, and Brenda Burgess. For more information about the Training Place, persons may call 301-334-8136.

Mtn. Pride Co-Op Represented At "Taste Of W.Va."

Representatives of the Mtn. Pride Cooperative, a Garrett County-based cooperative composed of small farming operations from Maryland, West Virginia, and Pennsylvania, recently participated in the "Taste of West Virginia" in Charleston, W.Va. The annual showcase of agricultural products and industries is sponsored by the West Virginia Department of Agriculture.

Mountain Pride Cooperative Inc. began as a tristate project initiated by Garrett County Cooperative Extension under the direction of extension agents Jim Simms and Jennifer Thorn. The meat cooperative produces, processes, and markets USDA-inspected domestic rabbit and goat meat. The cooperative is directed by a 12-member board, seven of whom reside in Garrett County.

Mountain Pride promoted its fresh domestic rabbit meat at the Taste of West Virginia event. The co-op's all-white meat is USDA-inspected, "unlike most other rabbit products on the market, which are grown and processed under unknown conditions," said Mtn. Pride spokesman Dave Terlizzi, who noted that only three other USDA-inspected rabbit processing facilities exist in the nation.

"During the reception, over 800 legislators and state officials had the opportunity to taste two varieties of Mtn. Pride rabbit. Not only were they impressed with the delectability of the meat, but also the health advantages. Mtn. Pride rabbit is perfect for heart-healthy diets since it is low in fat, saturated fat, cholesterol, and calories. In addition, domestic rabbit is [different] from wild rabbit in that it has no game taste," Terlizzi added.

Mtn. Pride rabbit is currently available in several area supermarkets, and customers of grocers who do not currently carry the co-op's products may wish to consider asking their grocers to begin carrying the Mt. Pride line. For further information interested persons may contact Mt. Pride Cooperative through the Garrett County Cooperative Extension Service, located at 1916 Maryland Highway, Suite A, Mtn. Lake Park, MD 21550, or call 301-334-6960. The co-op also maintains a web page at www.mtnpride.com.

The Mountain Pride Cooperative will be participating in this summer's Italian Heritage Pasta Cook Off and Festival in Clarksburg, W.Va., set for late August.

MTN. PRIDE CO-OP FEATURED IN W.VA. EVENT - Rabbit meat produced by the Garrett County-based Mtn. Pride Cooperative was featured at the annual "Taste of West Virginia" showcase held recently in the state's capital city of Charleston. Pictured above, W.Va. Governor Cecil Underwood, left, shares his opinion of the co-op's product with Dave Terlizzi, a Mtn. Pride representative. Mtn. Pride is composed of small-scale rabbit and goat meat operations, with members in Maryland, Pennsylvania, and West Virginia.

Sign-Up Extended For Crop Loss Disaster Program

The sign-up period for the U.S. Department of Agriculture Farm Service Agency Crop Loss Disaster Assistance Program has been extended to Friday, April 9, according to Michael Krozier of the Farm Service Agency.

Two million dollars has been set aside through the program to reimburse farmers affected by natural disasters and experienced losses over 35 percent. The maximum payments are not to exceed $80,000, and farmers with an annual gross income of $2.5 million are not eligible.

Farmers are eligible for compensation either for qualifying losses on 1998 crops or losses in any three or more crop years between 1994 and 1998 where a crop insurance indemnity or assistance under the Non-Insured Crop Disaster Assistance Program (NAP) was received. Farmers can receive payments under either single year or multi-year provisions.

Payments will be prorated after all applications are reviewed in order to stay within the program requirements and budget. The payments should be made in early spring after all applications have been processed.

For additional information, interested persons may call the Garrett County FSA Office at 301-334-6954.

Land Owners May Rent Equipment

Garrett County land owners now have the opportunity to take advantage of two new pieces of equipment which can help with the task of seeding while reducing soil erosion.

The Garrett Soil Conservation District is now forming a list of land owners interested in renting the John Deere 1560 no-till drill. Purchase of the drill was made possible by the Garrett Soil Conservation District, the Western Maryland Resource Conservation and Development, and a grant from the Chesapeake Bay Trust. The drill was purchased to promote the no-till concept of new planting of cropland or pasture. It allows seeding of small grains, grasses, and legumes into existing sod; or it may also be used in conventional seedbeds.

"This is an excellent way to revitalize an old meadow, pasture or to develop a totally new stand. Soil erosion is kept to a minimum compared to conventional seeding methods," stated a district spokesperson.

The Oakland Southern States Cooperative also has a no-till drill for rent. It is made by Great Plains Manufacturing and has a working width of 7 feet and a weight of approximately 3,600 lbs. Those interested may telephone 301-334-3121.

Those interested in the use of the John Deere drill must have a truck or tractor with adequate towing capacity. The total weight of the drill is approximately 6,500 lbs. The total working width is 10 feet. For additional information or to have one's name added to the list, persons may contact Garrett Soil Conservation District at 301-334-6951. The rental rate for both drills is $10 per acre.

Panelcraft Building Systems

The time to be concerned about how to keep from using so much heating fuel is when you build. Use Panelcraft's Structural Insulated Panels (SIPs).

SIP structures are known for their structural integrity. Nature's storms, earthquakes, tornados, etc., just need a little greater force to do the same amount of damage to SIP structures versus conventional.

Faster - Stronger - Warmer

SIPs consist of Polystyrene laminated between two pieces of structure board, thus creating a very rigid, super insulating panel which is used for Walls, Roofs, Ceilings and Floors, virtually any aspect of your project!

Farming In Maryland.....

Bartlett Co-sponsors Tax Relief Bills For Self-Employed and Farmers

Congressman Roscoe Bartlett (R-6-MD) co-sponsored two tax relief bills to aid self-employed people and farmers that he hopes will become law this year.

Congressman Bartlett has co-sponsored H.R. 980, the Self-Insured Health Insurance Fairness Act of 1999. Bartlett is also co-sponsoring H.R. 957, the Farm and Ranch Risk Management Accounts (FARRM) bill.

H.R. 980 would provide a full and immediate 100% tax deduction for the costs of health insurance for self-employed individuals. More than 3 million self-employed Americans have no health insurance along with another 2 million of their children and dependents. Currently self-employed individuals can deduct only 60% of their health care insurance costs compared to 100% for individuals who work for large companies. In 1998, Congress passed legislation that will gradually phase in a 100% deduction, but not until 2003.

"Americans who work for themselves and start their own businesses deserve to get the same tax break for health insurance that you get if you work for a big company," said Congressman Bartlett. "The Republican majority Congress has made improvements, but I think we should go all the way and give self-employed equal treatment."

H.R. 957 would allow farmers to contribute up to 20% of their income into tax-deferred savings accounts with contributions allowed to accumulate for up to five years. It's designed as an incentive to help farmers manage the cyclical swings in weather, such as droughts or floods that can wipe out a year's income, or trade fluctuations that can produce low commodity prices. According to Bartlett, 94 percent of the nation's two million farms are "small," and 98 percent are family farms.

"Our family farmers go through a higher degree of price and income fluctuation than any other small business," said Congressman Bartlett. "It's not fair that right now farmers get penalized for saving for the inevitable lean years. That's why Congress should pass FARRM accounts. They would be an important tool to help farmers manage the unique and severe risks of raising all of our food and fiber. If we don't give them the help they deserve, we will lose them."

Potential Benefits Of Stream Buffers Often Overlooked

Stream buffers are an important way to improve stream health and manage water quality, yet some farmers are reluctant to try them, according to the U.S. Department of Agriculture. This article is the first in a series released by the USDA which explains the benefits of buffers and the ease with which they can be established.

Emblematic of good land stewardship, stream buffers can be beneficial to farms, serving as a valuable part of a long-term conservation plan when combined with other farm practices such as grassed waterways and filter strips. Vegetative strips of grass, shrubs, and/or trees slow or intercept water flow, capturing or providing retention of pollutants like sediment, pesticides, or nutrients. Vegetative uptake of nutrients or retention of other pollutants protects adjacent water supplies.

Forested stream buffers are extremely valuable for wildlife, providing leaf litter and woody debris that forms the base of the aquatic food chain. A forest canopy shades the stream, moderating water temperature and retaining dissolved

Crop Insurance Protection Bonus Deadline Noted

Area farmers who have not bought crop insurance or increased the value of their existing policies must do so quickly to benefit from the one-time crop insurance protection bonus, according to Agriculture Secretary Dan Glickman. The estimated 30 percent bonus is the first step of the U.S. Department of Agriculture's plan to strengthen the crop insurance program.

A deadline of Monday, March 15, has been set for eligible farmers to increase their protection or obtain crop insurance. Farmers in a number of states, including Maryland, West Virginia, and Pennsylvania, who have grown crops with sales closing dates between July 31, 1998, and February 15, 1999, are eligible for the current program.

All other farmers have until their usual spring sales closing dates to obtain coverage and take advantage of the protection bonus. Currently insured farmers with buy-up protection will automatically receive the protection bonus.

"Taking advantage of the $400 million protection bonus is essential for most family farmers, given current crop prices, slumping exports, and the constant threat of natural disasters," said Glickman. "It's vitally important that farmers protect themselves while we work with Congress to improve the program."

The catastrophic level of insurance protection (CAT) is also available. For only $60 dollars per crop per county, farmers may obtain a minimal level of protection. In some cases, limited resource farmers may not have to pay the $60 fee for CAT coverage if they fill out a waiver available from their crop insurance agent.

Farmers who anticipate receiving a 1998 disaster assistance payment but were not insured in 1998 are required to obtain insurance for the following two crop years. The catastrophic level of coverage will be available through April 28, 1999, to help producers meet the insurance requirement.

Farmers who want to increase their protection or want to buy a crop insurance policy should immediately contact a crop insurance agent. A listing of crop insurance agents is available from local USDA Service Centers or Farm Service Agency offices. The Garrett County USDA Service Center can be reached at 301-334-6950, and the county's Farm Service Agency office is available at 301-334-6951.

"How To Fight City Hall" Video Now Available

An award-winning video titled "How to Fight City Hall: A Citizen's Guide to Administrative Hearings" has recently been made available to the public by the Maryland State Bar Association (MSBA).

The 12-minute video is designed to educate and assist Maryland residents contesting the actions of state government agencies, such as the loss of medical assistance, denial of welfare benefits, a driver's license suspension, and the loss of certain public jobs. "Many laymen wish to contest these actions yet are not familiar with the process and do not know how to proceed," a MBSA spokesperson said. "This video will guide them."

Marylanders are entitled to a fair and impartial hearing at the Office of Administrative Hearings (OAH) before the state can deny a host of privileges and benefits, and this videotape can serve to guide citizens through the state's administrative process.

The video uses a straightforward manner to show what to expect from the receipt of an agency's notice to the pre-hearing conference and an actual hearing, the MBSA spokesperson said. It also describes how to appeal an agency decision and gives examples of the types of evidence which are or are not admissible.

Produced as a public service by the MBSA's Administrative Law Section, the videotape is narrated by television lawyer and legal affairs reporter Dick Gleffman. It will be made available through libraries in the near future, according to the MBSA. For additional information or a copy of the video, interested persons may contact the OAH librarian at 1-800-388-8805.
